WU'S SOLDIERS CROWD STATION

Deserted By Their Leader They Have Not Caused Trouble in Tientsen.

SOME HAVE ARMS.

TIENTSIN, Nov. 5.—(Canadian Press).—Tientsin was quiet Tuesday after a peaceful night, the troops giving no trouble. The east station still is crowded with the soldiery of Wu Pei-Fu, deposed Peking war lord, who has fled from this part of China. Some of these troops are armed, others are unarmed.

The soldiers of General Feng Yu-Hsiang, whose coup ousted Wu Pei-Fu from power, have not occupied the station, though they are reported all around it.

It is not clear exactly what is happening but apparently representatives of Tuan Chi-Jui, a former Premier, are negotiating with the soldiers to transfer their allegiance and are not dirsarming those who agree.

It is stated that Wu, before leaving here, instructed his troops to take orders from none but Tuan Chi-Jui. Tuan also has sent delegates to Tangku, the nearest gulf port, to endeavor to pacify the soldiers there.

Although the soldiery at Tientsin appear restive, there is no sign of any desire to renew the struggle, and expect to be sent back to their native localities.

A private telegram from Paoting, south-west of Tientsin, said fighting had started north and south of there Monday.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Newfoundland Youth Killed Six in Motor Accident.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 5. — Leonard Reid, son of the late Sir William Reid, who was president of the Reid-Newfoundland Railway and other colonial enterprises, pleaded not guilty Tuesday when arraigned in court, charged with manslaughter. Six men were killed, two of them British naval officers and two world war veterans, when Reid's car crashed into a group of veterans and then overturned, in an accident in the early morning of September 16, as the veterans were beginning to return home after attending a re-union. Trial was set for November 17.

TURKEY COMPETITION.

Some nice rolling has been done in the Thanksgiving turkey competition at the Alleys this week, but the first day's scores have not been beaten as yet. A. Pratt is high for the turkey with 663 for three games, and Miss Lynch has 465 in the ladies' contest.

The competition closes Saturday night, and it is likely that both of these good scores will be bettered before then.

The acute pain of neuritis

This treatment acts quickly and gives positive results

No rubbing—no waiting—Sloan's gives you positive help the moment you use it. You don't even have to bother to rub it in. Just pat it on gently.

Right away it starts the blood circulating swiftly through the sick, pain-ridden tissues. And this increased blood supply sweeps away the conditions that are causing the pain.

At once you feel genuine relief. Then—before you know it—the pain is gone. It will not stain. All druggists have Sloan's—35 cents.

PLENTY OF GUMPS.

The sad fate of Andy Gump, Sid Smith's cartoon nominee for the United States presidency, who visited the polling booth yesterday only to discover that he could not vote because his name was not on the list, gave thousands of newspaper readers a laugh, but it should do more than that.

In the midst of the chuckle the thought should strike home that the talkative Mr. Gump is only one of many in every community who fail to protect their franchise.

There were Gumps in evidence in Peterborough when the plebiscite vote was taken, people who were so sure that their names were on the list that they made no effort to find out until it was too late.

Before every election it should be regarded as the plain duty of every voter to make sure that his name is listed.

The machinery for adding the name if it should happen to have been dropped is always provided, and there is little excuse for any elector finding at the last moment that the official voting lists do not contain his name.

Andy Gump's predicament made good material for cartoon comedy, and it should also serve as an object lesson to citizens generally that henceforth they will not prove themselves Gumps at the next occasion for exercising the franchise.

PREVENTING ACCIDENTS.

It is interesting to note that while the Peterborough Council was turning down Ald. Crowe's proposal to compel motor traffic to stop before crossing certain busy streets in Peterborough, the civic government of Chatham, a smaller community, was passing a bylaw putting into affect the identical measure rejected here.

It is possible, of course, that Peterborough is not large enough nor sufficiently worried by motor traffic to need legislation of this nature.

At the same time, however, there have been a dozen accidents on George street in the last three or four weeks that would have been prevented by a regulation requiring cars coming into that street from side streets to first come to a full stop.

To that extent at least Ald. Crowe's proposal was justified, and it may be that before long his colleagues on the Council may consider it desirable to change their minds on this question.

Motorists might find it inconvenient for a while, but once the system was understood there would not be much difficulty in carrying out the regulation.

Ald. Crowe's sole motive was to cut down the number of traffic accidents, and there seems no doubt that the legislation he introduced would have been effective in that direction.

TOBOGGAN SLIDES.

The Parks Committee of the City Council has reported its inability to proceed with the construction of a toboggan slide in Riverside Park this winter owing to lack of funds.

This slide question has been mooted for several years, but has never got beyond the talk stage, much to the regret of young Peterborough.

The Examiner believes that Peterborough should have some spot where tobogganing could be indulged in under safe conditions.

The providing of free skating rinks is a splendid thing, but the Council should not let their winter programme stop with them if there is any possible way of finding the funds for a slide.

The Canadian winter should be made a delight for those vigorous enough to take part in outdoor sports, and in the contribution to the community health that would be represented by the furnishing of the necessary facilities, ample justification for the outlay involved would be found.

There is no better winter pastime than tobogganing, and it is unfortunate indeed that in Peterborough there is no place where this health-giving recreation can be enjoyed.

If nothing can be done this winter the question should be kept in mind as an essential item in next year's budget.

THE LAW.

Illustrations of what law means in this country have been comprehensive of late, says the Ottawa Journal.

Four murderers have been hanged in Montreal—after fair but not long-delayed trial.

Another murderer in Ontario, an alien, was recently executed despite all sorts of pressure to get him off.

A prominent public man, ex-Cabinet Minister, ex-Provincial Treasurer of Ontario, has been sent to penitentiary for graft.

One of the Province's chief civil servants who went wrong was followed to California, brought back, and sent to penitentiary.

A prominent and wealthy Toronto business man has been sent to jail and fined $600,000 for defrauding the public.

The wealthy directors of a bank which collapsed are undergoing trial. Several officials of the bank have been convicted of failure of trust, and await sentence.

Suspicion arises of deficiencies or worse in a police force, investigation gets under way, and a chief of police is promptly found suspended from office.

In every case, the law has been prompt, efficient, and resolute. Political influence, wealth, position, have had no greater respect from the law and no more respite than suspects from other classes, minor officials, or the very underworld. There has not been even a suggestion in any responsible quarter that money or influence could protect against the courts.

It is well worth while for Canadians to be able to say this, knowing it to be true. It is a good indication of the temper of our people, a good augury for the national future.

THE TAX DEPARTMENT.

In deciding not to make any change in the Tax Collector's department at present, giving the Collector a chance to show that he can have the rolls returned as desired, the City Council has shown the proper spirit toward an official of long service.

It is perhaps true that Mr. Green has not been as firm in dealing with delinquent tax-payers as is desirable, but for that, as ex-Ald. Dobbin pointed out, members of the City Council from year to year have been as much to blame as the Collector.

There is no reason in the world why Aldermen should listen to citizens who come pleading for an extension of time in which to pay their taxes.

That they have done so in the past is not denied, and the fact that it was possible to make a successful plea to the Council has undoubtedly added to the difficulty of Mr. Green's task.

Mayor Turner did well to emphasize this point at Monday's meeting, and to urge his associates to turn a deaf ear to any pleadings from tax-payers who desired special privileges in the matter of their obligations to the city.

If the Collector is given a free hand and is made to realize that he has the backing of the Council in making use of the machinery that is provided for the collection of taxes from delinquents, most of the trouble that has existed will disappear.

In view of Mr. Green's long association with the tax department, he is entitled at least to an opportunity to demonstrate that the rolls can be returned on time if the Collector is not hampered in his work.

THE BRITISH ELECTIONS.

The British people have voted for tranquility.

Three general elections in three years was too much for even the British voter, who usually regards politics as one of the most exciting and least arduous of his "sports." It upset business. It paralyzed trade expansion and industrial development. It created precisely that atmosphere of uncertainty which was particularly poisonous in the ghastly era of ruin and death after the war.

So, in desperation, the British man of affairs—the merchant, shipper, manufacturer, trader and the immense armies of workers dependent upon them—seem to have "plumped" for the only party which had a possible chance to gather a clear majority and give the nation permanent government.

Great Britain ought now to be able to get ahead with a fixed program of steady recuperation for at least four or five years. There should be an end to political "excursions and alarums." All these disturbing adventures in the recent past have not, of course, been precipitated by Labor. Mr. Baldwin himself launched the last one, to the astonishment of his friends and the dismay of his allies.

But surely the verdict of the country is now plain enough. It wants above all things stability. It asks of the Conservative party only the "conservative" spirit. "Kite-flying" and kindred pastimes can be left until a happier day, when the gaunt menace of unemployment does not so grimly stalk the streets of the Motherland, when Continental Europe is not so painfully struggling back from the brink of an economic abyss, and when world conditions do not so gravely threaten the very life of the British Empire.

The leaders of the Conservative party have been given full power to choose their Ministers and their policies without fearing any clique, cabal or hole-in-a-corner intrigue. They will not be compelled to bargain. And, as they have full power, they will bear full responsibility.

The last Conservative Ministry was formed after an unfortunate division in the party. This necessarily restricted the range of the Prime Minister's choice. The consequence was that leaders of experience and proven capacity sat on the back benches when their help was sorely needed on the firing-line. But they have all rallied to the flag in this last fight. They have all qualified for positions at headquarters. The choice of the new Premier will be unrestricted. He should give us a powerful Cabinet, brainy, experienced, resourceful and commanding the confidence of the nation.

Doubtless some measures will now be undertaken which have laid for a year in abeyance. For instance, the Singapore base can now go forward. It has had a year's delay, which was about what experts allowed it because of the unfortunate Japanese earthquake. But the British Admiralty will once more be able to push ahead with that essential link in the defences of the Empire if the British are not to imperil all their priceless assets in the Pacific Ocean.

The elimination of the Liberals will cut several ways. Those who have left them—like Mr. Churchill—naturally think that it is final; but it takes a lot of beating to drive the conviction of a fatal defeat into the minds of any British unit, be it military or political. The party will probably survive. It will survive all the better because it will not be needed now as a prop for the new Conservative Ministry. It can keep its own faith intact in the virtuous shades of Opposition.

The Labor leaders will naturally regard their success in shouldering Liberalism so completely into the shadow as a species of victory. It brings them more definitely to the front as the only formidable Opposition. They will believe that it gives them a better chance to win at some future election an absolute majority. But if the Liberals keep the skeleton of their party organization alive, they will surely profit from the inevitable disintegration which must one day affect the ranks of even the strongest Conservative party.

Still, the results do contain this comfort for Labor. They have lost the Government, but they have soundly beaten one of their enemies. They return to Parliament a powerful and well-led political organization. They can—if they will—give the country a vigilant and aggressive Opposition, which is quite as necessary to the proper working of the British Parliamentary system as a strong Government. They now face indeed a wonderful opportunity to win public confidence by showing that they do not recklessly espouse, when out of office, "wildcat" schemes, calculated to catch the votes of the ignorant, which they know perfectly well they can never put into effect when in office.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Judging by the unusually large exodus of hunters this year, the deer are in for a bad two weeks.

Professional hockey is getting to be a prominent Canadian industry in view of the salaries that are being offered this season.

President Coolidge told American voters that they should exercise their franchise "in the light of their own conscience." Judging by the complicated nature of the ballot, some kind of light is certainly needed.

Wise and Otherwise.

And by the time we thought up a new costume for a masque ball we decided to go as a nervous wreck.

In Boston, a man claims a $10,000 reward for staying sober ten years. Even if he doesn't get it, he has saved that much.

We wouldn't send a daughter of ours to a dance with a drunk, not if we had a dozen daughters.

The first reliable sign of old age is when a man starts thinking the rising generation is going to the dogs.

Woman in Steubenville, O., shot her husband instead of poisoning him, which was rather old fashioned of her.

The man who kicks because the cat gets under his feet, should try keeping goldfish instead.

The circus ring isn't as amusing as the political ring.

And political machines, as you may have heard, use a lot of gas.

Dealers say we are smoking less tobacco, but don't say more what.

The world, says a scientist, shakes like jelly; but maybe he has been going to too many dances.

We spend so much for fun and have so little of it.

It's awful to be just rich enough to make your wife wish she could afford a fur coat.

This often seems to be the land of the free and home of the easy.

Probing a woman's mind is about as simple as unscrambling an egg.

A THOUGHT.

PASS OUT THE PEEVISH.

The indigestible individual in industry—the plague in progress, is the sulky, sour, bad-humoured person. One toxic grumbler, one noxious grouch, can very soon make the ensert—when the night before easts its sert in July and all feel as comfortable as a red-flannel shirt in August.

In nearly every organisation there is one crank that chloroforms the courage of all others, discourages most folks in their efforts to be civil.

This infectious individual should be passed out promptly.

The waspish, peppery, testy and touchy—the cantankerous are seldom cured.

Business is not a reform school, and it is unfair to the loyal, cheerful members of an organisation to compel them constantly to come in contact with the crusty and crabbed, the sullen and sour.

Pass out the peevish and promote the pleasant.

PAID FOR A JOB.

Former Montreal 'Cop' Tells Commissioner He Got $50 Back.

MONTREAL, November 4. — How he paid one hundred dollars to get a job on the police force, was given $50.00 of it back by the Chief out of consideration for his mother-in-law and how he later quit his police job because his wife's mother called him the Prince of Wales and other satirically complimentary names on account of his nice soft job, was all told to Mr. Justice Coderre in his capacity of Commissioner inquiring into the administration of police in Montreal, by Henri Giroux, an ex-constable of the police force.

Mr. Giroux also informed the police that his mother-in-law, policematron at the City Hall, kept the household supplied, to a large extent, with butter and tea which she bought from the prisoners' department.

Captain Morin, of the police force, declared he had been prevented by Inspector Robert from taking proceedings to close up the tobacco shop kept on Mount Royal Avenue by Aime Lalonde after the second time. Lalonde had been convicted for keeping a gambling house there, and Inspector Robert, in his turn, admitted that probably the shop would have been shut up if he had not been approached by Alderman Savard.

THE CAUSE OF CANCER.

Sir W. Arbuthnot Lane of London, one of the foremost surgeons of the world, has written to the London Daily Mail, and he has also a letter in a recent issue of a Canadian Medical Journal, charging that cancer is caused by our idiotic refinemen of our chief foodstufs, the grains. He lays especial blame upon white flour and refined cereals.

Dr. Robt. G. Jackson of Toronto, Editor of the Dietetic Age of New York City, a journal circulating among physicians, has been teaching this for years, and, because he was convinced of this fact and also of the food deficiencies cause a lot of other of the diseases of civilized peoples, he invented Roman Meal, a food made from whole wheat, whole rye, flaxin and bran, these blended scientificaly in proportion to make a balanced human food. It supplies the deficiencies of flour and other refined "ghost cereals" and should be used in some form daily, or at least several times each week. It prevents indigestion and positively relieves constipation. Because of its growth-promoting properties, it is especially valuable in feeding nursing and expectan mothers and children from the 10th. month. At grocers.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Nov. 4.—The result of Monday's trading at the Union Stock Yards showed anything but a slow business when 4,766 cattle were sold out of a total of 5,562 and considering that the leftovers were the poorest kind of butchers and stockers. By careful combing of the yards Rogers and Maybee were able to get 783 cattle for export, but a number of these will be sent back to the country for further feeding. Export steers cost from $6.25 to $7.50 a cwt. The figures about coincided with those of last week, but taking quality into consideration the buyers said prices were 10 to 15 cents a cwt. higher.

Export heifers cost $5.50 to $6.25; cows, $4.75 to $5.00 and bulls $3.75 to $5 a cwt. In the good to choice butchers there was a similar advance, but the medium and poor grades of butchers were too plentirul and quotations here were an additional commission on Monday for only steady.

There were few choice butchers in the early delivery. A bunch of 11 good medium steers sold at $5.50 a cwt. and medium quality heifers at $5.25. Just useful steers and heifers sold at $4.25 to $4.50 and poor killers for cut rate stores went at $3.50 a cwt. For export a few feeders were bought at $5.25 a cwt. and heifers at $6. Export cows sold at $4.75 to $5.50 a cwt. Stocker specialists reported business hard to transact. Farmers want to buy at low prices to meet the beef market and many of the cattle that should go to the country are being taken to sell as cheap beef.

A light run of calves this morning left this market firmer than it has been, with quotations unchanged for all qualities. Calves not quite choice sold at 11 to 11¼ and all the light calves with finish sold from 10 cents a pound up.

There were not enough lambs to make much change from Monday's 50-cent a cwt. advance. The light 80 to 90-lb. lambs are the ones wanted at 11¾ to 12 cents, but the heavy lambs have to be sold down to 11 cents a pound. A small bunch of show lambs brought 12½ cents.

Hog prices are in the usual mixed condition, with packers bidding 25 cents lower, and sellers dickering to keep the market at least at the $9 a cwt. f.o.b. price.

EGG PRICES.

OTTAWA, November 5 (Canadian Press). — The market remains firm and the feeling in trade circles is that the market is due for a further advance. Live poultry shipped from Western Ontario to Buffalo brought the following prices delivered: Chickens 16 to 26 cents, fowl 16 to 26 cents, ducks 22 to 26 cents.

Toronto fresh unchanged. Firm undertone, look for further advance, storage unchanged. Fresh specials are retailing as high as 75 cents.

Montreal market firm. Retailing extras 60, firsts 44 to 45, seconds 35 to 40.

Ottawa market firm. Jobbing extras 55, firsts 40, seconds 35.

Winnipeg market firm. Jobbing extras 45 to 50, firsts 40 to 45, seconds 26 to 32.

MONTREAL GRAIN.

MONTREAL, November 5 (Canadian Press). — There was an improved demand from English importers for Canadian grain here yesterday and as cables were stronger on wheat at an advance of 6d per quarter in some cases a moderate amount of business was worked in No 1 Northern for deferred shipment, and some sales No. 3 Canadian Western barley were also made.

There was some demand from exporters for wheat, but the trade in coarse grains was again reported quiet and prices unchanged.

Ontario No. 3 extra malting barley quoted at $1.08, No. 3 grade at $1.07, Ontario No. 2 white oats at 60 cents, No. 3 white at 58 cents, and No. 4 grade at 56 cents per bushel, ex-track.

The market for Canadian Western oats was stronger in sympathy with the advance in the Western market, and prices for car lots here were marked up 1 1-2 cents per bushel.

BUTTER SOLD AT 34c.

RIVIERE DE LOUP, November 5 (Canadian Press). — The offerings of creamery butter on the board yesterday amounted to 150 packages, and all sold at 34 cents per pound.

CHOSE DANGEROUS WAY TO SEE WIFE

Rouyn Gold Miner Hid in Hull of Airplane and Was Carried Away From Gold Fields.

ANGLIERS, Quebec, Nov. 4. — Anxious to see his wife and children, one man chose a means of getting out of the Rouyn gold fields which was as dangerous as it was unique, and which had not fair weather prevailed, might have resulted in his arriving home in a condition which would have caused his family more sorrow than joy.

Pilot Caldwell of the Laurentide Air Service, on taking off from Rouyn yesterday morning, he found that his machine was exceedingly tail heavy and that he could with difficulty manage to fly level.

On his arrival here he reported a leak in the hull. His search revealed a man's cap, gloves and numerous cigarette butts.

Eventually he found that the leak was a human one, and that the air service had carried its first stowaway.

As this is the first case of its kind on record no action was taken to punish the man.

LOVELY DRESSES.

Persian lamb is combined with black satin to make lovely coats and dresses, the fur being so supple that it may be used almost like cloth to form revers, ruffles and overskirts.

The newest sets in lingerie include a strapless brassiere, lace trimmed knickers and garters to match.

Furis being used as embroidery this season. Patches of leopard or ermine are embroidered on a velvet frock and held in place with gold beads.

Pink, yellow or red lace frocks are among the novelties from Paris. They are very attractive under an evening wrap.

Black velvet leaves, circles and flowers applied on white chiffon or taffetta gowns are very effective.

Would you be consoled for your troubles Then go and console someone else for his.

GOVERNMENT IS BEATING PLAGUE

Texas Plague Among Cattle is Now Being Checked.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(United Press).—Control measures of the Department of Agriculture employed in eradication of the foot-and-mouth diseases in southeastern Texas have proven effective, according to the reports to the Department by Dr. Marion Imes, in charge of the State and Federal forces engaged in checking the malady.

Since the outbreak occurred on September 27, the infection has NOT spread from the area originally mapped out as dangerous territory. The last infected herd was found by veterinary inspectors October 15 and was slaughtered and buried the same day. The toll of the disease so far has been limited to six herds containing about 2,700 animals, and in addition about 4,600 stray cattle rounded up from exposed pastures.

Extraordinary precautions are being taken to guard the quarantined area for stray animals. Public officials, railroad companies, stockmen, and the public are giving "wholehearted co-operation," and the presence of Texas rangers have an influence in obtaining compliance with the necessary regulations, according to Dr. Imes.

Regulations and restrictions of States prohibiting the entry of livestock and other specified commodities from Texas, "are more reasonable" than those promulgated during the California outbreak of the disease, the Department believes. Restrictions imposed by Great Britain on importations of livestock and animal products from the United States when the Texas outbreak was reported, have been modified and now restrict, chiefly, import shipments originating in the Western and Southwestern States.

CONTRADICTION OF SETTELL STATEMENT

Hearing This Morning Was Devoid Of Sensation.

TORONTO, November 4 (Canadian Press). — Direct contradiction of the statement of Clarence E. Settell that the Hydro Commission paid the rent of Machlett & Company, X-ray dealers, who he alleged had their offices in the Hydro offices, was made by Charles S. Patterson, accountant of the Continental Life Building, before the Inquiry Commission hearing the Settell charges this morning.

Mr. Patterson produced his books to show that the Machlett firm had paid their own rent with one exception, when realjustment was taking place in the offices.

The hearing this morning was devoid of sensation, apart from the refusal of Settell to exonerate Chief Engineer Gaby from the charge of perjury which he levelled at him in the course of his evidence of yesterday.

H. E. Gilfoyle, auditor for Clarkson firm, presented vouchers and checks covering all charges made by Settell whenever they were available.

LABOUR.

"The great debts of war remain. Nothing but work will remove them. No ingenious solution will provide a substitute"—Quoting Henry Bell, general manager of Lloyds' Bank, London, England.

He is correct. And the cannon-fodder of the world should keep in mind what he says. The gigantic war debts are nothing more than a mortagage on future labor. Example A billion dollars of war debt represents a year's work by over 666,000 laborers at $5 a day apiece.

NEWS OF COLBORNE.

Car Turned Over in the Ditch —Apple Picking Nearly Over.

COLBORNE, Nov. 4.—On Saturday, Nov. 1st, a sedan car turned over on the Arthur hill, just east of Colborne. The car was damaged greatly but its occupants were not injured.

Colborne friends are sorry to hear that Mr. Forke, principal of Warkworth school and former assistant teacher of Colborne High school, is in a critical condition in Belleville hospital. Mr. Forke had a severe cold which developed into pneumonia.

The merchant team of Colborne played the High school team in soft ball on Thursday afternoon. The merchants proved the stronger team. The score was 28-22 in their favour.

Mr. Ross Wright of this vicinity harvested 900 bushels of turnips off 1 1-8 acres of land. This is an exceptionally good yield. One turnip alone weighed 15 1-2 pounds.

Hallowe'en passed quietly over Colborne. The boys behaved very quietly and did not play many pranks.

Mr. Robt. Coyle has started to work on his new bungalow, which he expects to finish the first of the year.

Mr. F. Morrow shipped eight cars of apples to the Douglas Packing Co. at Cobourg last week. Paying 30c. cwt. for all kinds.

Apple picking is finished in this community. The month of October was a very favourable month for picking. There were 27 days in which the sun shone. Not an hour's time was lost.

Mr. C. Crandell has moved into the house just vacated by Mr. W. Morrow. The Crandell home was bought to serve as the Presbyterian manse.

Messrs. F. P. Strong, W. Mutton, C. Turney and Dr. Hancock have left for a two weeks' hunting trip in the northern woods. Dr. Latta, of Kingston, and formerly of Colborne, accompanied them.

Mr. J. Bartfett and W. Buchanan are on the grand jury for the fall assizes at Cobourg this week.

FESTIVAL HELD IN MARMORA ON SUNDAY, NOV. 2

Festival of All Saints Fittingly Observed in St. Paul's Church.

REV. CLARE'S SERMON

Literary Society of Continuation School Met on Friday.

MARMORA, Nov. 5.—The festival of All Saints was fittingly observed at St. Paul's on Sunday. Appropriate hymns were sung, and the address of the rector accorded well with the teaching of the day. Choosing his text from Acts 17:28, he remarked that the observance of the festival was quite old, and that it first appeared in the Christian calendar through the efforts of Boniface IV., Bishop of Rome. Referring to the name of the day, he said that it originally meant merely those who from their labors rest. Its present meaning is for all the saints. We are called to be saints. If we come to church merely to sing hymns about the glorious saints of the centuries we miss a great part of the value of the day. Every baptized person is called to be a saint. God has nothing in His church that is useless. What is the connection between the saints here and beyond? They are all one in Christ Jesus. The saints militant and the saints expectant are in touch with Christ in prayer and through baptism. Communicants are in touch with Christ at the communion rail, where Christ is to be received personally. Here they are in absolute touch with Christ and the saints who have passed beyond. The saints expectant are a great deal more alive than when here. The preacher quoted a verse that had impressed him greatly which he would like his hearers to keep in thought, "For in the Eucharist, the Hand that touches thee touches Me." He continued: "We must feel the necessity of Christ in our lives. By keeping close to the great centre of life and being, we keep close to His church and our own loved ones who have passed on. Let us not think lightly of the Communion of Saints, for take away that thought what consolation is left to it in its sadness?"

Marmora Methodist Church.

Rev. Clare based his remarks on Sunda ynight on Luke 12:56, "Ye hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the sky and of the earth; but how is it that ye do not discern this time." We live in the present. As a man who never thinks of his empty coal-bin till the storm is raging, so are we thoughtless of the future. This age is an age of uncertainty. Three-quarters of the people never think of having a home for old age; never think of having a bank account in case of sickness. They live on a thaw and dollar income as if they had two thousand in their purse. They have a car and often have not enough money to pay for the roof over their heads. It is an age when every one must work hard for what they get. One man out of ten gets an easy job and big pay. The remaining nine work hard for small pay.

Freud and his disciples preach that we must have expression. Our civilization is based on repression. His doctrine is that a man may love another married woman with all his might. Look at Europe and the vice it contains. Only, for example, last week an Austrian was brought to court and it was found that he had been married to forty-two wives for the sake of borrowing some money from each.

This is a time of reaction from hard work to pleasure. People in looking for pleasure often forget to seek for that pleasure which would bring them the most joy. That is communion with God.

We are approaching Thanksgiving. Should we not be glad that Ontario has safely passed through the tempest of a few weeks ago? That heaven has given us such a wonderful autumn, so full of warmth and coloring? Lastly, we should be glad of our country Ontario.

Literary Society Met.

The Literary Society of Marmora Continuation School met on Friday last. The meeting was in the hands of Third Form. As it was Hallowe'en, the items were all musical, or else Hallowe'en in nature. The programme was as follows:

Violin and autoharp selection, by Marjorie Colster and Bernice Bonter.

Reading, by Edith Phillips.

Then Jack Grant played the bones and kazoo, while Norman Narrie accompanied him on the "Frisco whistle."

Ghost story, by Tessa Cronkrite.

Selection from the "Stringless Trio," Jack Grant, Norman Narrie and Charlie Brady. These boys pretended that they were playing on the backs of a violin, Jew's harp and autoharp. They merely went through the actions of playing, while they sang "You Can Take Me Away From Dixie," and also "Back in Hack and Sack and Jersey."

Song, by a sextette, consisting of James Hughes, Norman Narrie, Edith Phillips, Hazel Williams, Lorraine Bell and Florence Clare. The two boys sang the verses and the girls joined in the choruses. They sang several comic selections. When finished they appropriately sang "How Dry I Am."

The critic, "Mildred Badore," was called on. She said that the people of Marmora would hardly miss Caruso when she had so many wonderful voices. As regard the minstrels, she thought any one would be glad to obtain their assistance. She concluded by saying that the meeting has certainly exceeded her expectations. She thought that the ones taking part had done themselves credit.

The meeting was closed by singing "God Save the King."

Mr. Litt spent the week-end at his home.

NEWS FROM MADOC.

A Presentation to Madoc President—Social Events in Town.

MADOC, Nov. 4.—A number of Hallowe'en parties were celebrated Friday evening and enjoyed by young and old. The old custom of masquerading and travelling around from house to house has not waned, at least not in Madoc, as the streets were full of witches and queer looking inhabitants. A great deal of fun can be had by doing this, and of course the good people of Madoc always have treats, such as candy, etc., in store for any stray pedestrians who might happen in.

Personals.

Miss Mary Feeney has been spending the past week the guest of her sister in Marmora.

Miss M. Waddell, of Madoc, has returned home after attending the funeral of her sister in Syracuse, N.Y.

On Friday evening, October 31, the friends and neighbors of Mr. Thos. Marrin gathered at the home of his sister, Mrs. Geo. Walsh, and presented him with a purse, prior to his leaving for Detroit. An address was read by Mr. J. A. Coskey, after the usual responses. The remainder of the evening was spent in games and dancing. Mr. Marrin intends holding a sale on November 6th before going away.

The fowl supper held at Hart's Methodist Church on Thursday last was well attended. After a bounteous supper a programme was given in the church, the ladies' and men's quartette of Madoc taking part. An enjoyable evening was spent by all.

With the approach of the hunting season, many hunters are making ready for a holiday in the woods; in fact some have already gone, as it takes some time to get to their camps. We will hope the deer will be more plentiful than the partridge, as there was a scarcity of these birds.

HEALING CREAM STOPS CATARRH

Clogged Air Passages Open at Once—Nostrils Cleared.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head stuffed because of catarrh or a cold, get Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this pure, antiseptic, germ destroying cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head and membranes. Instant relief.

How good it feels. Your head is clear. Your nostrils are open. You breathe freely. No more hawking or snuffling. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up, choked up and miserable. Relief is sure.

INCREASE IN PARCEL POST RATES TO GREAT BRITAIN

Russians Make Pilgrimages To Lenin Tomb

Russian peasants travel great distances to visit the tomb of Lenin in Moscow. And their pilgrimages are never complete until they spend their roubles for highly-enamelled buttons upon which their dead leader's features are inscribed. The peddlers do a thriving business.

CHIEF VISITED MATRON'S HOME

Belanger, of Montreal, Also Seen in Disorderly Houses By Former Constable.

FRAME UP TOLD.

MONTREAL, Nov. 4. — Achille Pilon, former local constable, testified before the police probe to having several times encountered Chief-of-Police Belanger in disorderly houses. He had also seen Constable Proulx and other members of the morality squad in company with the recently-hanged bandit, Tony Frank, and other underworld characters. He admitted having met Chief Belanger in a house kept by Emile DeLisle.

"What," asked investigating counsel, "was Chief Belanger doing here?"

"He was taking a drink with the others," replied Pilon.

The witness was then questioned regarding a house of ill-fame on St. Lawrence blvd., into which he told the Enquiry he had seen Chief Belanger going "at least five or six times." This house was never raided during his service with the morality squad, Pilon said, explaining that he was never permitted to raid a place until he was told by his superiors, even though he knew for certain it was a disorderly house.

Henri Giroux testified that he had been two years and five months in the police. He got in on the recommendation of Mrs. MacDonald, the police matron and Chief Belanger.

"What did you do to get into the police?" "I had to furnish 100."

"To whom did you give it?" "I gave it to Mrs. MacDonald. I was courting her daughter then. She is now my mother-in-law. I gave the money to my wife, she gave it to Mrs. MacDonald, and she passed it to the chief.

"In your presence?" "Yes."

"When did you enter the force?" "Not until later. We missed our shot that time."

"Was any of your money given you back" "Yes, $50 was handed back by Chief Belanger. He came to Mrs. MacDonald's house, and handed back the $50. He said he had seen the man the $100 was for, and gave me $50 back."

"Did he do that out of sympathy for you?" "No, on account of my mother-in-law."

Insulted by Being Called Prince

"How did you come to leave the force?" "I left on account of the conduct of my mother-in-law. She insulted me and called me names on account of my being in the police force. She called me the Prince of Wales because she said I had a good job in the police, so I quit."

Witness said that after leaving the force he bought a grocery business and later went to Detroit. After he married he and his wife lived with Mrs. MacDonald.

"Did you buy your own share of the groceries and supplies?" "Except what was brought."

"What do you mean was brought?" "Well, Mrs. MacDonald brought butter and tea from the prisoners' department."

"Did Chief Belanger know that?" "I don't know."

"Was there ever question of another matron?" "Yes. She said once that another matron at the city hall was suspected of taking the butter away, when it was she that took it."

"Did your mother-in-law go out to the theatre?" "Yes, with passes from Chief Belanger."

"Had you occasion to see any of the people whom Chief Belanger met?"

"Yes, he used to meet a man Tashche, Caesar Monogue, and Max Cattel at Mrs. MacDonald's house. Mrs. McDonald said they were keepers of houses."

The court: "Your wife was there when she received these people?" "Yes."

Mr. Lanctot: "Were you arrested for carrying an arm without a permit?" "Yes."

Arrested for Carrying Revolver

Witness said he went with his brother to Ste. Placide and took the weapon with him to use in the woods. "While I was away my mother-in-law took two photographs of me and had policemen sent up to the railway to wait for me coming back and arrest me for carrying arms," declared the witness.

"When I came back from Ste. Placide," continued Henri Giroux, "it was mainly because I had received through a friend an urgent message from Mrs. MacDonald asking me to hurry home as quickly as possible. I got off, with my brother, at the Tunnell station of the C.N.R. and was walking east on Dorchester street when I was stopped at the corner of Beaver Hall Hill by Constable Valois, whom I knew well. He said: "I am sorry, but I am told to ask you if you have a revolver on you and to make you come to headquarters with me. It is a scheme they have got up on you. I was told by Chief Belanger to keep a watch at the station for you and to catch you with a revolver on you. Then I was to bring you along to his office and I think he is going to try to throw a scare into you there.'

"He brought me down to the station and put me in a cell with the prisoners. That was only 10.20 o'clock Saturday morning, but they pretended that there was no judge there and I was kept from Saturday until Monday morning. I suppose this was to give Mrs. MacDonald a chance to tell her story to the judge.

"When I finally was brought before Recorder Geoffrion he refused to allow me to make any explanation whatever. I told him I had been carrying a revolver and was therefore technically guilty. The usual punishment for this offense is about five dollars and costs."

Given Stiff Sentence

"What sentence was imposed upon you?" asked Mr. Lanctot. "I was given three months in jail and fined $100, or three other months. I have gone to appeal and the case has not come before the courts as yet."

In answer to a question from the bench, witness stated that he had asked his wife what had become of his own revolver and as she did not know he had borrowed the one belonging to his mother-in-law, Mrs. MacDonald.

"As soon as I entered my appeal in this matter," continued the witness, "my wife had me arrested for non-support. I was always ready to live with her and to support her and am still willing and anxious to do so, but she is annoyed because I know some things about her mother and is afraid I will tell them. On the non-support charge Recorder Semple held me on bail of $1,000. I could not get that amount and had to stay in jail for twelve days. Finally a lawyer named Tetreault proposed that I plead guilty, pay him $75, and pay my wife $6 a week. On the understanding that I was to be released at once I pleaded guilty, and the arrangement still stands."

Replying to questions from the court, the witness stated that his mother-in-law, Mrs. MacDonald, was the police matron in the city's employ, and also looked after city foundlings.

Albertine Valade, a young lady of 22, said that she was a niece of Mrs. MacDonald. She lived with her now and again and often spent the night at her Sanguinet street apartment. She remembered having seen her bring home a pound of butter from work on one occasion, and at the time Mrs. MacDonald had said it came from the city hall. She said that if it were missed someone else would be suspected. Witness admitted that she had only been living with Mrs. MacDonald for a couple of months, but said she knew Chief Belanger, having met him in her aunt's company at the apartment. She swore that no drinks were ever served there.

No Complaints of Supplies Missing

Captain R. Ainey said that although he was in charge of station No. 1 and Mrs. MacDonald was under him, he never had had any complaints of supplies being missing. He said that supplies were requisitioned as needed, and the turnkeys or Mrs. MacDonald went to them and took tea, bread and butter as called for by the needs of the persons under their charge.

H. Giroux, a laborer, said that he had called at Mrs. MacDonald's apartments in Sanquinet street to spend the evening, and had met Chief Belanger there. He had amused the guests on that occasion by rendering selections on Chief Belanger's violin.

Madame Leoduc said that she had known Mrs. MacDonald for twenty four years, and Chief Belanger for about six years. She met him at Mrs. MacDonald's apartments at 702 Berri street and had often seen him there, but she had never met him at Sanguinet street.

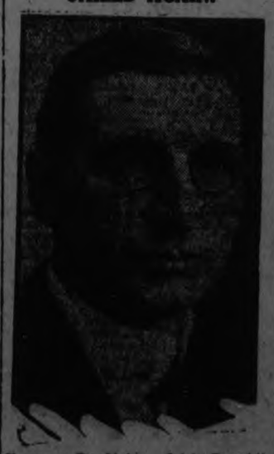
JAILED AGAIN.



Eamonn De Valera, Irish Republican chieftain, was arrested by Ulsterite officials as he entered the Town Hall at Newry to address a political meeting. Next morning, however, he was placed on a train and sent back to the Free State with the warning not to enter the North again. On Saturday he was sentenced at Belfast to a month's imprisonment for re-entering Ulster a week ago to address a meeting at Londonderry.

FAMOUS TOOLS

Tools of Famous Inventor Undisturbed for 150 Years.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Negotiations are expected to be completed shortly whereby the garret in Heathfield Hall, Handworth, in which James Watt conducted the experiments which led to the development of the steam engine, will be brought bodily to London to be perpetuated in the South Kensington Museum.

Watt first went to Heathfield Hall in 1768. After his death the room in which he worked was locked and remained unopened for many years, and his tools and benches, even the leathern apron in which he worked and which remains in the same spot in which he place it, have remained undisturbed.

"THIS ROUGH STUFF DESN'T PAY" SIGHS YOUNGEST BANDIT QUEEN WHO TRIED IT

Like a Chapter From a Jesse James Wild West Novel Her Story.

LEADER OF GANG

Grew Tired of Working and the Quiet of a Normal Home Life.

BY ROY J. GIBBONS

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—"Rouge has rough stuff beat a mile. There's no such animal as a sheik. Any man will hoof it plenty to see a yard of silk if the wind is blowing."

Such are samples of the "wise-cracking" philosophy of 16-year-old Evelyn Krueger under arrest here as the country's youngest bandit queen.

Sophisticated beyond her years, Evelyn tells a tale of lawlessness that reads more like a chapter from out of a Jesse James wild west novel.

What she wanted from life she took. But not once did she use a gun. She left the "rough stuff" to her gang.

'Rouge got me by," says Helen.

Cracked Safes, Too.

"I used to give the dumbbells a beautiful smile. And they'd always fall because I had my lips all reddened up.

"I'd steer them out where the boys were waiting. They'd do the rest. It was lots of fun."

Four of Helen's male companions —youths of 20—are in custody with her.

She was their leader. They say so. She boasts of it.

They have confessed stealing 40 autos, scores of holdups and a number of safe-cracking jobs, police say.

Worked in "5 and 10"

"We only took sedans," Helen relates. "I like the closed jobs best and told the fellows to lay off the other models.

'When there was nothing else doing we'd open a few safes."

A few months ago Helen was clerking in a 5-and-10-cent store.

"Whatta life that was," she reflects.

"When I got through I had to come home and fold my hands to look sweet for the folks.

"The angel child stuff was driving me cookoo. I stood it long enough and then one night I ups and calls my man. I was going to be married to him before long.

"'Louis,' I say 'let's go.' And that's what we did.

"But take it from me, there's nothing in this rouge stuff."

KING'S WHARF NEWS

KING'S WHARF, Nov. 4. — Miss Mary Twomey has returned home after spending a few days, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Thos. Perdue, in Peterboro'.

Mr. Jas. C. O'Leary spent a few days last week, the guest of friends in Emmismore.

Mr. and Mrs Wm. Perdue and family, of Peterboro', spent Sunday, the guest of friends here.

Mr. and Mrs Peter Perdue were business visitors to Peterboro', Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Perdue, of Peterboro', spent a few days last week, the guests of Mr and Mrs. Patrick Perdue.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carroll and family spent Sunday, the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Peter Perdue.

Mr. David Morrissey, of Lindsay, is at present the guest of his son, Thomas.

Mrs. David Morrissey and daughter, Miss Amelia, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Morrissey.

Mr. John Hickey, Mrs. Hickey and Miss Josie Hickey spent Sunday, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hickey in East Emily.

Miss Fanny Costello, of St. Joseph's Convent, Lindsay, spent the week-end, the guest of her parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Herlihey, Sr., were called to Peterboro' on Tuesday, owing to the serious accident of the former's sister, Mrs. Murray, who had the misfortune to fall on the walk in front of her home, 111 Rubidge Street and break her hip. She was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital and is doing nicely. Mrs. Murray's brothers all live in this locality and all her friends will be sorry to learn of her accident.

Mr. Angus Twomey had the misfortune to lose a valuable horse last week from paralysis. It was a young horse and a big loss.

Mr. and Mrs. John Flood, of Ennismore, spent Friday, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Guiry.

Mr. Walter Mitchell, tinsmith, of Omemee, made a business trip through here and intends doing some work in the next few days for a number here.

The people here are getting out their potatoes, which is an abundant crop; also filling silos, threshing sweet clover and buckwheat. The long spell of dry weather has the ground so dry it is nearly impossible to plow. Rain is needed badly.

There are a number of cattle buyers around every day and cattle seem to be in demand, but the prices offered are very low and the farmers who have fat cattle are very much discouraged.

There are a large number of duck hunters camped along the lake here and the noise of the gun can be heard from early morning till night. Ducks are plentiful but not very fat.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Morrissey and family spent Tuesday, the guests of friends in Lindsay.

Mr. Vincent Perdue was a business visitor to Peterboro' on Wednesday.

SMART NOVELTY

The Carmen sash which is worn very low over the hips and tied directly in front is a novelty worthy of the attention of thin and medium sized women.

Baker's Cocoa

There are twenty-five to thirty different grades of cocoa beans, but Baker's Cocoa is made of high-grade beans only. That is one reason why it is better.

PRICE OF CLOTHES HIGHER IN ENGLAND

Comparison of Retail Prices Shows Large Increase Over Over Prices in 1914.

Comparisions of retail prices of clothing in England and in the United States shows that the retail prices of clothing have advanced since 1914 in England to a greater extent than in the United States.

Mallets (Bradford, England) Weekly Wool Chart for February 28th 1924, gives British retail prices as follows.

Men's suits and overcoats, 90% above 1914; Woollen material for Women's outer garments, 160% above 1914; Woollen Underclothing and hosiery, 140% above 1914; Cotton materials for Women's outer garments, 220% above 1914; Cotton underclothing material and hosiery, 150% above 1914.

On the other hand, the United States National Industrial Conference Board's report for January 1st 1924, shows that the retail prices for all clothing in the United States were only 76% above those of July 1914.

These figures which show that the increase of retail prices over those of 1914 were less in th United States than in England seem to bear out the statements of the trade in the United States that increases in the prices have nothing to do with customs duties, but are due to other causes, such as higher taxes, higher rentals, increase in wool prices high wages paid textile operatives, and still higher wages paid clothing workers. The wages paid clothing workers in the United States to-day are higher than the peak wages of war time.

Bon Ami

Makes tiling and bathtubs glistening white!

It's so easy to keep bathtubs clean with Bon Ami!

Just sprinkle the Bon Ami powder into the tub. Then rub it all over with a well moistened cloth. Spatter-marks and cloudy rims disappear as by magic and the white enamel fairly glistens with cleanliness.

Bon Ami cleans everything about the house—nickel, glass, linoleum, white woodwork, aluminium, etc.—with the same wonderful ease. And it never scratches the most delicate surface. It's kind, too, to the housewife's hands—never reddening or roughening them.

ALLEGATIONS IN SETTELL PROBE AGAINST HYDRO

Twenty-four Charges Made By Sir Adam Beck's Former Secretary.

SOME ARE DENIED.

When Dealt With By Judge Snider at Tuesday's Session in Toronto.

TORONTO, Nov. 5.—The E. C. Settell charges against the Hydro electric commission Tuesday "broadened out" in extent and gravity.

Another phase of Judge Snider's investigation into the allegations of the former secretary to Sir Adam Beck opened with the making public of a fresh list of accusations contained in Settell's "conscience letter" to Beck.

Second Lot of Charges.

The instalment handed out and read by W. S. Brewster, K.C., counsel for the commission, contains twenty-four individual allegations, as follows:

"Re administration of commission.

"(1) That his notes will show an unchecked encroachment of greed, waste of public money and exploitation of the Hydro for the personal aggrandisement of one man.

"(2) That on June 7th, 1909, the sum of $1,500 was paid to one W. M. Whitehead of Hamilton, to get a by-law passed there, and that such amount was paid through A. F. Lobb, Toronto, and charged by Lobb as part of the cost of right-of-way.

"(3) That in 1911 McClary and Company, of London, although the highest bidder, obtained the contracts for signs on the right-of-way.

Says Money Wasted.

"(4) That in 1912 there was a shameful waste of money re election in Hamilton.

(5) That a check was issued on March 20th, 1913, in favor of R. A. Ross for dirty work done by the Thiels Detective Agency.

(6) That in 1914 applications for salary for those going to the front were refused.

(7) That in 1915 check number 643 for $800 was issued to one ——— and that such payment requires explanation.

(8) That a bill dated November 16th, 1917, and rendered by Cole & Burritt, barristers, Ottawa, was paid by the Hydro power commission, when it related purely to London and Port Stanley Railway affairs.

(9) That large sums of money were paid by the Hydro power commission in respect of the early electrification of the London and Port Stanley Railway, when Trimble and the work gangs under his charge worked there for weeks at a time.

Says Silence Bought.

(10) That in 1918 the sum of $6,300 was paid by the Hydro Power Commission to Walter S. Andrews, retiring auditor, to secure his silence.

(11) That all negotiations connected with the purchase by the Hydro Power Commission in 1920 of the Annex building, Toronto, were conducted by Gaby in secret and the suggestion is made that there is moral certainty there was some wrongdoing in the connection.

(12) That improprieties and wrongdoing took place on the part of certain officers of the commission in connection with dealings in 1922 with the Hanover Portland Cement Company.

(13) That in 1922 Roy Beck, while an employe of the commission and under salary from it spent weeks at a time in London taking one, Daniel Simpson, around looking at horses.

(14) That in 1922 many trips were made by Fairley, Stanley and Howson, Hydro Power Commission employes, to London, Cleveland, etc., in connection with the affairs of the London Street Railway, and that the expenses of such trips were paid for by the Hydro Power Commission.

Says Home Smith House Watched.

(15) That a bill dated September 15th, 1922, from the Pinkerton Detective Agency, was improperly charged to the Sandwich Windsor and Amherstburg Railway, as it covered services rendered in watching Home Smith's house in Toronto.

(16 That a payment of $3,000, made by the Hydro Power Commission to — in 1923 was without justification, as was also a further payment of $600 in February, 1924, to one —, on account of —.

(17 That the appointment, in 1924, of Dr. Gaby as medical and surgical consultant of the Hydro Power Commission at $225 per month, was scandal. It is charged that in addition he gets fees for every case attended.

(18) That excessive amounts of money were voted by the Hydro Power Commission in respect of the repair of automobiles shortly after their purchase.

Says Depreciation Not Charged.

(19) That the inevitable is being staved off by failure to charge depreciation in respect of radial railways, and it is further charged that the statement—made in 1924, by Sir Adam Beck to the city council of the City of Toronto, that the deficit on radial railways included depreciation, was not the truth.

(20 That automobiles of the commission are used for the benefit of officers of the commission and that the expenses of such use are paid by the Hydro Power Commission.

(21) That ———, real estate agent, Toronto, owes the commission the sum of $8,000 and has owed such amount for years, and that there is common knowledge in certain quarters as to why collection of the amount has not been enforced.

(22) That the statements prepared by the accounting department of the Hydro power commission are changed and varied to suit the requirements of the chairman of the commission.

(23) That deceptive accounts have been rendered in respect of Hydro Radial railways, the specific orders of the government have been flouted, and that thousands of dollars are being spent in respect of coming radial railways.

(24) That minutes of meetings of the Hydro power commission have been changed to suit the purposes of Sir Adam Beck, after being read to the board and approved.

At the opening of the session Judge Snider, and W. S. Brewster, K.C., agreed that Settell should be represented by counsel at the expense of the government, and that he should also be granted protection on his evidence.

"It seems reasonable, provided the attorney-general is willing," Mr. Brewster commented.

Hon. W. F. Nickle, a spectator in the room, made no gesture either of assent or dissent.

Mr. Brewster added the stipulation, however, that Settell's counsel should only be allowed to ask questions through him. Judge Snider concurreed in this.

"I am trying to guard against any such scenes as we had in Hamilton," he commented.

Settell, in custody of a constable, was allowed to leave the room to telephone the office of R. H. Greer, K.C., his counsel. Mr. Greer himself, he stated, was engaged on a case in Cobourg.

Wants Full Explanation.

Mr. Lucas on behalf of the Hydro submitted that the best results would be obtained in the present public, judicial enquiry by a full and free examination of the witnesses. "None of these parties, whose names are mentioned, who will be involved, desires any protection. Either Mr. Brewster or counsel representing Settell can cross-examine them at any length. We desire the same privilege of examining all witnesses who give evidence that may reflect upon any of these parties."

Judge Snider: "As I said at the beginning, I am trying nobody. I am sent here to enquire into the truth or falsity of these charges. I don't intend to prolong it to any unreasonable extent, and I have decided after consultation with counsel that it is quite proper to pursue the course which I have decided upon. So that any question you want to ask of any witness, Mr. Brewster will ask for you."

Mr. Brewster informed the commissioner that an officer from Hamilton had brought two valises containing belongings and some of the private memo books of Settell which were taken from him at the time of his arrest. Mr. Brewster asked that they be placed to be dealt with under his honor's direction.

Judge Snider ruled that Settell would have an opportunity to examine them and refresh his memory if occasion arose.

Produces Check.

When the second set of charges was taken up, H. E. Gilfoyle, representing G. T. Clarkson, auditor of the commission, produced a check for $1,500.00, drawn in favor of W. M. Whitehead, of Hamilton, by A. F. Lobb, Toronto.

"Records show that the commission didn't accept this as a proper disbursement," he states, "but, so far as I can ascertain, the amount was never recovered by Lobb, by the commission. Lobb became insolvent, and, I believe, since died.

Mr. Gilfoyle shed some light on the charge: "That a check was issued on March 26, 1913, in favor of R. A. Ross for 'dirty work' done by the Thiels Detective Agency."

Witness produced a check issued to R. A. Ross on March 25, 1913, for $844.71, also a memorandum initialed W. W. P. (Mr. Pope's initials) to the accounting department dated March 25, 1913 ,instructing them to issueo such a check to R. A. Ross, consulting engineer, "to cover moneys disbursed by him as directed by the board."

Mr. Gilfoyle also produced a bill dated January 1, 1913, issued from Montreal by E. A. Williams against the Hydro Power Commission for professional services during 1912, $844.-71. The bill was receipted: "Received payment in full from R. A. Ross, April 1, 1913.

"E. A. Williams
"K. F."

Witness further produced a letter dated April 1, 1913, from R. A. Ross to W. W. Pope, Hydro secretary, acknowledging receipt of the check for $844.71, and stating he had drawn a check for the same amount in favor of A. E. Williams, whose receipt was enclosed.

Mr. Ross' receipt had a foot note: "Approved for payment.

"W. W. POPE, secretary,
"A. BECK, chairman."

"What was this account for?" "I know nothing further than it paid the bill of E. A. Williams."

Special Detective Services.

"What did he do for the money?" "On Mr. Pope's memo it says: 'Specia' detective services.' "

"Do you know what that involved?" "No."

"Do you know any reason why the check was made to R. A. Ross and no to the man who rendered the bill?" "I do not."

The charge that work done on the London and Port Stanley railway had been charged to the Hydro commission, Mr. Gilfoyle characterized as unfounded. It had first been paid by the commission, he stated, but had later been made good by the London railway commission.

Recommended by F. A. Gaby.

With reference to the charge that the appointment of Dr. R. E. Gaby as consultant physician to the commission was "a scandal," Gilfoyle produced a recommendation from Chief Engineer G. A. Gaby, favoring the appointment of Dr. Gaby. In addition to his allowance of $225 a month, Settell's charge stated, Dr. Gaby collected fees whenever possible from his patients. Dr. Gaby's appointment dated from June 10, 1924.

FAMILY GROUP BANKS CEASE EXTINCTION OF THE MOLSONS

Advances To Shipbuilding Concerns at Three Rivers Was the Real Knockout —Some Recoverable, However.

MONTREAL, November 5.—The extinction of the Molson's Bank as a separate entity in Canadian banking appears to have been due to a large extent to the collapse of the war and post-war boom in certain enterprises in which the institution had interested itself by way of loans.

Chief among these, it is understood, were the shipyard at Three Rivers and the ill-fated pulp and paper promotions which were organised and sold advantageously to the Becker group in England, but failed following the collapse of the English organisation. The two concerns in this group in which the bank is reported to have taken heavy loss were the Chicoutimi and Bay Sulphite Companies.

The extent of the loss in connection with these pulp concerns is not known. In fact, it is said in some quarters that over a period of years the bank may regain the bulk of its advances to these concerns following reorganisation of the companies. On the other hand, it is said that the bank's equities in these concerns are frozen up tight so far as immediate realistion goes.

a My Recover.

It is quite possible that President Molson's statement to shareholders yesterday, that, in the opinion of the Molson's board, and writing down of reserve at the instance of the Bank of Montreal was far too drastic, was in reference to those latent pulp assets. Mr. Molson said quite plainly that he felt sure that much of the money written down would be recovered for the benefit of shareholders.

Opinion in Montreal is that the bank's advances to the shipyard at Three Rivers was the real factor that rendered absorption by a larger bank advisable. In well informed quarters it is said that total losses in regard to this concern since May have more than wiped out any secret reserves the institution might have accumulated in its 69 years' history.

War Babies Bad.

The congealing of their large advances to the pulp companies mentioned, coming on top of so heavy a loss in connection with the shipyard enterprise would obviously have been sufficient to cause embarrassment to any institution of moderate size. The fact, however, that the Molson's Bank was fundamentally sound and in a condition which would ultimately be healthy is evidenced by the fact that the Bank of Montreal is paying the shareholders of the smaller institution the equivalent of $176 a share for their stock.

The exact amount which various "war" shipbuilding enterprises in Canada cost the banks interested would make uninteresting reading if the total could ever be reached. It will be recalled that the Home Bank sustained very heavy direct loss through ship construction operations at Three Rivers.

The total loss at that yard to the various banks is placed in quarters, which should know, at well in excess of five million dollars, while other yards are understood to have contributed a total heavier than that between them.

Family Stuff.

Discussing the passing of the Molson's Bank a well informed financial man said to-day it marked the final page in the Montreal banking chapter written by the old "family" group of banks, which were headed by the old Merchants. The majority of these institutions, he said, had become very closely associated with some or other particular enterprise which in some cases provided the main stay.

In the case of the Merchants' this account was that of the Allan Steamship Company. When the latter was sold to the Canadian Pacific, the account was transferred to the regular C.P.R. banking channels, and the Allans retained the bank without the account, and consequently new business had to be sought.

These older and smaller banks, it is said generally found competition very keen and were forced to give fairly broad facilities to large customers in order to retain the business.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir: In reference to a statement in Monday night's paper, saying that the report from Poll Division No. 24 (Guiry's store, Park street), had been found by Mr. Hall to give the O.T.A. a majority of 52 votes, whereas it should have been Government control had the majority, that statement is not correct. The first and only statement sent to Mr. Hall from Poll Division No. 24, by me, was as follows: Government control 159 votes; O.T.A., 107 votes, giving Government control a majority of 52 votes, which was plainly understood by every worker at the poll.

DEPUTY RETURNING OFFICER

Editor, Examiner:

Sir,—The fact, now made public, that Mayor Turner and members of Council handling the matter, had conference with Mr. Green, collector of taxes, and will retain his services, is pleasing to many friends who assumed that he was receiving less than reasonable treatment.

In justice to the Council it is only fair to point out that on Saturday afternoon last the difficulty had been adjusted, which was thirty-six hours before a communication I had addressed to the press appeared in print, and not afterwards.

It can be understood, that so far as the conclusion favorable to Mr. Green is concerned, that the communication could not have influenced the decision reached. I think it is due the civic authorities that this statement be made. Had we known during Saturday-Monday, the pleasing news, then the letter might not have been penned. With expression of appreciation to Mayor and Aldermen for a kindly act and decent reluctance to do something detrimental to the position and feelings of an old and valued civic employee.

Respectfully,
F. H. DOBBIN.

CITY IN NEED SAFETY SIGNS,

Six Railway Crossings In This City Have No Protection At All.

The following communication from the Peterborough Branch of the Ontario Motor League to the City Council, will be of general interest. It was read at a meeting of the City Council and turned over to a committee for further consideration:

October 31, 1924.

His Worship J. J. Turner and Council of the City of Peterborough:

Gentlemen: Owing to the fatality occurring at one of the railroad crossings, it was decided by the Ontario Motor League, Peterboro Branch, to make a complete survey of all the railroad crossings in the city with the object of securing information as to whether all necessary precautions had been made for the protection of life.

With this end in view the following were appointed a special committee: President, J. A. Bertram, Committee Chairman; Andrew Brown James Juby and L. Fraser, secretary.

In making the survey three considerations weer kept in mind:

1. That irrespective of any protection there will be railroad crossing accidents unless all motorists take reasonable care

2. That an unreasonable burden would be placed upon the railroad companies and the city, if a demand were made for the best protection at all crossings.

3. Amount of vehicular and train traffic.

Under these considerations, the directors recommended that the report of the committee be submitted to the city council with the hope that the recommendaion may be favorably received and the necessary action taken, so as to eliminate as far as possible the liability for accidents.

Sixty seven railroad crossings were visited.

Seven with gates and watchmen.
Three with watchmen using discs.
One with automatic wig-wag.
Two with automatic gongs.
Forty-eight with railroad crossing signs.
Six with no protection whatever.

It is thererfore recommended that:

1. The C. N. R. be requested to instal gates and watchman at the Lakefield line crossing McDonnel street.

Automatic wig-wags at
Lakefield line crossing Barnardo avenue.
Lakefield line crossing Water street.
Lindsay line crossing Donegal St Railroad crossing signs at Lindsay line crossing Bonaccord street.
C. G. E. Company siding crossing Stewart street.
Quaker Oats Co. siding crossing Hunter street East.

2. That the C.P.R. be requested to place a railroad crossing sign at the C.G.E. siding crossing Park street.

3. That the City council be requested to take the necessary action to improve the approaches to the following crossings by the cutting or trimming of trees:

C. N. R. Lakefield Line, crossing Antrim street; crossing Aylmer St.; crossing Hilliard Street; crossing Barnardo avenue.

C. P. R. line crossing Maria St.

4. That consideration be given to the advisability of requesting the rail road companies to place all signs at a farther distance from the crossings. At present all signs are immediately at the crossings, lettered both side.

In submitting all the above recommendations to the City Council, it is believed that more influence will be brought to bear upon the railway companies to take the necessary action in avoiding costly litigation and possible damages.

Respectfully submitted for your favorable consideration,

Yours obediently,
L. FRAZER, Secretary.

NEWS OF KEENE.

Infant Child of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keitel Dead.

KEENE, Nov. 5.—The death occurred on Tuesday of the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keitel after an illness of a few days, aged 16 months.

Quite a number of young people attended the Jubilee Celebration at George Street Church.

The Rev. Mrs. Andrew McLaughlin and family are visiting friends at Tyrone.

Messrs. R. J. McCamus and David Wallace are away on their usual deer hunt.

The Agricultural Young People held their regular meeting on Tuesday night. General business was the order of the night.

Mr. Wm. Gates, formerly of Hiawatha, has returned for a short visit to his own home town. Mr. Gates has been managing a farm in Ohio. Everyone is glad to see the genial Billie back.

Mr. Robert Easson is seriously ill.

Mr. Jas. Ashburn continues to keep very poorly.

Mrs. (Rev.) Archibald is steadily improving

The funeral took place on Friday of the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hunter. The Rev. John Archibald officiated. Interment at Pine Grove Cemetery, Keene.

Mr. Fred Whalen had the misfortune to have his coupe smashed in an accident in Peterboro.

Great interest was taken in the American elections. A great number of people calling at Fletchers store to receive the news over the radio.

Mr. Jas. McCarthy, formerly of the Bank of Toronto, is visiting friends in Keene.

Hallowe'en Quiet

Hallowee'n festivities passed away as the most orderly in many years. The old practice of taking away gates, buggies, etc., being dispensed with, while the young people of the community gathered in parties and made friendly calls upon the villagers, who, heartily welcomed them. with cake, candy and other dainties No property of any description was destroyed as in other years and none of the residents being unduly molested.

The school children of the public school held a social in the afternoon at the public school and needless to say over indulgence caused a lot of them to feel very indisposed for a few days.

The Mathers' Corners Young People held a party also at the hall, a good time was spent together. It is quite noticeable that the young people of this community are making a greater effort towards wholesome social activity. The Community has always been noted for its clean social life and believe that there is greater opportunity to serve this community in this particular walk of life than have ever presented itself before.

Mr. Albert Bishop returned home on Friday after being in Christie Hospital for the past five weeks for treatment.

Messrs. Andrew Rennie, David Edwards, and the Rev. Andrew McLaughlin, B.A., B.D., left for Toronto to attend the Methodist Centinary in Toronto. These being the official delegates from the Keene Methodist church.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Byers of Colborne, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Howson.

EVENING WITH SHAKESPEARE

There was a good attendance at St. John's Parish Hall last evening for the Shakespeare evening, a presentation by Mrs. W. McKee Bingham, assisted by several of her pupils, of the third scene from the second act of Shakespeare's "King Henry Eighth."

The usual artistic finish which Mrs. Bingham imparts to her smallest endeavours was noticeable in the enjoyable presentation of the scene, against a stage rranged with a rose background and lighted with candles to represent a room in a mediaeval castle.

A substantial sum for the Sunday School was realised from the silver collection.

The story of the play was read by Mrs. Bingham as an introduction, with a brief history of the characters of King Henry and Cardinal Wolsey, and a very fine reading of several scenes, including the "pleasaunce" scene between Queen Katharine and Cardinal Wolsey, the "deposition" scene between the King and Wolsey, and the interview between Henry and Lady Anne Boleyn.

The reading of the paper was followed by the presentation of the third scene of Act 2 ,Miss Ethel Cooper taking the part of Lady Anne Boleyn, and portraying it in graceful, refined fashion, wearing a gown of pale blue and purple with head-dress of pearls; Mrs. Bingham giving a splendid interpretation of an old Court lady, in stuff gown of burgundy and rose, and Miss Helen Ross, as a very effective Lord Chamberlain, in costume of black and red, with the gold chain and keys of office.

A fitting introduction to the entire programme was the lovely playing of Miss Edwina Palmer, giving as a violin overture a number of old English airs and also playing the incidental music of the production, the pretty singing of the one song in the play, "Orpheus with His Lute," by Miss Edna Borbridge, and the excellent reading by Miss Helen Ross of one speech from the trial of Queen Katharine.

Miss Agnes Logan played the accompaniments.

HOT WATER AND CALOMEL

Cleans and Tones Up the Whole System.

You need not fear any bad aftereffects, no salts or Seidlitz are needed when you take the new tanol calomel. It is the best medicine in the world for headaches, indigestion, gas on the stomach, constipation, high blood pressure, bad taste in mouth, rheumatism, poisoned system, etc. One tanol calomel tablet before meals or two at bedtime and a cup or two of hot water first thing in the morning will wash all the previous day's wastes, gases and toxins from the system making you feel better, and better, work better, digest beter, and be 100 per cent. better in every way. Get a few of these simple tablets from Webber's Drug Store, and you will be surprised how effective they are.

FLYING.

America is lagging behind all European countries, in flying, according to speakers at an aviation banquet.

Major Hensley, commandant at Mitchel Field, says: "According to present indications, before 1927 we will have nothing to fly with."

If this is so, it's a dangerous bunder. A nation's first line of defense in future wars will be the air. France will be able to hang on the Ruhr as long as she has supremacy with planes.

News Briefs.

Two young men, hydro operators, went to Bradley Bay on Saturday for duck shooting. In the strong wind their canoe was swamped and they were in the water for half an hour. They managed to get to a stump and tipped some of the water out of their canoe, and then landed on an island. They built a fire with some difficulty and partly dried their clothes. Later they hired one of the neighboring farmers to take them to where their car was, and they arrived safe and sound—but wet—in Campbellford. In getting such a ducking themselves they did not shoot any ducks. Better luck next time.

HALLOWE'EN AT HASTINGS

Village Constable Had a Busy Night Chasing Serenaders.

HASTINGS, Nov. 5.—Hallowe'en night passed over very much the same as usual. In the early part of the evening the younger boys and girls paraded the streets with some very striking costumes. Later on in the evening several larger boys and grown-ups appeared, some in costumes, others in ordinary clothing. The main object of the latter was to bring all the old vehicles and boxes in sight and block the four corners on Front street and the bridge. The village constable was kept real busy trying to round up the serenaders, who evaded him at almost every turn.

AUSTRIA'S NEW PASSPORTS.

BERLIN, Nov. 5—(United Press)—Austria, setting a good example for the world, has abolished the nonsense and nuisance of pass visas. Instead of compelling travellers to wait in a queue hours long while a passport is stamped and written on and registered and sealed, the Austrians have hit on a pleasant device of selling passport postage stamps.

Here in Berlin, one goes up to the Austrian embassy and pays up to ten marks (according to whether one is making a transit journey or is stopping in Austria), then pastes the stamp in his passport and goes merrily on his way.

Judge Trains Daughter To Be Real Lawyer

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 5.—(United Press.)—Judge Bernard Barasa is training his daughter in the matter of law, even if she doesn't intend to use it for a better purpose than to get married and stay that way.

The daughter Kathryn, pretty and eighteen, has not wholly decided that that is what she will do with her law education, but then, she's pretty and 18, and shouldn't be expected to decide her father says.

She is one of the three law students at De Paul University this year.

When she completes her schooling Judge Barasa wishes to retire from the bench and form a partnership. He has been on the bench here eight years.

RED BLOOD MAKES ALL OUR STRENGTH

Vitality And Nerve Power Of Every Man And Woman Depends On The Blood, The Supreme Force of Life

What gives every man his strength? Red blood. What makes the vibrant beauty of women? Red blood.

Red blood is the supreme force of life. If we lack strength, vitality or nerve power we should think first of our blood. We can quickly create more red blood. Then, through the new strength that comes with rich, red blood we regain our vital nerve force.

Weak and discouraged men and women can find an easy, safe way to nourish the blood supply. Wincarnis gives the blood the very elements from which it is created. For fifty years this red blood builder has restored exhausted, nervous, pale, thin sufferers.

If your body vitality is failing, go to your druggist and begin the safe Wincarnis treatment. A sixteen ounce bottle, which is a fourteen day Wincarnis treatment, is sold by all leading druggists for $1.50.

Wincarnis is so effective that only three tablespoonsful a day need be taken. Try Wincarnis at once and see the new strength just a few days will bring.

FARM LIFE AND ITS PROBLEMS

FARMERS USING CROP REVENUES TO SETTLE DEBT

Business Benefits Also From the Advance in Farm Prices.

VAST GRAIN DEMAND.

Ontario's Record Crop is Placing Business on Sounder Basis.

TORONTO, Nov. 5.—The hesitant attitude of business in the United States and Great Britain, induced by the election has little effect upon Canadian trade. Britain, the largest wheat-importing country in the world, has commenced to buy grain in large volume, and her current purchases of other raw materials are quite up to normal. The view once prevalent in Canada that our business was bound to suffer during the tenure of office of the high tariff party in the United States has been largely dispelled as unfounded, and Canadian business is not seriously concerned from that standpoint. Even in the States there is a growing feeling that altogether too much significance is attached by commerce and industry to the question of what party is in power. A business authority presents statistical data to prove that neither business prosperity nor depression has consistently followed the elevation to power of either political party.

The continued and increasing demand for our grain abroad at current high levels is daily building up the buying power of the country to a degree probably not fully appreciated. The indicated world production of wheat for 1924, Russia excluded, is about 11 per cent. smaller than that of last year, and Russia will have very little, if any, surplus. This applies also to Rumania and Bulgaria, which countries, along with Russia, used to export nearly one-third of the wheat exported by wheat-producing countries. In conjunction with this is the expanding world consumption of wheat consequent upon European recovery. Europe, including Great Britain, imports annually about 400,000,000 bushels of wheat, which is about two-thirds of the world exports. Since world production has decreased more than 10 per cent, the importance of Europe's increasing demand is evident, and lends support to the expectation of still higher price levels.

Gradual Rural Improvement.

As a consequence of the grain price situation, the farmers are reported by some of the banks to be liquidating their obligations better than at any time since the beginning of the depression. It is held by some that crop returns this year will be used almost entirely for debt settlement, and that the retailers and manufacturers will not benefit materially from it. Such a view seems utterly without foundation. Much of the farmers' money will undoubtedly be used for this purpose, but much is now, and will continue to be, directed to the purchase of goods. Every sum of money used for debt liquidation brings the farmer nearer to the place where he commences to buy goods. In fact, there is a fairly general feeling on the part of retailers that the farmer, like everyone else, will use a portion of the crop returns for paying debts and a portion for buying needs and luxuries. Despite what has been said, buyers of merchandise in the West are still cautious. The feeling seems general, especially on the prairies, that mercantile firms must continue on a careful and economical basis for some time.

The livestock returns, particularly in Ontario, have improved the farmer's position measurably. The removal by Great Britain of the cattle embargo has been of tremendous value to Canada in facilitating the shipment of stockers direct to England to be finished there. A leading cattle exporter stated last week that in the 37 years of his experience in handling Ontario cattle, this is the best year in the industry. He stated that the cattle are coming off the grass in more perfect condition than ever before. Total shipments of cattle and calves from Canada for the year to date were 348,840 as against 806,884 for the same period last year, despite adverse conditions. Ontario has harvested the largest crop in the history of the province, with one exception. This fact, combined with the rise in grain prices, places the Ontario farmer in an enviable position. The increase in the value of all farm products over that of 1923 is variously estimated from 25 to 40 per cent. The lowest estimate of 25 per cent, would bring this year's revenue up to $500,638,000, in comparison with $394,548,000 last year, and $415,149,000 the year before. Taking price levels into account, this is the largest actual revenue which the province has ever realized.

Taking the country as a whole, there are a number of bullish factors in the business situation. The settlement of the Alberta coal strike has terminated the appalling loss which the province and the country were suffering throughout the summer. This is already evident in car loadings, which continued to increase despite a decline in grain shipments. With the improvement in debt liquidation, collections in general have shown an improvement for the first half of October in virtually all parts of the country.

LESS COTTON USED

World mill consumption of cotton decreased nearly 9 per cent in the year ending July 31, 1924. Yet the number of cotton spinning spindles in the world increased by 1,500,000 during the same time.

PROTECT ALFALFA

The latest cutting of alfalfa should be early enough to permit a growth of six to eight inches after the crop is removed. This growth catches snow and protects the alfalfa during the winter.

EXPENSIVE LAKE BOATS ARE IDLE; LOSS TO OWNERS

Congestion at Montreal Ties Up Valuable Shipping With Loss.

55 NEW SHIPS.

Ocean Vessels Discriminate Too Closely in Grade of Grain.

MONTREAL, Nov. 5.—About fifty-five new boats have been added to the lake fleets in the grain trade in the past two or three seasons. The Great Lakes Steamship Co., the Matthews Steamship Line, the Bay Line, the Eastern Line and others have added boats. The result has been a condition of congestion in Montreal that has tied up the lake vessels and prevented them from earning profits the owners expected from them.

The general manager of the port of Montreal issued a statement this week denying that there was any congestion in the local harbor. He pointed to the increased elevator capacity here and stated that 123,000,000 bushels of grain have already been handled this season against the total for all of last year of 120,000,000 bushels.

Despite this statement, the fact exists that there were 49 lake boats, carrying grain, tied up in Montreal Harbor at one time this past week and the steamship men claim that the condition is serious.

Condition of congestion is said to vessels in discriminating too closely in the choic of grain for shipment, with a result that elevator capacity is taxed to store grain that the boats do not wish to carry immediately. The farmers are naturally rushing their grain to sea-board to take advantage of, or at least to be in a position to take advantage of, present high prices, but the movement from the port outward is not so pressing.

Congestion of this kind does not occur at American ports because all the grain is taken to them by rail and it is easy to put an embargo on grain shipments when congestion threatens at any port. But an embargo is not so simple a matter with the boats, which eat up overhead in wages, coal, dockage, etc., when they are standing idle.

FALL PLANTING OF SEEDS WINS FAVOR

Small, Hard Flower Seeds Thrive in This Climate. Experiments Show.

Fall sowing of flower seeds is gaining in popularity, as experience proves satisfactory. Many of our annuals are hardy; so much so that they will live through the winter. Poppies are an example. Others have hard seeds which lie dormant until early spring, when they germinate weeks earlier than we could get on the ground to sow them.

The result is that plants from such seeds come to flowering size almost as quickly as those which have been started in hot beds or the greenhouse, and in sturdiness the plants from fall-sown seed have all the better of it. Hot-house plants are notoriously tender. Seldom have they been grown in a temperature low enough to prevent soft growth, and the result is they always require a period of adjustment to outdoor conditions during which they are at a standstill. The plants from fall-sown seeds are as sturdy and thrifty as outdoor children usually are, and come to bloom, of course, much in advance of those from seed sown outdoors in the spring.

Data on Fall Planting.

From a gardener's notebook, the following dates were taken, indicating the blooming time of annuals from fall-sown seed: Clarkia, June 23; Cosmos, early flowering, July 5; Snow on the Mountain, July 20; Nicotiana, June 29; Phlox Drummondi, July 1; Centaurea Cyanus, June 15; Annual poppies, June 1; Gypsophila, June 14; Anchusa capensis, July 3.

This is by no means a complete list of varieties which do well from fall sowing. Petundas, Salpiglossis, and Snapdragons, which are among the most difficult of annuals to succeed with when seed are sown in the spring, do much better from fall-sown seed, and all of them self-sow.

Small, Hard Seeds Thrive.

While in nature all annuals drop their seed in the fall, many of those we grow are native in climates much different from ours, so that it cannot be taken for granted that fall sowing will succeed with any flower. Even some of those which occasionally self-sow have so large a percentage of mortality, that it is not advisable to purchase their seed for fall sowing. In general it may be said that the larger seed, which one usually sows late in the spring, because of their tendency to rot in cold, wet soil, should not be sown in the fall. This includes zinnias, Marigolds and, of course, Nasturtiums, which are never sown until May. But the small, hard seeds may usually be sown in the fall with good effect.

Canada Is Gaining In World Flour Markets

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—While Canada's exports of flour increased 218 per cent. during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924, as compared with exports in pre-war years, American exports increased only 61 per cent., according to a statement made by the Department of Commerce. Canada was so active a competitor of the United States during the same period that it actually shipped more flour to 17 of the principal importing countries than did the United States.

OPTIMISM GROWS ON THE PRAIRIE

Business Conditions Improve as Crop Returns Get Into Use.

RAILWAYS BUSY.

LETHBRIDGE, Nov. 5.—Business conditions throughout the West are steadily improving, as returns from the crop get into circulation. The resumption of the coal mining operations of Alberta after six months of idleness means the return of a payroll of half a million dollars every two weeks. Farmers are optimistic with wheat netting them around $1.50 a bushel, and they are beginning to buy. Wholesale and retail business is picking up and country merchants feel safe in placing orders. Country merchants report lines that have been stagnant for years, furniture, for instances, now moving freely. The farmer has not been buying for several years. That is, he has been buying only essentials. He is now stocking up with a few of the comforts of life, improving his home surroundings, buying a bunch of feeder cattle and lambs, and placing on his farm a few breeding ewes and ows.

Potato digging is now general. The crop will be of good qua ity, but light. A'falfa is moving east and west and the demand is good from all quarters. The Co-operative Hay Association, recently formed here, will handle the bulk of the crop this year, it is believed. Stockmen are moving their fat cattle to market, the bulk of the shipments going to Chicago. The big cattle companies are shipping now, making considerable additional tonnage for the railways. In shipping to Chicago, Western cattlemen have not a bed of roses for it costs $28 duty to get a 1,400-lb. steer across the line. In spite of this they hold that Chicago is the only stable market for large consignments. Toronto and Montreal are getting small lots. A few are going to Winnipeg, while hogs, in large quantities, are going west to Seattle and Tacoma. Vancouver is drawing both cattle and sheep from these parts. Turkeys are now raised in quantity in Southern Alberta, but there will be a shortage this fall. There are not turkeys in the southeast where the drought was practically complete. Other districts report a fair number of marketable turkeys. Prices will be high. Improving conditions are noticeable everywhere. The spirit of the farmer is better. The transition from grain to mixed farming is taking place rapidly, and business is feeling the benefit.

KEENE FARMERS BUSY.

Digging Root Crops and Finishing Fall Ploughing—Large Acreage.

KEENE, Nov. 1.—The farmers of this district are very busy finishing up their fall ploughing. The turnips are now being harvested, which will complete their season's harvest. Threshing is still in progress, and the yield is exceptionally good.

There is a big acreage of fall wheat planted this fall, and with the fine weather and occasional rains, has made prospects good for winter-ing.

Monday being the U.F.O. shipping date, a good many hogs were shipped.

Hank Cowie had a barn raising on Saturday on his farm at Hiawatha.

A. E. Fletcher, who is making a specialty of bred-to-lay Rock hens, thinks that he holds the record for Otonabee. 22 weeks old cockerels.

The Young Farm People of Otonabee held a very successful evening in the Town Hall, Keene, on Wednesday evening. A large attendance was present, and about $60 was taken in.

GULLS EAT HOPPERS

Farmers in Pondera county, Mont., thank flocks of 4000 to 5000 gulls for the destruction of one of their most dangerous pests, the grasshopper. The gulls fed so extensively on the insects that few could be found in the county.

SWINE LOST TO T. B.

Tuberculosis has caused the loss of more than 100,000 hogs, out of the 54,000,000 federally inspected last year. In addition, more than a million parts of carcasses were condemned because f the disease.

FEAR

So far this year, Americans have taken out an average of 675 million dollars of life insurance a month. A generation ago, this would have indicated a national epidemic or pandemic of fear. Now it reflects just good horse sense. Educational advertising and personal sales talks have made the people realize that insurance—betting you'll die sooner than the company thinks you will—is protection plus a scientific system of systematic savings. Hundreds of thousands would not save otherwise.

NEW ELEVATORS ARE SPRINGING UP IN COUNTRY

Big New Structure at Buffalo Planned By Canadian Company.

GRAIN THROUGH U. S.

Scores of Elevators in Dominion Continue to Feed U. S. Roads.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 5.—Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company plans to erect a transfer elevator at Buffalo, with a capacity of 1,000,000 bushels, and at a cost of $800,000. This concern, with its 440 country elevators, and terminal elevators, holding 15,000,000 bushels, can now claim to be the largest grain-handling organization in the world.

A large amount of Western grain takes the route through the United States to New York. Neither vdeelopments at Montreal or Vancouver have altered that fact. Principally it is due to the presence of liners at New York, prepared to make low rates for the transport of grain to Europe, using space which otherwise might have to be devoted to ballast. Completion of the new Welland Canal may change the port at which grain via the Montreal route is transferred from the large vessels of the upper lakes to those capable of proceeding to Montreal, but Buffalo seems likely to remain the principal transfer point for the New York route.

Elevator accommodation for Western grain is rapidly increasing. The Spillers elevator at Vancouver is far advanced in construction, and is expected to be receiving grain before Christmas. The new government elevator at Edmonton, which has a capacity of 1,000,000 bushels, has just opened. It will serve a useful purpose in storing grain intended for the Vancouver route at times when that port and the mail lines leading to it are congested, and when grain is to be dried, for no one will take the risk of shipping damp or tough grain by the Panama route. Two private elevators at Port Arthur, each one million bushels capacity, one owned by the Bawlf, and the other by the Stewart interests, were opened last year for the first time. Scores of new country elevators have been erected this year, chiefly at points made accessible by new branch line construction either of the Canadian National or the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Saskatchewan's Butter Output 13,000,000 Pounds

REGINA, Nov. 5.—Dairying in Saskatchewan is progressing in a manner truly remarkable, the production of creamery butter in the month of September, 1924, reaching the high figure of 1,556,291 lbs., as compared with 997,433 lbs. in September, 1923, being over half a million pounds gain for a fall month, the largest gain in butter manufacture ever reported in the province in any one month.

It now appears as if the total creamery butter production for the year will reach 13,000,000 lbs., a gain of 3,000,000 lbs. over the high record of 1923.

WANT EXERCISE AND GOOD FOOD

It Is Just as Necessary to Feed and Exercise the Dairy Bull as the Cow.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—It is just as important to feed and exercise the dairy bull as it is the cow, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Lack of good food and muscle development is a fast way to sterility, department experts explain. Improper care renders many a valuable sire useless.

The amount of grain to feed to dairy sires varies from 4 to 10 pounds, depending on the size and condition of the animal and the kind of roughage. A grain mixture recommended by the department consists of three parts ground corn (by weight), two parts ground oats, two parts wheat bran, and one part linseed meal.

Roughage.

Ground oats are considered especially valuable for bulls. Cottonseed meal is not usually regarded with favor, especially when fed in large amounts. Some breeders think it causes impotency.

Legume hays—alfalfa, clover, vetch, soy bean, cow-pea—are excellent roughage, and should be fed liberally if possible.

From 10 to 15 pounds of silage a day with other roughages can be fed safely without impairing the usefulness of the animal.

Dairy bulls should have plenty of water.

Activity Essential.

Many bulls have been found sterile or slow breeders, due to close confinement and lack of activity. Dairy bulls, especially, are difficult to handle in this regard.

Ways should be found, however, of keeping them in exercise, either in the pen or outside. Some farmers yoke bulls like oxen and use them to pull a plow, to haul manure, or do other farm work.

Exercising arrangements may be put up in a large, roomy pen. Bulls may be induced to exercised themselves with an empty barrel or keg, by hunting or rolling it around the pen. A rounded block of wood, hung from the ceiling, is another way to get the bull to butt at something and exercise himself.

NEED A MARKET FOR DISPOSAL PRAIRIE CATTLE

Lower Production is Predicted Due to High Price of Corn.

A NEW EMBARGO.

Prejudice, Ignorance and Competition Must Be Overcome in England.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 5.—There is but one unsatisfactory item in the Western farmer's price list at the present moment. Grain prices are at undreamed of high levels. Hog prices, although not high enough to satisfy in relation to the price of grain, do not mean lost money, but cattle prices are at disappointingly low levels, almost disastrously low. And, peculiarly enough, some of the very causes that are producing low prices now seem likely, given sufficient time, to work the other way, and bring about higher prices both for cattle and for beef on the consumer's table. Possibly by April or May a very considerable change may have come about.

Thousands of Western cattle are coming on the markets, now selling at prices anywhere from $20 to $60. Recently, it has been practically impossible for the best animal to reach $75, and the great bulk of cattle are selling below $50 a head. Representing two years' care, or more, the return is not very satisfactory.

Practically speaking, our cattle prices just now are governed by the level of prices in the United States. That country has a duty of 1 1-2c a pound against our light cattle, and of 2c a pound against our heavy cattle. These duties are spoken of sometimes as being prohibitive. Actually, they are nothing of the kind. Our cattle keep going to the United States because there is no place else for them to go. The Western farmer pays the duty in order to get his cattle into the United States because he must. His returns are reduced by from $15 to $25 a head, which goes to the treasury of the United States. The duty does not do much good to any one, because, compared with the cost of collection, the revenue to the Government is small, and the number of our cattle is not large enough to be a matter of great significance in the markets of the United States. Whole trainloads of our Western cattle have recently been dispatched to Chicago to be sold at from five to six cents a pound live weight, which means that farmers got for them at Winnipeg from 2 1-2 to 3c a pound, or $25 to $30 a head. The reason feeder cattle are cheap in the United States just now is that corn is so expensive. No one wants to take the risk of buying it for cattle.

Difficulties of the British Market.

If it is asked why the British market does not afford an outlet for Western cattle, the answer is that the results of the removal of the embargo have been very disappointing. The cattle that are going to Great Britain are mostly fairly well finished cattle from Ontario. They are shipped as "store" cattle under the somewhat elaborate regulations imposed before such cattle can be admitted to Great Britain for feeding purposes, but actually, in the majority of cases, they are slaughtered for beef at the port of landing just as if the embargo were still in existence. Leaner cattle, of an unquestioned "store" type, are not sent over in any great numbers, partly because only the most valuable cattle can stand the transportation cost. Partly, also, various restrictions imposed from time to time in England on the movement of cattle, because of the foot and mouth disease, have interfered with free movement of cattle to inland points.

There is a further reason, which is slow in obtaining recognition, and which may require some action by the Dominion Goverament. There is as yet no active demand from the British farmer for Canadian store cattle, and little effective machinery for their distribution after being landed. When the embargo was first removed, the arrival of the first shipments of cattle in Great Britain was exploited to a tremendous extent, so much so, that a considerable number of farmers were induced to attend the first auction sales, and to bid such good prices on Canadian cattle that they lost a good deal of money when these same cattle were returned to market in a finished condition some weeks or months later, and, in the meantime, the general level of prices for both beef and cattle had dropped. As a country we seem to have oversold our market at first, and then to have neglected entirely the question of salesmanship ever since. If our store cattle are going to find a satisfactory market with English farmers, more attention has to be devoted to selling them; to making the English farmer realize that they are good, and in making sure that there are efficient channels of distribution by which they may reach his farm. The legal embargo, prohibiting the admission of our cattle for feeding purposes, has been abolished. We have still to overcome the embargo which custom, prejudice, ignorance, forgetfulness and competitive supply built up against our product during thirty years.

EVERY FARMER NOT IN DEBT

Recovery of Dollar Shows in Increased Buying Prospect.

SITUATION GOOD.

After having his buying powert curtailed by a greater degree of deflation in relation to his prices than those of manufactured goods for nearly four years, the farmer is at last placed in a favorable position by the phenomenal rise in the prices of virtually all farm products. Farm prices dropped lower than the general price levels in the latter part of 1920, and have been considerably below ever since. With the recent change, however, the situation is quite different. The farmer should this year be among the best buying prospects, and the rural districts are even now reporting a decided improvement in retail business. The statement is made that the farmer must first liquidate his debts before he is in a position to increase his buying materially. Undoubtedly much of this will be done, especially in the West but all farmers are not in debt. The liquidation will being us that much nearer to a state of better buying, and the actual increase in buying by a large section of the farmers cannot be counteracted because some farmers are in debt.

The second point is the actual power of the dollar during the war and post-war periods, and to date, on the basis of 1890-1900-100. On this basis it will be seen that the dollar is still worth less than 50 cents in comparison with the dollar of twenty-five years ago. In view of the relatively stable condition of Canadian prices since about the middle of 1921, it would seem a new level is being established, and according to present indications this new dollar is worth approximately half of the dollar of a quarter century ago.

METRIC SYSTEM IS ADVISED FOR CROP

Russia Produces Three Times as Much Wheat as France.

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 5.—Crop statistics will be more valuable to the American farmer when they are expressed in terms of the metric system, is the belief of Dr. Thomas Forsyth Hunt, former dean of the College of Agriculture, University of California.

As an example of the confusion now existing in agricultural weights and measures, Dr. Hunt cites this year's reports on wheat. France reports 72 million quintals; Russia 1158 million poods; Great Britain, 8 million quarters; United States, 758 million bushels.

"No one can read these statistics not even a mathematician. How can the American farmer get any sense out of them?" asks Dr. Hunt.

Expressed in metric tons, reading: France, 7 million; Russia, 21 million; Great Britain, 2 million; United States, 20 million, it would be easier to make comparisons.

"Anyone can see," adds Hunt, "that Russia produces three times as much wheat as France, or that American wheat production is ten times greater than that of Great Britain.'

Recent census returns show our 1919 productions of corn to be 2346 millions of bushels, and 146 million short tons of hay. After reading these figures, who can tell the relative size of the corn and hay crop?

"Expressed in metric tons it is easy," continues Hunt; "Sixty million metric tons of corn and 132 million metric tons of hay. When you have data in this form, any farmer can see that there are two pounds of hay o feed for every pound of corn."

MORE OLIVE OIL

Olive oil production in the Mediterranean Basin will total about 825,000 short tons, it is estimated. Last year's production was about 660,000 tons.

MATURE FRUIT

Fruit should be picked while mature, otherwise it will wilt more readily. Excessive loss of weight, due to wilting, impairs the appearance of the fruit.

THRESHERS HAVE BETTER GRADING THAN INDICATED

Western Crop Is Not Moving as Rapidly as Was Anticipated.

VESSELS DELAYED.

Oat Crop Light and of Low Germinating Strength—No Seed.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 5.—Threshing has been general throughout the three Prairie Provinces for two weeks, and considering the shortage of men, and the fact that the ground in many places is very soft from the late heavy rains, reducing the load it is possible to haul to the separators, excellent progress is being made. Not sufficient has been threshed to materially increase the receipts, though indications are that the movement will be heavy in the next few days. Grades on the whole are fairly well maintained. The Saskatchewan Government claims that 65 per cent. of the threshing is done in that Province, but farmers and elevator men place it at a lower figure. Manitoba has about 70 per cent. threshed in the southern half of the Province, but probably not more than 45 to 50 per cent. in the north. The Provincial Government of Manitoba claims that 18 days of fine weather will see the bulk of the Manitoba threshing completed. Samples of grain threshed since the rains have been received from all over the West by the chief inspector, and the Grain Standards Board has been called to sit here to establish the commercial grades for this season's crop.

Vessel agents and owners are complaining of the small amount of business being done owing to delayed movement. Seven boats reported at Fort William and found difficulty in securing cargoes. Rates are 2 1-4c to Buffalo; 2 1-2c to bay ports and 10 1-2c to Montreal. Great activity is still reported from Duluth, where the embargo on receipts has been raised.

Oats Are Light.

As predicted at the time of making the estimate of the crop, the oat crop is proving light, with much of it of low germinating strength and unfit for seed. The Dominion seed branch is making a survey of available seed quality oats, and having announced their intention of so doing through the public press, there is little doubt that prices paid will have to be high to secure requirements.

While the barley crop, taking the amount of summer-fallow prepared during the past summer, the amount of fall ploughing which has been possible to do, is the smallest in many years, and it is not likely that much acreage can be covered now before the freeze-up. This will mean a tendency to increase the area in coarse grains next spring, as they can be seeded later, giving time for spring cultivation. This will increase the demand for good seed oats and a good seed barley.

While the barley crop, taking the West as a whole, is light and much of it touched with frost, in the southern parts of both Manitoba and Saskatchewan, and particularly Manitoba, the barley crops were heavy, and the quality fine, and much of this barley was threshed before the rains came, so that good barley for seed should be fairly plentiful if the high prices do not tempt the farmers to sell themselves short.

FARMERS WANT RAIN.

Manvers Township Land Is Getting Hard to Plough.

BETHANY, Nov. 5.—The farmers in this vicinity would welcome rain as the ground is very dry for ploughing.

The root crop is practically all in the root house, and a good yield is reported.

If not already attended to, go over your chicken house with a solution of kerosine oil and crude carbolic acid, mixed one tablespoonful of acid to each gallon of oil. This will destroy all the lice it reaches, in cracks and other hiding places. See that all broken glass is replaced, and fill up cracks that will cause a draft. A clean, well-ventilated pen, free from drafts, together with all available sunlight, fresh water and a liberal supply of well-balanced feed, are most essential for the success of the farm flock.

FARM CENSUS PLANNED.

ROME, Nov. 5.—More than 70 countries are being lined up to participate in a world-wide agricultural census—the first in history.

The census will be undertaken in 1930, under the direction of the International Institute of Agriculture, whose headquarters are in Rome.

The purpose of the census is to place all farm statistics throughout the world on a comparable basis so world food and fibre production may be understood in all countries.

At present statistics are different among countries, making it difficult to compare production figures.

A man's strongest argument in a family fuss is slamming the front door as he starts down town.

PLOWING MATCH WAS IMPORTANT EVENT IN 1800'S

Contests Were of Province Wide Interest and Drew Huge Crowds.

TOWNSHIP CHALLENGE.

Event of 1849 Was Occasion of a General Holiday in District.

COBOURG, Nov. 5.—This is the season of the year when the annual ploughing matches take the attention of farmers in many country districts, but the sons and daughters of the farmers of seventy-five years ago tell us that the present - day matches were by no means as important events as were those of 1850 and 1860, when they were not merely district or community but Provincial events.

Whitby Township's Challenge.

In the year 1848 or 1849 the Township of Whitby issued a challenge to plough with any township in Upper Canada for a purse of one hundred pounds.

Scarboro accepted the challenge, and the trial of skill took place on the farm of Mi-Asa Port in the Township of Pickering. The Canadian Agriculturist of May, 18[illegible] says of this event:

"The day was beautifully fi[illegible] and vast numbers were attracted [illegible] this interesting scene from a[illegible] parts of the surrounding countr[illegible] several coming from considerab[illegible] distances. It was estimated th[illegible] not less than four thousand peop[illegible] were present, and the interest man[illegible] fested in the day was very great. Early in the morning in all the neighboring villages everything noted that a great holiday had commenced; bands of music were playing, teams were decorated for the occasion, and the leading ro[illegible] were lined with expectant spe[illegible] tors, wending their way towards [illegible] scene of operation."

Twenty Ploughs to a Township.

The article goes on to state that each township had twenty ploughs. The site was a large field of strong sod, having a soil of what is usually termed heavy loam. The requisite number of spaces had been previously numbered and staked off, each piece consisting of upwards of half an acre. As the work proceeded the impression grew that Scarboro would win, and when the judges gave their decision this was found to be the case. It is emphatically recorded, however, that this was not because of any real inferior work on the part of the Whitby plowmen.

Had Practical Uniformity.

The Scarboro men had practised a uniform system of plowing. Their teams also were good, and their plows perhaps a little superior to those used by Whitby. The Agriculturist says:

"They laid up their furrows precisely at an angle which made the work more captivating to the eye, and, in short, complying with more of these conditions than did their competitors, which modern authorities have pronounced the co[illegible] principles of ploughing."

The Ploughs Used.

The ploughs used were made of iron with the exception of one, on the principle of the Scotch swing plough, known as Guy's pattern. Several of the Scarboro men had gone to the pains and expense of importing ploughs for the occasion. The depth of the ploughing upon this occasion was not to fall below five inches, and six was considered better."

The Dinner That Followed.

The ploughing match was held in the morning, and in the afternoon the ploughmen, judges, contributors to the purse and others, comprising about five hundred people, sat down to dinner in a temporary building which the owner of the farm had erected for the occasion. The usual toasts followed the dinner. Mr. Peter Perry was given the credit of being the chief instigator of this ploughing match.

Each to Travel Half Way.

It was decided that the township which won the purse, Scarboro, should issue a challenge again to other townships in the Province, but that the distance that the plough men should have to travel should not be more than "a day's journey," twenty-five miles, their opponents to meet them at some central farm and carry out the trial of speed there.

International Ploughing Match.

A ploughing match between Canada and the United States was later arranged, and there was also a ploughing match at Thornhill the following year, but all this is another story.

MORE POTATOES

Nearly 2,000,000,000 bushels of potatoes is the estimated production of all European countries, the United States and Canada. Last year's production was about 27,000,000 bushels less.

BIGGER COTTON CROP

World cotton production this year is expected to exceed last year's by from two to three million bales. Most of this increase will be in the United States, where last year's crop of 10,128,000 bales will be surpassed by a crop of 12,499,000 bales.

There are women who grow old gracefully and others who keep young ridiculously.

DRYS ENTRENCH IN EAST DURHAM

Permanent Organization is Formed to Support the O. T. A.—Officers Elected.

ENFORCE THE LAW

MILLBROOK, November 5. — A meeting of those interested in the cause of temperance was held on Friday evening when a permanent organisation for the riding of East Durham was effected with a view to aiding in the better enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act following hte decidedly 'dry' majority for its continuance given throughout the riding at the recent plebiscite.

The attendance was encouraging, and the spirit of determination to do everything possible to enforce the law in this part of the county at least, and also to give such assistance as might be required should request be made, or opportunity offer ,in other parts of the Province as well ,was evident throughout.

The following officers were elected:

President, F. W. Galbraith, Port Hope.

Vice-president, H. Fulford, Port Hope.

Secretary, Rev. R. T. Richards, of Cavanville.

Treasurer, Mr. B. Oliver, Port Hope.

Vice-presidents for Townships, T. W. McIndoo, Cavan; W. Lee, Manvers; H. Lawson, Oope; G. E. Burnham, Millbrook.

Mission Address.

A very interesting service was held in Grace Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening when Mr. J. Dutton, of Peterborough, gave an inspiring address on the needs of the various mission fields, giving particular attention to Japan, in which Empire the speaker has for years felt a deep personal interest. The congregation was larger than usual, and followed the facts presented by Mr. Dutton with close attention throughout.

A quartette, "Others," by Rev. G. and Mrs. Gervan, Mr. and Mrs. H. Johnston, carried out the missionary spirit of the occasion. The financial appeal met with reasonable success, and will reap further results as envelopes for special missionary contributions, in the form of a thankoffering, are being sent out this week. It is expected that these will be placed on the plates next Sunday, and announcement of the entire amount received will be made when full returns have been made up.

Ministerial Meeting.

The November meeting of the Ministerial Association was held on Monday at 9.30 a.m., Rev. G. I. Craw, of Springville, giving an able paper on the prophet Haggai, following the line of the message of this prophet as adapted to our own times.

The usual discussion followed and many helpful points were elucidated.

Owing to the centenary celebration of missions at Massey Hall, Toronto, this week, which several ministers of the district are attending, the members present at Monday's meeting were less than usual.

Rev. Mr. Williams will be the speaker at the December meeting.

AUTHORS TO DEBATE.

Authenticity of "Beasts, Men and Gods," the Subject.

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 5.—(Canadian Press).—A unique scientific duel is about Tuesday between Sir Sven Anders Hedin, of Sweden, well-known through his discoveries in Tibet and Trans-Himalaya, and Ferdinand Ossiendowski, explorer and author of books on Asia, will be staged in Berlin in the near future.

Dr. Hedin publicly denied statements in Ossendowski's books as deliberate falsehoods and fantastic fabrications, and challenged him to a public debate. The author, who is now in Egypt, accepted the challenge and agreed with his opponent upon Berlin as their meeting place. The date has not yet been set.

CREW MUTINIED.

Brazilian Battleship Seized and Sailed Out of Harbor.

BUENOS AYRES, Nov. 5.—The Brazilian Embassy here Tuesday confirmed reports that the crew of the Brazilian battleship Sao Paulo had mutinied, seized the vessel and sailed outside of Rio Janeiro Harbor. The Embassy statement indicated that the battleship subsequently anchored outside, and was being fired at yesterday morning by the harbor forts.

FASHIONS & FOIBLES

by Shirley Sharon

BUTTERICK 5598

When the youngest generation goes out into society to meet the Prince of Wails, Jackie Coegan or other important people, she wears a coat of clay-blue broadcloth and a crêpe de Chine hat of the same entrancing color.

It is such a short time—three or four years at the most—that a perfect lady can wear pale blues and pinks in her street costumes that it is to be hoped no mother will be so strong-minded that she will let the time pass without a pastel-colored broadcloth or kasha coat for her small daughter. Of course if one must combine the practical with the frivolous, the almond green and powder blue shades will answer for both every-day and special occasions. Cashmere coatings and soft pile fabrics in camel color, dark blue and scarlet are also smart for the small girl's coat. The closing and collars are a bit out of the ordinary and very good style.

RUSSIAN LAWS WEAK

Punishment for High Crimes Are Very Light.

MOSCOW, Nov. 5. — Persons guilty of murder and other crimes in Soviet Russia are punished with sentences so light that they will amaze American judges and public prosecutors. In most cases punishment for murder in the first degree does not exceed five years. It rarely exceeds 10 years, unless the crime is associated with banditry.

Punishment for other crimes, such as arson, forgery, robbery, rape, infanticide and criminal assault is correspondingly light. Bigamy is another offense which is only lightly punished. As marriage and divorce in Soviet Russian have been made very easy, however, there are relatively few case of bigamy.

Death sentences are given only for counter - revolutionary activities, "economic espionage," counterfeiting, organized banditry and crimes against the State. But even in these case capital punishment is sometimes withheld. A notorious case in recent weeks was that of Boris Savinkof, charged with widespread spying activities and other crimes against the Soviet. Although he confessed his complete guilt, he was given only 10 years in prison.

STIRLING CHURCH ANNUAL SERVICES

Sunday Offerings Totalled $500, With $200 More From Concert.

STIRLING Nov. 3.—The Hallowe'en concert held last Thursday night under the auspices of the Women's Institute was a great success, the lengthy program provided was interesting from start to finish the proceeds amounted to 106. The Hall was filled to capacity, many having to be turned away.

The anniversary services of St. Andrews' Presbyterian Church were a success in every way. The preacher of the day, Rev. Mr. Brown of Chalmer's church Kingston, Ont., gave two excellent sermons to large and appreciative audiences. At the chick en supper on Monday night an abundance of things good to eat, was provided by the Ladies of the church.

The supper was followed by an excellent program of speeches and music. The Rev. Mr. Simpson acted as chairman in his usual able manner and the following numbers called: (1) a solos by Miss Hazel Burkitt, accompanist being Miss Florence Marshall, (2) Rev. Mr. Barett, followed with an excellent address; (3) solos, by Miss Stella Marshall; (4) address by Rev. Mr. McKenzie, Burnbrae; (5) violin solos, by Mr. Cecil Sailes; (6) address, Rev. B. F Byers; (7) address, Rev. (Major) Menzie; (8) solo, Hazel Burkitt; (9) solo, Stella Marshall; (10) address, Rev. Mr. Brown.

Mr. Simpson announced that the receipts at Sunday's services were $500 and that of the supper $200, also that as there was so much provisions left over that a 25c supper would be held on Tuesday night. Messrs. L. Meiklejohn and Thos. Montgomery Sr., then spoke a few words, each thanking all those who had assisted in any way to make this one of the best anniversaries in the history of the church. The Frankford Orchestra which had rendered some excellent music during the serving of the supper, gave another splendid number; the meeting was closed by the singing of the National Anthem.

Rev. and Mrs. Simpson are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harper Rollins while here. Mrs. Simpson returns to their home in Brooklin on Wednesday but Mr. Simpson remains over until after the anniversary of St. Andrew's at West Huntington which occurs next Sunday and he expects to occupy his own pulpit in the afternoon of Nov. 9th.

Mr. and Mrs. David McCook of Campbellford, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harper Rollins.

Mr. Walter French teller in the Union Bank here, has left the service of the Bank to accept a position on an Orchestra in Picton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Sine of Sine, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Sine on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Wm. Meiklejohn of Bonar Law, is staying at his son's, Mr. R. W. Meiklejohn's for a few days.

Mr. K. M. Sine of Peterboro, visited his parents on Saturday.

Farmers are busy with their plowing, but report the ground too hard in some places to do the work properly.

The Hon. Duncan Marshall, Liberal organizer and Mr. Hanna, the Liberal candidate in the coming by-election stopped on their way to a meeting they were holding at Harold, and had their supper at the Presbyterian church.

A meeting is to be held here on Wednesday night in the interest of Mr. Hanna. The Hon. T. A. Low, Minister of Trade and Commerce, is expected to be present and speak.

CANADA ATTRACTIVE.

Most Attractive Country To British Immigrants.

LONDON, Nov. 5. — (Canadian Press).—Canada stands out among the Dominions as the most attractive to the British emigrant, in the opinion of General Bramwell Booth, head of the Salvation Army, who has just returned to London, on the conclusion of a tour of Canada. The change from miseries of unemployment or precarious employment in this country to the condition of having enough and some to spare, he said, was indeed a happy change. He confirmed the view which he expressed some time ago that of all parts of the British Empire open to emigrants of the Old Land, Canada was the most promising to the newcomer.

At last, satisfied with her examination of the specimen, she turned to leave the room, when a word or two from the men on the porch caught her ear.

"We're lucky to be rid of the nurse," Lionel was saying, "she could have made trouble. I made her see it was best for her to go—and go quickly."

"That's all right," Gannon said, grumbingly. "But what about me? When do I get mine?"

"What's your everlasting hurry?" asked Lionel. "You've enough to live on—haven't you?"

"Yes; but I don't trust you, especially; and besides, I want to get my bootie and go to South America. It's long been the dream of my life to study tropical insects down there. You fixed off the Turner woman—why can't you fix off me?"

"I will as soon as it's possible. I hate to seem in too much of a hurry to take possession. And—I'm sorry for Mrs. Raynor——"

"Softly! If you get hit there——"

"Not at all—it isn't that. But I don't—I can't believe Mrs. Raynor shot Dad—and if she didn't——"

"If she didn't, who did? That lover of hers—Finley. It has to be one of the two—you know that, Lionel."

"What about Peters?"

"He's all right—gone to California."

"Well—I'll fix up the financial matters as soon as I can, Gannon—bit don't hurry me. Where's the—the—you know?"

"Haven't you destroyed it yet?"

"When you meet my demands—I'll consider yours."

"Oh, you Shylock! I tell you I'll fix things as soon as I can."

"Don't worry. It's all safe——"

"And the other?"

"Safe, too."

"Well, so long. I'll go right now to see Lawyer Stratton. But I wish I knew who killed Dad."

"You're might affectionate toward his memory—considering how he treated you when he was alive.

"I can forget that, if I have all his property. And, I tell you, a fellow can't see his father murdered in cold blood without getting hot about it!"

Lionel Raynor went away, and Dolly Fay, scenting a new mystery, felt it would be better for her to depart unnoticed.

She accordingly slipped out at the back door of Gannon's little house and went a roundabout way so that the old man shouldn't see her.

She didn't quite know herself why she took these precautions, but it was in the back of her head that the conversation she had just overheard was of importance, in some way, to the Raynor case.

Moreover, she gathered that it referred to the will of Mr. Raynor, and that there was some wrongdoing on the part of somebody in connection with that will.

She couldn't quite bring herself to think anything so terrible as these two men planned to destroy a will, yet the fragments of conversation she had caught pointed that way.

Unversed in the ways of wicked men, Dolly was intuitive by nature and sagacious beyond her years.

The more she mulled over the matter, the more she began to feel sure that the missing will that gave the Raynor property to Nan was concealed in Grim Gannon's house. She distrusted the man—although she admired his erudition, and was grateful for his kind instructions in the field she was deeply interested in—that of natural history.

Always an outdoor girl, Dolly studied the habits of the little creatures, and by reason of Gannon's influence had turned her study especially toward birds and the larger insects. Butterflies and moths fascinated her as well as the water flies. So her presence in Gannon's house was always welcome and unquestioned. The old woman who kept house for the hermit liked Dolly, but paid no attention to her comings and goings.

So Dolly thought if opportunity offered, and it certainly would, she proposed to hunt for that missing will. Doubtless it would require little search, for Gannon, unsuspecting of the child, would not hide it carefully. All this came to Dolly by intuition, and, as she went, she pondered on the ways and means.

As if in answer to her thoughts, she saw Gannon come out of his door and go striding off in the direction of the Raynor house.

Whereupon Miss Dolly Fay quickly whisked herself about and pretended to be going the other way.

Passing Gannon, she went on, and, when he was safely out of sight, she made straight for his house.

Entering the always open door, she went into the one big living room, which was also his workroom and museum, and this time, ignoring the beetles and butterflies, she looked eagerly about at the desks and cupboards which she had never before noticed.

A medium-sized desk seemed to hold the papers of the old man, and after a glance about her, Dolly quickly began pulling out bundles of letters and papers.

As she had anticipated, they were for the most part relating to the science of entomology in one way or another. Letters, clippings, memoranda—all seemed to have to do with insects or birds.

Until a typewritten paper rather different from the others caught her eye. It was a large sheet, but of flimsy texture. She unfolded it and glanced over it quickly. She caught sight of the words, "to my wife, Nancy Kent Raynor——" and she knew she had achieved the object of her search.

Her absorption was interrupted by an exclamation outside the window, and looking up Dolly saw Lionel Raynor, his face aflame with anger, staring at her. "You little thief!" he cried, and then, as he strode around to enter at the door, Dolly's quick-thinking mind led her swiftly to conceal the paper by slipping it into the lining of her coat. There was a rip in the the bottom of the side pocket, and anything put there, would, as she well knew, drop to the hem of the coat and stay there in safety.

This was done, when—and it was but a moment—Lionel entered at the door from the hallway.

"Give me that paper!" he said, in a low, threatening tone.

"What paper?"

"Don't talk like that! The paper you just now stole from Mr. Gannon's desk!"

"Why—do you want to steal it?"

"Shut up that baby talk, and hand over that paper!"

But Dolly was not at all intimidated.

"Mr. Raynor," she said with dignity, "I don't know what you're talking about. I'm here working on my entomology—Mr. Gannon is my teacher—and you accuse me of stealing!"

"That will do," he said, sternly. "I saw you. You took a paper from Mr. Gannon's desk... Where is it?"

"I put it back—there it is," pointing to the first paper at hand.

"That's not the one—it was a yellowish paper——"

"A yellowish paper?" Dolly looked at him inquiringly.

She was sure now that she had done right to take the will. It must be the lost one that belonged to Nan. At anyrate, Lionel Raynor had no claim to it.

"Yes—the one you were reading when I came up the porch steps."

For some reason the man had concluded to change his tone. But it was too late; his anger had proved to Dolly his deep desire to get possession of the paper and she was bound he shouldn't.

"All a mistake, Mr. Raynor," she said with her sweetest smile. "Some of these old yellowish newspaper clippings, I dare say."

"No, it wasn't!" his ire blazed up anew. "It was a larger paper—a typewritten one—where is it?"

"Search me!" said Dolly, slangily, at the same time putting her hands in her two coat pockets, careful not to expose the slitted lining of one of them.

"On my honor, these are the only pockets I possess, and they are both empty."

She stood before him, a slip of a thing, her simple little one-piece frock quite evidently possessing no hiding-place, her coat pockets empty, and her piquant face turned up to his own with a look of utter innocence.

"Positively, I haven't it on me," she cried, as she threw off the loose coat, and whirled around before him. "I swear, Mr. Raynor, that I have not any hidden paper about my person."

Of course she hadn't, with her coat over a chair-back near by.

Unsuspecting her prevarication, Raynor gave her a perplexed look, even held her coat as she slipped her arms again into its sleeves.

"I resent all you have said to me, Mr. Raynor," she announced with dignity. "I will leave you to look for papers yourself—I'm going home."

A BAND CONCERT.

Peterboro Rangers Band Will Put on Concert at Grand Next Sunday.

The band of the Peterboro Rangers will observe Armistice Day by putting on a Sacred Concert in the Opera House on Sunday next. A good program has been arranged and will be announced later. A silver collection will be taken up to help defray the expenses.

Mr. R. J. Devey has again kindly consented to act as accompanist. This will be a splendid concert and everyone is cordially invited to be present.

DEATH HOUSE.

Clarence Darrow, the lawyer, recently declared that not one of the 119 men under sentence of death at Sing Sing would be there if they could have afforded good attorneys.

It isn't by any means a new idea. But the trouble is in the courts and laws rather than in the pocketbook of the accused. In England, all the lawyers in creation nor all the millions in money could not save from the gallows a murdered by premeditation.

FIRM BELIEVER IN THE FRUIT TREATMENT

Thousands of people owe the splendid Fruit Medicine—"Fruit-a-tives"—a lasting debt of gratitude, which they gladly pay by testifying to its merits.

Mrs. Laura Alford of 28 Florence St., Ottawa, says: For years, I was a martyr to Constipation and Dyspepsia. I have tried cathartics, salts and so-called vegetable laxatives but all were unpleasant and gave no permanent relief. Finally, I decided to try "Fruit-a-tives". I have been using "Fruit-a-tives" now for seven years; never have Constipation or Stomach Trouble; and have been in the best of health ever since. My husband and children use "Fruit-a-tives" regularly".

"Fruit-a-tives" contain intensified fruit juices combined with tonics.

MACKENZIE KING SPOKE AT REGINA

Six Thousand People Hear Address on Canadian Public Affairs.

REGINA, November 4. — The difficulties of the administration of Canadian public affairs owing to the breaking away of the Progressive wing from the Liberal party and paucity of Liberal representation in Western Canada was the main theme of Premier Mackenzie King's address at a mass meeting here last night, when fully six thousand people were present. He declared that Progressives instead of holding critically aloof should get together with the Liberals to discuss problems of the country and help arrive at a solution, he said. Discussing the senate, Premier King said the government was determined if a measure of reform similar to that adopted in Britain could be brought about in Canada, it would see to it that such bill was brought in so that when the bill passed the House of Commons in two successive sessions it should become law regardless of the Senate.

DENTISTS' CONVENTION

Annual Convention Will Be Held at Dallas This Year.

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 5.—(Associated Press).—In the manufacturers' display building at the State Fair grounds here, the 66th annual convention of the American Dental Association for the first time will meet November 10 under one roof. The general and sectional meetings, as well as the exhibits from more than 100 makers of dental appliances, will run along at the same time and in adjoining quarters.

Luncheons will be served in ten separate dining rooms, each simultaneously with its individual program. Several of the lectures will be broadcast from WFAA, the Dallas News radio station. The three national dental fraternities will hold their meetings during the convention.

BOWLING

DORMITORY TAKE TWO FROM GEORGE STREET

Rolling at the Y.M.C.A. alleys the Dormitory sprung a big surprise when they took 2 out of 3 from George Street. The second game was a close fixture, the Dormitory winning by only 2 pins.

Some good scores were turned in, Howe Outram coming through with a big score 593 for three games, while Allan Whyte hit them for 519. Outram had the high single of 204.

JAUNT TO EUROPE MAY HURT PLAYERS

Ruel, Kelly and Company Need Rest Instead of Continental Tour.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Barnstorming trips de luxe, like the one being indulged in over in Europe by a group of National and American League ballplayers, under the personal direction of the Master Mind (himself) may be "broadening", as the gentleman doing publicity for tourists' agencies are wont to say.

They gave the "athaletes" that polish acquired only through personal contact with foreign peoples, and it is a fact that many athletes need polishing. Some of them need dusting, but that phase won't be discussed here.

And since the trip abroad was really not intended for gain, as McGraw, Comiskey, etc., were good enough business men to realize that the tour they were planning could not be a financial success, it is hard to assign any cause whatsoever for the merry jaunt.

This conjecture is made with the fresh memory of what happened to the big league team which made a trip to the Orient in the winter of of 1922. That tour was a financial success, but it wreaked havoc with the 1923 showing of the players who went across the Pacific.

Long Trips Weaken

The long ocean trip, the continuous travel ,the excitement and novelty of the Orient, and the off-season playing itself, were written in the baseball history of the following year. None of the players was able to give his best, so much had the tour taken from them.

It practically ruined the big league career of one player at least—Bert Griffith, promising Brooklyn outfielder. He injured his heel on deck one day, and in 1923 was practically helpless for the greater part of the season. It nearly broke Charley Ebbet's heart to sign Bert. As a result of his layoff, the St. Louis sheik gained weight with such alarming rapidity that he was never able to recover.

Wally Schang, Yankee catcher, was another player who went stale because of the ordeal he underwent abroad.

The tour being taken now by the big leaguers through Europe and England is not so extended as the Oriental parade of 1922, but there is a strong possibility of some players being affected next season.

Players Need Rest

We cannot see the wisdom of allowing such men as "Muddy" Ruel, George Kelly, "Pep" Young and Artie Nehf, who had just fought their way through the hardest world's series in the history of the game, to engage in a six weeks' string of exhibitions for the delectation of twenty Irishmen, seventy-five Englishmen, fifty-five Frenchmen and thirty-two Italians, who wouldn't know a bunt from an umpire—and who don't care, anyway.

Big leaguers need rest during the off season, as Clark Griffith once impressed on the mind of "Bucky" Harris, then only a second base mas, when the new manager of the world's champs wanted to play basketball in the winter. Rabbit Maranville and Frankie Frisch also learned the folly of not resting after the regular season only after the cage game had taken their all.

The Master Mind and the Old Roman may come back from Europe broke and with a bunch of "shot" ball players who may not recover until late next year.

PETER SMITH GETS THREE MORE YEARS

Justice Mowat Sentenced the Former Treasurer to Penitentiary.

TORONTO, Nov. 4.— (Canadian Press.—Three years in the penitentiary was the sentence imposed by Mr. Justice Mowat, this morning, on Peter Smith, former Provincial Treasurer of Ontario, who pleaded guilty of conspiracy in connection with certain transactions with the de funct Home Bank. The proceedings were brief and no evidence was taken. Smith is already under sentence of three years on charges of conspiracy to defraud the province on bond sale transactions. Both sentences will run concurrently.

T. H. Lennox, K.C., appeared for Smith. When the indictment was read Mr. Lennox stated that since previous trial and conviction of Smith, he had given matter close consideration and having in mind great expense involved in further trial on new count, He had taken the responsibility of advising his client to plead guilty.

Indictment sets forth that Smith conspired with the late Brig.-General J. Cooper Mason, the former general manager of the Home Bank, to "show certain favors to Mason in return for commissions paid to him out of the proceeds of the sale of provincial bonds. The amounts said to have been paid to Smith in this connection in 1920 and 1921, totalled $72,000.

The indictment was not discussed by counsel in the very brief proceedings, and no explicit explanation of the charges against Smith was made in the court this morning.

MASQUERADE PARTY

Children of Petherick's Corners Had Enjoyable Evening.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, Nov. 5.—On Friday evening last all of the young people of the community were entertained at a masquerade which was held in the school. The school was very artistically decorated with pumpkin faces, black cats, witches and corn stocks, etc. The room was lighted up with Jack-o-lanterns and candles. About eight o'clock about fifty young people had gathered, decorated in some of the most ridiculous-looking uniforms. After parading about the school room for some time trying to figure who was who, everybody unmasked, and the remainder of the evening was spent in games, contests, etc. All report having had a very jolly evening.

Most of the young people are busy practising a play, entitled "When Your Wife's Away," which is to be staged at the box social on Wednesday evening.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Perry Mackenzie, on Thursday, October 30th, a daughter.

THE ODORS OF CITIES

European Capitals Remembered by Their Distinctive Smells.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—What Is the characteristic smell of your town

Some discussion has been aroused over here by the assertion that all big cities have a characteristic odor. Often it comes from one thing. Often it comes from a compound of several odors. For instance, as to European cities:

Paris smells of scent, gasoline and hot bread.

London smells mainly of lubricating oil and gasoline.

Berlin smells of gasoline, old leather and badly groomed horses.

Amsterdam of strong coffee and stagnant canal water.

Bristol smells of chocolate and tobacco, because it manufactures both in large quantities.

WHY AMERICANS ARE GOOD GOLFERS

They Excel on the Putting Green—Not in Driving.

Of late there has been a good deal of discussion concerning the superiority of American golfers in one particular department of the game—putting. It has been said that British players are just as good as any in the world in driving and the hitting of all sorts of iron shots up to the pin, but when it comes to the business of holing out the Americans excel.

I have no doubt, says a correspondent, that, in a general way, this summing up is correct. On a difficult course which inflicts the proper punishment for errors it is even possible that Britishers have the advantage in driving. Some of them can be very erratic on occasion, but, on the whole, they are probably more accurate than Americans in their full shots from the tee.

Except Walter Hagen at Sandwich in 1922, when he was hitting the ball very accurately, I do not know that there is any United States player who can be held to have paved the way to his victory in a British championship by the splendour of his driving. Certainly Mr. W. J. Travis steered a beautifully straight course when he secured the amateur championship—also at Sandwich—in 1904, but his driving was most emphatically short, and it was as much as he could do just to scrape over the hazards that had to be carried from some of the tees. It was his putting that carried him to victory.

There was nothing especially notabolt about the driving of Jock Hutchison when he captured the British open championship at St. Andrew's in 1921, and no doubt Hagen would be ready in a moment to agree that he triumphed at Hoylake this year in spite of, rather than because of, his driving.

So far as I have been able to judge the best driver from America whom we have seen in this country is James Barnes—a very straight hitter as well as a very long one. As a putter, however, he has not been especially successful. This is probably the reason that he has not won our championship.

Ball Control.

In the playing of iron shots, I am inclined to concede a shade of superiority to the Americans. Macdonald Smith is—and has been for a dozen years—one of the finest iron-shot players in the world. Hagen is a master in this department of the game; so is Mr. Bobbie Jones, that great American amateur. Indeed, among both amateurs and professionals, the standard of iron play in the United States is high.

My impression after watching all the prominent competitors in this season's open championship was that the present generation of British golfers lacked completeness of ball-control in hitting the shots up to the pin. In most cases one felt directly the ball had been struck that the shot was wanting in perfect control; that it might finish somewhere just off the green—as often as it did.

In point of fact, I saw nobody at Hoylake, hitting his iron shots with such precision as the veteran, J. H. Taylor. James Braid, too, was playing his beautifully. Still, it would be an exaggeration to say that the stars of younger Britain were being left badly by the Americans in this connection.

We have to probe farther for the explanation of recent United States victories over British players, and there remains only the putting to consider. I daresay it is the real key to the situation.

A Question of Conditions.

If we accept the promise that the Americans are supreme within fifteen or twenty yards of the hole, what are we to advance as the reason? Is it something in American temperament that enables their players to putt with consistent accuracy?

It is hardly that, I think. Much more likely is it that the explanation lies in the circumstance that, having cultivated a certain method, they stick to it and practise it; they do not change it because, for a day or two, it happens to meet with little success.

In Britain ,almost everybody experiments with new ways of putting several times a year—or even several times a month.

There is this to be said in extenuation of his changeableness. He is almost forced into it. During my latter-day tours in the United States I have been struck by the uniformity in the texture and pace of the putting grens—not only the eighteen putting greens of one course, but all the putting greens in a district. Naturally, the putting is not quite the same in the east as in the west, because the soil and the character of the grass differ, but when one is in a certain area one knows pretty well what sort of putting is required throughout that area.

GET ACQUAINTED WITH W.C.A.P.

(WASHINGTON, D. C.—469 METERS)

By WILLIAM J. FAGAN.

One of the most popular radio attractions on the air is in the possession of Station WCAP, Washington, which, with WEAF, New York, is controlled by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. The United States Marine Band and the concerts of this organization have undoubtedly brought to WCAP a fame which it might never otherwise enjoy, no matter how worthy that fame it might prove itself to be.

While in Washington, the Marine Band has played for WCAP every Monday evening, either direct from the Sylvan Theatre or in WCAP's studio in the event of inclement weather prohibiting outdoor broadcasting. During the winter months, the entire band comes to the studio of WCAP and gives a concert of symphonic proportions, interspersed with stirring marches which form part of every military band's repertory.

WCAP enjoys unusual privileges, due to the fact that it is located in America's capital city, to broadcast the messages of important Government officials, as well as the music of the Army, Navy and Marine Bands. The President of the United States has often addressed the host of invisible listeners through WCAP, as have numerous other officials in the public eye, thus reaching thousands and thousands who would never realize the opportunity of hearing the President or the Secretary of State speak.

Its close relationship to WEAF has made possible hook-ups in the broadcasting of both concerts and public addresses and thus greatly increased the number of persons to whom these star events bring enjoyment.

WCAP, like WEAF, has devoted considerable time to experimentation. Its handling of "remote control" features is excellent and its transmission of band music, even from an outdoor stadium, proves that expert hands have been at work in the location of microphones and the wiring to the studio.

Programs are broadcast three nights weekly, while Sunday is occupied with morning and afternoon church services and the Capitol Theatre program direct from New York in the evening.

WCAP features high-class concert music and popular music of the better type. Irving Beernstein's Dance Orchestra is a regular feature of the dance programs, and Washington music organizations have lent aid in the performance of light and grand opera. Only the most talented solo artists appear on the studio programs, as WCAP's studio concert periods are so comparatively few that discretion can be used in the selection of singers and instrumentalists. The transmitter is a powerful one and the transmission, as stated, compares very favorably with WEAF, which is generally accepted as the criterion of radiodom.

Summed up, WCAP takes rank with the great stations, not only for the excellence of its program, but for the opportunities it possesses in bringing the words of public officials to the entire country. Sincerity of purpose and the accomplishment of its purpose have always marked the efforts of WCAP and have enabled it to place itself with the leaders.

FORUM

In ancient democracies, politicians argued their respective merits before the populace assembled in the town marketplace or other open space serving as a forum. Any man who could hear and think could get all the facts.

Now the politician reaches the public through the printed columns of newspapers, magazines and circulars. A man who can't read gets his political information secondhand. Can such a man be trusted with the ballot? New York, deciding in the negative, says: "No read, no vote."

QUEEN'S WORK-OUT.

ff Practice With R.M.C.— Several New Plays Tried Out.

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 5—(Canadian Press).—Queen's held a severe rkout Tuesday afternoon at the M.C. Campus with the R.M.C. termediate team. For long over hour the players were put rough their paces, but the cadets offered a stout opposition.

Queen's worked some new plays which will be used on Saturday at Toronto.

Queen's were given special drill in line work, and the boys showed good stuff, but were driven hard by Coach Hughes.

The team looks strong enough for Saturday.

HARRY S. DAHN WILL MANAGE THE "HIP"

Important Appointment Has Been Received by Toronto Boy.

Harry S. Dahn has been appointed manager of the Toronto Hippodrome Theatre, and will take over his new duties shortly.

It is with a great deal of pleasure that Jack Arthur, director-general of the Hippodrome, the Regent and other theatres of the Famous Players Canadian Corporation circuit, makes this announcement, for Harry is one of the most popular managers in the company.

Dahn is the present manager of the Montreal Capitol, also under the direction of John Arthur, and has been in charge there for over two years. He has also managed other houses of the company with equal success.

In coming from Montreal to Toronto Harry is coming to no strange city, for Harry is a Toronto boy, and well known and liked here. For a long time he was with A. J. Small. He first entered the motion picture field under the D. W. Griffith banner.

The new Hippodrome manager has been connected with the Famous Players' Canadian Corporation for over five years, having managed various houses on the circuit. Toronto is proud to welcome back another of her sons. Too many of them have strayed from the fold to foreign fields.

AT THE GRAND.

Someone has said that to see a picture like "The Lost Tribe," now showing at the Grand Opera House, would be an excellent manner in which to give school children an idea of what geagraphy really means. To teach by the eye instead of the ear has always been the goal of modern educationists, and seldom have they such a splendid opportunity of presenting to their young charges a real picture of unknown lands and strange peoples.

"The Lost Tribe" presents with fidelity the habits and customs of an outlandish race, a colony of head-hunters living in the wilds of New Guinea, conducting their cannibalistic rites in primitive caves, dancing their queer dance in outrageous costumes, rivalling in oddity the dances and the ceremonies of Thibetan monks, long considered the most peculiar of such religious feasts.

"The Lost Tribe" illustrates once again the power of modern invention. It is the airplane that has conquered forces of land and sea and brought to the screen of North American picture houses a veritable picture of faraway hidden peoples.

CANADIAN CLUB HEAR PROF. ROY

Gave Interesting Address On Germany and Present Day Conditions.

"In the youth movement is the hope of the future for Germany. The younger Germans are drinking less. Very little beer is being brewed and the growing generation is not acquiring a taste for it. They are drinking cider or lemonade or water or tea instead. Tea, one might say, has been one of the great civilizing factors in the world, although there was, as you will remember, one very regrettable tea party in Boston. Of course, a time may arrive, a hundred years from now, when the doctors will discover what terrible effects tea and coffee have on the system and there may be a terrible drive made against them, but just now, in Germany, at least, tea is taking the place of the beer.

"And the young Germans are going in for sports far more than they ever did before. The old militarists think it is a terrible thing that the army is losing its grip on the young men, but the young Germany, where the army is now modelled on the British system, is gradually becoming de-militarized."

"The Germany of to-day is a very much changed Germany," said Professor J. A. Roy, of Queen's University, Kingston, speaking on "Contemporary Germany" to about one hundred members of the Women's Canadian Club in the Public Library hall last evening, on the occasion of their first meeting for this season.

Prof. Roy's address was, in the words of Edith Murphy, who moved the vote of thanks at its conclusion, "illuminating and enjoyable, comprehensive, vivid and sympathetic," delivered by one who has had much opportunity of studying the German character at close range, in a voice whose pleasant tones added much to the attraction of his discourse.

From a word picture of the possibilities latent in Contemporary Germany, Prof. Roy passed to a review of the brighter side of the subject. The first portion of his address dealt with the present-day situation and attitude of Germany, which he described as one of intellectual, spiritual and material isolation, with resentment as the dominant note.

The Irish Problem of Europe.

Germany has about sixty-five millions of people, besides the Germans resident in Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, the Baltic States and in Poland. "The very vital element in Alsace-Lorraine has become again an acute problem and is once more threatening to assume formidable proportions in the near future. It was asserted that when Alsace and Lorraine were once more returned to France that everything would go along in the most peaceful fashion, but the reverse has been the case. Germany is proportionately Protestant and France is theoretically Roman Catholic, although France some years ago expelled religious orders from the country. In Alsace and Lorraine there are many members of these orders who returned to fight for France. Under the German regime, Catholics enjoyed perfect liberty of conscience, but Premier Herriot ignores their orders and says they have no legal right of existence. Alsace and Lorraine are threatening to become the Irish problem of Europe."

"Germany is not writing her histories as we are writing them," declared Prof. Roy, referring to the contradictory German contentions with regard to episodes of the Great War. The Battle of Jutland is claimed by them to have been a great victory for Germany, because they say that the British did not accomplish what it set out to do, and therefore the conquest lay with its opposing forces. A similar contention is made about the engagements at Paschendaele, because they say the Allies set out to break through the German lines and Ludendorff set out to prevent them. They did not break through, therefore the victory lay with Germany. This situation, said the speaker, has a counterpart in the histories written about the Napoleonic wars, the French books containing accounts much at variance to the British versions.

Almost a precise analogy exists between present conditions in Germany and the conditions that obtained in 1805, after Napoleon's defeat of the Prussians at Jena. One hundred years ago, Gymnastic Master John formed athletic associations that have their modern counterpart in the "Wandering Birds" of contemporary Germany, the back to nature people, who go on week-end tramps and take physical culture courses to harden themselves for future military service. These, with the Hitlerites and Ehrhart's Brigades, are shouting "Deutschland uber Allies" still at their meetings. "They have not forgotten the dream of German supremacy."

Twelve Hour Day.

"The Germans claim they got a dirty deal in the last war," went on Prof. Roy, alluding to the recent publication of correspondence between the French and Russian governments, which the Germans claim showed a military pact between the two countries. They claim that they were fighting a defensive warfare in the last war, and this idea has been seized upon by the great mass of the people. They also assert that the League of Nations is only a Franco-British League, with French brains as its preponderant element, and they say that if they are supposed to enter the League assuming the entire responsibility for the war, they will not come at all, and if they do not enter the League, they will not subscribe to the eight hour working day. The spectacle of a united Germany working twelve hours a day, working hard and for a less wage than other workers is not a pleasant one for the workers of other nations to face.

Professor Roy recalled the period in Germany when professors at the universities, paid once a day, would rush out to their waiting wives and send them down town to spend the money on necessities at once. The stores closed at twelve to re-open at three o'clock, when the new rate of exchange might have modified the purchasing power of the morning's cash to such an extent as to cut it in half.

Owing to the blockade maintained by the British, which was regarded as a cruel and terrible thing by the majority of the German people, many of the children were prenatally under-nourished, born with rickets and tuberculosis. The Quakers fed a million meals a day to these children, and Great Britain and the United States also united in helping them.

A Dry Germany.

"Germany is becoming very dry now, because the people realize that to be efficient they must be sober. They refuse to believe that atrocities attributed to German soldiers were committed in Belgium, and they say they are living in the midst of people who hate them and fear them, on account of their economic preponderance, their financial genius and their commercial ability. The Kaiser was a great figure to them in the old days, but they did not take the Kaiser as seriously as was thought, principally on account of the re-action of feeling that set in against him when he chose for his close companion one of the most immoral men in the Empire. They tolerate their present republic, but they are not enthusiastic about President Ebert or his brandy-drinking wife, and they incline more to the idea of a kingdom modelled on the British plan, with a monarch wise and efficient, without too much authority."

"The German is suffering from a loss of efficiency and also from a blunted moral sense, which has reacted against his financial rehabilitation. Chiefly owing to the uncertainty for a long time in the value of his money, he has lost the old saving habit of his forefathers. The young German, in whom lies the hope of the future, says that Germany came a cropper because she was too materialistic, and there is a revival of a religious sense in Germany that has its flowering in the youth movement. In these youth bands, with their annual conferences, where they study the position of Germany and international politics, there are three million young Germans who have pledged themselves not to smoke or to drink, a movement symptomatic of the change in the times."

"Some of them are anti-militaristic. Others again are in favor of a war of revenge against France and an attempt to regain their lost colonies, but they are turning back to old German songs and art and drama, and are influenced strongly by the example of the Indian leader Glandhi. They are seeking with high ideals to form the leaven of new Germany but they have much to do. Where are they going to expand to? They cannot come to the United States in the numbers that were possible formerly, they cannot go to South America, and do not wish to go to the Argentine. Only Canada is left to them. There are 60,000 of them now in the West. We have much need of a wise immigration policy. Is the policy to be adopted of bottling up these Germans in their own land until they overflow once more into a more terrible war than the last Europe is in a dissatisfied state. Germany is the storm centre. They look to France with its enormous territories and its empty cradles, and they say, 'Why can't we have a chance to expand?' The average German is a decent, simple soul, kindly and amiable, but this militaristic system thrust upon him has warped his whole nature. They claim that they have been the bulwark of Europe against the rising tide of Bolshevism and they point to the amazing commercial resurrection of Belgium after the war. I think that the recent election in England was significant proof of the leaning of the English people towards their German kinsmen rather than to their dissolute Russian neighbors."

"What we need at the present time is a cultured, broad view of international questions and a saner attitude on the part of the press that sometimes does much harm by dealing in half truths."

A hearty vote of thanks to the speaker was moved by Miss E. Murphy, seconded by Mrs. R. R. Hall, and presented by the president, Mrs. F. D. Kerr, who occupied the chair for the meeting.

In a conversation with Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Kerr prior to the meeting, Professor Roy disclosed some incidents of his very interesting life. The son of a Presbyterian minister living in Scotland, he was a student at a German university when the war broke out, and was held a prisoner for some time. Managing to escape, he joined the Imperial forces and fought to the conclusion of the war, when he was appointed a member of the commission that settled the boundary of Czecho-Slovakia. Coming to Canada, he became a member of the staff of Queen's University, which sent him to Germany last summer to observe present conditions in that country.

NEW DISCOVERY.

Pure Lead and Forge Iron Can Be Extracted From Iron Ore.

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 5.—(Canadian Press).—The discovery of a method for extracting pure steel and forge iron directly from iron ore, eliminating the use of smelting furnaces, is announced by the Swedish engineer Flodin of the Hagfors Iron Works. The invention, which is the result of extensive experimental work, has aroused lively interest amongst metal experts and will immediately be submitted to practical tests on a large scale.

"BORDER LEGION" NEW ZANE GREY AT CAPITOL THURSDAY

Story of the "Old West," with Antonio Moreno, Helene Chadwick

The "Old West" has come back! Once again in the far North country where Zane Grey wrote the novel "The Border Legion," cowboys in picturesque garb ride through the great stretches where wire fences have not come.

Once again the tinkle of spurs and the creak of saddle leather break the lazy hush of midday.

Once again, in a cloud of dust that darkens the sun, great herds of cattle move through the sagebrush wilderness with the steady rumble of a thousand hoofs.

Once again the rolling hills hear the shrill "coo-ee' 'of the cowboys, riding herd with one knee thrown nonchantly over the saddle horn.

The old west was reborn for Paramount's picturization of "The Border Legion," in locations personally selected by Zane Grey. Far in the North country, a selected cast of Paramount players headed by Antonio Moreno, Helene Chadwick, Charles Ogle, Rockcliffe Fellows and Gibson Gowland, brought to life the characters that lived long ago.

Approximately 100 minor players, chiefly cowboys, take part in the spectacular production, directed by William Howard.

"The Border Legion," which opens at the Capitol Theatre tomorrow was filmed true to life.

The story, adapted to the screen by George Hull, has to do with the activities of a band of ruthless outlaws who preyed upon settlers and gold towns in the early days of Idaho.

A replica of one of the great cattles drives of the early days is a striking sight.

Here, is perhaps, one of the greatest of all Zane Grey tales, produced as is fitting such a story, with a cast that approaches perfection. Moreno and Miss Cahdwick have featured roles, and others, besides those already mentioned, include Charles Ogle, James Corey, Edward Gribbon and Luke Cosgrave.

Alvin Wyckoff did the photography.

AT THE GRAND.

DEMPSEY-GIBBONS FIGHT PICTURES AT GRAND THURS., FRI. AND SAT.

The Dempsey-Gibons fight pictures which are to be shown at the Grand, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week indicate very clearly that Tommy Gibbons is still the most capable fighter that ever appeared in a match with Jack Dempsey. The entire fifteen rounds are given in detail. Many fight fans believe that Gibbons is getting better every day whereas Jack Dempsey, they are convinced is standing still. Long movie contracts do not help a fighter any.

The pictures of the fight at Shelby were taken on a very bright day and are perfect in photography. One sits in the theatre in perfect comfort and sees every blow struck during the fifteen rounds for which the fight fans who visited Shelby paid fifty dollars to see. Crowded houses are being given this picture everywhere it is exhibited.

As an added attraction Robt. W. Service's forbidden story of Monte Carlo and Parisian life will be seen on the same program.

"POISONED PARADISE," BIG FILM EXPOSE OF MONTE CARLO TO BE SHOWN HERE.

The Grand has succeeded in securing the much heralded Preferred Picture, "Poisoned Paradise," for its first local showing at the Grand Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

This announcement is one that will be received with interest by every single fan who has been waiting to see this newest B. P. Schulberg production. It is said to be among the most pretentious film undertakings of the year.

The story will be remembered as the popular piece of writing by Robert W. Service which attained much vogue upon its publication a year or two ago. In this novel, Service succeeded in placing Monte Carlo on the literary map with much the same clarity as he depicted Alaska in his earlier writings.

Story Forbidden.

Since the signing of the Armistice, the famous author has lived in Monte Carlo —easily one of the most picturesque spots in the whole world — and his impressions of it are set forth in a really remarkable plot in which he tells the inside story of the methods employed in the celebrated Casino. This expose has been a trifle too frank for the comfort of the officials of the gambling resort with the result that the sale of the novel in the principality is prohibited.

This "forbidden story," however, offers unique picture material and film authorities who have previewed it say that it is a complete departure from the usual screen plot formula.

The direction of the picture was placed in the hands of Gasnier, whose former work with such productions as "Rich Men's Wives," "Poor Men's Wives" and "Maytime" is familiar to everyone.

Excellent Cast.

An unusually distinguished cast has been chosen to enact the plot. There is Kenneth Harlan, whose last screen appearance was one of particularly notable achievement, the title role in "The Virginian," Playing opposite him is Clara Bow, remembered already for three fine performances—in "Down to the Sea In Ships," in "Black Oxen" and in "Maytime," although she is a comparatively new light on the picture horizon.

Two other roles closely approaching the leads in importance are played by Carmel Myers, lately chosen for the vamp role in "Ben Hur," and by Raymond Griffith, a character actor of rare ability as demonstrated by his work in "Red Lights" and "The Eternal Three."

AT THE ROYAL.

ANDY GUMP COMEDY AT ROYAL THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

Andy Gump is back, fresh from his election campaign, in "Aggravating Mamma" to-morrow at the Royal. These comedies are making a name for themselves, and please the grown-ups as well as the children.

BETTY BALFOUR BACK AT ROYAL TO-MORROW.

Britain's Queen of Happiness, Betty Balfour, known better as Squibs, makes her appearance in her latest and most elaborate production, 'Life, Love and Happiness.' A ready-made audience always awaits the arrival of "Squibs." Her past productions have taxed the capacity of the Royal, and patrons should not wait until Saturday and perhaps miss this opportunity altogether.

BOLD FEATS MARK CHAPTER PLAY AT THE ROYAL.

Lassoing a man on a moving train is one of the thrilling feats staged in William Duncan's feature chapter play, "The Fast Express," just completed at Universal City, and the second episode of which will be shown to-morrow at the Royal Theatre. The daring trick is done by Duncan, who stars in as well as directs the new Universal feature, and Harry Woods.

Woods hurls the rope, snaring Duncan from the rear platform of a racing express train. The trick is one of the most daring ever attempted on the screen, and the actors had several narrow escapes from injury before the thriller was successfully transferred to the celluloid.

This is one of many sensations in the new chapter play, adapted to the screen from the famous story, "Crossed Wires," by Courtney Ryley Cooper, one of America's best known novelists. The picture tells the story of the operation of a new railroad, with Duncan as its president and Edith Johnson as the telegraph operator seeking to foil the efforts of a band of traitors in the organization itself to wreck the road.

In future chapters many thrills will be seen: the complete vanishing of a freight car from the middle of a train, with the explanation, as exciting as it is novel; a desperate battle in Denver's old underworld, a running fight on the tops of racing freight cars, and other exciting action.

POLICEMAN'S WIFE TESTIFYING TO-DAY

Mrs. Lariviere Relates a Conversation With Montreal Alderman Regarding Robbing of Bank.

MONTREAL, Nov. 5. —(Canadian Press.)—Testifying before police probe being conducted by Mr. Justice Coderre this morning, Mrs. Lariviere, wife of Constable Lariviere, who disappeared mysteriously on March 4th of this year, said that Alderman Mongeon had stated, "The government is no d——d good. Look what they did to poor Morel (one of the bandits executed for the Hochelaga bank car hold-up and murder). "I have got $6,000 of the Hochelaga bank's money and they will never get a cent of it. Half an hour before the hold-up I was with those men."

Mrs. Lariviere further alleged that Alderman Mongeon said: "The bandits would all be out of jail before they were hanged and that Morel would be back on the police force in two years."

NOTHING SHOULD HOLD CITY BACK

Former Citizen Says Peterborough Should Move Forward and Suggests a Plan.

The following letter from Mr. Joseph Bell, formerly of this city, speaks for itself. It was read at Monday night's meeting of the City Council:

Coghlan, B.C., Oct. 14, 1924.

J. J. Turner, Esq., Mayor.

My Dear Mr. Turner,—The more you travel throughout America the more you realize the many outstanding advantages of the city of which you have the honor to be Mayor.

With a man of your energy, enterprize and the active co-operation of the citizens, we look to see Peterboro again move forward.

What is wanted to give us continuous prosperity is a scheme to make effective our old slogan, "Buy Peterboro-made products." To retain the home market would give employment to all our people and enable our manufacturers the better to sell throughout Canada and the foreign market.

The wide diversity of our products was most ably set forth in The Examiner's article of September 3.

Results so far have been so encouraging as surely to warrant organization and a thorough campaign.

Co-operation is the key-word to a new era. Its widespread appeal is evidence in the wheat pools of the prairie.

A reasonable co-operation between producer and consumer would be wherein each contributes to the compact. The manufacturer should produce goods of quality and price, at least comparable with similar goods from outside, paying freight and possibly duty, and be willing to present data to prove this.

A price board of an advisory capacity, three members informative and public-spirited citizens as typified by Messrs. Henry Rush, J. J. Hartley, Ryerson Ritchie, T. E. Bradburn, sub-committees of one practical man of the different trades who has retired with a competency.

There should be an inch badge of the color of Peterboro, to be worn by all parties to the compact, on the lapel of duty clothes, manufacturer and merchant, clerk and citizen alike, as continual reminder of Peterboro products first. To paraphrase B.C.'s slogan, "Let Peterboro flourish by her industries."

I respectfully offer these suggestions as a development of our campaign, in keeping with modern thought for you and the Council unofficial consideration, and also to the Chamber of Commerce and the Labor Council, Retail Merchants' Association, etc., as from a well-wisher.

I see no real reason for another name except in good faith.

J. S. BELL.

PRESIDENT THANKS AMERICAN ELECTORS

John W. Davis Accepted the Outcome of Election Without Any Bitterness.

WASHINGTON, November 5. — President Coolidge, in expressing his thanks to the American electors, said to-day:

"I can only express my simple thanks to all who have contributed to this result and plainly acknowledge that it has been brought to pass through work of a Divine Providence, of which I am but an instrument. Such powers as I have I dedicate to the service of all my country and of all my countrymen."

After congratulating President Coolidge, John W. Davis ,the defeated Democratic nominee, has issued a public statement in which he accepted the outcome of the election "without any vain regret or bitterness."

Society

A most enjoyable time was spent at the home of Mrs. Nellie Fullbrooke, 379 Bethune Street, on Friday evening last, when a large number of W.O.W. friends gathered together in costume for a Hallowe'en party. The evening was spent in music, cards and dancing, after which refreshments were served. The party broke up in the wee small hours of the morning, everyone reporting a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Barclay and Miss Dow, of Edmonton, Alta., formerly of Whitby, Ont., have been guests of Mr. Barclay's daughter Mrs. A. J. Madill, 606 George street. Mr. Barclay, a lawyer of Edmonton, has been very ill and is now making his new home in Toronto.

Mrs. Joseph Knox Gilmour street, who has just returned from Havelock, where she attended the funeral of her brother Mr. R. C. McQuaig, has gone to Fenelon Falls, where her sister, Mrs. B. Knox, is seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Kerr had dinner last evening at the Empress Hotel with Prof. J. A. Roy of Kingston, speaker at the meeting of the Women's Canadian Club in the Public Library hall last night.

Mrs. William Ball of Bridgenorth, has returned to her home after spending the summer in Port Arthur and Winnipeg, with her son Mr. Lyman Ball and family, also visiting her sister, Mrs. W. J. Paul of Saskatchewan.

WAR MEMORIAL TO BE ERECTED 1926

Centennial Celebrations Will Not Be Held Until After This Time.

At the Chamber of Commerce Executive Council meeting held last evening advice was received that the City Council had decided that, owing to the erection of the war memorial not taking place until 1926, the Centennial Celebrations would not be held until after that time.

Secretary at Washington, D.C.

In a brief report by the Secretary of his attendance at the Tenth Annual Meeting of the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries, he emphasized the important influence the American Chambers had upon the development of the nation, in industry, commerce and civics Suggestions for the improvement of the activities of the local Chamber were made. A complete report of the Convention will be submitted at the next general meeting.

League of Nations Society

The desire of Mr. H. G. Richardson, secretary of the League of Nations' Society of Canada, to give a lantern lecture to the citizens of Peterborough on the League of Nations Assembly at Geneva, which he has recently attended, was referred to the committee comprised of Messrs. Chas. Ackerman, F. D. Kerr, K.C., and R. Denne.

Railroad Crossing Accidents

A request for the support of the local Chamber from the Guelph Chamber of Commerce, petitioning the Provincial and Dominion Governments to enact Legislation requiring all automobile drivers to stop before crossing a railway, was opposed on the ground that it would be another case of superfluous legislation, which would be difficult to enforce. Commendation was made on the Motor League's action in making recommendations to the City Council for improvement of protection of railroad crossings in the city, following a recent survey, as a better method of reducing railroad crossing accidents.

Meat Demonstration

Full support was accorded the action of the Local Council of Women in securing a Provincial Government demonstration on the proper methods of selecting and using meats, to be held on Thursday in the Market Hall at 3 p.m. All members and citizens generally were recommended to be present.

Resolutions

The agenda was received for the annual meeting of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce, which will take place in Toronto on November 20th and 21st at the Toronto Board of Trade. There are twenty-two resolutions for discussion, including:

Ontario Government quarters in London, England.

Automobile Insurance against public liability and property damage.

Discovery and development of iron ore resources.

Development of Mineral Resources.

Lights on Vehicles.

Upkeeps of Highways and Aid to Tourist Traffic.

Proposed Ontario Tourist Association.

Licensing of automotive vehicle drivers.

Protection of vehicular traffic at Railway level crossings.

Canadian National Railway Directorate.

Embargo against exportation of pulpwood.

Exportation of raw materials.

St. Lawrence Waterway and power development.

Dominion Income Tax.

Aid to shipbuilding and repair yards.

Imperial tariff preference.

Postage rates to foreign countries.

Bowmanville training school for boys.

Restoration of the Gold Standard

Diversion of the waters of the Hudson Bay slope.

Prevention of forest fires.

St. Mary's River improvement.

A banquet will be tendered to his Honour Henry Cockshutt, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, on Thursday night, November 20th. Those desirous of attending this banquet should notify the Secretary of the local Chamber immediately.

The Toronto Board of Trade will entertain the delegates to dinner on Friday night, November 21st.

Delegates to Annual Meeting

Mr. J. J. Duffus, 3rd Vice-President of the Associated Boards and the Secretary were appointed to officially represent the Peterborough Chamber, and as many other members as possible will be urged to attend the conference.

New Members

The Executive Council formally welcomed the following citizens to the membership of the Chamber,—

Geo. Gibbons, District Manager, Mutual Assurance Co.,

D. Holland, Manager "Maple Leaf Milling Co."

J. W. Reid, Barrister, 397 1-2 George street.

CASE WAS DISMISSED.

Douro Grain Case Disposed of in Court Yesterday.

Yesterday in the County Police Court the case against Robbie Heffernan and John O'Leary, of Douro, was dismissed. It appears that O'Leary was moving some grain from his father's barn and got Robbie Heffernan to deliver it to Russell Whatman. A neighbor reported the removal and Mr. O'Leary, Senior, believing it to be a case of theft on the part of some person other than his son, had a charge of theft laid. This was dismissed yesterday.

GERMAN LABORS REVIVE NATION

Economics Salvaged and People Morally Rehabilitated Says Schacht.

LIBERAL RALLY.

BERLIN, November 4 (Canadian Press). — "Only straightforward democratic politics will accomplish the destruction of the war guilt lie and help us achieve our national regeneration," was the substance of telegraphic greetings of Dr. Hjalmur Schacht, president of the Reichsbank and German Currency Commissioner to a rousing democratic rally held in Berlin yesterday.

The rally was attended by 15,000 Liberals.

The head of the Reichsbank said he was convinced an overwhelming majority of the German people were prepared to stand by such politics.

"The German people's post-war labours on behalf of reconstruction," the message of Dr. Schacht said, "have proven more potent than our erstwhile force of arms or present-day hectoring and braggadocio. They have rehabilitated us morally abroad and at home have salvaged our shattered economics, thereby sowing the seed for a national renaissance."

The greetings of Dr. Schacht were sent from Kiel where he addressed a meeting on Germany's new financial politics. He told the Kiel gathering that the Reichsbank's new gold reserve would permit of the issue of five billion marks in new currency, which would be put into circulation as the country's economic situation warranted.

"The condition of a nation's business, and not its gold reserves," Dr. Schacht declared, "determines the character of its currency."

The speaker then roundly denounced what he termed the indiscriminate chase after foreign loans and credits. These, he said, produced intolerable confusion because of the costly intervention by superfluous middlemen. He believed the Reichsbank's policies under his administration had been amply vindicated by the results achieved, since an end had been put to inflation.

Designating the annuity of 2,500,000,000 marks which Germany will be called on to pay under the Dawes reparation plan as a heavy burden, Dr. Schacht admitted there was no other path left to Germany.

"A nation united within itself and conscious of its moral and intellectual powers," Dr. Schacht told his auditors, "eventually will be able to liberate itself of unjust burdens without the aid of cannon and poisonous gases."

SETTELL CLAIMS SIGNATURE ADDED

Most of Morning Taken Up By Evidence of Roy Beck.

TORONTO, Nov. 5. — (Canadian Press).—Claiming that the signature of W. Robertson, engineer in charge of the Windsor, Sandwich and Amherstburg Railway, had been added to the bill approving the charge for detective services to that line, which Settell claims were really for the purpose of keeping watch on the home of H. Smith, of Toronto, E. C. Settell injected some interest to a comparatively dull session of the inquiry commission just before the noon adjournment.

The bill, according to Settell, for payment for these services, was initialed by W. W. Pope, secretary of the Hydro Commission, and he contended that, subsequent to the opening of the investigation, the approval of Robertson had been placed on the bill. He urged that the signature should be submitted to an ink expert to prove his contention. No action was taken on the suggestion by the commission.

The session this morning was void of sensation, most of the time being taken up by the evidence of Roy Beck, regarding the use of officials for private purposes, and the employment of Dr. R. E. Gaby, brother of the chief engineer, as medican advisor to the commission.

At nine on the line and she doesn't repine,
A machine does the wash and it does its work fine.
—Mr. Electro-serve.

THERE are two real big reasons for a woman to be happy—an electric washing machine and a loving husband. Second reason first. Because if she has the loving husband she's pretty sure to have the washer. You pay for it as you use it and it pays for itself, and we can prove it.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH CROSSEN'S DEFENCE

Alleged Murderer of Byron McCrodan Says Gun Accidentally Discharged.

COBOURG, November 5 (Special to The Examiner). — A drama was staged in the crowded Court Room to-day when William John Crossen, of Baltimore, walked from the prisoners' dock to the witness box, there to give evidence in defence of himself on the charge of murdering Byron A. McCrodan of Toronto on 18th May last.

Crowded as the Court had seemed on the previous two days' trial, it was packed to the doors to-day, with women again much in evidence.

Crossen, with whom sympathy seems to be in the community, was watched intently as he told his story of the night of the tragedy, a story that had previously been recounted by Edwin Rowe and by the dead man through his dying declaration.

It remained for the prisoner to put the breath of life into the dead recital, and tragedy was written on his face as he stood with the gun in his hands to show the jury just the manner in which the shooting took place.

The defence introduced an unaccepted plea when Crossen claimed the gun was discharged accidentally when McCrodan rushed against him in an effort to break away.

Instead of self-defence, which had been anticipated as the plea, the defence counsel will this evening endeavour to show that Crossen is in no way responsible for the wilful firing of the shot at McCrodan.

HAPPIEST WOMAN.

Mrs. Miriam Ferguson Is the Happiest Woman in Texas To-day.

TEMPLE, Texas, Nov. 5.—(United Press).—The happiest woman in Texas to-day was Mrs. Miriam ("Ma") Ferguson. Election returns assure her the distinction of being the first woman of the country. James E. ("Pa") Ferguson was also happy. "It's a high toned flunkey I'm going to be," he said. The Fergusons were up late last night tabulating the election returns. Their labors were interrupted only to receive the congratulations of hundreds of friends.

VOTING IN QUEBEC.

Five Vacancies In Provincial Legislature to be Filled.

MONTREAL, Nov. 5.—(Canadian Press).—Voting was taking place to-day in five constituencies in Quebec to fill vacancies in the Provincial Legislature. Constituencies are in Quebec County, Bonaventure, St. Maurice, Sherbrooke and St. Anne, Montreal. In the last general election in 1923 the Liberals were returned in all these districts with the exception of Sherbrooke, which returned a Conservative.

VOL. LV., No. 108 PETERBOROUGH, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1924 PRICE THREE CENTS

ALDERMAN SAID TO HAVE SHARED BANDIT PLUNDER

Wife of Missing Montreal Constable Gives Startling Evidence at Police Enquiry.

RECEIVED $6,000.

Alderman Mongeon Vigorously Denied Woman's Testimony, But Admitted Befriending Morel.

MONTREAL, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—That Alderman Alexander Mongeon, of St. John's Ward, had declared in the presence of several citizens that it was useless to denounce an alleged disorderly house on Prince Arthur Street, because the place was well protected, that he said he had received $6,000 from the hold-up of the Bank of Hochelaga collection car, for which four murderers were recently hanged, and that he predicted that one of the executed murderers, ex-Detective Louis Morel, would be freed and would eventually return to the Montreal police force, was the testimony of several witnesses heard yesterday by Mr. Justice Coderre, investigating commissioner, who is conducting the enquiry into the state of Montreal police affairs.

The Alderman himself denied ever having spoken of police protection with regard to the Prince Arthur Street house, though he termed it "a rendevous." Later on, Alderman Mongeon admitted that Louis Morel had worked for him in the last civic elections, and he told the court he had assisted Morel to secure bail at one time for an automobile by-law accusation. That, he declared, had been merely a service he would render anyone.

Constable Missing?

The disappearance of Constable Armand Lariviere last March resulted in the probe that brought Alderman Mongeon to the stand.

The missing constable's wife, her father, sister and brother gave the testimony and into it was injected the question as to whether Lariviere is alive or whether it was his body that was recovered from the St. Lawrence River during the summer. Mrs. Lariviere had identified some effects as belonging to her husband, but against that Lariviere's own father had declared that some time ago he received a letter from the American Red Cross which stated that "Armand G. Lariviere" had enlisted in the United States army. Supporting this theory, Chief Belanger stated that Lariviere had been seen at Bonaventure Station on the day of his disappearance.

Lariviere's father, who is also a constable, admitted that he had not shown the letter to his daughter-in law, stating that he did not want to tell her.

The evidence of Mrs. Lariviere was the first heard when the court resumed yesterday morning. The woman told of her efforts to trace her missing husband and her interviews with Chief of Police Belanger.

In the course of her testimony, the name of her father-in-law was introduced and the woman declared with regard to him that the Chief informed her he would not dismiss the elder Lariviere from the force because the two had too many secrets in common.

She had met Alderman Morgeon in her attempts to discover the whereabouts of her husband.

Certain other developments were revealed in court by this witness regarding which Mr. Justice Coderre asked the newspaper reporters to preserve silence as they were not revelant to the force. The ban was lifted at the point where Alderman Mongeon visited the woman's family.

House Protected.

Mrs. Lariviere's mother, Mrs. John Butt, had spoken of the Prince Arthur Street house, and threatened to denounce it.

Witness continued: "He (Alderman Mongeon) said it would be very foolish to do that as the house was under police protection. It was no use trying to do anything against it. It was very high classes of Montreal who patronized it. He had been there with very high-class women."

Then he said: "The Government is no d—— good. Look what they did to poor Morel. I have got $6,000 of the Bank of Hochelaga hold-up and they will never get a cent of it," and he said, "Half an hour before the hold-up I was with them."

Witness testified that Alderman Mongeon had said the bandits would be out of jail before they were hanged and that Morel would be back on the force in two years.

She declared that at times her brothers-in-law used to visit her home and she would notice that they were wearing new boots and new shirts. At one time when one of the boys entered wearing a new shirt, she had boasted, "My father made another haul last night."

TROTSKY FEARS U. S. MILITARISM

Says American Gold Power Being Transformed Into Forces of Annihilation.

ARRAIGNS U. S. A.

MOSCOW, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—War Minister Trotsky in a lengthy speech concerning the aims of the Red Army yesterday bitterly arraigned United States militarism and capitalism which he declared were being developed into forces of annihilation.

"The United States is assuming a place in the arena of militarism far beyond the dreams of Balkanized Europe," he declared. "The United States possesses half the horsepower of the Universe and more than half of the world's gold."

Arguing that the world war was fought mainly to gain the superiority of the United States over Great Britain and Great Britain's superiority over France, the war minister continued.

"American industrial and gold power is being transformed into the steam of American militarism, American capitalism has reached limit of its power in home markets, and is compelled to seek expansion abroad. This being impossible by economic means, the United States will be forced to overthrow European countries by military power. American militarism is raising its head high above the whole world as an advancing destructive power —the power of a bloody coup d'etat.

America will try to foment trouble abroad to make European and Asiatic states fight against each other while American capitalists finance them as a commercial enterprise. No matter who is elected president, American militarism will continue to grow as high as a mountain. World bolshevism is the only real obstacle in its path."

THREE WOMEN ELECTED.

First to Sit in the Wisconsin Legislature.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 6. — (Canadian Press). — For the first time women will sit in the legislative halls of Wisconsin, as a result of the election Tuesday.

Helen M. Brooks, of Coloma, will represent the Green-Waushara counties districts. Mildred Barber, of Marathon, will be assembly woman for the first Marathon County district. Price County will be represented in the Assembly by Helen F. Thompson, Park Falls.

All of the victorious women were named on the Republican ticket.

SEEKS THIRD TERM.

Mayor Farmer, of Winnipeg, Is Labor's Mayoralty Candidate.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—Mayor S. J. Farmer will appeal to the civic electorate for the third term as candidate of the Independent Labor Party. He was nominated by acclamation at a convention of the Party Tuesday night. The election will be held Novembr 28. Col. R. H. Webb is the opposing candidate.

BROOKHART WAS REPUDIATED BY HIS OWN PARTY

Republican Insurgent's Defeat One of Surprises In U.S. Senatorial Elections.

RESULTS IN DOUBT.

Complexion of Next Congress Can't Be Determined Until All Returns Are In.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. — Belated returns gave the Republicans the best of it yesterday in the upsets in both the house and senate. But it appeared that final reports from all districts would be necessary before there could be a determination whether President Coolidge could expect a real working majority in the congress.

Returns from 390 of the 435 congressional districts gave the Republicans an actual majority —218—but in this total are included nearly a score of the Lafollette insurgents.

The Democrats meantime had made certain of 170 seats and the Farmer-Labor party of two.

On the basis of these returns the Republicans had made a net gain of 16 over the Democrats, recapturing twenty seats as against four now held by Republicans which were moved over into the Democratic column.

An adjournment last June the house lineup was:—

Republicans 225; Democrats 207; and three scattered.

Brookhart Defeated

In the senatorial contests, the most surprising result was in Iowa where Smith W. Brookhart, Republican, who publicly repudiated his own national ticket, had conceded his defeat at the hands of Daniel F. Steck, a Democratic lawyer of Ottumwa. Mr. Steck was generally credited with receiving support from many regular Republicans.

The Republicans however, apparently had gained three senatorial seats on the basis of returns received early last night. These were in Massachusetts, Kentucky and Oklahoma.

The Democrats had elected eleven senators while seventeen Republicans had been chosen or had such leads as to make their election practically certain. In the six remaining contests, all in Western States where returns were still coming in slowly, the results were uncertain.

Magnus Johnson Down.

In Minnesota, Representative Thomas D. Schall, Republican, had what his supporters regarded as a commanding lead over Senator Magnus Johnson, Farmer-Labor, Johnson still insisted, however, that missing rural precincts would return him a winner.

Senator Thomas Walsh Democratic prosecutor in the Teapot Dome investigation was leading the field in Montana with a sufficient margin as to make him appear reasonably certain of re-election.

The result in both New Mexico and Wyoming was surrounded with much uncertainty because of the slowness in gathering the returns. In Colorado where two senate seats were at stake, Alva B. Adams, Democrat, was leading Senator Phipps, Republican and Rice W. Means, Republican, was ahead of Morrison Shafroth, Democrat.

Walton Fails

In gaining a seat in Massachusetts the Republicans elected Frederick H. Gillett, speaker of the house over David I. Walsh, the Democratic incumbent. In Kentucky, Fred M. Sackett, Republican won over Senator A. Owsley Stanley, Democrat,

POPULAR PLURALITY COOLIDGE WAS RECORD

Incomplete Returns Give President Margin of 109 Electoral Votes.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. —The full measure of the Republican victory at the polls could not yet be taken last night but the returns continued to show that President Coolidge would have at least a hundred votes to spare in the electoral college, and the largest popular plurality in history.

WINES AND BEER WOMAN'S PLANKS

Mrs. Norton, Elected In New Jersey, First Democrat Woman To Congress.

CAREER A SUCCESS.

JERSEY CITY, N.J., Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press.—As "Ma" Ferguson picks up the gubernatorial reins in great Texas, Mrs. Mary T. Norton goes forth from Little New Jersey to claim her chair in the National House of representatives. A Democrat, the first women of the party to reach congress and the first of any party to be sent to Washington from the eastern seaboard, she declared yesterday that she asks no quarter on account of her sex and will give none.

Approval of light wines and beer, the building of veterans' hospitals in every state, increases for the postal employees and enlargement of the immigration quotas stand out in her platform which, however, may not be raised in the house at once. By her own words, she expects to "do very little the first year."

"Pictures of me washing clothes and hanging them out? I should say not," she told newspaper photographers when he was assured of election. "I do not expect to do those things in Washington. Why tell the world about all that."

Mrs. Norton is president of the Day Nursery Association, having taken office when the organization was insolvent. Today the property is worth $260,000, principally through her efforts in enlisting the aid of merchants. She is the wife of a Jersey City business man.

The East's first congress woman bowled over three healthy men in her race for office.

MONTREAL WARD BATTLE GROUND IN BY-ELECTION

Rival Political Gangs Fought All Day To Get Out Vote In St. Anne's.

ONE MAN SHOT.

Conservatives Scored Only Gain In Five Provincial By-elections.

MONTREAL, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—Winners of the five by-elections held in the province of Quebec yesterday to fill vacancies in the legislature were:—

St. Ann, Montreal, J. H. Dillon, Liberal, or government. No change.

St. Maurice:—A. E. Guillemette, Liberal, no change.

Sherbrooke:—A. Crepeau, Conservative, no change.

Bonaventure—B. E. Cote, Liberal, no change.

Quebec County—L. Bastien, Conservative, Opposition gain.

The standing of the parties in the Quebec legislature as a result of yesterday's by-elections is:—

Total seats 85, Liberals 62, Conservatives 2. Vacant 1.

Men who have been in many campaigns in St. Anne's division agreed that the battle that was waged from the very opening of the polls was the most exciting and roughest known The culmination came at noon when a shooting took place on St. James street, a hundred yards east of St. Martin street and almost opposite to the Liberal main committee room.

This came as a culmination of a score of fist fights, and the trouble continued during the afternoon, with fears expressed that still worse was to come as the evening came on. Knots of men gathered at various corners and in front of the committee rooms, while automobiles and taxicabs dashed through the district without cessation.

The automobiles fleets would have been sufficient to have taken the entire electorate to the polls in two hours had it only been a matter of ordinary transportation, but it was far from that. At the various committee rooms reports were being constantly received that "Telegraphings' was going on, and what with this industry at its best, and the still more frantic efforts to check it, conditions were hectic throughout the entire day.

Like Game of Tag

"Trailing the enemy" was one of the popular pastimes. No sooner would half a dozen men jump into a car and start off than an automobile in readiness across the street was immediately put into action. It was much of the old game of "tag", now one party and then the other being "tag".

Cases were reported during the morning and early afternoon of workers being dragged out of automobiles, and "beaten up" by a rival crew. Rescue crews were rushed to the scene of action on such reports being received, for there appeared to be plenty of willing hands and even a surplus.

Taverns Closed

Under the provisions of the law the taverns and restaurants in the division were closed for the entire day, and a walk through the division between 3 and 4 o'clock revealed that there was very little indications of liquor about. Many of the fights started around polls, the claim being that voters were obstructed on their way to vote by the workers of the opposite party. Other fights commenced apparently for no reason whatever, and away from polls entirely.

Nate Penny, noted lacrosse player was shot in the knee on Notre Dame street, following an altercation, between two other men over the by-election vote.

CANADIAN ACREAGE OF FIELD CROPS INCREASES

Area In Flax Seed Nearly Double Last Year's—Wheat Less.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—(By Canadian Press).— It is estimated by the Dominion bureau of statistics that more than 56 million acres were devoted to field crops in Canada in 1924, as compared with 55,310,092 acres of 1923. Wheat occupied 22,504,658 acres a decrease of 167,206 acres from last year due to the lateness of this years seeding season. There were 14,480,368 acres of oats sown, a slight increase over last year. The area sown in flax seed was almost double, 1923, being 1,275,314.

The number of horses in Canada increased in 1924 by over 100,000, there being 3,546,233 horses classed as farm live stock. The cattle population of Canada (exclusive of British Columbia) is 9,198,714. Horses showed an increase in every province but New Brunswick and Ontario, cows increased in every province except Ontario.

PARIS COMMENT ON U. S. RESULT

Coolidge Victory Welcomed With Great Satisfaction in France, Says One Paper.

HOMAGE TO DAWES.

PARIS, Nov. 6.— The Republican victory in the United States election is seen by Le Temps as a popular reaction aginst "tendencies regarded as dangerous to the constitutional regime." The newspaper says the election of Calvin Coolidge as president and Charles G. Dawes as vice-president assures continuance of the recent United States policy, "in the direction of more active co-operation with Europe even if it only be private means, for the solution of problems of peace."

The Intransigeant commenting on the election of Mr. Dawes says:

"America owed this homage to the author of the Dawes plan."

Most of the newspapers comment guardedly on the election, apparently withholding more definite opinions until the results of the election are absolutely certain.

Great satisfaction over the election of Coolidge and Dawes is expressed in editorials published today by La Matin and Petit Parisien, Stephenanne Lausanne, writing in Le Matin, recalls a conversation with Mr. Coolidge in 1921 when the vice-president expressed friendliness for France, and concludes:—

"France is an ardent and favorite friend of America and knows this promise will be kept by President Coolidge and Vice- President Dawes She has in them a confidence equalled only by her affection for their country."

The Petit Parisien says: "The election of Mr. Coolidge will be welcomed with great satisfaction in France," where it declares the campaign has been watched with the deepest of interest because the American policy toward France was at stake.

"Now," the newspaper adds, "we know where we are going."

AWARDED ONE CENT.

But Stenographer Wins Verdict For $7,500 Against Herrick.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—Manuel Herrick, former representative from Oklahoma, was awarded damages of one cent by a jury in Circuit Court yesterday in his suit for $50,000 damages against Miss Ethelyn Chrene, his former stenographer, for alleged breach of promise to marry him.

A jury in the same court Tuesday awarded Miss Chrane $7,500 damages against Herrick for alleged libelous statements concerning her in a paper filed in court in support of his breach of promise case.

WHOLESALE PRICES UP.

Commodity Costs Advanced During October in Canada.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—(By Canadian Press).—Increases in the prices of wholesale commodities are shown in the figures for October as compared with September according to a bulletin issued here by the Dominion bureau of statistics. October prices increased 3.2 over September prices. Vegetables and their products rose from 161.6 to 169.9. Animals and their products from 126.3 to 131.0; fibres and textile products rose from 191.1 to 194.1; wood and wood products, because of the lower levels for news prints and wood pulp, fell from 150.3 to 137.2.

WILLIAM JOHN CROSSEN WAS LAST NIGHT CONVICTED MANSLAUGHTER AND SENTENCED TO TERM SIX YEARS

Second Charge Of Shooting Edwin H. Rowe Traversed To The Next Assizes.

DRAMATIC CLIMAX.

The Prisoner Broke Down As Sentence Was Pronounced —End of Cobourg Trial.

(By Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, Ont., Nov. 6.—William John Crossen was last night found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced to a term of six years in the Provincial Penitentiary. The verdict was a reduction by the jury of the indictment charging Crossen with the murder of Byron A. McCrodan of Toronto, while the latter was a trespasser on the estate it was Crossen's duty to protect.

The jury deliberated three hours and delivered the verdict in a court room where there was not standing room for another person. The accused man's wife and daughter who testified in his behalf, were present and Crossen himself broke down during the passing of sentence. Mrs. Crossen was carried fainting from the court, where she had maintained wonderful self control throughout the trial.

His Lordship remarked upon the fairness with which the trial had been conducted by the Crown Prosecutor A. B. Cunningham K.C. of Kingston. Mr. Cunningham was previously commended by another judge upon his exceedingly fair presentation of a Crown murder case in Peterboro, when Schell was acquitted of the slaying of MacNeal in Galway Township.

The most dramatic moment came in Crossen's testimony on the stand, his enactment of the scene of the fatal morning and the heart throbbing appeal of his counsel on his behalf.

When the jury returned at three minutes past eight, the usual questions were asked. "How say you gentlemen of the jury. Have you agreed upon your verdict."

"We have."

"What is your verdict."

"Guilty of manslaughter."

"Gentlemen, you had a very difficult case to try, and, personally, I am glad you have been able to find the prisoner guilty of manslaughter. You might, upon the evidence, have found a more serious verdict, but I am not going to quarrel with your decision. You are the judges of fact."

His Lordship retired to his room, accompanied by Mr. Cunningham, while Crossen engaged in a low-toned conversation with his counsel. The accused man showed the effects of his long term of imprisonment and the stress of the trial.

On His Lordship's return five minutes later, he said: "William John Crossen, stand up. Have you anything to say why sentence of this court should not be passed on you?"

Speaking for his client, who was unused to speaking in public, Mr. Greer said: "My Lord, a man who perhaps with a mistaken sense of duty to his employer, has refused a sum of money to betray his employer, find himself in this position. I think perhaps I should not allow the opportunity to pass of calling to your attention the fact that he has two small children and his wife dependent upon him. He is here through a great sense of loyalty to his employer, which is perhaps a good cause to be found zealous in, and I would ask you to be merciful."

Crossen Broke Down.

In passing sentence, while Crossen burst into tears and hid his face in his hands, His Lordship said: "It is an exceedingly painful duty that now devolves upon me.

"Your life and conduct in the past have been exceedingly good. Very few men could have better reputations and were that the only consideration I would feel justified in giving you a very light sentence. Your counsel has made a touching and powerful appeal on your behalf. True, as he says, these men were there unlawfully and it was in the early hours when you were not in your brightest mood and you were over zealous. Your loyalty to your employer is undoubted but fidelity to your employer does not permit you to go about shooting people.

"The jury's finding is lenient and perhaps merciful. Nowadays human life has not the consideration it should have in a law-abiding country such as this, and any sentence I impose upon you will be a warning to others not to use fire-arms unless in the way the law allows. I would be glad indeed if I could impose a light sentence upon you. I'm satisfied you did not intend to kill, but you did intend to shoot, and killing may result. You are unfortunate in your family, but it is difficult to consider the family of an accused person in administering justice.

"The sentence that I impose upon you is that you be imprisoned in the Provincial Penitentiary for a term of six years."

No Second Charge.

The second charge against Crossen, of shooting Edwin H. Rowe with intent to do grievous bodily harm, was traversed to the next assizes in January, with a probability that it will be abandoned on application to the Attorney General.

Although the hundred odd women in the courtroom were outnumbered by the men, they predominated in that they had the seats of vantage and occupied the front row of the standing crowd at the back of the court. The accused man followed the proceedings with evident interest, his eyes passing from interrogator to witness during the rapid fire question and answer that marked the trial, but he wilted visibly during His Lordship's charge to the jury. In their presentation of the evidence as they intrepreted it the counsel waxed eloquent, and Mr. Greer rose to the greatest height of forensic oratory. He was careful to explain to the jury that the issue should not be judged on the merits of counsel as debaters. Mr. Greer's apt picturization of things known to the men he was addressing went far towards clearing up the story in their minds. On one occasion when impressing on the jury the right of the accused man to the benefit of the doubt he showed justice as a woman blindfold holding aloft the scales of justice, but with a thumb representing presumption of innocence discreetly pressing down the side of the scale in which the accused man was placed. At the close of his brilliant address, that moved several women to tears and recalled to the men the dangers of their wives and children while they remained on widely scattered farms. Mr. Greer appealed, "I ask you as honest men before God as you have heard his story," and after a pause, as his voice broke, "to find him not guilty." The counsel for the defence occupied an hour and three-quarters in his closing address. Mr. Cunningham presented the Crown's case in thirty-five minutes and Mr. Justice Wright summed up in forty minutes. The jury retired at 5 o'clock.

History of Accused.

William John Crossen said he is 55 years of age, and admitted he is deaf in his right ear. He had not very much schooling, having only gone to Stone's Schoolhouse at Coldsprings until he was 11 years of age. At 19 he left home to work around the farms. There were twelve children in the family, Crossen being the fourth.

After farming out for 14 years he started to farm for himself, and continued to work it, of which he owned 40 acres, until three years ago.

Married 19 years ago, his first wife died ten years ago, and he married again. He is no relation of his employer, William James Crossen, that he knows of.

At the preserve it was his duty to guard the fish ponds where trout were hatched. No one ever fished in the small ponds, with permission, but Mr. Crossen fished in a big pond about three acres in extent. The ponds are fenced around with strong wire and barbed wire on top.

"I was there to keep the grass cut, look after the fish, and help to guard them. The trout grew to be eight inches long," he said.

When he was away at night there was no one in the house but his wife and children.

A week before the shooting, he went over at 6.30, and saw tracks of two men, and followed them through the hole in the fence, eight rods from the road. He sent word to Mr. Crossen on the Monday.

There was a gun at the preserve when the accused went there. It was for shooting kingfishers and other birds that took fish from the ponds, and rabbits that ate the early cabbages. He had shot seven and

DRYS GAINED MEMBERS.

211 Out of 269 Candidates Unsatisfactory to Wets Were Elected.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—The drys gained members of both House and Senate, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, said last night. He said 211 of the 269 candidates unsatisfactory to the wets were elected.

RIO GRANDE REBELS.

Strong Attack Is Being Made On Town of Itaqui.

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—Despatches received here from newspaper correspondents on the Argentine-Brazilian border say the rebels in the State of Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil, have commenced a strong attack on the town of Itaqui. Despatches add that the second attack by rebels upon the town of Alegrete was repulsed and that a train carrying 70 rebel dead or wounded has returned to Uruguayana. It is said the rebels desire Alegrete owing to its strategic situation, and that their attack on Itaqui is made with the purpose to distracting the attention of the Alegrete garrison.

PURPOSE.

From evil comes good. The Leopold- Loeb case has started a reaction against capital punishment.

Everything has a set and definite purpose—though often it is not apparent because hidden in the spiritual domain out side our three-dimensional material world.

DISCOVERED IN 1513.

Four hundred and eleven years ago an intrepid Spanish explorer and adventurer, Juan Ponce de Leon, by name, first set foot on a land of luxuriant sub-tropic growth known today as Florida.

Since that time Florida has become perhaps the most alluring Winter Resort in the world. A warm-watered ocean offers bathing at its best; a few miles off-shore the monstrous and sporty Tuna and Tarpon await the more adventurous disciples of Izaak Walton; a marvellous beach fringed with exotic palms broad motor highways, scores of green, velvet-smooth golf courses —the whole steeped in glorious sunshine and perfumed with the fragrance of fruit blossoms and subtropical flowers.

Nature has lavished her bounties on Florida, and man has moulded them for his convenience. There are facilities for every summer recreation—surf-bathing, deep sea fishing, boating, golfing, tennis, riding, motoring. Beautiful hotels, splendid apartments and bungalows house the visitor in luxurious comfort.

Canadian National Railways can offer a splendid service in helping you plan your visit. Any agent will glady supply full information and make your reservations.

BRITISH MOTOR TRADE.

Despite the Taking Off of Duties, Trade Is Still Brisk.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The withdrawal of the McKenna duties has not hurt the British motor trade, according to Sir John Simon, who in a recent address said:

"Birmingham happens to be both the Mecca of tariff reform and the principal market for motor shares. Since the McKenna duties came off, Birmingham newspapers announce that the market in motor shares is very active, that the threatened foreign invasion is being met by a better article at a reduced price and that the British light car industry is well established. Gramaphones tell a similar tale. Manufacturers, it was reported, were passing through a period of unexampled prosperity. There was similar prosperity in the piano trade, and a possible shortage of pianos."

RED PEPPER HEAT STOPS BACKACHE

The heat of red peppers takes the "ouch" from a sore, lame back. It can not hurt you, and it certainly ends the torture at once.

When you are suffering so you can hardly get around, just try Red Pepper Rub, and you will have the quickest relief known. Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers.

Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you will feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Pain and soreness are gone.

Ask any druggist for a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.

A REGULAR WELL.

Six Million Barrels of Oil Taken Out of One Pool.

CROMWELL, Okla., Nov. 6. — (Untied Press).—More than 6,000,000 barrels of oil have been taken from the Cromwell oil field since the pool was opened less than one year ago, and possibilities point to a daily production of 100,000 barrels a day.

Two tests are being made in the field to strike the Wilcox sand. If this sand gives forth as good production as it has at the Tonkawa and Watchorn fields in Oklahoma, the Cromwell field probably will become the largest producing field in the state.

The Cromwell field was fostered by Joseph I. Cromwell, prominent petroleum engineer, who located the field in 1922. His belief that oil in large quantities was to be obtained were based on the horseshoe bend in the Canadian river, which loops around the field, drainage topography, and structure.

Cromwell backed his judgment with leases and to-day is worth millions of dollars from royalties on his leases.

The field is uplifted into a knoll with the river forming a horseshoe around it. This gradual uplift in the land is thought to have been caused by formations through past geological ages.

All untested structures in river bends along rivers in this section of Oklahoma have been under lease for some time and tests in many of these structures will probably be made next spring.

Four Brothers Wed To Four Sisters

HANOVER, Pa., November 6. — A quadruple marriage relation, probably without parallel in the United States or any foreign country, was completed when four Stonesifer brothers married four Stonesifer sisters.

The men and women were not related, even remotely. The weddings took place at different times, beginning in 1915, and the same minister performed all four ceremonies.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Stonesifer live at Deep Run, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Stonesifer, at Hanover, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. William Stonesifer, at Union Mills, Md.; and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stonesifer, Melrose, Pa.

In time there may be six Stonesifer brothers married to six Stonesifer sisters, for there still remains two single brothers and two single sisters in the two families.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Social Event at Home Of Mrs. P. Stenson —Personal Mention.

MILLBROOK, Nov. 5—A jolly Hallowe'en gathering was held at the home of Mrs. P. Stinson on Friday evening when over sixty young people of the community accepted the invitation to be present and enjoy a social good time under the auspices of the Young People's League of the Methodist church, of which organization Mrs. Stinson is the popular vice-president of the literary and social department.

The rooms were appropriately decorated with cut-outs of black cats, owls, etc., the yellow shades giving the lights the proper amount of dimness so that when the "ghost" with the clammy handshake greeted the guests at the door and the "witch" ushered them to the rooms where wraps were removed, and orange paper caps were provided which all must wear regardless whether the adornment was becoming or not. The feeling of "spookiness" which is always associated with a Hallowe'en gathering was present in marked degree.

Fortune telling, games, and other amusements made the hours pass rapidly, the gliding in of a skeleton when lights were shut off, the white bones showing up in true eerie fashion, being one feature of the evening which was most realistic and caused a "creepy" feeling among the guests who were not in the secret of the ghostly visitors' make-ups.

Homemade candy and rosy-cheeked apples were served as refreshments before the gathering finally dispersed, the warm appreciation of Mr. and Mrs. Stinson's hospitality being repeatedly expressed as the "good nights" were spoken by the departing guests.

I.O.O.F. Social.

The Hallowe'en social evening, under the auspices of I.O.O.F. Lodge, No. 308, was a decided success nearly one hundred guests, including a number of car loads from outside points, gathering in the Oddfellows' Hall for the occasion.

Decorations appropriate for All Hallows' Eve made the rooms attractive, while the costumes worn by the masked guests, many of the traditional ghosts and witches being noted, added to the atmosphere which should mark the night Bobby Burns has made famous by recounting Tam O'Shanter's adventures in connection therewith. The origin of the celebration of Hallowe'en itself is lost in antiquity, but evidently many of the practices now chiefly kept up by the young folk were originally connected in some way with the religion of the Druids in the early days of English history.

Prizes offered for the most appropriate costumes were won by Mrs. E. Armstrong, whose witch's make-up could hardly have been improved upon, and by Mr. Thompson of Peterboro, who came as a tramp and looked the part to perfection. The judges were J. N. McGill, J. A. Vance and H. A. Fallis.

Guessing the identity of the guests before all masks were removed caused considerable merriment, and various Hallowe'en "stunts" and games left no time for dull moments. Supper was served about midnight but the enjoyment of the occasion was by no means exhausted and it was nearly 2 a.m. before the last guests left for their respective homes.

Mrs. J. McCombe left on Monday morning for Cobourg where she has secured a good position at assistant matron at the House of Refuge.

Mrs. McComb has been a faithful and efficient teacher in the Methodist Sunday School for over twenty years, and before her departure the Executive of the School presented her with a solid leather club-bag and fittings, as a token of their appreciation of her services.

For the present Mrs. McComb is retaining her home in the village, closing the house until more definite plans are decided upon.

Miss Stella Hetherington is visiting friends in Toronto. Miss Ethel Richardson presided at the organ in the Methodist church on Sunday in Miss Hetherington's absence.

Miss Eileen Higgs was a week-end guest of Miss Phyliss Richards, returning to her duties as teacher at the Marsh school Monday morning.

Many friends in this vicinity will learn with regret of the death of Rev. Harvey Strike which took place at the home of his son, Mr. W. Ross Strike, Perth, last week following an operation for appendicitis in Toronto a few weeks ago. The late Rev. A. H. Strike in his young manhood, was teacher at "Cairo" school, near Fraserville, and was one of the "old boys" who returned for the celebration of the Golden Jubilee of this school about two years ago delivering a fine address on that occasion. Possessed of an attractive personality and cheery disposition deceased won a host of friends wherever he was located. His pastorates included Lindsay, Deseronto, Campbellford, Morrisburg, Perth and Ottawa South Methodist church, the last-named being the charge he was serving at the time of his death.

Mr. B. Olan has moved the frame dwelling from the vicinity of Carmel church to the cement foundation he had prepared for it on the west side of the road farther south and is now occupying the home with his family. A small barn was built earlier in the season on the same property.

CURED HIS RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation. If you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 489L Marcellus Avenue, Manasquan, N.J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

NEWS OF NORWOOD.

Baptists Hold Anniversary Services—Personal Mention.

NORWOOD, Nov. 6.—Mr. Dowley of Orangeville is relieving on the Stirling Bank staff while Mr. Harry Baker is on his vacation.

Mrs. B. W. Squire was in Marmora on Wednesday last.

Miss Meharry who has been visiting her niece, Mrs. J. E. Roxborough returned to her home in Toronto last week.

Mrs. W. Green of Smith's Falls was a recent guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Drain.

Mr. and Mrs. H. MacLachlan, Mrs. W. Wedlock and Miss Florence Wedlock, of Keene, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Weir.

Rev. W. P. Rogers is spending a few days this week in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Tedford and family were in Toronto during the week-end attending the funeral of the latter's sister-in-law, Mrs. Strong who passed away very suddenly on Friday last. The late Mrs. Strong spent a few weeks in the village the first of the month.

An entertainment under the auspices of the 40th Northumberland I.O.D.E. will be given in the Town Hall on Friday evening next, the proceeds of which are to be used for the beautifying of the memorial plot.

Miss Lillian Grenbank entertained the C.G.I.T. and Tuxis boys at her home, "Lowlands," on Hallowe'en.

Miss Luda Fry has been visiting friends at Roseneath.

Mrs. T. J. Rahal received word on Monday of the death of her brother-in-law, Mr. Graham which occurred at his home in Toronto on November 4th. Mrs. Rahal left on Wednesday morning to attend the funeral which will be held on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchel, Colporteurs, were in the village during the week in the interests of the Bible Society.

The local Baptist congregation held their anniversary services on Sunday last when Rev. Mr. Weaver of Toronto, a former pastor, was the special preacher. On Monday a fowl supper was held in the basement of the church after which a program of speeches and musical numbers was given.

This anniversary is said to be the best in every way that the congregation has ever held.

The Anglican congregation held a social evening in the A.Y.P.A. rooms one evening last week, when a very enjoyable time was spent by all present.

KLAN BILL BEATEN.

Proposed Compulsory Education at Public Schools In Washington.

SEATTLE, Nov. 6. — (Canadian Press).—An initiative measure, designed to compel parents to send their children to public schools instead of to private or parochial institutions, sponsored by the Good Government League, affiliated with the Ku Klux Klan, apparently was defeated in Tuesday's election. Returns from 895 of the State's 2,437 precincts gave 53,117 for the bill and 86,107 against it.

NEWS OF OMEMEE.

Many Social Events in the Town—Personal Mention.

OMEMEE, November 6. — Coronation Hall was the scene of a jolly Hallowe'en dance on Friday evening, when the hockey club put on the first of a series of dances to be given.

The hall was prettily decorated for the event in orange and black, and many Jack O'Lanterns lent a spooky touch to the decorative scheme.

Euchre tables dotted the centre of the hall, and those so inclined played cards until about ten-thirty o'clock, when the floor was cleared for dancing. Hooper's Orchestra discoursed sweet music and a merry party numbering over two hundred tripped the light fantastic until about two o'clock a.m. Dainty refreshments were served by the ladies in charge. The patronesses for the event were Mesdames Mackey, Mitchell, MacPherson, Stenhenson, and Bradley, who receive dthe guests at the door.

Many from outside points attended —people being present from Lindsay, Dunsford, Downeyville, Bethany, Reaboro, and Peterborough.

After all expenses had been cleared the club had in the neighbourhood of $60.00 to start the winter season.

Special Services.

Anniversary services will be observed in the Methodist Church on Sunday next. Rev. Mr. Redden, of Lakefield, is the special speaker and the soloists for the day are Miss Carrie Balfour and Mr. J. Day, of Toronto.

On Monday evening (Thanksgiving Day) the annual fowl supper will be held, followed by a choice programme. Miss Irene Wright of Peterborough, elocutionist, and Mr. J. Mackey, of Lindsay, will assist.

The Hallowe'en Season.

Hallowe'en received its annual celebration in Omemee but probably not as much damage was done to property as in previous years. Owing to the majority of grown-ups attending the dance in Coronation Hall, the younger folks had the town to themselves, and gaily attired in their various costumes, such as Indians, clowns, Dutch girls, ghosts, etc., they spent the early evening in harmless fun, such as the tick-tack and ringing of door bells. Later in the evening the smaller children gathered together and paid their annual visit to many homes, where they were received with kindness and generously treated to candy, apples, cookies, doughnuts, etc.; so much so that the memory of such an event will linger until another year rolls round.

Personal Mention.

Dr. H. and Mrs. Irvine and daughter Miss Rilda, and Mrs. A. Staples, of Lindsay, visited the latter's sister, Mrs. Wm. Earle, on Sunday.

Mr. George McKimn, of Peterborough, was in town on Monday on business.

Build Up Their Little Bodies —Help Their Minds to Grow

THE selection of food for the children should receive the most careful attention and thought. Their little bodies must grow. Their minds must expand. They must receive nourishment which will offset the fatigue of school and play—which will carry them onward to manhood and womanhood with robust bodies and keen, alert minds.

Grape-Nuts is an ideal food for children. Four teaspoonfuls or so with milk or cream each morning will give them the extra nourishment they need. Grape-Nuts is made by our own exclusive process from whole wheat and malted barley. It is double-baked so that the body can quickly and easily take up its abundant nourishment. Its crisp, crunchy granules make the child chew it, thus aiding the healthy development of teeth.

Give your children delicious, vitalizing, inexpensive Grape-Nuts. Ask your grocer for it.

GRAPE-NUTS MUFFINS

½ cup Grape-Nuts, 1½ cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 2 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons shortening.

Sift flour, baking powder, sugar and salt into mixing bowl, add milk and melted shortening, and beat well. Have ready well-greased muffin pans. Fill each ⅔ full with the batter. Bake about 20 minutes in a hot oven.

This recipe makes ten to twelve muffins.

STOPPING A RUMOR.

(From the London Advertiser.)

Peterborough Examiner tells of a rumor that got a fairly good start in that city a few days ago. The report was that a teacher had asked pupils in her class to stand up if home brew were made in their homes. The facts were that two little pupils had volunteered the information in a lesson where the word "beer" had been used.

It was fortunate that the Peterborough rumor got run over as quickly as it did. The trouble with most of them is that they travel on high, all eight cylinders firing in order, and a great supply of gas in the tank. They have no tire trouble and there is seldom a speed cop to take the number.

If the Peterborough paper has definitely entered the field as an effective rumor stopper, it has set its hand to a great task, for there will always be bags piled up on the platform of the mill.

MARKET REVENUES.

The members of the City Council, naturally interested in anything that promises to increase the civic revenues, might find in the local market an opportunity to enrich the civic coffers.

This question has been to the fore in Kingston, and information collected as to the system in operation in other places should be of interest here.

For example, St. Catharines is shown as realizing $2,807 per year from the sale of spaces in the market square, while London secures in the same way the substantial sum annually of $8,170.

In Guelph a large revenue is obtained from a daily charge of 25c per truck.

In Hamilton, where there is a daily market, spaces are rented at the rate of $3 per week from May 1st to December 1st and for the balance of the year at $2 per week.

Brockville has a fixed position for each market gardener, and they pay at the rate of $2 for each term of three months.

Ottawa again has a different system, offering spaces for sale by auction, with no space sold at less than $5 per year, and out of this method the capital has realized in the last ten years the sum of $50,000 in the rental of market spaces.

Peterborough has obtained nothing approaching this sum from the system followed here by which the privilege of collecting market tolls is sold by auction each year to the highest bidder.

In fact, the revenue is decreasing, instead of increasing, and the whole question might profitably be taken under review by the City Council.

THE ARMISTICE CELEBRATION.

The Peterborough branch of the Great War Veterans' Association is making it possible for the citizens generally to participate in a fitting celebration of the anniversary of the signing of the Armistice.

The programme announced for Saturday, Sunday and Monday shows that the G.W.V.A. is furnishing the necessary leadership for a worth-while observance of the occasion.

Saturday is Poppy Day, when artificial replicas of the flower of remembrance, manufactured by disabled soldiers, will be on sale on the city streets.

The proceeds will be devoted to work on behalf of the ex-service men, and every citizen should not only buy a poppy but should wear it until after November 11th.

Sunday will be marked by the dedication of a memorial at All Saints' Church in the morning, in which the G.W.V.A. will participate; a ceremony at the centogaph, Murray street, in the afternoon, followed by a memorial service at the Grand Opera House, with Brigadier-General A. E. Ross and Lieut.-Col. the Hon. W. H. Price, Provincial Treasurer, as the principal speakers, and an Armistice concert in the evening by the band of the Peterborough Rangers.

Monday will be marked by open house at the G.W.V.A. quarters during the day, and an entertainment for all returned soldiers and their ladies at night.

The whole programme is worthy of the occasion, and the veterans in carrying it out should have the whole-hearted co-operation of the citizens.

THE MODERN METHOD.

Throughout Canada many civil servants, postmasters, collectors of customs and other officials retired last week under the Calder Act, and in each case the vacancy thus created is being filled by the promotion of other officials who have been trained in the service and are qualified by reason of their experience to assume more responsible duties.

What a difference there would have been in the old days when patronage flourished and positions of this kind were regarded as plums to be dropped into the widely opened mouths of the party henchmen!

It can be imagined what a wild scramble would have taken place in Canada under the old system were so many important positions to be thrown open at once.

There would have been wire-pulling and intrigue on every side, and the final result after the worried politicians had got through dealing out the spoils would have been a small army of disappointed office-seekers in every constituency, and the filling of responsible offices by men who brought to the position in many cases little except a record of partizan allegiance.

Is there any doubt of which is the fairest, most efficient, most business-like and most satisfactory method—the present system of filling these offices by the promotion of men whose ability has been proven in actual service or the old to-the-victor-belongs-the-spoils policy which cared nothing for the country's interest and everything for the welfare of the party?

THE UNITED STATES RESULTS.

The triumph at the polls of President Calvin Coolidge and his running mate, General Dawes, in the United States election was more or less anticipated, although the extent of the victory was perhaps greater than expected.

Few Presidential candidates have been as colourless in their campaign as was Tuesday's winner.

Coolidge said little, did little. He dodged the limelight, and his campaign managers found him of little use for window-dressing purposes.

Yet his very silence perhaps has been a strong factor in creating the idea throughout the United States that he is a man to be trusted.

The third party, led by Senator LaFollette, made a dismal showing.

Nevertheless, it seems certain that this Progressive contributed materially to the Coolidge triumph.

As in Britain, thousands of Liberal voters supported Baldwin because they felt that the Conservative party had the better chance to oust the Labour Ministry, so across the border thousands of voters, usually Democratic, voted for Coolidge because they thought that by doing so they were making sure of the elimination of the LaFollette party.

So far as Canada is concerned, the result means that this country will continue to be shut off from the United States market by a high tariff wall:

In other words, Canadians, while not losing anything because of the Republican victory, have gained nothing.

The most satisfactory feature of the election is the crushing blow administered to the LaFollette organization.

HE DOESN'T KNOW US.

Mr. Frank Bohn has written a long article for the New York Times about Canada, which appears under the heading, "Canada Gropes For Destiny As a Nation." The caption is probably based on Mr. Bohn's statement that we are "at the crossroads," and much more of that nature. He assures his American readers that geography is against us, or, rather, that every geographical consideration makes us a natural and logical part of the United States. This is how he works it out:

"From the islands of the eastern coast of Nova Scotia to the islands on the far Pacific side—everywhere the geographical factor is arrayed against the independent life of the Canadian nation. For the Canadian land is not in the slightest degree an entity. Her southern and settled areas form a narrow band strung along the American frontier for nearly four thousand miles. These areas are naturally divided into four sections. The three Maritime Provinces and Southern Quebec are a continuation of the New England coastal region. And the people of the three easternmost Provinces are one in every way with those of Massachusetts and Maine. Ontario is an integral part, geographically and socially, of Middle Western America. Again and again has the writer, in taking a train at New York City to lecture in some town of Southern Ontario, had a feeling of going home to his own people in the Middle West. The schools, the churches, the farmers' organizations, the Rotary Clubs of Ontario are all a perfect replica of those in Western New York, Ohio and Michigan. There is a different flag waving from the public buildings—that is all."

Mr. Bohn is driven later on, in a moment of frankness, to admit that we in Canada are doing very well, notwithstanding our geographical handicap. The odd thing about his deductions is that practically everything he has said about Canada fits as well to the United States; so that the inducement to political union is as strong one way as the other. He also confesses that Canadians are uninterested in talk about annexation. Yet he cannot conceal his surprise at their contentment. He is particularly amazed that they should prefer to remain a unit of the British Empire rather than yield to the loadstone of affinity and throw in their lot with the United States. So he goes on to say:

"We have shown that Canada is not a geographical entity, and never can be; that the Canadians are not a separate people either politically or culturally, and never can be. Canada has indeed a choice to make. But that choice is of a different nature than she yet realizes.

"It is the pull of the outer forces that results in this inner conflict. Being economically American, politically British, and culturally nine parts of one to one of the other, the position of Canada is, no doubt, difficult and perplexing. When the Canadian goes to the theatre he sees, usually, an American play. When he goes to the movies, he sees reels of American make. A few Canadians who were born and educated in Britain read British papers and magazines. The native-born favor those of the United States. The very fact of proximity seems to be the dominant force."

All this is amusing enough, though no doubt it deceives some of the American people. We are only "at the crossroads" in the imagination of Mr. Bohn. No people in the world are better satisfied with their heritage than are we Canadians; and no people are less likely to encourage a thought of new political alliances. Thirty-five and forty years ago the late Erastus Wiman wrote and talked more logically and convincingly than does Mr. Bohn now; and yet he was absolutely wrong. Even his policy of commercial union, and later of unrestricted reciprocity, had but the single effect of weakening the support of the Liberal party—which had taken it up—throughout the country. And it was weak enough, heaven knows, when it espoused the Wiman fad. And one remembers Goldwin Smith's preachments of the manifest destiny of Canada in "the continent to which we belong."

Sensible Americans, who know anything at all about Canada and the sentiment of the Canadian people, can hardly be misled by the nonsense of the arguments which Mr. Bohn has used in this discussion of the "unrest" he believes to be stirring in our country. The thing is not worth a categorical reply. It is sufficient to say that he is in the throes of a nightmare, and no one in Canada need be sufficiently

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

LaFollette's chances in the Presidential handicap were just about as hopeless as those of Andy Gump.

The MacDonald Ministry has resigned. It will likely be a long time before some of them ever sit in the seats of the mighty again.

The Zinovieff letter is still unexplained—but it did its work nevertheless.

When you study some of the United States election figures you have no trouble in realizing why they call it "the Solid South."

Chicago worked its daily murder into the election activity, showing that there is no necessity for the ordinary routine to be interrupted by politics.

The "last survivor" of the Charge of the Light Brigade is a tough customer. Although he has died a score of times in all parts of the world, he has turned up at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, as a voter for Coolidge. concerned to wake him up.—Ottawa Journal.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Nov. 5. — With a holiday on Monday there is a disposition to see the market cleared this week. Bologna bulls were all taken from $2.65 to $3 a cwt. For stall-fed butcher's bulls not heavy enough for export the price range was $4 to $4.50. Common cows were $2.75 and $3 and canners went in bunches at $1.50 a cwt.

There were two loads of good heavy steers for sale, but exporters' bid of $6.75 a cwt. was refused and they held at $7. Outside of the stuff of export quality there were few really good butchers to be had. One bunch of 12 good handyweights sold at $5.75 a cwt. and another lot of medium quality brought $5.25 a cwt. Stockers and feeders are selling more freely but at easier prices. Common light stockers are $3 a cwt. up and average quality feeders are bringing $5.25 a cwt.

With continued light receipts of calves there is little chance of any change in the strong undertone of the market. The Buffalo market offers no opportunity for shipment, as prices here are entirely out of line. Few calves were good enough to go over 11 cents a pound today, and the market, as a whole, was definitely steady at quoted prices.

Light finished lambs all sold at 12 cents today for the ewes and wethers. Heavy lambs were docked about a dollar a cwt. Sheep are steady the handyweights up to 7 cents and yearlings 8½ to 9 cents a pound.

Hogs are still unsettled in price. The packers bid of $8.75 a cwt. f.o.b. is not acceptable, and it is questionable whether many will be sold at that price.

EGG PRICES.

OTTAWA, November 6 (Canadian Press). — Fresh eggs are becoming so scarce that there is not sufficient to meet the demand, and prices have again been advanced. At a number of producing points storage eggs have had to be brought in to fill the deficiency.

Toronto firm. On the Toronto farmers' markets specials are selling at 75 to 80, extras 70 to 75.

Montreal firm. Jobbing extras 53 to 55, firsts 42 to 43, seconds 32 to 35.

Winnipeg firm. Retailing extras 55 to 60, firsts 50 to 55, seconds 40.

MONTREAL GRAIN.

MONTREAL, November 6 (Canadian Press). — The export trade in Canadian grain here yesterday was much quieter on account of the fact that foreign buyers were not disposed to respond to the higher prices asked by exporters. In fact, some of the bids received were much lower than what sales of wheat were made on Tuesday in spite of the strength at Winnipeg.

There was some demand from local buyers for wheat and sales of No. 1 Northern were made at 16 cents per bushel over the Winnipeg November option c.i.f., Montreal, and other sales were reported on c.i.f. basis at bay ports.

A fair trade was done in Ontario malting barley, with prices quoted at $1.08 for No. 3 extra grade, $1.07 for No. 3 grade per bushel, ex-track, but the demand for Ontario oats wes very limited, of which the offerings were liberal and prices were unchanged with car lots of No. 2 white quoted at 60 cents, No. 33 white at 58 cents, and No. 4 grade at 56 cents per bushel, ex-track.

Canadian Western oats were 1 cent per bushel higher.

STERLING RATES

MONTREAL, November 6 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follows:

Demand ... $4.56 1-2
Cables ... $4.56 7-8

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, November 5 (Canadian Press). — Post-election bulges in prices for all grain developed quickly yesterday. On some transactions wheat showed an advance of as much as 5 cents a bushel. Improved export demand for wheat and rye was apparent.

Wheat closed firm 2 3-4 to 4 1-2 cents net higher, December $1.43 3-4 to $1.43 7-8, and May $1.50 to $1.50 1-8, with corn 1 5-8 to 2 cents up, and oats at 1 1-4 to 1 1-2 cents gain, but provisions unchanged to 30 cents lower.

ALDERMAN SAID TO HAVE SHARED

The evidence of Mrs. Armand Lariviere was corroborated by her mother, Mrs. Butts, who declared that Alderman Mongeon had called at the house "to apologize for what he had done to my daughter." According to this witness, Alderman Mongeon had taken the daughter to the Prince Arthur Street rendezvous and it was when Mrs. Butts protested that the Alderman was said to have made the statements about police protection.

Alderman's Denial.

Alderman Mongeon, called to the stand admitted that he had visited the Butts family. He denied that he had ever said that the Prince Arthur Street house was protected by the police, that he had ever denounced the Government in the terms employed by Mrs. Lariviere, or that he had ever spoken of Morel, or boasted of having received $6,000 from the bandits.

Recalled later, Alderman Mongeon admitted that Morel had worked for him in the civic elections. Morel had been arrested in March on a charge of infringing the automobile by-law, and Alderman Mongeon had furnished bail for him. He said that he did not know before that time that Morel was under a "grave accusation."

The evidence of Mrs. Armand Lariviere was corroborated by her father, John Butt, and Kenney Butt, her brother.

WHEN TWILIGHT YIELDS TO LAMPLIGHT

NO other part of the house is more cheerful than the living room when the mellow sunshine streams in through the windows, and adds its own rich pattern to colorful rays and hangings. And no room responds more happily to the glow of the evening lamp. When the daylight is gone, the flick of a silken cord releases this modern sunshine to scatter the night at your bidding.

Portable floor and table lamps, equipped with the correct Edison Mazda Lamps, can increase the cheerfulness of your living room many times over.

To obtain the best results, choose lamps with wide shades which throw the light upward and downward. See that they are equipped with 50 or 75-watt white or frosted Edison Mazda Lamps.

Near you is an Edison Mazda Lamp store, recognizable by the yellow and blue cartons. There you can obtain real information about good lighting.

White Edison Mazda Lamp most suitable for portable lamp use, as the filament cannot be seen.

YOU have no idea how much happiness paint and varnish yield when applied properly in rooms. Effective painting may almost double the amount of light in a room naturally rather dark. The painting of woodwork in cream or light buff makes all the difference in the world. Then varnish is very important in interior decorating. Varnished surfaces catch the light as do the facets of gems. Nowhere is varnish more generally needed than in the front hall. Many a worn staircase has been transformed by its use. A bright, pleasant kitchen makes for happy thoughts. Now is the time of year to have interior work done because master painters are free to give their very best services during the winter months.

WILLIAM JOHN CROSSEN WAS LAST NIGHT CONVICTED MANSLAUGHTER

eight hawks and kingfishers in a day. The gun was kept in the tool house on a high rafter, and was always kept cocked.

After word had been sent to his employer he came out and saw the tracks and gave certain instructions. He went to Winnipeg that week, and was not present when the shooting occurred.

On Saturday he tracked four men who had fished there at the lower pond. On the same night he went to the tool house to watch at 10.30. The gun was in the tool house, cocked and loaded.

Sat Up All Night.

"I was sitting there all night with a flashlight and my watch. I heard a car at 3.35. It was pretty dark then. A few minutes later the two men came past the tool house. I couldn't recognise them, and they looked like giants at that time in the morning. I saw them at the pond and I took the gun and went out. Seeing the gun, I thought, they would likely tell me their names.

"Arriving at the spillway I said, 'Well, boys, how's the fishing?'

"Mr. McCrodan said, 'Very good. We haven't got any yet. We've just got here.'

"I said, 'You'd better lay down your poles and give me your names. I guess you're the men 've been looking for.'

"Mr. McCrodan said: 'I have never been here before. You're not going to shoot, are you?'

"I said, 'I'm not going to shoot anyone. All I want is your name; give me your name.'

"Then I saw Mr. Rowe, but had no idea who he was. I was at his house on business once at dinner-time ,and he didn't ask me to stay to dinner. I would have known him on the street.

"Mr. Rowe came up the bank within a few feet of me, and he had his cap pulled down over his eyes. He kept coming towards me, and I backed up, then Mr. McCrodan came up on the bank, too.

"I backed right up to the spruce tree and the men had steel fish poles in their hands. I told them to stand back, but they kept coming on.

McCrodan said he came from Hastings.

"McCrodan said: 'You ain't going to shoot us, are you? You ain't going to take the law in your own hands?'

"I said: 'I ain't going to shoot any one.'

"Then Mr. Rowe ran past and was fifty or sixty feet away, running. I fired at the ground behind him, and I had no idea he was hit.

"I turned around and Mr. McCrodan asked how much money I would take to let him go. I said I didn't want money. All I wanted was his name. He tried to get past. said, 'Go that way, there's the road and there's the gate behind you,' but he didn't pay any attention and he ran up against me, and the gun went off. He ran 30 or 40 feet before he fell Then he shouted, 'I'm struck in the leg.' I carried him to the tool house and then he asked me to let him down and he got down on his hands and knees to the road. I helped him across the road and he crawled through the gate and up the steps into the house. There we got buffalo robes and all we could to make him comfortable in the kitchen, the only room with a fire in it.

"The injured man asked for Dr. Armstrong of Roseneath, and we rubbed his leg. My wife got him some coffee.

"I met the doctor outside. I said: 'There's a man inside hurt.'"

After McCrodan was taken away, the accused man did his chores, feeding the horse and cows, and had his breakfast. He was arrested that day, bailed out, and again arrested. His wife is looking after the family now.

The witness said he had no intention from beginning to end to shoot McCrodan, and did not intend to discharge the gun. McCrodan ran into him and knocked his arm.

After the shooting McCrodan gave the accused the name "Howell," and never told his true name to him.

Employer Sent Shells.

In cross-examination by Mr. Cunningham, Crossen (the accused) denied that he obtained the shells for the gun after tracing the men on the Sunday before the shooting. His employer visited the preserve on Tuesday and sent out a box of shells on Thursday. He had no shells other than this box, and on Friday and Saturday he did not fire the gun.

He sat up all night to catch the poachers, and in the early morning he saw them coming.

"If you didn't threaten to shoot, why did McCrodan ask you not to shoot?"

"He saw the gun in my hand."

"Well, why did you shoot at Rowe?"

"I didn't shoot at Rowe. I shot at the ground."

"Why?"

"To frighten him."

"Did you want to make him run faster?"

"I wanted to scare him so he wouldn't come back."

Mr. Cunningham attempted to show a statement previously made to a constable,contrary to that made in the box to-day, but was engaged in argument by Mr. Greer, who gained His Lordship's ruling that the statement must be entered in the regular way.

"You now say you shot at the ground behind Rowe; did you ever make any different statment?"

Asks Protection.

At this point Mr. Greer asked the protection of the court with respect to any answers given in this trial regarding the shooting of Rowe, for which he is indicted on a second case.

The accused said he did not remember giving any different statement. Rowe was 50 or 60 feet away when he shot and was running away.

"Why didn't you shoot up in the air?"

"I don't know. I had not been swearing and I was not mad. I shot at the ground."

"I can't understand what was in your mind."

"I shot at the ground to scare him."

"That's the best answer you can give? Where were you standing?"

"Near the spruce tree, about 15 feet from it, and sixty feet from the spillway. I had been forty feet closer to the spillway, and backed up when they were coming right at me."

"You had a gun, and they had fish rods. Were you frightened of them?"

"Yes, with the two of them."

"Then after you had shot after one of them and scared him away you got your courage up?"

The witness said the two men came within ten feet of him, but he could not identify Rowe. They made no attempt to attack him, but one man ran away, and he tried to stop him.

"Then you weren't frightened with the two men there? You were frightened when they were 40 feet away, and you backed up, but when they came to within ten feet of you you weren't scared?"

"I tried to stop him."

"Although he had seen you apparently shoot at the other man, do you mean to say this man tried to do exactly the same thing as he had done?"

"He tried to rush past."

"What made the gun go off?"

"I don't know. He ran into it."

"Why didn't you tell the doctor that?"

"He didn't ask me."

"What you told the doctor was that you were carrying out your orders."

"My orders were to find out who were fishing. I was not ordered to shoot."

In re-examination by Mr. Greer, the witness said that his lawyer, Willmott, had trouble getitng into the room where he was being examined by Constable Cousans, and the constable tried to keep his lawyer out.

Wilmott said: "Keep your mouth shut."

Reply.

Constable Cousans was called in reply by Mr. Cunningham and told of taking a statement.

To Mr. Greer, the constable said he did not ask the prisoner whether he had a lawyer. When Wilmott came to the door he did everything in his power to keep him out, and he broke his way in, the constable had sworn before.

By "breaking in" the witness meant entering without his permission.

When Mr. Greer commenced to argue against the admission of the statement, telling of how the prisoner was in the hands of the chief of police and a man in the brass-buttoned uniform of the Provincial police. Mr. Cunningham asked that the jury be excluded, but His Lordship ruled against Mr. Greer's contention without further argument.

The statement was admitted, in which Crossen said: "I shot towards his feet," referring to Rowe.

Shot at 15 feet.

Dr. Armstrong of Roseneath, said that in his opinion the shot entered McCrodan's limb from a distance of 15 feet or 20 feet, and the would could not have been made by a shot at 4 feet as the accused swore. There were no evidences of powder on the skin as there would have been had the shot been fired at 4 feet.

Answering the defence counsel Dr. Armstrong said he did not know how choked the bore of the gun was.

Mr. Greer attacked Dr. Armstrong's policy in taking the wounded man to Toronto when a well equipped hospital is situated in Cobourg.

The doctor said that he considered the hospital here lacking in a gas-oxygen equipment for giving anaesthesia. He gave his first attention to the patient all the time.

187 Pieces of Shot.

Dr. F. P. Lloyd produced X-ray photographs of McCrowdan's limb, showing, he said, 187 pieces of shot in and around the wound. He found the wad from the shell in the wound and said he thought the shot, so far as the wad is a sign, might have been fired with the limb anywhere from the muzzle of the gun to a distance of 30 feet.

Closing Addressse.

In opening his address to the jury Mr. Greer pointed out the serious import of the indictment, charging Crossen with murdering McCrowdan.

Murder is defined by the code as "culpable homicide." This is the killing of a man when the person meant to cause the death of the victim; if the offender means to inflict an injury reckless as to whether death comes or not.

All killing is not murder—accidents, misadventures and deaths from various causes give no rise to charges of murders. The decision the jury is called upon to make is an important one. The man now sitting in the prisoner's dock is presumed to be innocent until he is proven guilty and when he enters the witness box and swears to his story he is worthy of belief if his attitude commends it to you in a favorble manner.

I am not inviting you to derogate from your oath of office. But you have sworn to deal with the case on the evidence presented before you in court. Your opinion is what counts and you must divest yourselves of all prejudice and arrive at the conclusion that presents itself to you as the result of what was sworn in that box.

Describing in graphic language the hard life of the accused man, brought up in the newly broken country, attending school until in the second book, and working hard for 19 years on farms, Mr. Greer told how three years ago he crossed the meridian at 50 years with only a farm of 40 acres to show for his life's work.

He thought he could do better as gamekeeper at the Crossen estate, with his wife and family to look after. Then he finds that he has been remiss, possibly. Some people are taking the fish he is paid to protect. He reported the matter to his employer and was told to protect the fish.

The gun was at the place when he went there, and he kept it on a rafter in the tool-house ready for use when wanted to shoot a hawk. The gun appears to be one of considerable antiquity, or perhaps worse than that.

Mr. Greer showed the gun, with its faulty lock, to the jury.

I don't propose to say to you that Rowe is a double-dyed villain. He has demonstrated to you that he has rather broad ideas as to the bounds of other people's property. It surprised me that he has lived in this community for 63 years, and was a justice of the peace, and yet, in direct violation of the oath and rank that it promoted him to be, was prepared to go so far as to forget his ideas of common honesty as to go out and take these fish so long as he wasn't caught. He was ready to go out and take anybody's chickens —on his sworn statement—the chickens of any friend or foe. It was a standard of honesty that must have come as a shock to you gentlemen of this vicinity. It is a shock that he should have come so far on life's journey without having been stopped by some other incident.

I suggest to you that between his evidence and Crossen's, his should not be allowed to outweigh Crossen's. I think he has his peculiar standards of morality and you should not ask that man to suffer the penalty when that man might have been out through the country appropriating such articles as he might have found useful. That is his own estimation of himself. He has admitted that he is willing to take any person's chickens so long as he is not caught, and I ask you to believe that he has been at that fish pond time and again.

When McCrodan brought his fishing rod from Tor.to I suggest he did not come to fish for mud-cats as Rowe suggests.

Rowe knew Crossen was the caretaker of the pond, and he knew perhaps that if he was not caught Crossen might lose his job. That did not deter Rowe, for he said he would take from friend and foe alike, so long as he was not caught.

It's the getting caught that puts respect for the law into Rowe's soul and the souls of such marauders: What's protecting your wives and kiddies at home now? It is the knowledge —not of the policeman in blue uniform, for Rowe cares nothing for the law so long as he is not caught. It is because he knows some of your neighbors would drive him off, and you can leave home for a few hours and feel your family is safe.

Reverting to the story of the fatal morning, Mr. Greer pointed out that Rowe may have been one of the four men whose tracks Crossen found on Saturday morning.

Crossen's job depended upon his protecting the fish, and as an honest man it was his duty to do the job he was being paid for.

At 10.30 that night Crossen told his wife he would stay at the tool-house to find out who the men were. At 3.35 on May 18, when it was not very bright, he heard a car pass and stop. It was so dark that he had to take his flashlight to see the time. When he saw these two six-foot men pass they looked like giants and a certain loneliness came over him. He realized they were no boys. They were strangers whom he did not recognize, much heavier than he was, and he took the gun with him.

Mr. Greer asked each of the jurymen to imagine himself on his farm, having missed some wyandottes he was endeavouring to raise—the position in which Crossen was, except that he was raising fish and raising them for another man.

"Can you find that man guilty of murder for doing what you would have done yourself?"

When Crossen came on the two strangers fishing he might have been justified in thinking these two men were together so that in any adverse conditions they could unitedly overcome the small man who opposed him.

He did not load or cock the gun at that time; it was put away in that condition. I ask you to say that he did a wise thing when he took the gun with him.

Crossen said in a friendly tone: 'Hello boys; how's the fishing?' He asked them to come out and give their names.

Rowe comes rushing up the bank, cap pulled down, and fishing rod in his hand.

I ask you to believe that Crossen backed before him, and at the blue spruce tree Rowe dodged him and made for the hole in the fence. It was Rowe who picked out the blue spruce tree and had it photographed as the place where the incident occurred.

Rowe never stopped or answered Crossen's request to tell his name. What interpretation would you put on that? In God's name what interpretation could you put on it but one of danger?

McCrodan and Crossen say they did not know Rowe was shot, and Rowe kept on as before, without giving any indication of being hit. Crossen says he shot at the ground behind. Rowe and I ask you to believe that Crossen did not know Rowe had been hit and that Rowe scampered as fast as he could through his hole in the fence and away from the place.

Mr. Greer pointed out that Mrs. Crossen did not hear the profanity Rowe says her husband used; nor did she hear the threat to shoot. She ran to her daughter Annie, and they started to dress to go to help their husband and father.

Our wives and our daughters are too good to countenance the using of a gun to shoot down trespassers. These two did not anticipate the use of fire-arms, but rushed to the assistance of Crossen.

Crossen refused money to let the men go, and would not sell out his master. Probably he was not such a fool as the sneering Rowe would have you believe. His parents had endowed him with a respect for the property of others.

Accidental Shot.

Describing the discharge of the gun as Crossen had pictured it. Mr. Greer asked the jury to believe that the shot was discharged accidentally while Crossen was knocked off his balance by the fleeing McCrodan. Whether at four feet or 30 feet, it was an accidental shot.

You can bring in a verdict of murder, of manslaughter, or you may, considering all the facts, find him not guilty.

It is true, Dr. Armstrong says this man told him he was carrying out his instructions. Crossen says he was instructed to get their names.

I ask you to believe Corssen's version of that, because Dr. Armstrong was not, at that time, interested in Crossen.

McCrodan was rushed out of Cobourg Hospital to Toronto when emergency treatment was of the first consideration. Undue haste in rushing him out of Cobourg may have aided materially in assisting the trouble that developed and ultimately caused his death. Rowe recovered, and is walking about to-day, and he was treated in Cobourg Hospital.

In Toronto, McCrodan may have withheld certain facts from his statement for the protection of Rowe.

I ask you to return a verdict of not guilty. I ask you for the sake of your own consciences and homes. I don't know how you could justify yourselves before your wives and your children for leaving this man to suffer the penalty of murder or of manslaughter. I ask you to believe this was an accident —a misadventure. I ask you, as an honest man before God, as you have heard his story—to find him not guilty.

Prosecution Summed Up.

You are not here to pass judgment upon the good character of Crossen any more than upon the bad character of Rowe, Mr. Cunningham said.

Were Rowe's character as black as that of Judas Iscariot it would make not one tittle of difference; it has still nothing to do with the defence of accidental death.

All this tirade in regard to Rowe's character arose out of a little statement made in the box as a joke. He was asked: "Would you take chickens?" and he said: "Yes, I would go with Dick Greer to get chickens." It had nothing to do with this case at all.

Rowe admitted that he had been there once before, and I see no bearing that may have on the defence of accident or misadventure. I believe he was quite justified in coming out of that house with the gun in his hand. He is not on trial for that.

According to his own story, as given in the witness-box—and I'm going to tell you frankly, I don't believe his story to be altogether true—I ask you to compare his story with those told by other witnesses.

Reviewing the evidence, Mr. Cunningham said Rowe's wound ran from right to left, and not directly from the rear, substantiating Rowe's story anb discrediting Corssen's. A few hours after the event, Crossen told the police constable he was shooting towards Rowe's feet.

Mr. Cunningham urged the reception of McCrodan's dying statement as truthful. The only offence the two men were guilty of was being in the preserve, and this McCrodan's statement admits.

I don't ask you not to judge the case with sympathy for this good citizen—the accused—but that is not the test. I ask you to stand on the ground. Imagine yourself as standing beside Crossan on this sad morning. Bring to your mind the stories of the parties, and if you believe the stories told by McCrodan and the doctors, then you have a duty to perform. Or if you believe Crossen's story that it was accidental, then you must acquit him, concluded Mr. Cunningham.

Summing Up.

His Lordship told the jury it is very desirable, in cases of this kind, that every piece of evidence be put before them to assist in arriving at a just conclusion.

The crown has presented, by its counsel, its case very fairly—eminently fairly—and the prisoner has been defended with conspicuous ability.

Your duty is the highest type of duty any citizen can be called upon to perform—that of judging upon the guilt or innocence of the accused. Do not start this case with the desire to give one verdict or another. Take the evidence step by step and give your opinion, each for himself. Put away all sympathy for the accused man, his family, and for the unfortunate dead man, who cannot appear here. You must be faithful to your oath to render a true verdict according to the evidence.

His Lordship read the sections of the Criminal Code dearing upon the charge of murder.

No man has a right to shoot a mere trespasser. It would be an unfortunate condition of civilization if a man were permitted to shoot another because he is trespassing upon his land.

The fact that Crossen did not deny having not mentioned to Dr. Armstrong the nature of the shooting, might raise some thought in the minds of the jury, His Lordship said. It might be thought that the fact of an accident would be the first thing he would mention to the doctor. His statement to Dr. Armstrong might be more correct than his statement in the witness-box on his own trial.

His Lordship remarked that the accused man is under a severe strain, and may not be able to give all the details of the fateful morning; and there is also the danger that he may color his evidence to suit his own case. Your duty is to bear in mind the interest—the supreme interest—the accused person has in giving the most favorable story.

A great deal of attention ought to be paid by you to the distance McCrodan was away when the shot was fired. If he was the distance Crossen says, the shot would have entered McCrodan's body point blank. After all, if McCrodan was 15 or 20 feet away, how could the gun have been discharged accidentally? The shot struck McCrodan in the back of the leg, indicating, probably, that he was retreating. You should ask whether it would be likely that the shot would strike there if the shock of McCrodan's striking Crossen were only momentary.

The coincidence of Rowe's having been shot in the leg and McCrodan also being shot in the leg is worthy of consideration.

Can Crossen's statement to Dr. Armstrong be reconciled with accident? His Lordship asked in concluding his summing up of the evidence.

If the gun went off without any cause, then Crossen is entitled to a verdict of acquittal. Don't look for the easiest way out.

If, upon this evidence, you believe there was deliberate intention to shoot at McCrodan—strike him—and that death resulted ,then your verdict must be murder; or, in certain extreme cases, manslaughter. If it is deliberately done, it must be murder; if it is done under provocation of certain classes, it many be manslaughter.

Upon the evidence here, has there been any insult or wrongful act that would deprive an ordinary man of his power of self control, under the influence of which he acted?

The prisoner is entitled to the benefit of any reasonable doubt. It is not an imaginary doubt, but a real doubt on the evidence. That is for the protection of the accused person.

On the other hand, you are not entitled to give the benefit of any imaginary doubt or wish you may conjure up in your minds in order to make the verdict easy for him. Let no consideration, either of sympathy, on the one hand, or vengeance, upon the other, sway your verdict one hairsbreadth.

Jury Recalled.

The jury were recalled for the purpose of allowing His Lordship to direct it regarding part of Rowe's evidence, where Rowe said he heard McCrodan say: "Oh! You shot me."

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Henry Baker Enters Hospital For Treatment—Property Changes Hands.

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 6.—Mr. Henry Baker, River Road, went to the hospital at Peterboro for treatment for his eye. He was working on the corporation work, and on Saturday during the very heavy wind his eye became sore. It has been getting worse every day, and the doctors advised him to go to the hospital, so he left on the evening train on Wednesday for Peterboro.

Hold Anniversary.

A congregational meeting of Christ Church was held in the Parish Hall on Monday night to arrange for the seventieth anniversary of the church. Rev. G. C. Clarke, Mr. S. Neale, Mr. I. A. Humphries and Mr. Jno. Maynard each gave a short address on the history of the church from the beginning of Christ Church here seventy years ago to the present time.

The sololsts for the evening were: Mrs. F. De Free, Miss Currey (Toronto), Miss Bonnycastle, Mr. Clarke and Mr. R. Dunk. Mr. A. J. Jenkins gave a reading. There was community singing, led by the choir. The month of November is the anniversary month, and the church is aiming for a large offering to clear off the debt of the Parish Hall. Rev. Mr. Reid, a former pastor, will preach next Sunday, November 9th, and other former pastors will preach the other Sundays in the month.

Property Changes

LARGE CROWD AT ORLAND FUNERAL

Gordon McCullough Buried Yesterday In McPhail's Cemetery.

ORLAND, Nov. 6.—The funeral of the late Gordon McCullough was largely attended.

The deceased is the third son of Mr. George McCullough, who lives at Wade's Corners, three miles north of Brighton. His later years were attended with more misfortune than the average. While attending High School in Brighton he attended a picnic at Twelve O'clock Point, and while playing a game of football, collided with another player and had a leg broken. Doctors could not get it satisfactorily set as the bone was broken diagonal, and so he was removed to a hospital, where screws were used to hold the fracture in place. This was followed by a long sick spell, from which it was thought he would never rally.

After the war broke out he enlisted in the Forestry Branch, and while he was engaged in felling trees in England, he was struck on the head by a falling limb. He was invalided home, and spent considerable time in the Military Hospital at Cobourg, and when it was found that he was incurable he was later sent to Rockwood Hospital, Kingston, where he remained till relieved by death on Sunday, November 2nd.

His father was down to visit him on Saturday, and said he was able to sit up. The end was unexpected.

His pall-bearers were all returned men, among whom were Lieutenant I. H. Belford, son of Major Belford, M.P.P., and Sergeant-Major Garnet Samis. The remains were interred in the family plot in McPhail's Cemetery.

He leaves a father, three sisters and two brothers to mourn his loss, together with a wife he married overseas, but who never came to this country.

A PLOWING MATCH CAVAN YESTERDAY

Twenty-three Teams Listed In Interesting Competition —The Prize Winners.

CAVAN, Nov. 6.— One of the most successful plowing matches yet held under the auspices of the Cavan and South Monaghan Plowmen's Association took place yesterday at the farm of Foster Eggleson, Concession 11, one-quarter mile west of Ida, the event getting well under way about 10 a.m.

Twenty-three team were listed in the competition, the largest number in some years, another notable feature being the fact that ten boys were competitors in classes 3 and 5, open especially to them, giving promise of plenty of excellent plowmen to keep up the good name and work of the local Association in years to come.

Owing to the late date when the match could be arranged for the number of spectators was somewhat smaller than usual, but the weather was favorable though cool, and keen interest in the splendid work turned in by the competitors continued throughout the entire day.

The lack of rain for some weeks left the ground in rather hard condition, and stones, apparently, also caused some trouble, but few complaints were heard from the workmen, though the horses looked very warm from their rather heavy task.

J. Shadlock, of Agincourt, was judge for the occasion and gave general satisfaction when his decisions were announced. The officers of the Association, who had spared no pains to make the annual event a success, are: President, L. H. Winslow; 1st Vice-Pres., H. A. Fallis; 2nd Vice-Pres., George Berry, Jr.; Secretary-Treasurer, C. L. McNeil.

Directors: A. J. Henderson, G. Berry, J. L. McCamus, W. R. N. Sharpe, T. A. Kelly, A. J. Fallis, M.P.P., G. A. Fair, Jos. White, John Greer, A. B. Kennedy, G. Armstrong, R. O. Larmer, L. W. Fallis, I. W. Larmer, Robert McCamus, L. W. Smith, P. J. McKnight, Jas. Eagleson, H. Tate, Dawson Rutherford, J. A. Vance.

The list of prize-winners was announced about 5 p.m., as follows:

Class I., in sod (open to all plain, single plows)—Committee: I. W. Larmer, L. M. Fallis.

1st for crown and finish: Russell Bonnar.

1st for land: Tom Chambers; 2nd for land: Russell Bonnar; 3rd for land: Leonard Hendersron.

Class II., jointer plows: Committee—A. J. Henderson, L. W. Smith.

1st for crown, land and finish: L. H. Winslow, the price being the jointer plow used by the contestant, and given by the Cockshutt Plow Company; 2nd for land: Jas. Eagleson.

Class III., in sod (open to boys under 21 years): Committee—R. O. Larmer, A. B. Kennedy.

1st for crown and land: David Sharpe.

1st for finish: Reg. Atchison.

2nd for land: Reg. Atchison; 3rd for land: A. Bonnar; 4th for land: Tom McCamus.

Class 4, in stubble (open to those who had never won a prize at any recognized plowing match: Committee—H. A. Fallis, Gerald Armstrong.

1st for crown and land: Bruce Sharpe.

1st for finish: William McKnight.

2nd for land: Leonard McNeil.

3rd for land: Ernest Dew.

Class 5, in stubble (open to boys under 18); Committee—John Greer, George Berry, Jr.

1st for crown: Clare Winslow.

1st for land and finish: Harry Collins.

2nd for Land: Clare Winslow.

3rd for Land: H. McCamus.

4th for Land: Leonard Atchison.

5th for Land: Mansell Finney.

6th for Land: Kenney Windover.

Class 6: in stubbie: Two furrow plows: (open to all: Committee: R. J. McKnight, J. L. McCamus.

1st for Crown, Land, and Finish: V. R. Hunter.

2nd for Land W. White.

There were no entries in Class 7, Tractors, open to farmers only: J. J. Duffus, of Peterborough, was on the ground and intended giving a tractor but this plan was not carried out.

Specials: For Youngest Plowman on the field: Leonard Atchison, aged 13. Prize by J. J. Duffus, $3.00

Best Turnout: 1. Russell Bonnar; 2. Tom McCamus; 3. Leonard Henderson.

Best Broken Plow Team: 1 Leonard Henderson.

Every boy competing in Class 5, received a prize, the Gordon Cup by G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P. value $25.00 going to Harry Collins.

The G. A. Gillespie Cup, value, $10.00 was won by David Sharpe, who held first place in Class 3.

Hot meals were served on the grounds, the A.Y.P.A. of St. John's church having charge and giving excellent service The funds go towards the community hall enterprise which the young peoples' organization has well under way, though it is not likely the building will be completed before spring.

A business meeting of the Plowmen's Association will be held in the town hall on Saturday, November 8, at 8 p.m. when all details, financial and otherwise, in connection with Wednesday's match will receive attention and, if possible, be finally wound up.

GUARDS CALLED OUT.

MARQUIS CURZON TO LEAD HOUSE UNDER BALDWIN

Curzon Has Been Side-Tracked in Favour of Austen Chamberlain.

CURZON ANGERED.

New Prime Minister Is Expected to Announce His Appointments To-day.

(By Lloyd Allen, United Press Staff Correspondent).

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The chief issue at stake as Baldwin completed a list of Ministers to-day was whether Marquis Curzon would occupy his customary post of Foreign Minister in a Conservative Cabinet, or berreplaced by a younger, more Liberal statesman.

The new Prime Minister was expected to announce his appointments late to-day after the King returned from the Giants-White Sox game, and the usually well-informed Parliamentary correspondent of the Daily Telegraph said that Curzon had been "side-tracked" in favor of Austen Chamberlain.

The correspondent said that the new Ministry would include:

Leader of the House of Lords — Marquis Curzon.

Lord Chancellor—Viscount Cave.

Foreign Secretary—Austen Chamberlain.

Secretary for the Colonies — Col. L. S. Amery.

Secretary for India—Lord Birkenhead.

Secretary of State for Air — Sir Samuel Hoare.

First Lord of the Admiralty or Minister of Health — Sir William Joynson-Hicks.

Chancellor of the Exchequer — Neville Chamberlain.

The leadership of the House of Lords is considered a "flame" post for Marquis Curzon, who had much to do with building up a vigorous Imperial policy during several terms as Foreign Secretary.

Correspondents who saw Curzon having an interview with Baldwin yesterday said the former seemed flustered and angry. Meanwhile, the busiest party in London was young Ishbel MacDonald, daughter of Ramsay MacDonald, who was superintending the removal of her father's belongings from No. 10 Downing Street to their former home in Hampstead.

For the Prevention of Goitre

Medical authorities recognize that goitre can be treated and prevented most simply and effectively by the use of table salt to which a small quantity of Iodine has been added.

SIFTO IODINE SALT

Sifto Iodine Salt is our regular high-grade Sifto Free-Running Salt to which a small quantity of Iodine has been added, as approved by the Ontario Provincial Board of Health. This does not change the color or taste of the salt in any way. Use Sifto Iodine Salt regularly on table and for cooking just like ordinary salt.

Hydro-Electric Power Commission, street lights for October, $113.30; Hydro-Electric Power Commission, lamps Town Hall, $9; C.N. Railway, Edward St. gates for Sep. Garage, gas and repairs fire engine, printing voters' lists, etc., $122.80; Elton Simpson, street sprinkling in front of Town Hall, $15; John Tinson, caretaking of cemetery, $75; Presque Isle Point Commission, 117 loads gravel, $11.70; Geo. Huff, six loads gravel, 60c; J. M. Spencer postage on tax bills, $4.31; Brighton Garage, gas and repairs fire engine $2.74; Bell Telephone Co., commissioners telephone, $2.06; R. J. Taylor, tile, $7.20; J. J. Roblin & Son, making sewer grates, etc., $55.40; Nellie Ford, rebate, fire protection, $6.40; B. C. H. Becker, tax collector's bonds, $8; W. H. Smith, registration board levy, $49.16; Jas. Snider, groceries for Mrs. Yarrow, $9.73; W. C. Butler Estate, coal for Mrs. Yarrow, $5.60; Bates Bros., bread for Mrs. Yarrow $5.25; Reeve, Clerk and Assessor, selecting jurors for 1925, $9.06; Mrs. R. Hewitt, Library grant, $20.84.

McKee and Baker—That the drain just north of Main Street, on Yonge Street be lowered from west side man-hole across street sufficient to carry away the water which backs up during a freshet.

Yea: Baker, McKee and Mills. Nea: Whitton and Reeve, Ross.

Motion declared carried.

Mills and McKee—That this Council adjourn until next regular meeting, Monday, December 1, at 8 p.m., or the call of the Reeve.

Carried.

JINGLES

Turkey is reported to have legalized liquor after trying prohibition for a year. Two reasons: The government missed the revenue from hooch; and the people had turned from liquor to drugs.

The Mohammedan religion for centuries forbade the use of alcoholic beverages. Leaders promised faithful Moslems they would have rivers of wine in Paradise. In America the thirsty are promised light wines and beers later—always later.

The simoon of the deserts is not the only evil that may be avoided by stooping.

BARNARD ON STAND.

Alphonse Turcotte, Trustee of Mount Royal Brick Company a Witness.

TORONTO, Nov. 6.— (Canadian Press).—The affairs of Mount Royal Brick Company, of which the accused was director were probed deeply at this morning's session of the trial of C. A. Barnard, Home Bank Director, on charges of making, using approving and concurring in false statements of the Banks' affairs. Mr. Barnard gave stock in Mount Royal Brick as security to Bank. J. Alphonse Turcotte, Montreal, who was trustee of the company was a witness. He said that the company was organized in 1914 and that it paid no salaries after August of that year, and that the total value of the bricks it had sold was only $333.

COAL STRIKE AVERTED.

Agreement Has Been Reached With All Operators Concerned.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.— (Canadian Press).—That the threatened strike of miners in the Alberta coal fields has been averted is indicated in telegraphic advices received by the Labor Department this morning from the Edmonton Miners' Federation. Advices state that an agreement has been reached with all the operators concerned on the basis of findings of conciliation, which recently handed down its decision.

PLAGUE KILLS 26.

Seven Other Patients Are Still Under Treatment.

LOS ANGELES November 6 (Canadian Press). — With but one new death reported yesterday, the first in forty-eight hours, the health authorities combatting the pneumonic plague in Los Angeles were hopeful to-day that the peak of the epidemic which originated in the Mexican quarter last month had been passed.

Official records showed a total of 26 deaths since the beginning of the epidemic, seven other patients were still under treatment.

FIRST SESSION TEACHERS TO-DAY

Pupils of Senior Classes Will Be Taken Through Some Local Factories.

PRESIDENT ABSENT.

Good Looking Books With Large Type Should Be Given Young Pupils.

The Teachers' Institute met for the first session this morning in the Lecture Room of the Public Library.

Mr. Bolton, in the absence of the president-elect, Miss M. J. Wallace, occupied the chair.

After the opening exercises, the secretary read the minutes of the last regular meeting.

The treasurer's report indicated that the finances were in a satisfactory condition. Grants were made to the Ontario Educational Association, and to the schools for magazines.

A discussion arose as to the advisability of continuing summer model schools. There are many teachers, who have passed the Normal School examinations, without positions, and there now seems little need to continue model schools. This seems an opportune time to raise the academic and professional standing of teachers. A resolution to this effect was passed and sent to the Minister of Education.

The incoming executive was instructed to get information regarding the cost of having our next convention in Detroit, Windsor, or Buffalo.

It was felt that the teachers should go to some outside centre occasionally, as it has a broadening and stimulating influence.

The following were appointed on the Nominating Committee: Mr. Steer, Misses Stout, Fusee, and E. Morrow, Sister Amelda, and Messrs. Wagar and Bolton.

Miss I. Johnston and Mr. F. E. Kerr reported the sessions of the O.E.A. Miss Johnston reported especially the primary section.

Good-looking books with large type should always be presented to young children. The stories should be well arranged, and the primer not too long. Not too many new words should be presented at a time. A good personality with a good method makes the best teacher.

In London, Ontario, much attention is given to the memorisation of choice passages from the Bible. The first parts of each morning is given up to this work.

Miss Johston referred also to the prevalence of mental diseases among children. Such ones should be segregated. Academic training is not of great use to them. They often make good citizens if placed in proper schools and trained according to their needs. It is said that there are 1,000,000 of them in the United States. Too frequently they are the ones who people our jails, asylums, hospitals and reformatories. It is better to train them rather than to pay for their detention in these public institutions. This is being done in many American centres.

Excerpts from speeches delivered at the Ontario Educational Association Convention:

1. One purpose of the teacher is to develop true Canadians, who recognize Canada as their country. To promote Canadian and national unity there should be conferences of the Education Departments of Ontario and Quebec and an exchange of teachers. Godless schools lead to crime; religion is as important as grammar.—Premier Taschereau.

2. Vocational training can be judged only by its fitness for the vicinity. There is culture value in shopwork. More pupils finish the secondary education when vocational training is added.—A. W. Crawford, B.Sc.

3. The training schools of Ontario are not sufficiently practical, yet the normal schools have been turning out in late years the very best trained teachers the province has ever had. Teachers have greater ambition to get degrees than they used to have. They should take refresher courses. Normal schools should have residences to promote social and community life amongst students. The Education Department should act as a clearing-house for teachers so that supply teachers should be readily available in emergencies.—Inspectors' Section.

4. Sites for schools should be carefully chosen. They should be large and easily made beautiful. All school buildings should have architectural beauty. The interior should be nicely decorated and suggest orderliness and tidiness. Pictures should suggest qualities as courage, love of nature and the beautiful, kindness, etc. A good atmosphere encourages children in desirable channels.—Public School Section.

5. Canada's chief contribution to civilization has been autonomy. She has welded into one fairly compact whole a population of many origins, creeds, diversities of race and opinions.—Martin Kerr, B.A.

6. Ontario has about $80,000,000 invested in buildings and equipment to further education. The annual cost of keeping them up is about $32,000,000. We must take education to the doors of the people. The work of the first year of the University should be done in certain schools out in the country.—Premier G. H. Ferguson.

7. There are 2,000 children from Ontario enrolled in Detroit's schools. Foreigners must learn the English language if they are to become valuable citizens.

In spite of criticisms to the contrary, pupils of to-day excel all past generations in scholastic attainments and conduct.

Matters of education should be left more to teachers than they are. —Frank Cody, Superintendent of Detroit Schools.

8. The welfare of schools depends on the welfare of teachers. Unless these are satisfied there will not be great progress. A board of reference composed of representatives of the profession, and of the trustees, along with the Minister of Education, to settle disputes and remove injustices is a necessity. What chance has a teacher, single-handed, to deal with a conspiring school board such as is found in too many communities? — D. A. Norris, Toronto.

9. Teachers should know the mental age of pupils as well as their chronological age. This will enable them to place pupils in proper grades.

The Education Department will conduct a survey of pupils for any board to ascertain who are subnormal and in need of special attention.—Dr. S. B. Sinclair.

10. Civilization and democracy depend upon the school. In the chaos succeeding the war there is need for faith, for hope, for charity. Let teachers not be weary in well-doing. Let us be faithful to our trust.— Major C. K. Newcombe, Winnipeg.

11. Formerly the home was more than an abode; it was an industrial, social, civic, religious and political centre. It has now become more and more simply an abode, a place of necessity and conveninece. The modern school curriculum has had to be extended to make up the deficiencies of the home-training. Even walking is not now in favor and the school has to provide physical exercises. An educational centre must now be a play centre to take the place of old things destroyed by modern civilization.

The home seems to have broken down in character-building. There are few activities of moral significance. A child is regarded as an inconvenience or even a nuisance in an apartment house. He cannot functeion naturally without play. Many of the boys who become inmates of reformatories are there due to the neglect of a proper play life. Outdoor social play is the basis of the moral life of the child. We must meet the needs of our day to develop the strength and health of our race.—Dr. C. Hetherington, Columbia University.

The Institute thought that the pupils of the senior classes should visit some factories to learn processes. The matter of arranging for such visits was left in the hands of the principals.

Great Britain To Build World's Largest Airship

SHEFFIELD, Eng., Nov. 6. — (United Press).—Great Britain has ordered an airship of 5,000,000 cubic feet capacity—more than twice the size of the ZR-3.

Sir Trevor Dawson, chairman of Vickers, Ltd., announced his company had received a commission from the Government to construct such a craft. The dirigible will be built at Howden, in Yorkshire, where the ill-fated ZR-2, which exploded over Hull, killing 45 British and Americans, was constructed.

Dawson predicted that the ZR-3 would be able to journey to America in two days, and return in perhaps quicker time.

"It will enable people to spend week-ends in the United States," he said.

LINDSAY MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS ON DEC. 1ST

Defeat of Parks Commission By-law Is Already Conceded.

LINDSAY, Nov. 6.—Lindsay will hold its municipal elections on December 1st this year. On that date a bylaw will be submitted to the people in connection with the appointment of a Parks Commission to manage and control the parks, boulevards, avenues, etc., of the municipality. Such a commission is vested with wide powers and has authority to demand from the municipal council a levy not exceeding one mill for park purposes. There is considerable opposition to the measure and its defeat is conceded. Lindsay at present pays less than one-sixth of a mill for the upkeep of its parks.

FIRST NEGRO TO BECOME A JUDGE

Albert B. George Defeated His Opponent By Majority of 70,000.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. — (United Press.)—The first negro ever elected to a municipal judgeship rolled into office on the Republican landslide it developed to-day. He is Albert B. George, 51, a lawyer, who defeated his Democratic opponent by a majority of between 65,000 and 70,000.

George has been a lawyer for many years and is known to the Negro colony as "Lawyer George." He made his campaign on the theory that the interests of the Negroes demand a major of thier own race on the bench.

"I shall do my best to be just to all," George said.

George is tall, with straight hair and a light complexion.

INVESTIGATE EXPLOSION.

Crowd of 5,000 Doukhobors Gathered Around Train Carrying Coroner's Jury.

NELSON, B.C., November 6.—The coroner's jury, after inspecting the coach of the Kettle train wrecked by an explosion, in which nine persons were killed a week ago yesterday, returned to Nelson to hear the witnesses. Led by Anastacia Veregin, a niece of Peter Veregin, the Doukhobors' leader, who was among those killed, a crowd of Doukhobors, numbering five thousand, crowded around the special train carrying the coroner's jury and officials at Brilliant, shouting: "We want Peter Veregin back; you can bring him back. It has been done before in Canada; bring him back."

The demonstrants finally dispersed after being assured by the provincial police that everything possible was being done to discover the cause of the tragedy.

VENTILATION IN COBOURG COURTS COMMENTED UPON

Grand Jury Brought In Usual Report Dealing With Matter and Action May Follow.

COBOURG, Nov. 6.—When the Grand Jury made its presentment yesterday to Hon. Mr. Justice Wright at the fall asiszes here, its reports were all satisfatcory except that on the county court.

The jail was reported very satisfactory, and in a good state of repair. The General Hospital is in excellent condition and Northumberland county should feel proud of it. The House of Refuge has a genuine, home-like appearance and the inmates appear very happy.

There are 375 inmates in the Ontario Hospital for the Insane, with 26 nurses and the regular staff. In the opinion of the Grand Jury, consideration should be given the desires of the staff for living accommodation in a building separate from the inmates.

In the Court House, the ventilation should be improved as recommended by each successive Grand Jury for years, and this should be done immediately to remedy the regrettable condition now existing.

Commenting on the report submitted by J. N. Stone, foreman of the Grand Jury, His Lordship commended the jurors on the very efficient manner in which they had carried out their duties. The recommendations, he had no doubt, will be attended to by those responsible.

Regarding the condition of the court house, His Lordship remarked that no one could sit in the room for two or three days without having the lack of proper ventilation brought continuously and plainly to his attention. "In counties like Northumberland and Durham," he said, "it ought not to be so. The people who have business in the court and the officers who transact their work here are entitled to have reasonably comfortable surroundings in the discharge of their duties.

In these days when the science of ventilation has advanced so considerably there is no excuse why this court should not be well ventilated. I regret to hear that Grand Juries have been repeatedly recommending an improvement and no attention apparently has been paid to the recommendations. Perhaps if some drastic action against the parties responsible for the administration of the court house were instituted by some Grand Jury, attention might be given the recommendation.

Mr. Stone reported verbally to the Court that tenders had been asked for some improvements, and an architect had been engaged to draw plans for improved ventilation.

His Lordship replied that it was unfortunate this was not known before the presentment was made. "It is very satisfactory to learn that, and it is cheering news."

BROOKHART WAS REPUDIATED ETC.

while in Oklahoma it appeared that W. B. Pine, Republican, had defeated J. C. Walton, the Democratic candidate who ran on an anti-Ku Klux Klan platform.

Other Republicans elected to the senate or who had substantial leads over their Democratic opponents were T. Coleman Dupont, of Delaware, who defeated James M. Tunnel Democrat; Charles S. Deneen, who came in ahead of a field of six in Illinois; Senators Capper, of Kansas Borah, of Idaho, Couzens of Michigan for both the short and long term; Norris, of Nebraska; Keyes, New Hampshire; Edge, of New Jersey and McNary, of Oregon; Jesse H. Metcalf of Rhode Island; W. H. McMaster, of South Dakota, and Guy D. Goff, of West Virginia.

Democrats elected are:—Heflin, Alabama; Robinson, Arkansas; Harris Georgia; Randell, Louisiana; Harrison, Mississippi; Simmons, North Carolina; Blease, South Carolina; Tyson, Tennessee; Sheppard, Texas, and Carter Glass, Virginia.

The upsets in the house were widely scattered over the country. The Democrats lost the six seats they now have in Pennsylvania, but they elected their candidate over his Republican opponent in another Pennsylvania district. They lost four of their six seats in New Jersey, two in Indianna, one in Illinois, one each in Ohio, Michigan, Delaware Connecticut, New Hampshire, Oregon and in Nevada.

They gained a district in Maryland one in Kansas and elected their candidate in the eighth Ohio district over the Republican incumbent.

New York Regular

Return to the house of both the floor leaders—Longworth, Ohio, of the Republicans and Garret, Tennessee of the Democrats — was assured while it appeared that there would be no upsets in the New York delegation the largest in the house, despite the heavy Coolidge plurality in the Empire State.

Among those returned in New York was Representative La Guardia of the twentieth district, an avowed Lafollette supporter who ran as an Independent, and Jacobstein, an upstate Democrat, who had Lafollette endorsement. The Lafollette forces held their strength in Wisconsin, and several of their allies in nearby states, among them Sinclair, North Dakota; Clague and Keller, Minnesota; Reid and Michselson, Illinois and Woodruff and James, Michigan who ran as Republicans and Kvale and Wefald, Farmer-Labor, Minnesota were re-lected.

Prisoner Elected

Representative Langley, Republican, Kentucky, who is under sentence to the Federal Penitentiary on charges of having violated the prohibition law, obtained a vote of confidence from the voters of his district who retured him for another term, while in the sixth Maryland, Representative Zihlman, Republican who was exonerated by a house committee which investigated charges that he used official influence improperly won additional vindication from voters in his district.

One woman Mrs. Mary T. Norton of New Jersey, will sit in the next house, the first woman to represent a congressional district east of the Mississippi.

Whether there would again be one Socialist in the house remained in doubt pending complete returns on a close contest in which Victor Berger of Wisconsin, first was behind then was leading.

"I Suffered Terribly With Sore, Aching Back"

Mrs. Roland Ferguson, 194 Lake St., Peterboro, Ont., writes:

"For over two years I suffered terribly with sore back. I was almost mad with the pain, and had doctored with it until I was discouraged. Then my father, who is a firm believer in Dr. Chase's Medicines, advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I followed his advice, and am glad to say I was completely relieved of that torturing pain in my back. It is over a year since I used these pills, and I have had no return of the trouble, but always keep them in the house."

BAILIEBORO CHURCH'S ANNIVERSARY SERVICE

Rev. Mr. Langford of Peterborough, Preached at Both Services.

BAILIEBORO, — The members of the Methodist church held their anniversary services on Sunday, November 2nd.

Although the weather was somewhat cold, there was a record attendance at both the morning and evening services, and at the evening service, although benches were carried in and placed in the aisles of the church, still the crowd could not be accommodated, and many had to stand outside in the lobby during the service.

Rev. Mr. Langford, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, Peterborough, was present, and conducted both services, delivering sermons which should long leave an impression upon the minds of people of this district.

Excellent music was provided by the members of the choir, while Mrs. Clarke, also of Peterborough, added wonderfully to the musical part of the service by rendering several beautiful solos.

Altogether this anniversary has been a thriving success, and even though the weather was very cold, still the crowd gathered from not only the three churches on the Fraserville circuit, but many were present from outside churches.

The church looked its best, decorated in a glorious array of autumn leaves, and late autumn flowers.

Personal Mention.

Chas. Lunny of Sonya, and Wm. McTaggart, also of Sonya, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Wood, over the week end.

Miss Kathleen Dawson of Peterborough, is a guest of her father, Mr. Hy. Dawson.

Mr. Hy. Campbell has returned home after a couple of weeks touring through the west.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Smithson and daughter, of Peterborough, were guests of Mr. Jno. Porter and sister on Sunday.

Miss Lettie White, of Lindsay, was a guest of her parents on Sunday.

Mr. Thos. White and family moved from their home in this village to their farm a couple of miles west of the village, which they have recently purchased from James Eagleson.

Rev. R. M. Patterson conducted services in Trinity Methodist church on Sunday last, during the absence of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Langford.

AUTO PARTY HURT BY RAIL ON ROAD

Woman Painfully Injured By Reckless Hallowe'en Mischief.

JANETVILLE, Nov. 4.—While driving north from the village toward home on Hallowe'en, about 10.30, Mr. and Mrs. E. Bradburn, their daughter and a friend, narrowly escaped death on what is known as Richardson's hill. Mr. Bradburn was driving the car, and had just crossed the brow of the hill on high gear, and had shut off the power, when the front wheels ran upon a fence rail which had been purposely placed across the road. The impact threw Mrs. Bradburn against the top of the car, and as she fell she was thrown a second time by the force of the hind wheels coming in contact with the obstacle. She is suffering from bruises about the head and painful sensations around the neck and base of the skull. Mr. Bradburn was thrown violently against the steering wheel, but escaped with the others unhurt. None of the Janetville boys had anything to do with this mad act, for they were all attending a Hallowe'en social in the schoolroom of the church at the time, but Mr. Bradburn offers $25 for such knowledge as will convict the guilty party.

Car Stolen.

On the night of Monday last, while the programme in connection with the Methodist fowl supper was in progress, two Barnardo boys slipped into a parked Chevrolet car, backed it out on the road, ran it a mile on intermediate gear, went down forty rods of a hill, turned a sharp corner without a mishap and came to a full stop in the swamp. How the boys turned the corner at the foot of the hill without coming to grief is a mystery, and can only be accounted for by the fact that the car was in intermediate gear; one chap working the gears and the other steering the machine. Rev. Mr. Ross suggests that a $10 fine be imposed on each of the lads rather than the disgrace of imprisonment.

From the Foresters' Hall to the spot in the swamp where the car was found is fully a mile.

Anniversary Services.

The anniversary services in connection with Janetville Methodist church were held on Sunday and Monday. Rev. W. H. Barrowclough, of Lindsay, preached two excellent sermons on Sabbath, and on Monday a fowl supper was held in the Foresters' Hall, after which Rev. Mr. Harston, of Woodville, Rev. Mr. Walker, of Janetville, Miss Bates of Lindsay, Mr. Armstrong of Orillia, and the Janetville male quartette delighted the audience.

Hallowe'en Social.

On Friday evening last about fifty of the young people met in the Sunday school room of the Methodist church and enjoyed a real Hallowe'en social. After devotional exercises, Miss Gray of Millbrook, our esteemed school teacher, appeared as the chief figure of the first act, having just arrived from ghost land. Games and refreshments were the next order, and the meeting broke up about 10 p.m.

Som people never go to church, except in a hearse.

Sparkling winter days build robust children. You want your child to pass the greatest number of such days out of doors, completely happy and safe. JAEGER pure wool underwear is the finest insurance against cold.

There is much to be said to mothers on the subject of pure wool. Briefly, the JAEGER trade mark on the child's undergarments means the following advantages: practically non-shrinkable; not too warm in home or heated school room; perfect fit and comfort; true economy.

Caution: For the growing child buy JAEGER underwear quite large because it is going to last a long time.

NEWS OF MARMORA

MARMORA, Nov. 5.—At a meeting of the Marmora branch of the G.W.V.A. held on Tuesday evening it was decided to unite with comrades from Norwood, Havelock, Hastings, Campbellford and other places in the large rally and memorial service to be held in Havelock next Sunday afternoon. Capt. Percy Gray will be in charge of the firing party and Capt. C. A. Bleecker will command the rank and file. The branch is also organizing the sale of poppies at Marmora and Deloro on the 8th by four young ladies, the same having been most successful last year. Other business on the agenda was satisfactorily disposed of.

Mr. Gerald Potts is home again from the west.

There was a large attendance at the benefit picture, "Feet of Clay" at the town hall on Monday evening. As a result, good financial assistance will be accorded the deserving cause for which it was put on.

HAVE KIDNEYS EXAMINED BY YOUR DOCTOR

Take Salts to Wash Kidneys If Back Pains You or Bladder Bothers.

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

SIX ATTEMPTS MADE TO SEND BECK TO JAIL

Sir Adam Said Last Night That All Attempts Had Absolutely Failed.

IMPORTANT CHARGES.

Eight Additional Charges Taken From Letter Of Clarence Settell.

TORONTO, Novemebr 6. — Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission, declared last night in an address to the Central Ratepapers' Association that never had a stain been cast on the great Hydro undertaking, nor a serious flaw discovered despite the unending efforts of powerful corporations to discredit the organization and the men connected with it.

"As far as human ingenuity could protect this great work, its name and its character, we have endeavored to do it," he said. Bookkeeping has been done with the utmost care and Sir Adam expressed the belief that from the accounting standpoint the institution was as nearly perfect as possible.

Five attempts, and the present one —six in all—had been made to land him in jail, Sir Adam said, and yet all previous investigations, inquiries, probes and attempts to bedevil Hydro and himself, had absolutely failed.

A query drew from Sir Adam a reference to the United States elections. Unfortunately for Canada he declared, Coolidge was back in the White House. That meant that Hoover would be with him, and "Hoover thinks that he can dictate to us in Canada as well as to the people in the United States what we will do regarding the St. Lawrence development."

Need for the general support of the people behind the Morrisburg project to overcome the opposition from Hoover and others, was strongly urged.

SETTELL CASE.

Eight additional charges, extracted from a letter of E. Clarence Settell to his former chief Sir Adam Beck, were released by Judge Snider, just before the adjournment of his commission at the parliament buildings last evening, among them the heralded charge: "That large amount of time and materials were paid for by the Hydro," in respect to the erection of Chief Engineer Gaby's residence in 1915.

As explained by the commissioner these are a set of Gaby charges contained in the typed document which Settell forwarded marked "private and confidential," and they have been taken from various parts of the letter and assembled into a series to facilitate their investigation by the commission.

They will be gone on with to-day, and it is expected that Sir Adam Beck will be present and may possibly give evidence.

While a charge that the Chief Engineer utilized Hydro time and material in the construction of his home looms as the most important in the series, there are others, alleging Mr. Gaby's interest in a dredge sold to the Hydro for $4200; that expenses of Mr. Gaby and two associates to Europe in 1913 were excessive; that money obtained by Engineer Trimble on alleged false vouchers for expenses of a construction gang, went to pay liabilities of the Cataract Sand and Gravel Co., owned by Gaby; and further charges of wrong doing on the part of Mr. Gaby, in connection with the use of Hydro automobiles."

Beauty

A Gleamy Mass of Hair

35c "Danderine" does Wonders for Any Girl's Hair

Girls! Try this! When combing and dressing your hair, just moisten your hair brush with a little "Danderine" and brush it through the hair. The effect is startling! You can do your hair up immediately and it will appear twice as thick and heavy—a mass of gleamy hair, sparkling with life and possessing that incomparable softness, freshness and luxuriance.

Hair stops falling out and dandruff disappears Get a bottle of delightful, refreshing "Danderine" at any drug or toilet counter and just see how healthy and youthful your hair becomes.

REPUBLICANS HAVE WORKING MAJORITY

Only One Vacancy, Connecticut Senatorship To Be Filled In December.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—The latest available figures on the Senate and Congressional returns indicate that the Republicans will have a working majority in both Houses. There are several States where Senatorial contests were very close, and the results have not yet been definitely announced, but the Republican leaders say they are confident they will have a majority of fourteen in the Senate over the Democrats. The line-up of the two Houses is as follows:

Senate.	Old	New
Republicans	51	54
Democrats	43	40
Others	2	1

Necessary for majority—49.

There is one vacancy, Connecticut Senatorship, to be filled in December. This, it is generally believed, will go Republican.

House.	Old	New
Republicans	225	241
Democrats	207	190
Others	3	4

Necessary for majority—213.

While this estimate is from the Republicans' source, impartial observers believe that it will prove fairly accurate when the official returns are in. Democratic leaders this morning admitted that the Republicans had carried both Houses.

The latest figures on the Presidential vote show that out of a total of approximately thirty million, Coolidge received about eighteen million, with an electoral vote of 379 from 34 States; Davis received about eight millions, with an electoral vote of 139 from 13 States, and Lafollette about four million, with thirteen electoral votes from his home State of Wisconsin. It was definitely established this morning that Governor Smith was the only Democratic official elected in New York State. He carried the State by a plurality that may exceed 150,000, but his companions on the ticket all went down to defeat. This means that Smith, for his third term as Governor, will not only have to face a heavily controlled Republican Legislature for the next two years, but he will be the only Democrat in Albany during that time above the rank of Assemblyman and State Senator.

ATHLETIC SCHOLARSHIP OFFERED

PALO, ALTO, Cal., Nov. 6.—The Stanford University Illustrated Review, a magazine devoted to the interests of the alumni, has offered a scholarship of $225 to the winner of a letter in a major sport who has the highest scholarship record and makes the biggest contribution to the welfare of the university during the year. President Wilbur will present the award in May.

CHAFFEUR KEPT ENGINE RUNNING

Bus Caught Fire While Tank Was Being Filled With Gasoline.

New York, November 6. — When the chauffeur of a municipally controlled bus kept his engine running yesterday while the tank under his seat was being filled with gasoline at a station in Jamaica, Queens, the fluid spread to the engine, and in the explosion which followed 13 of the 35 men and women passengers were burned, three women being removed later to the hospital in a dying condition.

The bus had to be torn apart with hooks by the firemen to rescue the passengers from the flames.

The hospital officials entertained scant hope for their recovery.

"UNEQUAL TREATIES."

New Power In China May Demand Revisions With Other Nations.

(By Ray Marshall, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PEKIN, November 6. — The new Government of China will shortly demand revision of all "unequal" treaties with foreign Powers, Foreign Minister Wang predicted this afternoon in an interview with foreign correspondents.

"I wish to remind friendly Powers of China's right to her own existence," Wang said.

"Any conditions derogatory to that right might necessarily be rectified by mutual arrangement as quickly as the exigency of the circumstances requires."

The Affair at Flower Acres

CHAPTER XI.

Nancy Explains.

The Italian Garden at Flower Acres, though conventional in design and detail, was so planned that it was always a picturesque mass of bloom and greenery. In one corner was a specially attractive arbor, and here sat Finley and Nan Raynor.

"It's out of the question, dear," he said, "that you and I should shun each other's society for a foolish feeling of convention. Your husband is dead, and when the time comes, you are going to marry me——"

"Oh, no, Malcolm—never——"

"Why not, pray?" he smiled at her as at a wayward child. "I'm not going to hurry you, Nan, I'm not even going to trouble you with my lovemaking—but, unless you can look me straight in the eyes and tell me you don't love me—then I shall continue to hope, yes, and expect——"

"Oh, hush, Malcolm—don't talk like that. I never can marry you until this mystery is cleared up—and then—less than ever!"

"What do you mean by 'then less than ever'?"

"I mean that when the truth is known about—about Douglas' death—it will be impossible for me to marry anybody——"

"Except me! Now, Nan, dearest, you must confide in me."

"Never!" and Nan Raynor's face was so full of horror and alarm that Finley himself felt a shudder of fear.

"What an opportunity!" exclaimed an exultant voice, and Dobbins stepped inside the arbor. "Just the people I want to see. And I will inform you that unless you both answer truly the questions I'm going to put to you, it will be a very serious mistake."

"We are not obliged to incriminate ourselves," Finley said.

"No, but I shall judge by your manner, by your attitude—ah, I may say, I shall judge more by what you say than by what you do."

"Be careful, Nan," Finley said, "of what you don't say!"

But though his tone was jocular it was obviously a forced lightness.

"First, Mrs. Raynor, as you may or may not know, we retrieved that parcel you threw into the Falls."

"Yes?" said Nan, in a low tone.

"And we found that it contained a dope outfit—to put it plainly, some bottles of morphine."

"Yes?"

"And I want you to tell me, if you please, why you threw it away with such secrecy and care."

"Because," Nan spoke with an effort, "because, if it had been discovered in my possession, or if I had been known to destroy it—I would have been misjudged in the matter."

"Misjudged? Am I misjudging you now, when I assume that the morphine in question belonged to you?"

"I—I suppose it—belonged to me——" Nan's great eyes looked dark and troubled, and she glanced from one man to the other, as if uncertain what course to pursue.

"Oho! you suppose it belonged to you, do you? Aren't you quite sure? Where did you buy it?"

"I—I didn't buy it.

"Where did you get it, then. How did you get it? That stuff is not easily procurable—though its devotees seem to manage it, somehow."

"I found it——" Nan said, slowly. "It—it belonged to somebody else."

"Where did you find it?" Dobbins' cold glare seemed fairly to hypnotize her into answering, and she said:

"Among my husband's belongings."

"A likely story!" the detective scoffed. "That won't go down, Mrs. Raynor. You found the stuff among his things after you had put it there. Now, as I see it, you not only gave your husband poison tablets, but you are yourself a morphine addict——"

"Oh, stop!" Nan cried, goaded beyond endurance. "I didn't take the stuff—he did!"

"Your husband took drugs?"

"Yes; I will tell you, but don't let it become public—don't let Miss Raynor know—my husband was a secret indulger in morphine—and the tablets I put in his teacup or coffee cup were—were to cure him of the habit."

"Oh, Nan, was that it?" Finley's eyes gleamed with a glad relief at this explanation of the tablets.

But Dobbins shook his head.

"Ingenious, Mrs. Raynor, positively a master-stroke! But it won't wash. The late Mr. Raynor showed no symptoms of being a drug addict; there were no traces of morphine found at the autopsy—and I'm afraid I must set this story down as an invention of your clever brain. I'd be glad to think you had such a plausible excuse for the tablets, but I can't see it. However, I'll put it up to the doctors. They'll know for certain whether your explanation can possibly be a true one."

"Very well," Nancy Raynor drew herself up in scornful dignity, "go and ask the doctors—as a detective, it is your right—but as a man, I ask you not to divulge the fact of my husband's weakness, unless absolutely necessary. I want to save his name from that stigma—if I can——"

"That stigma will never rest on the name of Douglas Raynor," and Dobbins' look signified anew his disbelief in the whole story.

He went away, and Nan, turning to Finley, said:

"I think it would be wise for you to go away, Malcolm. I have all I can bear with these horrible scenes, and to have you near me—and yet not able to let myself go."

"Keep your head, now, Nan—don't get hysterical. I know you've enough to make you so—but don't. Tell me about the morphine, dear."

"There's nothing to tell, except what I said. Douglas did take it on the sly, and so I——"

"Wait a minute, Nancy—tell me this: why did you marry Raynor?"

"I had to—oh, Mal, there were terrible, dreadful reasons—not reasons of my own—but affecting others—I can't tell you—but there was no way out!"

"I wish you would confide in me, dearest. Don't you know that from now on I'm your protector, guardian, guide? Don't you know that I'm always back of you, like a rock—a stronghold. Won't you realize this——"

"But you can't—you mustn't talk like that."

"Oh, what are the conventions between us? You never loved Raynor, did you? And you do love me?"

The briefest glance of the beautiful, sad eyes gave Finley his answer.

And, then, before either could speak, Dolly Fay came running toward the arbor.

"Oh, Nan," she cried—and, seeing Finley, she added, "shall I speak right out before the Prince?"

"Yes," said Nan, smiling a little, "speak out, Dolly—what it is?"

"Why, I found the will for you!"

"The will?"

"Yes; Mr. Raynor's will that leaves the money to you—you know."

"Crazy child—what do you mean?"

"Don't you call me a crazy child—look at that!"

Dolly produced a much-folded paper.

"A will doesn't look like this, dear—a will is an important looking document."

But Nan unfolded the flimsy yellow paper, and as she read it her face changed.

"Malcolm," she said, "this is a copy of the will!"

And it was. Evidently a carbon copy, made at the same time the will was typed, and, of course, identical in wording.

Finley took it and perused it intently.

"That's what it is, Nan. Where did you get it, Dolly?"

"Oho! I'm not such a crazy child after all—am I? Well, I'll tell you."

She gave a detailed account of her finding the will in Gannon's house.

"You see," Finley said to Nan, "this is merely a copy, and it is neither signed nor witnessed. Therefore it is of no value as a will, but it is of great value as a proof that a will in your favor was drawn."

"Oh, I know it was—I saw it," Nan said.

"This proves it," Finley went on, "you've done a great thing for Mrs. Raynor, Dolly. And I think, Nan, you should get this copy into the hands of your lawyer just as soon as possible. There's tricky work going on—and from Dolly's story, I begin to think Lionel Raynor and old Gannon are pals——"

"Oh, no," Dolly cried; "they're mad as hops at each other!"

"That doesn't deny their being in league against your interests, Nan."

"But Grishawr Gannon was Douglas' friend—they were especially cronies—I often wondered at it. I thought sometimes it irked Douglas, but he always treated Gannon with utmost courtesy, even deference."

"Perhaps Gannon had a hold on him——"

Nan's eyes widened. "I never thought of that before! Do you know, Mal, I believe it's the truth, though! As I look back, I can see how Douglas often submitted to Gannon's presence, or to his wishes, against his own will."

"I think I'll quiz the old man. He is shrewd, but he may let out something inadvertently. Nancy, you go with that paper to Stratton at once. Don't take it to Dobbins—go right to the lawyer. Take Dolly with you and tell him the whole story. I'm going to see Gannon."

On his way to Gannon's house, Finley was joined by Ezra Goddard, and they went together.

"You're in an anomalous position, Malcolm," Goddard said, seriously; "you're more than half suspected of hatt shooting, you know—and yet you don't deny it point-blank."

"They can't prove it on me," Finley spoke defiantly. "Why worry?"

"Don't be flippant. Sometimes I think you really did do it——"

"Thank you!"

"Don't be silly If you did, I'm not sure I'd blame you much. That woman was going through hell with that man He ought to have been shot. On the other hand, if she shot him, you're holding off to shield her—when necessary——"

"Why Goddard, you ought to be a detective A scientific one How you do discern things! I'm amazed at your perspicuity! But never mind the murder for the moment—listen to this complication about the will."

Finley told him the whole story of the copy of the will—and then said:

"Now, if Gannon and young Raynor are in cahoots, we must find it out; and if they're not—then we must learn all we can from Gannon."

They found Gannon on his porch as usual.

"Whatcha want?" he growled as they approached.

"We want to know about the Raynor will," Goddard said, sternly; "and we want the truth. We have the carbon copy and we want the original. Where is it?"

"Donno, gentlemen; you're barkin' up the wrong tree."

"No, we're not," said Finley, decidedly. "You know where that will is—and you'd better produce it!"

TWO TIE GAMES FEATURED LAST NIGHT AT RINK

Teachers and Knights of Columbus Battled To Draw With Few Hits.

PITCHERS IN FORM.

C.G.E. Tool Room and De Laval Break Even—Porcelain Beat Lockworks.

In a game where hits were as scarce as many hunters will find deer the Teachers battled to a 4-4 tie with the Knights of Columbus.

The Teachers collected four safeties and the Caseys netted one less. The Caseys led at first but the chalk slingers came back to tie the score. Neither team scored in the last innings.

C.G.E. 10—DE LAVAL 10.

The second game in which the De Laval and the C.G.E. crossed bats also ended in a draw with a ten-all score. The Generals stepped in for an early lead but the Separator crew grew stronger and in the fifth innings chased in six runs.

"Abbie" Rose mixed them on the mound for the Electricians using a slow ball and then a fast one. The De Laval used three pitchers, of which "Scotty" Galbraith was the best, fanning three in the two innings in which he worked.

WIN FOR PORCELAIN.

The Lockmakers couldn't hold Sam Calladine's Porcelain gang and when the game ended the Porcelains had 20 runs to the Lock Works 7. Nicholls, the Porcelain hurler, won the game for his team. He had 16 strike outs, and he and his battery mate Dyer had in company 25 of the 27 put outs. In spite of this the man behind him chalked in 7 fumbles.

Guerin twirled nice ball but the Porcelains slammed his offerings to the rafters.

GIBBONS SIGNS NORFOLK FIGHT

Heavies Will Meet at Madison Square Garden December 8.

SEASON OPENS UP.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—The signing yesterday of Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul light heavyweight, and Kid Norfolk, veteran negro pugilist, for a 15-round match at Madison Square Garden December 8, probably will mark a renewal of activity in heavyweight ranks lasting through the winter season.

There has been some discussion of a title bout between Gibbons and Jack Dempsey, the champion as the headliner of a charity show. The St. Paul man's showing against Norfolk who trounced Battling Siki in his last important bout, in the Garden, may determine prospects for such an encounter. Dempsey is in vaudeville now, but, according to his manager, Jack Kearns, is keeping in condition and ready to box on short notice.

Louis Firpo, who plans to start a comeback campaign in Newark with Charley Weinert as an opponent, probably will be seen in action at the Garden either against Quintin Romero, Chilean heavyweight, or George Godfrey, Philadelphia negro.

Gene Tunney, United States light heavyweight champion, and Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight, are others for whose services Rickard is negotiating in connection with his heavyweight plans.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Golf is the youngest sport in America and the fastest in growth.

A proposal to enlarge the size of putting cups has been voted down by the U.S.G.A.

Bill Tilden says golf and tennis do not mix, the success of Mary Browne to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sandy Herd, noted Scot, is the world's record hole-in-one player, having 17 "aces" to his credit.

Georges Carpentier may return to America this winter for a return bout indoors with Gene Tunney.

Jim Corbett writes that his first ambition was to be a big league ball player.

Dempsey is ready to take on Strangler Lewis the wrestler in a mixed match if the promoters give him enough jack.

Detroit recently asked for waivers on Pitcher Harman Pillette and got them. It is rumored he is to figure in a trade.

Ty Cobb predicts that the veteran Dutch Leonard will be the most effective southpaw in the American League next year.

Perhaps the biggest disappointment in either League was the poor showing of Wayland Dean McGraw's high priced pitching recruit.

BABY CITY MAY NOT HAVE TEAM IN LAKE GROUP

Intermediate Material Scarce —May Amalgamate With Whitby Team.

PLENTY OF JUNIORS.

Peterboro Will Be In Group With Port Hope, Bowmanville and Belleville.

OSHAWA, Nov. 6.—(Special). — With announcements appearing in daily papers that hockey practices would soon open in the centres where artificial ice is available, local enthusiasts who have been basking in the exceptional sunshine of October, have began to stir out of their shells with the cold snap which has reached here, to consider the winter sport in Oshawa, and from present indications the "Baby City of Ontario" in its first year of cityhood is not likely to operate a franchise in the intermediate series of the Ontario Association. The most of last year's junior material which was counted on to form a nucleus for the higher series this year have scattered to other parts of Ontario. Lorne Moore, the good centre boy who last year registered as coming from Chanleau to don a local junior uniform has located in Kitchener, where he is likely to turn out with the intermediates or seniors; Harry Lott, the best left wing player ever developed locally, and Don Corbeau who forsook the bright lights of Toronto last year to ramble around centre ice as sub, have both hit the northern trail, and will don the uniforms of the North Bay trappers' junior team; Dick Hall has returned to his native town of Whitby, and will be a decided acquisition to the county town team. With these removals, Oshawa is left with no quorum to do business unless an S.O.S. is responded to by all the veteran of past years.

The latest scheme under consideration is to allow what intermediate material there is in Oshawa to amalgamate with Whitby and to enter a combination team in the lakeshore group composed of Peterboro, Port Hope, Bowmanville and possibly Belleville, with a single schedule, or if composed of Peterboro, Port Hope, Bowmanville and the contemplated combination Whitby-Oshawa, to have a double schedule and with the latter the hockey fans of the group would get a season of class "A" hockey.

The amalgamation of Whitby and Oshawa is worthy of considerable thought on the part of all concerned, as the trouble of past years, that of rink managements refusing other than certain nights for hockey, would be overcome as the scheduled games could be played in either town.

The junior situation in Oshawa can well be looked after, as considerable material has been uncovered the past couple of years through the Church League, and with proper management at the head of same, would lead the teams from other towns in the lake-shore group a merry chase for first place honors, and now that the old curling rink has passed into the hands of ice man Deverall of Whitby, Church League hockey will likely be encouraged in the arena that lies in the hollow on King Street West, and the talent can be occasionally looked over for the best for the Junior O.H.A. squad.

Bowling

Mr. J. J. Solomon left the city yesterday for Philadelphia and his departure is greatly regretted by a great many bowlers of Peterboro.

In addition to Mr. Solomon's highly successful promotion of baseball in this city and district, he also left a mark of his ability for organization by developing bowling into one of the major winter sports.

Interest in bowling has grown on a large scale in the past two years and it has been largely due to Mr. Solomon's efforts. Bowling is a healthful recreation and is fast coming to the front ranks as a sport in this city. Women have been attracted to bowling and are becoming ardent fans. They find the game a clean, healthful sport, and its success in this city is due to Mr. Solomon's personality and his deep interest in athletic sports.

These two achievements are "Jake's" legacy to sport lovers of Peterboro.

EXAMINER LEAGUE.

In the Examiner League, last night at Solomon's Alleys, the Jobbers took three straight from the Newsies; the Directors two out of three from the Comps; the Monos two out of three from the Pressmen, and the Proofers two out of three from the Linos. The Jobbers, who last night won three straight from the Newsies look to be the best team in the league. Their rolling of the past couple of weeks clearly indicates this. The Jobbers team has been rolling some sensational games lately. Last week they were within a few pins of 2000 for a team total and this week they were only a few pins out. This is great rolling for a four-man team. They also had three men over 500, and only seven men in the whole league accomplished this mark this week.

The high man of the evening for three games was Orm Sharpe, who had a nice score of 615. Other scores over the 500 mark were: Baker, 548, Scates, 547; Whyte, 525; Dorrington, 515, and Swanston 513. Allan Whyte had the high single of 248.

LADY BANKERS LEAGUE

In the Lady Bankers League at Solomon's Alleys last night the Dominions took two out of three from the Royals. Some great scores were rolled by the ladies, and in every game they show a great improvement.

Miss Curtis had the high three games of the evening with a nice score of 346. Miss Graham was next best with a score of 316. Miss Graham also got the high single of 151.

Following are the scores:

EPINARD RETURNS.

NEW YORK, November 6 (Canadian Press). — Epinard, the French four-year-old, which came to this country in July to test the greatness of America's thoroughbreds, sailed yesterday for home on the Berengaria, to be retired to the stud after losing four races and suffering a foot injury in the last race.

The NUT CRACKER BY JOE WILLIAMS

Only 20 people saws the Giants and White Sox play in Dublin .... You can't fool the Irish; they know a baseball bat is nothing like a brick bat.

There is such a thing as doing too much bragging about your climate.. For instance, we note Jess Willard has moved to California.

Kicks-His-Wife is the name of the left guard on the Haskell Indians' team .....At first we thought it was a movie star, too.

We have nothing against the singing seal in vaudeville except that it reminds us to much of the theatrical debut of Babe Ruth.

It is very hard to understand a singing seal but at least the animal does not come back a dozen times for curtain calls.

Well, anyway, if Cozy Dolan hadn't filed that suit nobody would have ever known his first name is Albert.

The invention of a toy doll that sings jazz songs is announced .... This is undoubtedly the work of some fiend seeking the abolishment of Christmas.

Perhaps after all Mr. Rockne chose well in becoming a football coach ....His beauty is not exactly the type best suited for Gloria Swanson films.

We suppose it's against the A.A.U. rules or something to kill a moose and not have a picture made of yourself holding the animal's toupee.

Mr. Rickard announces a feather tournament for the coming month, and it is to be hoped the customers will not take it too lightly.

It is said Tony Fuente, Mexican heavyweight, has never thrown up the sponge ....If Tony is like some Mexicans we've seen he doesn't even know what a sponge looks like.

Luis Firpo is in the midst of another strenuous training program.. Instead of sleeping until 4 in the afternoon he now gets up at 3:30.

INDIA HAS WOMAN LEGISLATOR

MADRAS, Nov. 6 —India's first woman legislator is Mrs. Poonen Lokose, who has been appointed by the Maharanse Regent of Travancore to be a member of the local council. She is a Syrian Christian doctor and has been head of the state medical service for several years.

Mrs. Lukose was educated in England and when attending London University was the only Indian woman studying outside of India.

Experts rate the Notre Dame backfield as the best in the country. Rockne's veteran quartet of Stuhldreher, Miller, Cowley and Layden are skilled in all departments of play.

No longer is the football guard a big husky athlete more or less stationary. In the five and six-man interference now so widely used he becomes an extra halfback, a very essential player.

WRECK O FSTAGE IS BIG THRILL IN NEW PARAMOUNT

Moreno, eFatured With Miss Chadwick, in Big Punch Scene.

Paramount Camp, in the Sierra Nevadas. If what happened here had occurred twenty years ago, in the days when the West was still new, each of the tiny little mining camps in the hundred-mile radius from this lonely spot would be a-buzz with conversation.

But it happened today. And besides, all of those tiny little mining camps are skeletons, bleaching in the summer sun and buried by the winter snows, and the voices that spoke there twenty years ago are scattered to the four winds.

What happened was the wrecking of a stagecoach, and it was one of the most spectacular and complete wrecks ever staged.

Six horses, plunging madly over a narrow mountain trail, dragged the coach to its doom in a narrow canyon that sheered away from the road's outer edge.

On the top of the coach rode Antonio Moreno, Paramount film star, presumably wounded in a battle with a band of outlaws called "The Border Legion."

And the wreck of the stagecoach came within race of being Moreno's last ride.

The horses, frightened and plunging, veered from the road and the coach struck an obstruction on the inside of the road. The coach went up in the air, and so did Moreno. Only he went about 25 feet higher than the coach and came down at the edge of the cliff just as the stage-coach toppled over.

If he had delayed an instant, the falling coach would have pinned him to the ground. So he rolled a fraction of an inch, hurled himself over the edge of the cliff, and let go.

And after him, turning over and over, came the coach!

They landed a scant ten feet apart in the bottom of the canyon, and the stagecoach gave one final roll as Moreno to escape it, rolled into a creek that came straight down from the everlasting snows.

After the cameras quit cranking—it was for a motion picture, of course—Moreno got up, shook the water out of his ears, emptied his cowboy boots and examined himself.

Aside from a sprained neck and more bruises and little cuts than any given amount of sticking plaster could cover, he was unhurt.

But the stagecoach was demolished. In fact it hardly looked like a stagecoach at all. They left it right where it fell.

The wreck was staged for one of the many punchful scenes in the Zane Grey-Paramount production, "The Border Legion," which opens at the Capitol today. Moreno and Helene Chadwick are featured in the leading roles. Others in the strong supporting cast are Rockcliffe Fellowes, Gibson Gowland, Charles Ogle, ames Corey Edward Gribbon and Luke Cosgrave.

DEMPSEY—GIBBONS FIGHT PICTURES AT GRAND TO-NIGHT.

When Tommy Gibbons and Jack Dempsey were signed for their bout at Shelby, the majority of experts throughout the country pooh-poohed the match and belittled Gibbons' chances with the superman Dempsey. As a result of their "dope" that it was a cinch for Dempsey; that Tommy couldn't give Jack a fight, and wouldn't even make it interesting for the champions, the bout only drew about three quarters of what it would have drawn had Gibbons' ability been recognized before the match as it is now being recognized after his great battle.

Gibbons has a reputation made in 86 fights of never having been knocked off his feet. With a few narrow escapes, seen in the fight to-night, this reputation is still good. Dempsey with all his man killing propensities could not spoil it at Shelby.

The motion pictures of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight will be shown in their entirety at the Grand to-night, Friday and Saturday. The "Battle of the Century" will be produced on the screen exactly as it was fought at Shelby.

Owing to the short notice that the fight was going to take place only a few Canadian fans made the trip to the Montana Oil City. But all who were unable to go will endeavor to get into the theatre to see the fight pictures.

NEW FILM REVEALS MONTE CARLO SECRETS.

Robert W. Service's Novel Basis for Latest Film Triumph.

It is not often that entertainment seekers are awarded with such thorough enjoyment as that which is afforded by B. P. Schulberg's latest Preferred picture, "Poisoned Paradise," now on view at the Grand Opera House.

The production which is drawing large crowds of local film fans, is exceptional in every detail, and is certainly destined to surpass in popularity the novel which is from the versatile pen of Robert W. Service.

Book Banned.

Mr. Service, who has lived in Monte Carlo for many years, has been inspired to transfer his impressions of this famous gambling resort into a story through which he has weaved romance as well as excitement. His impressions are so faithfully recorded that the publication of the book is forbidden abroad but its vogue in this country assured its use as picture material and the results obtained justify the care which the producer took with it.

"Poisoned Paradise" beyond a doubt represents the high water mark of Gasnier's directorial efforts. It is with this type of story that this director always excels but he had outdone all his previous work here both in enhancing the story's drama and in imparting to it great pictorial appeal. In this last particular, honorable mention goes to his cameraman, Karl Struss, whose photography has added much to such previous successes as "Daughters of the Rich" and "Maytime."

AT THE REGENT.

Fred Thomson, the F.B.O. western star, appearing in "The Silent Stranger," now at the Regent Theatre, is justly proud of his horse, "Silver King."

This remarkable animal can count to 100, he answers questions by shaking his head "Yes" or "No," he knows seven colors, having a great dislike for brown; he can pick the American, British, French and Italian flags from twenty-five or thirty other flags when told to do so; he can "take" the high and low hurdles without a rider, he will kill a snake by tramping on it instead of running away as other horses do, he covers himself with a blanket when he lays down and knows all the other stunts that are required of a circus or vaudeville horse; namely, cake walking, standing on the hind legs, keeping time with music and "playing dead."

Also Episode Two

The second episode of the unique and thrilling new Pathe serial, "Leatherstocking," is on the programme to-day at the Regent Theatre. It is titled "The Scarlet Trail" and features Edna Murphy and Harold Miller. This episode shows the cunning of Chingachgook in trailing Briarthorn, who stole his sweetheart, Wah-ta-wah; and also sees the stealing by a Huron of Hutter's golden casket, the mysterious contents of which he prizes above life itself. Seeking vengeance for his loss, he and Hurry Harry March that night steal ashore and into the camp of the Hurons. What happens on that raid brings this episode to a thrilling and dramatic climax.

'THE LOVES OF MARY, QUEEN OF SCOTS."

Commencing on Monday next — Thanksgiving Day—and showing for the following Tuesday and Wednesday, at the Grand Opera House, will be the big historical romantic feature, "The Loves of Mary, Queen of Scots."

An advance showing of the production, which is having its premier appearance in Canada at the Grand next week, was made on Monday afternoon of this week, when the story of the Queen of Scots unrolled itself on the silver sheet for an appreciative audience.

Mary Stuart, one time Queen of France, Queen of Scotland, and aspirant to the throne of England, is one of the most romantic and appealing figures in history. Moving through written pages, she inspires interest and sympathy. On the screen, she lives over again the stirring episodes of a life filled with romance and tragedy. Those who have thought of her as a forgotten figure, once occupying a prominent place in the pageantry of time, may here see her live and move and suffer in person.

"The Loves of Mary, Queen of Scots," depicts the life of the beautiful queen and the many amorous adventures that brought her to the headsman's block, for jealousy, rather than fear of a rival claimant for her throne, seemed to be the motive that animated Elizabeth, as she exclaimed bitterly: "She is a woman; I am only a queen." However, the character of Elizabeth, as would be natural in an English production, is considerably softened, and the scenario writer depicts Mary's troubles as inevitable consequences of her own weakness of will and vacillation of character.

Fay Compton plays the role of the beautiful Queen, with a strong supporting cast and a background of minute historical detail that overlooks no element in carrying out the atmosphere of romance and a certain quality of overhanging inevitable fate surrounding the central figure, moving to her doom through a series of thrilling episodes. From the moment in the French Court when she is warned by the Queen-Mother, Catherine de Medici, that her passions will bring her to a fatal end, to the last scene at the headsman's block, she is a memorable and tragic personage, surrounded by intrigue and alien enemies.

All the minute detail of a great historical production provides the setting for "The Loves of Mary, Queen of Scots." Nothing has been overlooked in the costuming and the backgrounds for the presentation of Mary's adventurous existence.

Opening in France, with the young queen sitting beside her invalid boy husband, Francis II., it progresses to the stormy period of her life in Scotland, surrounded by passionate suitors and intriguing courtiers. Rizzio, the troubadour, Darnley and Bothwell and Douglas, all move through the pictures, successive lovers of the beautiful queen, who replaces her adorers with other admirers, as the assassin's knife takes them one by one. Wild scenes of fighting and turmoil accomvany the presentation of Mary's life, moving to tragic end with her "four Martes" by her side.

AT THE ROYAL.

BETTY BALFOUR ("SQUIBS") BACK AT ROYAL IN "LIFE, LOVE AND HAPPINESS," TO-NIGHT.

Betty Balfour, "Britain's Queen of Happiness," in her newest picture, "Love, Life and Happiness," is at the Royal Theatre for three days, beginning to-day. The story is one of the famous English "Tip-Toe Tales," and is a happy blending of the jolliest fun, deepest pathos, beautiful settings and the light and shade of high life and low life. The British press is unanimous in proclaiming 'Love, Life and Happiness' the greatest picture ever produced by George Pearson, and when it is considered that this genius is responsible for such great productions as "The Better 'Ole," "Squibbs Wins the Calcutta Sweep," etc., one has some idea of the magnitude of the present production.

Local patrons will remember with pleasure, "Squibs," "Me and My Gal," "Squibs Wins the Calcutta Sweeps," and quite recently at the Royal, "Squibs' Honeymoon." "Life, Love and Happiness" is by far her most elaborate production. No advance in prices.

"ANDY GUMP."

He's back. He may have lost the Presidential election, but he is as full of fun as ever. Min and Chester are with him. You can laugh with him and at him at the Royal to-night. Tell the kiddies.

SPEAKING AGAIN ABOUT

"Life, Love and Happiness" at the Royal to-night, read this from the London Daily Express:

"A sensational British screen triumph.....Miss Balfour has a radiant role as a little London chorus girl—a performance so sparkling, such an assault and battery of whimsical airs and graces, plus a certain 'swank' of carriage....Miss Pickford will have to sue Miss Balfour for alienation of the public's affections. Her London rival is clearly the apple of the camera's eye, a Vesta Tilley of the screen, with the same electric flair of glance and gesture."

A CARD PARTY.

There was a good attendance at the card party held in the basement of the Sacred Heart church last evening, under the auspices of St. Anthony's Sewing Circle. The lady's prize, a pair of blankets, was won by Mrs. J. O'Toole, East City, and Oswald Meagher, Crescent street, won the pair of auto skates.

DISOBEYED ORDERS.

Three of Crew of Grain Freighter Drowned Early This Morning.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 6—(Canadian Press). — Three of the crew of the Glengarnock, a grain freighter, were drowned at Charity Shoals, near Main Ducks Channel, in Lake Ontario, early this morning when they disobeyed the orders of Captain Victor Chartier, of Champlain, Que., and took to the lifeboats. The freighter later was beached and the remainder of the crew was saved.

The freighter had successfully passed through the Channel of Main Ducks, in one of the worst windstorms in many years, when the boat was swept off the course and onto a shoal, opening several large seams in its side. The crew were ordered to remain on board, but three men put off in a life-boat, and when their boat crashed against the side of the ship the men were drowned in a few minutes. The ship was washed off the shoal, and with the water two feet from the deck line, the captain succeeded in taking the boat nine miles to Cape Vincent under her own power. When she reached Cape Vincent the water was at her deck line, and the captain sailed the ship on to Mud Shoal, two hundred feet off shore, where she sank. The crew were then safely taken off.

The crew included twenty men and three women, two of whom were guests. The boat carried eighty-six thousand bushels of wheat, and was en route to Montreal from Port Colborne. She is owned in Midland. The captain refused to give the names of the drowned men.

LONDON PAPER PRAISES DANNY SIMONS

The London Free Press had a good deal to say last week about the hit scored by Danny Simons in "Bringing Up Father In Ireland," which showed in London last week and comes to the Grand Opera House here next Friday and Saturday. A portion of the lengthy review of the play dwells upon the good work of Danny Simons in the role of Jiggs, "looked as if he had just stepped from The Free Press comic strip to the footlights—If frequent applause is an indication of entertainment value, "Bringing Up Father In Ireland" wins. While not exactly a heavy-weight musical show, much of what weight there is rests on the shoulders of Jiggs, who carries it gracefully. Simons is a perfect physical counterpart of Jiggs and he has succeeded in acquiring a number of the favorite expressions, facial and otherwise, as drawn by George McManus.—Jiggs has specialties, and there are any number of comedy situations that give him just the kind of play he is accustomed to having in the cartoons, the best of these being his interpretation of "Pan."—"Bringing Up Father In Ireland"' is a blues chaser and a nerve tonic."

OBITUARY.

SAMUEL MULLIGAN

The death occurred this morning of Samuel Mulligan at the residence of his son, Robert Mulligan, 262 Sherbrooke street. The deceased was in his 86th year. He was born in Ireland on March 18th., 1836, but for the post 50 years he has resided in this city.

Mr. Mulligan is mourned by four sons, Robert of this city, James of Toronto; Thomas of Preston and Samuel of Detroit. His wife preceded him by 24 years.

The funeral will be held on Saturday November 8th. at 2 o'clock from the residence of his son, Robert Mulligan, 262 Sherbrooke street and will proceed to the Little Lake Cemetery for interment. Rev. M. C. Mackinnon of Knox Presbyterian church will officiate.

SETTELL WAS MUM IN COURT TO-DAY

Refused To Answer Questions Put To Him.

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press). — Acting on the advice of his counsel, E. C. Settell, when called to the witness box before Judge Snyder this morning announced through his counsel that he would not answer any questions put to him in view of the fact that he had not been given ample opportunity to prepare his case. Following the conclusion of evidence of C. E. Bodley, car superintendent, Settell was asked to testify. J. W. Cartwright, acting for Settell stated that he could not ask Settell to answer any questions owing to the fact that he had no time for preparation of his case.

Mr. Cartwright added "We are not really niterested in the result of this investigation, Settell will have to answer for his actions before the criminal court."

Judge Snyder: "We expect to close on Tuesday or Wednesday of next week and we will have to adjourn today over the holiday. We must get through some time."

Settell asked that he be allowed little time to prepare his case and suggested that he be allowed to go about the city in custody securing witnesses that would be impartial. Judge stated that Settell would have every opportunity to go over the Hydro books and that an accountant would assist him.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

FIRE DEPARTMENT DIFFICULTIES.

What might easily have been a fatal accident occurred on Wednesday evening when the fire department were proceeding in answer to a call. Coming to the corner of Park and Charlotte, where the truck turned north, there were three street cars discharging passengers, and in the general mix-up of traffic a policeman was run down, and but for the presence of mind of the driver on the fire truck the man would unoubtedly have been killed. Had this happened there would have undoubtedly been a cry about conditions.

It is about time a by-law was passed, which would make it an offence for any bicycle or other vehicle to use a siren even similar to that used on the fire trucks. Bicycles race along the streets with these sirens and citizens, after jumping madly for protection once or twice, pay little heed, as they cannot distinguished between the real thing and the small boy with his bicycle. Were this done we could surely expect that the citizens would invariably remain on the sidewalks and motorists would turn off and give the fire department a chance.

In the city of Detroit the fire, police and ambulance trucks have their distinctive sirens and all traffic at once makes a clear path for a high speed race through the streets.

At the same time it would be quite in order for the city fathers to consider whether the fire department appartus should be used for welcome home proceedings. It is not good policy.

We must respect the firemen and the least we can do is to make their mad rushes through the streets as safe for them as possible. We expect them to face danger when necessary, but there is no need for them to risk life and limb because of the carelessness of citizens or because no respect is shown to the siren call for a clear road.

A CITIZEN.

A NEW OPERATION.

Dr. J. A. Morgan returned to-day from Toronto, where he attended the special meeting at the University of Toronto last evening of the Toronto Academy of Medicine, when an address on "A New Operative Procedure in Treatment of Spastic Paralysis," illustrated by moving pictures, was given by John I. Hunter, M.B., Ch.M., Challis Professor of Anatomy, of the University of Sydney, Australia, and Norman D. Royle, M.D., Hon. Orthopedic Surgeon to Lewisham Hospital, New South Wales, Hon. Demonstrator in Anatomy, also the University of Sydney.

CONCLUDING ACT OF CHURCH BOARD

Rev. Harold Young Given Two Weeks' Leave of Absence.

No doubt the special meeting of the Quarterly Board of the George street church last evening might be taken as the formal closing out of the celebration going on for the last ten days. The meeting was called for a very special purpose, and one which the Board hastened to approve.

The chairman, Rev. W. Harold Young, was asked to vacate the chair for ten minutes only, and that length of time was used to good and useful purpose. For the board hastened to make some recognition of the invaluable (and extra) service given in organizing and seeing carried out the series of events that have marked the 50th year of the history of the present church building.

It is known that during the last ten days Rev. Mr. Young had to be under medical care, ensconced in bed, and only his determination to see things through prevented his remaining confined to the house for several days. It was decided by the Board that a rest was imperative, and some remedial treatment as well. The latter to stand off any possible complications which might be lurking around to be unpleasant. So the Board told the chairman that he should go for a couple of weeks to Clifton Springs, take a rest, and ordered that during that period he was neither to preach, lecture, discourse, or take an active part in anything but eating and sleeping—to be free from parochial worry and concern, and hoping that he would come back with renewed vim and hopefulness.

A motion was formally spread on the minutes, with the additional note that the Board would pay all expenses, as a well deserved mark of appreciation. Arrangements have been made for pulpit supply in the meantime, it being assumed that as George street had had the services of at least ten excellent clergymen during the last ten days, that it might get along very nicely in the hands of Rev. H. M. Manning and Rev. Benj. Greatrix, with Rev. S. Crookshanks, in reserve. Good wishes will follow the pastor in his two weeks interval from pulpit duties.

COME-BACK OF KLAN

Democrats Claim Candidates Endorsed By Hooded Order Won Fight.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press).—Democratic party organs in the United States are claiming that one of the outstanding features of Tuesday's election was the political "come-back" of the Ku Klux Klan. The claim is based on the fact that the candidates endorsed by the hooded order have apparently scored sweeping victories in Indiana, Kansas, Colorado and Oklahoma. The Klan endorsed candidates who waged a vigorous and partly successful battle in Montana.

BALDWIN CABINET APPROVED BY KING PRESENTS FEW SURPRISES

Winston Churchill Returning to the Conservative Fold Received like Prodigal and Given Chancellorship of Exchequer—Austin Chamberlain Foreign Secretary.

BREACH OVER COALITION CLOSED

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Stanley Baldwin, the new prime minister, has lost no time in drawing up the list of his new cabinet which was submitted to and approved by the King last night. The King will hold a privy council at Buckingham Palace to-day for the transfer of the seals of office from the old to the new ministers, who will take the oath and comply with other necessary formalities.

The Cabinet as announced is composed as follows:

Chancellor of the Exchequer — Winston Churchill.

Secretary for India—Earl of Birkenhead.

Colonies—Lieut.-Col. L. C. M. S. Amery.

Foreign Secretary—Austin Chamberlin.

President of the council and leader of the House of Lords—Marquis Curzon.

Privy Seal—Marquis of Salisbury.

Lord Chancellor—Viscount Cave.

Home Secretary — Sir William Joynson-Hicks.

Agriculture — Edward Frederick Lindley Wood.

First Lord of the Admiralty—William Clive Bridgeman.

War— Sir Laming Worthington-Evans.

Air Minister — Sir Samuel T. G. Hoare.

Health —Neville Chamberlain.

Labor — Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland.

Board of Trade—Sir Philip Lloyd-Greame.

Education —Lord Eustace Percy.

Secretary for Scotland—Sir John Gilmour.

Attorney General—Sir Douglas M. Hogg.

Mr. Baldwin's official position will be Prime Minister, First Lord of the Treasury and leader of the House of Commons.

It is understood that this list of nineteen ministers constitutes the cabinet although it is officially announced that it is not necessarily complete. The other ministers and under-secretaries will be named later and the government is not likely to be completed until next week. The cabinet ministers, however, will be able to follow customs and attend the Lord Mayors' banquet Monday in their official capacity.

On the whole the new cabinet is likely to be well received by the country, but Premier Baldwin supplied two first class surprises, the first, in killing the fatted calf for Churchill, a newcomer to the ranks of Conservatism, which he deserted twenty years ago and the second which is generally held to be a consequence of the first, in the exclusion of Sir Robert Stevenson Horne.

Churchill's Claim

Mr. Churchill, by reason of his political record, which under one party or another covered the most important offices in the government could have considered himself entitled to high office, but it was generally supposed, in view of his so-recent reconversion to the Conservative creed that he would be required to serve a sort of novitiate period in one of the less important offices. Under the Liberal flag, as now under the Conservative colors, he always waged unceasing and bitter war against Socialism and Bolshevism and since the recent elections were won by the Conservatives on an anti-Socialist plank, Mr. Churchill undoubtedly held that he was thereby entitled to the highest consideration.

It is said that he coveted the chancellorship of the exchequer which office had been held by his famous father Lord Randolph Churchill. Details differ as to what exactly happened, but, with a good show of authority it is stated that Sir Robert Horne, although willing to drop his present lucrative commercial pursuits in order to join the government was willing to make the sacrifice only if appointed chancellor of the exchequer.

Horne Declined

Apparently the prime minister offered him the portfolio of labor, deeming this office one of the first importance, in view of the urgency of questions like unemployment and reforms for the benefit of the workers. The chancellorship of the exchequer is the position of highest importance in the cabinet next to the prime minister, while the Labor portfolio, has heretofore been regarded as one of comparatively minor importance. Sir Robert Horne had held the chancellorship in the coalition ministry, and, according to his friends, not being paid even the compliment of being offered the chancellorship, he declined to take any post.

The incident is rendered more piquant by the premier now having the Labor portfolio to Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland who previously had held only minor offices in the govern ment. By appointing Mr. Churchill, a Free Trader, to the chancellorship, Mr. Baldwin possibly intended to emphasize that there was no going back from the verdict of the country in the 1923 elections against a protectionist policy, but he has probably thereby incurred the anger and resentment of the protectionist Die-Hard section of his party.

Coalition Feud Ends

Whatever may be the real history of these incidents, neither the elevation of Winston Churchill, nor the exclusion of Sir Robert Horne is likely to make for peace within the Conservative ranks. On the other hand the formation of this ministry sees an end to the feud which has existed over the collapse of the last coalition government between the Simon pure Conservatives and those like Austen Chamberlain and Lord Birkenhead, who associated themselves so closely with Lloyd George in the Coalition.

Perhaps the next most distinctive thing about the ministry is the disappearance of Lord Curzon from the foreign office. This change, however, had been generally expected. Austen Chamberlain, the new foreign minister has no actual foreign office experience either to help or hamper him. He is expected, as a man of generally moderate views, to carry on the work of his office without friction.

Birkenhead's Post

Lord Birkenhead, but for his temporary exclusion, from administrative duties, owing to his Coalition activities, would have been entitled to the lord chancellorship, but as secretary for India he stands for an enlightened Indian policy and his appointment gives general satisfaction.

Seven of the new ministers were not in Mr. Baldwin's former cabinet, namely, Mr. Chamberlain, Mr. Churchill, Lord Birkenhead, Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland, Sir John Gilmour, Lord Eustace Percy and Sir Douglas M. Hogg.

One notable omission is that of the Earl of Balfour. Mr. Baldwin himself will nominally be leader of the House of Commons but this duty will mainly devolve upon Austen Chamberlain, who, in addition to the foreign portfolio, has been selected as deputy leader of the house.

The new secretary for the colonies, Lieut. Col. L. C. M. S. Amery, is as enthusiastic tariff reformer and a strong supporter of the Singapore naval base scheme. With Mr. Churchill holding the nations purse, however, it may be assumed that there will be no dealings with direct protection, although Churchill would probably have no objection to the re-imposition of the McKenna duties under the safeguarding of the Industries Act. It also may be assumed that there will be no guaranteeing a loan to Russia.

PRODIGAL SON

Churchill Appointment Described as Political Bombshell — Believed to have asked for Post

LONDON, Nov. 8. — (Canadian Press Cable).—Winston Churchill's return to the Conservative fold, along with his elevation to the chancellorship of the exchequer, is being likened to the return of the prodigal son and the exemplification of the parable in Churchill's case is further seen in the fact that the new premier literally has brought forth the best gown and put it on the late wonderer as on ceremonial occasions the chancellor of the exchequer garbs

DINGMAN AFTER LINDSAY'S WETS

Bootleg Business Surprises Vice-Chairman of Provincial License Commission.

WILL APPLY MOP

LINDSAY, Nov. 7.—Vice-President Dingman, of the Provincial License Commission, dropped into Lindsay yesterday and his presence caused a flutter of excitement. It is understood that this visit was the result of reports sent in as to conditions prevailing in the town and district in connection with the sale of home brew, etc.

Mr. Dingman, it is said, expressed himself as surprised at the situation as he found it. Bootleg whiskey, it is charged, has been sold for a long period by well known residents of the town, and there have been other infractions which call for aggressive action on the part of the authorities.

There is talk of drastic action on the part of the local "Vigilance Committee," and a number of alleged violators of the O.T.A. are being shadowed. A prominent prohibitionist is authority for the statement that a well known citizen has made considerable money during the past few years in the bootleg business.

Citizens are looking for some interesting developments in the course of a few days as a result of Vice-Chairman Dingman's visit.

Rock Bottom Prices.

There's real economy in buying quality merchandise, and quality and price constitute the objective these days when, under general trade depression, one has to be careful where one spends.

Ladies and men who must economize should remember that P. U.S. MINT COINS FOR POLAND

WARSAW, Nov. 7 (Associated Press)—The United States supplied 12,000,000 silver coins of one zloty and 6,000,000 silver coins of two zlotyys. France and Great Britain are also minting coins for Poland from silver furnished by the Polish treasury. In 1925, however, silver Polish coins will be exclusively minted in the United States out of the 120 tons of silver purchased in the United States by the Polish government.

POLICE CAPTAIN LAYS RUMOR OF HAVING WEALTH

Captain Sauve Had $3,000 When He Joined Montreal Force 14 Years Ago.

NOW WORTH $10,000

Describes How Raids Are Made—Visited Thrice by Tony Frank.

MONTREAL, Nov. 7. — Captain Sauve, in charge of station No. 4, joined the force in 1910 with a personal fortune of $3,000 and in the fourteen years that have elapsed since then has increased that fortune to just over $10,000, according to the documents he produced and evidence he gave before the police enquiry yesterday, thus disposing of rumors which, according to the presiding judge, went as far as to suggest that he had amassed a fortune of $150,000 since he entered the police.

His fortune consists of one house, an automobile, a few shares, some of which are certainly not worth the value at which they are assessed in the above $10,000, and a bank balance of around $2,000.

Captain Sauve also flatly denied the rumor that he had attended the exposing of the remains of Tony Frank at his home on Harvard Ave., and denied having taken protection pay from gambling house keepers. He explained how raids on gaming houses were made and how the money taken from card players was handed over to an officer assigned to that task who kept it until it was handed to the clerk of the police court.

In 1911 he remembered his salary was $1,200 a year. Later it was raised to $1,500. It was afterwards raised to $1,940, while he was at station number four, and since that it had again been raised to $2,240. When he joined the force he had a total fortune of $3,000. He had $2,000 loaned on securities to a man in the United States, and at a certain time had another $400 loaned to his brother-in-law and the balance was in his pocket.

Why Questions Are Asked.

Mr. Justice Coderre intervened to explain to Captain Sauve that he was being asked these questions in order to clear away certain rumors that had been current for too long, to the effect that the captain had enriched himself by means of his position. Rumors even went the length of saying he was worth $150,000 to-day.

In 1912, witness said, he opened an account with the Ville Emard branch of the Bank of Hochelaga. He had not been able to get an extract of his account at that branch as the manager refused to give it to him without a subpoena or an order from the court.

In 1922, he had opened an account with Hochelaga branch bank at the corner of Amherst and Ontario, and afterwards another with the Royal Bank at the same corner, one with the Panneau branch of the Bank of Montreal and another with Molsons Bank.

Examination of his accounts showed that on September 7 he had withdrawn $1,235 from one account and on September 10 had paid in $2,530. He owned a house at 164-6 Desire Street, valued at $6,500. He had not prepared a written balance sheet as the court had asked, because he was not skilled in that sort of work.

That was the only house he had. He had bought shares in some American company for $250 and still had them. He had paid $370 for shares in the L. R. Steel Company and $100 for four shares in an automobile concern. He had also about $2,000 in banks and a touring car which cost $1,700, but which he valued at $900 now. This made his total fortune, a little over $10,000.

He had originally bought a light car for which he paid $500 cash and the balance in instalments. He later traded it as part payment of a car which cost $2,395 and in 1923 traded that one for $900 credit on the cost of a car priced $1,700.

He had three children when he entered the force and now has four. He paid ten dollars a month rent in 1910, in Ville Emard. When he left there he went to Cartier Street. He then had four children and paid $20 rent. From there he went in 1921 to Lafontaine Park, where he paid $32 for his house and $8 for his garage. The building that he owned had cost him $7,800 which he paid in cash. The value he quoted above was the municipal valuation.

MILLERAND LAUNCHES NEW POLITICAL PARTY

National Republican League Attacks Policy of Herriot Government.

PARIS, Nov. 7. — (Canadian Press).—Alexandre Millerand, former President of France, yesterday formally re-entered politics by launching, as chairman of the Executive Committee of a new party —the National Republican League— a manifesto in which he vigorously attacked the policy of the present Government and of the radical-Socialist Coalition.

The manifesto declares that the Government is for peace only abroad and seeks to revive division and conflicts at home. It points out as consequences of the Coalition Government the weakness of the franc, the decline in the value of French bonds and the increase in the cost of living. Finally it calls upon the people to rally to the new party.

The manifesto is interpreted as a preliminary step to the candidacy of M. Millerand for one of the vacant seats in the Chamber which must soon be filled by a special election.

CANADIAN FIRM BUILT ELEVATOR IN BUFFALO

Forced To Handle Canadian Grain Through Alien Territory.

VANCOUVER, B.C., November 7. —Actual evidence on the factors which have driven a Canadian grain firm, the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company, to build an elevator in Buffalo, N.Y., to handle Canadian grain through alien territory, was given by George Bingham, the local representative of the company, who appeared before Chairman H. A. MacKeown and Commissioner Frank Oliver of the Railway board Thursday, supporting British Columbia's arguments for equalized freight rates on westbound and eastbound grain.

Mr. Bingham showed that high ocean rates and canal charges, this season, have had the effect of putting Vancouver at a disadvantage with New York for the greater part of the time.

Port Perry Bond Theft Case Postponed To Nov. 14.

The preliminary hearing of charges against Charles Lang who is accused of the $12,000 bond theft at Port Perry and of having broken into and entered the C.N.R. stations at Uxbridge, Markham and Unionville was adjourned until Friday, November 14, by Magistrate Hamilton at Uxbridge yesterday.

W. H. Howard of Peterboro represented the C.N.R. and Col. Grierson was present as prosecutor in the bond theft case.

HYDRO PAID BILLS FOR GABY'S HOUSE

Accountant Also Says Engineer Charged Up Coats and Thermos Bottle.

TORONTO, Nov. 7. — Evidence was given by H. E. Gilfoyle, accountant of the Clarkson firm in the Settell investigation yesterday afternoon that items to the amount of $40.05 for engineer's time was charged up to the engineering expenses of the Hydro instead of against F. A. Gaby, although properly chargeable to the latter for work in his own house.

Some minor items for part of the engineer's time while engaged in fencing for Sir Adam Beck in London were also charged to Hydro engineering.

The charge that Sir Adam Beck had sold a planer to the Hydro was disproved.

Mr. Gaby, according to the evidence, had charged to the Hydro a dust coat, goggles and other articles purchased on a trip.

Mr. Brewster read a number of items which it was alleged Gaby had charged up as expenses. These included a dust-coat, four pair of goggles, 2 Burberry coats and a thermos bottle purchased on a motor trip. He also read hotel bill entries for Mr. Gaby and other people in which they were deductions for those not connected with the Hydro.

Settell was called, and again refused on advice from his counsel to answer questions in regard to the Gaby charges.

Mr. Cartwright objected to the filing of the statements made by Settell in jail to G. T. Clarkson and Sons and Judge Snider on the grounds that he was in a nervous condition and not in a position to answer.

The statement was read, containing a charge that $5,000 of material went out of the storehouse to Gaby's new house. It appeared to him that a false voucher had been given. He did not remember the names of the chauffeurs who were alleged to have drawn away the material.

"As I understand, this evidence is not sworn to," said Mr. Lucas. "And I object to it going in."

"It went in the other day," said the judge.

TONGUES WAGGING AS TEACHER FLITS

Principal of a Public School in Lindsay Left in a Hurry.

LINDSAY, Nov. 7.—The hurried departure from this town of a prominent school teacher—a principal of one of the Public Schools—has started tongues wagging, and many rumors of a serious nature are in circulation. It is understood that the teacher handed in his resignation to the chairman of the Board of Education at the week-end and then left town on Monday.

Only two members of the Board —the chairman and vice-chairman— were aware of the reasons which led to the teacher's departure and these were laid before the Board at a private meeting on Tuesday evening, when a report of a rather serious nature was presented. The members of the Board refuse to disclose the facts, but declare that it is better for all concerned that the facts of the case are suppressed.

The teacher in question had been in Lindsay for three or four years. He had been very successful in his profession, was prominent in church and societies, and esteemed by a great many.

MANCHURIAN WAR LORD IN TIENTSIN

Chang - Tsao - Lin's Troops Created Good Impression By Discipline.

TIENTSIN, Nov. 7.— Troops of General Chang-Tso-Lin, victorious Manchurian war lord, who has defeated the armies of the Peking government arrived here Wednesday night from Shanhaikwan.

The train of forty cars which carried the Manchurian soldiers was preceded by a flat car with a sandbagged platform upon which a gun was mounted ready for action should the train draw fire from a remnant of the Peking troops scattered along the railroad. The three cars immediately behind the mounted gun carried 200 Russians in the army of General Chang.

The Russian troops will be sent to Nanking and two train loads of Chang Tso-Lin's Japanese troops will follow.

As nightfall approached the Shang Tso-Lin troops arrived in Tientsin in a steady stream. They were under strict instructions to maintain order and are creating an excellent impression with the non-combatant public.

COOLIDGE WILL CONTROL HOUSE WITH MAJORITY

Republicans Elect 246 Representatives—Increase of 21 —Majority of 28.

SENATE IN DOUBT

Have 52 Senators and Democrats Elect 39—Three Uncertain.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press).—On the same tide which swept President Coolidge back into office the Republicans have come into actual as well as nominal control of the next House of Representatives. Whether they also will have the whiphand in the Senate still depends on the outcome of contests in several states.

With a single house district still in doubt, the Republicans have captured 246 seats in that body, on the face of unofficial returns. This is an increase of 21 over their present strength and 28 above a majority.

Leaders of the party regard this margin as sufficient to leave them in control, particularly as to organization, even in the face of any coalition between Lafollette insurgents and the Democrats, such as tied the organization of the present House for many days and successfully challenged a number of administration proposals.

Result By States.

With one district — that of the member-at-large from New Mexico, still in doubt, the political complexion of the new House by States, on the face of unofficial but practically complete returns, is as follows:

Alabama—10 Democrats. Arizona, 1 Democrat; Arkansas, 7 Democrats. California, 2 Democrats, 9 Republicans; Colorado, 1 Democrat, 3 Republicans; Connecticut, 5 Republicans; Delaware, 1 Republican; Florida, 4 Democrats; Georgia, 12 Democrats; Idaho, 2 Republicans; Illinois, 5 Democrats, 22 Republicans; Indiana, 3 Democrats, 10 Republicans; Iowa, 11 Republicans; Kansas, 2 Democrats, 6 Republicans; Kentucky, 8 Democrats, 3 Republicans; Louisana, 8 Democrats; Maine, 4 Republicans; Maryland, 4 Democrats, 2 Republicans; Massachusetts, 3 Democrats, 13 Republicans; Michigan, 13 Republicans; Minnesota, 7 Republicans, 3 Farmer-Labor; Mississippi, 8 Democrats; Missouri, 8 Democrats, 7 Republicans; Montana, 1 Democrat, 1 Republican; Nebraska, 3 Democrats, 3 Republicans; Nevada, 1 Republican; New Hampshire, 2 Republicans; New Jersey, 2 Democrats, 10 Republicans; New Mexico, in Doubt, Democrat leading; New York, 22 Democrats, 20 Republicans, 1 Socialist; North Carolina, 10 Democrats; North Dakota, 3 Republicans; Ohio, 6 Democrats, 16 Republicans; Oklahoma, 7 Democrats, 1 Republican; Oregon, 3 Republicans; Pennsylvania, 36 Republicans; Rhode Island, 2 Republicans, 1 Democrat; South Carolina, 7 Democrats; South Dakota, 3 Republicans; Tennessee, 8 Democrats, 2 Republicans; Texas, 17 Democrats, 1 Republican; Utah, 2 Republicans; Vermont, 2 Republicans; Virginia, 10 Democrats; Washington, 1 Democrat, 4 Republicans; West Virginia, 5 Republicans, 1 Democrat; Wisconsin, 10 Republicans, 1 Socialist; Wyoming, 1 Republican.

Totals—Democrats, 183; Republicans, 246; Farmer-Labor, 3; Socialists, 2; in doubt, 1—435.

The New Senate.

Omitting contests in Iowa, Minnesota and New Mexico, which still are in doubt, the Republicans will have 52 members in the next Senate; the Democrats 38, and the Farmer-Labor one. There is one vacancy in Connecticut, which is to be filled at a special election next month. The following list shows the Senators elected last Tuesday, and the contests yet undecided:

BALDWIN CABINET APPROVED BY KING PRESENTS FEW SURPRISES

BREACH OVER COALITION CLOSED

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Stanley Baldwin, the new prime minister, has lost no time in drawing up the list of his new cabinet which was submitted to and approved by the King last night. The King will hold a privy council at Buckingham Palace to-day for the transfer of the seals of office from the old to the new ministers, who will take the oath and comply with other necessary formalities.

The Cabinet as announced is composed as follows:

Chancellor of the Exchequer — Winston Churchill.

Secretary for India—Earl of Birkenhead.

Colonies—Lieut.-Col. L. C. M. S. Amery.

Foreign Secretary—Austin Chamberlin.

President of the council and leader of the House of Lords—Marquis Curzon.

Privy Seal—Marquis of Salisbury.

Lord Chancellor—Viscount Cave.

Home Secretary — Sir William Joynson-Hicks.

Agriculture — Edward Frederick Lindley Wood.

First Lord of the Admiralty—William Clive Bridgeman.

War— Sir Laming Worthington-Evans.

Air Minister — Sir Samuel T. G. Hoare.

Health —Neville Chamberlain.

Labor — Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland.

Board of Trade—Sir Philip Lloyd-Greame.

Education —Lord Eustace Percy.

Secretary for Scotland—Sir John Gilmour.

Attorney General—Sir Douglas M. Hogg.

Mr. Baldwin's official position will be Prime Minister, First Lord of the Treasury and leader of the House of Commons.

It is understood that this list of nineteen ministers constitutes the cabinet although it is officially announced that it is not necessarily complete. The other ministers and under-secretaries will be named later and the government is not likely to be completed until next week. The cabinet ministers, however, will be able to follow customs and attend the Lord Mayors' banquet Monday in their official capacity.

On the whole the new cabinet is likely to be well received by the country, but Premier Baldwin supplied two first class surprises, the first, in killing the fatted calf for Churchill, a newcomer to the ranks of Conservatism, which he deserted twenty years ago and the second which is generally held to be a consequence of the first, in the exclusion of Sir Robert Stevenson Horne.

Churchill's Claim

Mr. Churchill, by reason of his political record, which under one party or another covered the most important offices in the government could have considered himself entitled to high office, but it was generally supposed, in view of his so-recent reconversion to the Conservative creed that he would be required to serve a sort of novitiate period in one of the less important offices. Under the Liberal flag, as now under the Conservative colors, he always waged unceasing and bitter war against Socialism and Bolshevism and since the recent elections were won by the Conservatives on an anti-Socialist plank, Mr. Churchill undoubtedly held that he was thereby entitled to the highest consideration.

It is said that he coveted the chancellorship of the exchequer which office had been held by his famous father Lord Randolph Churchill. Details differ as to what exactly happened, but, with a good show of authority it is stated that Sir Robert Horne, although willing to drop his present lucrative commercial pursuits in order to join the government was willing to make the sacrifice only if appointed chancellor of the exchequer.

Horne Declined

Apparently the prime minister offered him the portfolio of labor, deeming this office one of the first importance, in view of the urgency of questions like unemployment and reforms for the benefit of the workers. The chancellorship of the exchequer is the position of highest importance in the cabinet next to the prime minister, while the Labor portfolio, has heretofore been regarded as one of comparatively minor importance. Sir Robert Horne had held the chancellorship in the coalition ministry, and, according to his friends, not being paid even the compliment of being offered the chancellorship, he declined to take any post.

The incident is rendered more piquant by the premier now having the Labor portfolio to Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland who previously had held only minor offices in the government. By appointing Mr. Churchill, a Free Trader, to the chancellorship, Mr. Baldwin possibly intended to emphasize that there was no going back from the verdict of the country in the 1923 elections against a protectionist policy, but he has probably thereby incurred the anger and resentment of the protectionist Die-Hard section of his party.

Coalition Feud Ends

Whatever may be the real history of these incidents, neither the elevation of Winston Churchill, nor the exclusion of Sir Robert Horne is likely to make for peace within the Conservative ranks. On the other hand the formation of this ministry sees an end to the feud which has existed over the collapse of the last coalition government between the Simon pure Conservatives and those like Austen Chamberlain and Lord Birkenhead, who associated themselves so closely with Lloyd George in the Coalition.

Perhaps the next most distinctive thing about the ministry is the disappearance of Lord Curzon from the foreign office. This change, however, had been generally expected. Austen Chamberlain, the new foreign minister has no actual foreign office experience either to help or hamper him. He is expected, as a man of generally moderate views, to carry on the work of his office without friction.

Birkenhead's Post

Lord Birkenhead, but for his temporary exclusion, from administrative duties, owing to his Coalition activities, would have been entitled to the lord chancellorship, but as secretary for India he stands for an enlightened Indian policy and his appointment gives general satisfaction.

One notable omission is that of the Earl of, Balfour. Mr. Baldwin himself will nominally be leader of the House of Commons but this duty will mainly devolve upon Austen Chamberlain, who, in addition to the foreign portfolio, has been selected as deputy leader of the house.

The new secretary for the colonies, Lieut. Col. L. C. M. S. Amery, is as enthusiastic tariff reformer and a strong supprter of the Singapore naval base scheme. With Mr. Churchill holding the nations purse, however, it may be assumed that there will be no dealings with direct protection, although Churchill would probably have no objection to the re-imposition of the McKenna duties under the safeguarding of the Industries Act. It also may be assumed that there will be no guaranteeing a loan to Russia.

PRODIGAL SON

Churchill Appointment Described as Political Bombshell — Believed to have asked for Post

LONDON, Nov. 8. — (Canadian Press Cable).—Winston Churchill's return to the Conservative fold, along with his elevation to the chancellorship of the exchequer, is being likened to the return of the prodigal son and the exemplification of the parable in Churchill's case is further seen in the fact that the new premier literally has brought forth the best gown and put it on the late wonderer as on ceremonial occasions the chancellor of the exchequer garbs

DINGMAN AFTER LINDSAY'S WETS

Bootleg Business Surprises Vice-Chairman of Provincial License Commission.

WILL APPLY MOP

LINDSAY, Nov. 7.—Vice-President Dingman, of the Provincial License Commission, dropped into Lindsay yesterday and his presence caused a flutter of excitement. It is understood that this visit was the result of reports sent in as to conditions prevailing in the town and district in connection with the sale of home brew, etc.

Mr. Dingman, it is said, expressed himself as surprised at the situation as he found it. Bootleg whiskey, it is charged, has been sold for a long period by well known residents of the town, and there have been other infractions which call for aggressive action on the part of the authorities.

There is talk of drastic action on the part of the local "Vigilance Committee," and a number of alleged violators of the O.T.A. are being shadowed. A prominent prohibitionist is authority for the statement that a well known citizen has made considerable money during the past few years in the bootleg business.

Citizens are looking for some interesting developments in the course of a few days as a result of Vice-Chairman Dingman's visit.

Rock Bottom Prices.

There's real economy in buying quality merchandise, and quality and price constitute the objective these days when, under general trade depression, one has to be careful where one spends.

Ladies and men who must economize should remember that P. Black's two reliable stores are always planning how and where to buy more economically that the public may purchase stylish ready-to-wear and millinery at rock bottom prices. Every customer gets satisfaction when shopping here, and testifies to the extraordinary values received by returning again. Be sure and see us before buying elsewhere. We guarantee the goods and return the purchase price if you are not satisfied. See Black's advt. on another page. (Advt.)

U.S. MINT COINS FOR POLAND

WARSAW, Nov. 7 (Associated Press)—The United States supplied 12,000,000 silver coins of one zloty and 6,000,000 silver coins of two zlotyys. France and Great Britain are also minting coins for Poland from silver furnished by the Polish treasury. In 1925, however, silver Polish coins will be exclusively minted in the United States out of the 120 tons of silver purchased in the United States by the Polish government.

POLICE CAPTAIN LAYS RUMOR OF HAVING WEALTH

Describes How Raids Are Made—Visited Thrice by Tony Frank.

MONTREAL, Nov. 7. — Captain Sauve, in charge of station No. 4, joined the force in 1910 with a personal fortune of $3,000 and in the fourteen years that have elapsed since then has increased that fortune to just over $10,000, according to the documents he produced and evidence he gave before the police enquiry yesterday, thus disposing of rumors which, according to the presiding judge, went as far as to suggest that he had amassed a fortune of $150,000 since he entered the police.

His fortune consists of one house, an automobile, a few shares, some of which are certainly not worth the value at which they are assessed in the above $10,000, and a bank balance of around $2,000.

Captain Sauve also flatly denied the rumor that he had attended the exposing of the remains of Tony Frank at his home on Harvard Ave., and denied having taken protection pay from gambling house keepers. He explained how raids on gaming houses were made and how the money taken from card players was handed over to an officer assigned to that task who kept it until it was handed to the clerk of the police court.

In 1911 he remembered his salary was $1,200 a year. Later it was raised to $1,500. It was afterwards raised to $1,940, while he was at station number four, and since that it had again been raised to $2,240. When he joined the force he had a total fortune of $3,000. He had $2,000 loaned on securities to a man in the United States, and at a certain time had another $400 loaned to his brother-in-law and the balance was in his pocket.

Why Questions Are Asked.

Mr. Justice Coderre intervened to explain to Captain Sauve that he was being asked these questions in order to clear away certain rumors that had been current for too long, to the effect that the captain had enriched himself by means of his position. Rumors even went the length of saying he was worth $150,000 to-day.

In 1912, witness said, he opened an account with the Ville Emard branch of the Bank of Hochelaga. He had not been able to get an extract of his account at that branch as the manager refused to give it to him without a subpoena or an order from the court.

In 1922, he had opened an account with Hochelaga branch bank at the corner of Amherst and Ontario, and afterwards another with the Royal Bank at the same corner, one with the Papineau branch of the Bank of Montreal, and another with Molsons Bank.

Examination of his accounts showed that on September 7 he had withdrawn $1,235 from one account and on September 10 had paid in $2,530. He owned a house at 164-6 Desire Street, valued at $6,500. He had not prepared a written balance sheet as the court had asked, because he was not skilled in that sort of work.

That was the only house he had. He had bought shares in some American company for $250 and still had them. He had paid $370 for shares in the L. R. Steel Company and $100 for four shares in an automobile concern. He had also about $2,000 in banks and a touring car which cost $1,700, but which he valued at $900 now. This made his total fortune, a little over $10,000.

He had originally bought a light car for which he paid $500 cash and the balance in instalments. He later traded it as part payment of a car which cost $2,395 and in 1923 traded that one for $900 credit on the cost of a car priced $1,700.

He had three children when he entered the force and now has four. He paid ten dollars a month rent in 1910, in Ville Emard. When he left there he went to Cartier Street. He then had four children and paid $20 rent. From there he went in 1921 to Lafontaine Park, where he paid $32 for his house and $8 for his garage. The building that he owned had cost him $7,800 which he paid in cash. The value he quoted above was the municipal valuation.

MILLERAND LAUNCHES NEW POLITICAL PARTY

National Republican League Attacks Policy of Herriot Government.

PARIS, Nov. 7. — (Canadian Press).—Alexandre Millerand, former President of France, yesterday formally re-entered politics by launching, as chairman of the Executive Committee of a new party —the National Republican League— a manifesto in which he vigorously attacked the policy of the present Government and of the radical Socialist Coalition.

The manifesto declares that the Government is for peace only abroad and seeks to revive division and conflicts at home. It points out as consequences of the Coalition Government the weakness of the franc, the decline in the value of French bonds and the increase in the cost of living. Finally it calls upon the people to rally to the new party.

The manifesto is interpreted as a preliminary step to the candidacy of M. Millerand for one of the vacant seats in the Chamber which must soon be filled by a special election.

CANADIAN FIRM BUILT ELEVATOR IN BUFFALO

Forced To Handle Canadian Grain Through Alien Territory.

VANCOUVER, B.C., November 7. —Actual evidence on the factors which have driven a Conadian grain firm, the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company, to build an elevator in Buffalo, N.Y., to handle Canadian grain through alien territory, was given by George Bingham, the local representative of the company, who appeared before Chairman H. A. MacKeown and Commissioner Frank Oliver of the Railway board Thursday, supporting British Columbia's arguments for equalized freight rates on westbound and eastbound grain.

Mr. Bingham showed that high ocean rates and canal charges, this season, have had the effect of putting Vancouver at a disadvantage with New York for the greater part of the time.

HYDRO PAID BILLS FOR GABY'S HOUSE

Accountant Also Says Engineer Charged Up Coats and Thermos Bottle.

TORONTO, Nov. 7. — Evidence was given by H. E. Gilfoyle, accountant of the Clarkson firm in the Settell investigation yesterday afternoon that items to the amount of $40.05 for engineer's time was charged up to the engineering expenses of the Hydro instead of against F. A. Gaby, although properly chargeable to the latter for work in his own house.

Some minor items for part of the engineer's time while engaged in fencing for Sir Adam Beck in London were also charged to Hydro engineering.

The charge that Sir Adam Beck had sold a planer to the Hydro was disproved.

Mr. Gaby, according to the evidence, had charged to the Hydro a dust coat, goggles and other articles purchased on a trip.

Mr. Brewster read a number of items which it was alleged Gaby had charged up as expenses. These included a dust-coat, four pair of goggles, 7 Burberry coats and a thermos bottle purchased on a motor trip. He also read hotel bill entries for Mr. Gaby and other people in which they were deductions for those not connected with the Hydro.

Settell was called and again refused on advice from his counsel to answer questions in regard to the Gaby charges.

Mr. Cartwright objected to the filing of the statements made by Settell in jail to G. T. Clarkson and Sons and Judge Snider on the grounds that he was in a nervous condition and not in a position to answer.

The statement was read, containing a charge that $5,000 of material went out of the storehouse to Gaby's new house. It appeared to him that a false voucher had been given. He did not remember the names of the chauffeurs who were alleged to have drawn away the material.

"As I understand, this evidence is not sworn to," said Mr. Lucas. "And I object to it going in."

"It went in the other day," said the judge.

TONGUES WAGGING AS TEACHER FLITS

LINDSAY, Nov. 7.—The hurried departure from this town of a prominent school teacher—a principal of one of the Public Schools—has started tongues wagging, and many rumors of a serious nature are in circulation. It is understood that the teacher handed in his resignation to the chairman of the Board of Education at the week-end and then left town on Monday.

Only two members of the Board —the chairman and vice-chairman— were aware of the reasons which led to the teacher's departure and these were laid before the Board at a private meeting on Tuesday evening, when a report of a rather serious nature was presented. The members of the Board refuse to disclose the facts, but declare that it is better for all concerned that the facts of the case are suppressed.

The teacher in question had been in Lindsay for three or four years. He had been very successful in his profession, was prominent in church and societies, and esteemed by a great many.

MANCHURIAN WAR LORD IN TIENTSIN

Chang - Tsao - Lin's Troops Created Good Impression By Discipline.

TIENTSIN, Nov. 7.— Troops of General Chang-Tso-Lin, victorious Manchurian war lord, who has defeated the armies of the Peking government arrived here Wednesday night from Shanhaikwan.

The train of forty cars which carried the Manchurian soldiers was preceded by a flat car with a sandbagged platform upon which a gun was mounted ready for action should the train draw fire from a remnant of the Peking troops scattered along the railroad. The three cars immediately behind the mounted gun carried 200 Russians in the army of General Chang.

The Russian troops will be sent to Nanking and two train loads of Chang Tso-Lin's Japanese troops will follow.

As nightfall approached the Shang Tso-Lin troops arrived in Tientsin in a steady stream. They were under strict instructions to maintain order and are creating an excellent impression with the non-combatant public.

Republicans Elect 246 Representatives—Increase of 21 —Majority of 28.

SENATE IN DOUBT

Have 52 Senators and Democrats Elect 39—Three Uncertain.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press).—On the same tide which swept President Coolidge back into office the Republicans have come into actual as well as nominal control of the next House of Representatives. Whether they also will have the whiphand in the Senate still depends on the outcome of contests in several states.

With a single house district still in doubt, the Republicans have captured 246 seats in that body, on the face of unofficial returns. This is an increase of 21 over their present strength and 28 above a majority.

Leaders of the party regard this margin as sufficient to leave them in control, particularly as to organization, even in the face of any coalition between Lafollette insurgents and the Democrats, such as tied the organization of the present House for many days and successfully challenged a number of administration proposals.

Result By States.

With one district — that of the member-at-large from New Mexico, still in doubt, the political complexion of the new House by States, on the face of unofficial but practically complete returns, is as follows:

Alabama—10 Democrats. Arizona, 1 Democrat; Arkansas, 7 Democrats. California, 2 Democrats, 9 Republicans; Colorado, 1 Democrat, 3 Republicans; Connecticut, 5 Republicans; Delaware, 1 Republican; Florida, 4 Democrats; Georgia, 12 Democrats; Idaho, 2 Republicans; Illinois, 5 Democrats, 22 Republicans; Indiana, 3 Democrats, 10 Republicans; Iowa, 11 Republicans; Kansas, 2 Democrats, 6 Republicans; Kentucky, 8 Democrats, 3 Republicans; Louisana, 8 Democrats; Maine, 4 Republicans; Maryland, 4 Democrats, 2 Republicans; Massachusetts, 3 Democrats, 13 Republicans; Michigan, 13 Republicans; Minnesota, 7 Republicans, 3 Farmer-Labor; Mississippi, 8 Democrats; Missouri, 8 Democrats, 7 Republicans; Montana, 1 Democrat, 1 Republican; Nebraska, 3 Democrats, 3 Republicans; Nevada, 1 Republican; New Hampshire, 2 Republicans; New Jersey, 2 Democrats, 10 Republicans; New Mexico, in Doubt, Democrat leading; New York, 22 Democrats, 20 Republicans, 1 Socialist; North Carolina, 10 Democrats; North Dakota, 3 Republicans; Ohio, 6 Democrats, 16 Republicans; Oklahoma, 7 Democrats, 1 Republican; Oregon, 3 Republicans; Pennsylvania, 36 Republicans; Rhode Island, 2 Republicans, 1 Democrat; South Carolina, 7 Democrats; South Dakota, 3 Republicans; Tennessee, 8 Democrats, 2 Republicans; Texas, 17 Democrats, 1 Republican; Utah, 2 Republicans; Vermont, 2 Republicans; Virginia, 10 Democrats; Washington, 1 Democrat, 4 Republicans; West Virginia, 5 Republicans, 1 Democrat; Wisconsin, 10 Republicans, 1 Socialist; Wyoming, 1 Republican.

Totals—Democrats, 183; Republicans, 246; Farmer-Labor, 3; Socialists, 2; in doubt, 1—435.

The New Senate.

Omitting contests in Iowa, Minnesota and New Mexico, which still are in doubt, the Republicans will have 52 members in the next Senate; the Democrats 38, and the Farmer-Labor one. There is one vacancy in Connecticut, which is to be filled at a special election next month. The following list shows the Senators elected last Tuesday, and the contests yet undecided:

NEAR FATALITY SHOWS DANGER

Inspector Reid's Presence of Mind Saved Him—Trying to Protect Others.

DANGEROUS CORNER.

In speaking this morning of his miraculous escape from a seemingly certain death under the fire truck on Wednesday, Inspector James F. Reid of the local police force expressed indignation that he should have been so misrepresented by "a citizen" who wrote about the incident yesterday.

The facts of the case as Inspector Reid told The Examiner are as follows: He had just descended from a street car, without hearing the alarm owing to the noise of the street car, and did not know where the fire was On hearing the fire truck siren he rushed to the middle of the Charlotte-Park intersection to clear the way of passengers who were alighting from three street cars. The fire truck swung around its wrong side of the Charlotte street car, apparently going south. No indication, the Inspector says, was given as to which way the truck would turn.

On passing the street car it was obvious the truck was not going south, and the police officer, with his arms extended to keep back the citizens from the danger area, moved to his left to allow a clear path west on Charlotte street. Then, when right on top of him, the truck swung north and struck him.

With great presence of mind the Inspector embraced the hood of the car and ran backward, keeping his feet clear of the bumper. He was backed up a hundred feet, and scores of people who saw him disappear in front of the car and expected to see his mangled body in the roadway, were surprised to see him step around to the side to retrieve his hat. He suffered only a bruised knee.

As a result of the near fatality in the execution of his duty, Inspector Reid has recommended to Wm. S. Ferguson, local manager of the Hydro Electric Power Commission that street cars stop, as they formerly did, thirty feet back from this intersection. This would leave room for the fire apparatus to pass on its right side without jeopardizing the lives of citizens who may be descending from street cars or passing from on car to another at the transfer point. Mr. Ferguson promised he would pass on the recommendation to John McCann, Superintendent of the Peterborough Radial Railway.

BIG SALE AT WARSAW.

WARSAW, Nov. 7.—The biggest merchantile event in the history of this locality commenced this morning with A. F. Choate's Cash Stock Reduction Sale, whereby his $15,000.00 stock of choice merchandise will be reduced at least one-half at cost and under prices.

This is not a rush sale at which the plums will all be offered on the first day, but may be continued until the end of the year, so that all may share in its benefits.

Descriptive circulars will be distributed at once.

On account of the extremely low prices asked, the event will of necessity be a cash sale.

Parcels will be delivered free of charge on all rural routes, No. 1 and 2, Warsaw, and No. 10, Peterborough.

Come in to-day or 'phone your requirements.

A. F. CHOATE.

UNTRIMMED FROCKS.

A straightline frock is absolutely untrimmed, save for pleated ruffles, applied apron fashion across the front.

MARMORA TO SEND DELEGATE

Mrs. D. E. Bell to Attend the Women's Institute Convention in Toronto, Nov. 13.

LADIES' AID MEETS

MARMORA, Nov. 6.—The monthly meeting of Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church meet at the home of Mrs. D. E. Bell. It was decided to have a house social at the home of Mrs. P. Sopha on Friday, 14th, and arrangements were made for it.

It was also decided to have a bazaar and chicken pie supper on Dec. 17th.

After the business was completed a dainty lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Bell.

The teachers and officers of the Methodist Sunday school met on Tuesday.

After considerable routine business it was decided to put on a Christmas entertainment and committees were appointed.

Women's Institute.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. (Dr.) Thompson on Wednesday evening.

In answer to the roll call, each member was to respond by describing some inexpensive Christmas gift.

In the business part of the meeting, it was planned to have a "jumble sale" and "sale of home-made baking" on Nov. 29th. Arrangements were made for advertising and canvassing.

It was decided to send a delegate to the annual provincial convention held in Toronto on Nov. 18th. Mrs. D. E. Bell was the delegate chosen.

Mrs. Doupe gave a reading entitled "What is a Tight Wad?" Mrs. (Dr.) Jones gave a short article on "Do your Christmas shopping early."

Then Mrs. Marett gave an excellent reading on "The City of Silent Youth."

It described a visit to the Deaf and Dumb Institute in Belleville, describing the beauties of the surroundings, the wonderful accommodation for the children and the capable staff of teachers. It described the new method of teaching by lip-reading and vibrations of throat and mentioned some of the difficulties involved. The game for the evening was to pick out a Thanksgiving menu, the different things to commence with the letters forming the word "Thanksgiving."

After a dainty lunch the meeting closed by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Those present were Mrs. Bowen, Mrs. Bleeker, Mrs. (Dr.) Jones, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. F. Wells, Mrs. Clare, Miss Campbell, Mrs. Doupe, Mrs. Pinar, Mrs. Carscallen, Mrs. Rose, Mrs. R. O. Jones and Mrs. Thompson.

League Meeting.

A very interesting meeting of the Young People's League of the Methodist church was held on Wednesday evening.

It was the Christian Fellowship evening.

After the devotional exercises, a reading, "Thanksgiving Blessings," was given by Miss Jean Thompson, followed by a solo, "Count Your Many Blessings," by Miss Alma Osborne. Mrs. Clare gave a short talk on "The League Ideal." After this was the roll call and reception of new members.

A pantomine, "I am Clinging to the Cross," was put on by Jessie Williams and Ida Clare.

A recitation, "My Duty," was given by Myrtle Potts and the meeting was closed by singing the consecration hymn.

The young men of the town put on a dance in the town hall on Wednesday night in honor of Miss Lena Narrie, whose engagement was announced last week.

Mr. Gerald Potts, who went to the west on the Harvesters' excursion, returned home on Sunday night.

Rev. Everson, of Norham, will occupy athe Methodist pulpit on Sunday.

POLICE CAPTAIN

morality squad? — "I do not know anyone like that."

"Did you make the acquaintance of the proprietors of any of these places?"—"When I raided them and arrested them I did."

"Who were they?"—"I don't remember their names."

"How do you raid a gambling house?"—"First of all, we need an informer. We send him there to play and give him money to play with. He returns and tells us where and what happened. Then after sending him several times, we send a policeman with him. Then, we send him again and give him marked bills to play with. At a given signal, we go up armed with a warrant that authorizes us to break down doors and force an entrance and we go in and arrest the people. We search until we find our marked bill and take it as evidence."

"Sometimes there is money on the table?"—"Not in a betting house. There is sometimes a cash box there. But I have never seen money on the table. At the time I was on that work it was not known that we had the right to arrest everybody in a betting house and we used only to arrest the proprietor of the place."

"Have you made arrests in roulette houses?"—"I remember having taken part in raids, but I do not remember having made raids myself on such houses."

"How is an arrest made in a card playing house?"—"In just the same way. We have a warrant and we seize the people we find playing cards."

"What do you do with the pot?"—"It is mixed in with the rest of the money."

"What do you do with that money?"—"We give it over to Mr. Charpentier. He is an officer of the police force, and he hands the money over to the clerk of the court."

Never Saw Big Sums.

"Do you remember cases where big sums were taken?" — "I have never seen big sums."

"Was there ever over $100?"—"I think so. When we raided Chinese places we found more than that."

"Are there cases of playing three card monte?"—"There are a good few on St. Lawrence."

Witness explained that for a time the police had vigorouly raided and followed up all the three card monte men and prevented them playing. Then a decision in court came which established that these men had a right to play the game, that it was a game of skill. Then a change was made in the law which enabled the police to suppress them. They were consequently now no longer standing at street corners and in open places playing the game, but there were a few places on St. Lawrence where it was still practiced.

"Did you ever give protection to three card monte men?"—"Never."

"Did you ever collect money from these men?"—"Never."

"Before the court gave them the right to play, what happened?" — "They did not play. Cases were made against them, and they were stopped."

"Did you ever have a Chinese, named Tsing Sin, or something like that, as informer?"

Witness remembered a couple of Chinese he had employed as informers. He might recognize them if they were brought before him, but he could not remember Chinese names.

Knew Tony Frank.

"Did you receive visits from Tony Frank at No. 4 station?"—"Three times, the first two it was about charges made against a store for selling beer without a license. Frank wanted to get the baskets back, in one case, saying that only beer was needed for the case, and he wanted to have the use of his baskets."

In another case, Frank had asked to furnish bail for a man. The warrant for the man's arrest had authorized the granting of bail, so witness told Tony Frank where he had to go to offer the necessary bail.

Witness swore that he had never sat any length of time closed with Frank in his private office. He had raided the house kept by Tony Frank's woman friend several times. He did not remember how many women were there.

"Had you occasion to dine in a restaurant with Tony Frank?"—"I have never eaten in any eating place in which Tony Frank was visible to me. If he ate in the same restaurant he must have been in a private room where I could not see him."

"Did you go to pay your respects to the remains of Tony Frank, exposed on Harvard Avenue?"—"No."

Oscar Gagnon, counsel for Mr. Sauve, protested that this was an irrelevant matter. Mr. Lanctot declared that the public exposure of the remains of Frank had been a challenge to decent public opinion, and he wanted to clear up the rumor which said that Captain Sauve and Chief Belanger had attended the exposing of the remains.

Witness declared he had never been in Harvard Avenue in his life and did not know where the place was. "So much the better," said Mr. Lanctot. "I have great pleasure in having had the opportunity to bring the fact to the surface, and I am proud to be able to congratulate you on this crushing of an intolerable rumor."

Mr. Gagnon: "It is another of your informers that had a dream, Mr. Lanctot."

COBOURG AND THE DISTRICT

Funeral Of Mrs. James Quinn—Samuel Burwash Dead.

COBOURG, Nov. 5.—(Special.)—The funeral took place this morning from her late residence, Orange street, to St. Michael's church and cemetery of Mrs. Quinn, wife of Mr. James Quinn, whose death was such a shock to the early morning worshippers at St. Michael's church on Sunday. Mrs. Quinn motored to church that morning with her husband and son, and entered the edifice with the former. While the son was parking the car, she knelt in prayer, but upon taking her seat her husband heard her sigh and she fell over against him and expired almost immediately. Mrs. Quinn, before her marriage, Catherine Mulhall, was a daugater of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Mulhall, and had spent her entire life here. She is survived by her husband and by two sons, Peter of Cobourg and Arthur, of Pittsburgh, and by a sister, Mrs. Wm. Leonard, and four brothers, Michael and Thomas of Cobourg and Nicholas and Patrick of Chicago.

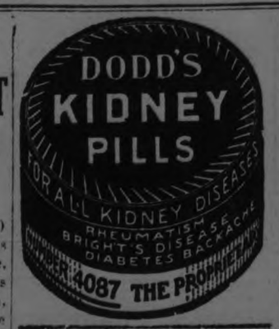
The Late Samuel Burwash.

The death of Samuel Burwash at Whitby on Monday at the age of 70 years, removed a man who was well known in this district. The funeral takes place to-morrow from the home of his brother, Mr. Stephen Burwash, Baltimore, to the Methodist cemetery at that place. Mr. Burwash was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Adam Burwash, and was a brother of the late Rev. Dr. Nathaniel Burwash, chancellor of Victoria University and of Prof. John Burwash. He was unmarried. His two surviving brothers, Stephen and Adam, live at Baltimore.

Successful Anniversary.

The anniversary services of St. Andrew's church, of which Rev. W. A. Bremner is pastor, which was held on Sunday and Monday, were very successful. A Thank offering of $1,100 was placed on the plates on Sunday, and about $200 was made at the high tea served by the ladies on Monday evening, which was a very enjoyable function.

Rev. R. B. Cochrane, of College street Presbyterian church, Toronto, preached outstanding sermons on Sunday to very large congregations. On Monday night, brief addresses were made by Rev. Canon Sawers, Rev. R. F. Stillman and Rev. Adam Hamilton, and an excellent musical programme was given.



BALDWIN CABINET

himself in a highly elaborate gold-trimmed robe as well as in other colorful appurtenances. It is anticipated that the remainder of the parable of the prodigal's return will be vividly illustrated later on.

Already there are murmurings from elder sons about having served many years and not transgressed, and being passed over in the distribution of ministerial positions in the new Baldwin government.

The news of Churchill's dramatic elevation to the chancellorship, a position second in dignity and responsibility only to that of the premiership, got abroad some hours before the new premier submitted his list of ministers to the King.

Lord Rothermere's Evening News calls the appointment of Churchill to the chancellorship a political bombshell.

Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard, following in the wake of Beaverbrook's morning Express, is thoroughly out of temper with Mr. Baldwin, because he did not secure Sir Robert Horne as chancellor of the exchequer, Sir Robert Horne however, draws a big figure in high finance down in the city and the transition from the city to Downing street in fact would mean to him the difference between a certain £15,000 a year and an uncertain £5,000.

Sir Robert Horne undoubtedly was approached by Premier Baldwin with regard to a position in the new cabinet but, according to the Evening Standard, the chancellorship of the exchequer, which was the only position in the ministry for which Sir Robert felt it was worth making a sacrifice, was not mentioned to him by Mr. Baldwin.

According to the Standard, which speaks as one having a lot of inside knowledge, it appears that Mr. Baldwin did not consult anybody about offering Winston Churchill the chancellorship.

One suggestion as to why this choice has been made is that Church ill is being trusted in the high office because of his uncompromising adherence to free trade, his appointment being meant to prove to the world that the new ministry has no intention of tampering with this policy.

Another theory, with perhaps more substance in it, is that Winston Churchill himself was bold enough to demand the office of chancellor of the exchequer and his boldness carried the day. It is believed that he always has had an ambition to follow his father Lord Randolph Churchill in this position.

NORTH MONAGHAN NEWS.

Several New Houses Going Up—Getting Ready For Another Crop.

NORTH MONAGHAN, Nov. 6.—Building is active in the south east corner of the township of North Monaghan especially in the district south of Braidwood avenue, where a number of small houses have been erected by Mr. Birdgenaw and Mr. Herman Wilson. A new street has been opened up graded and gravel put on. A new house on Braidwood west of Park street also another on Brioux avenue are now in course of erection.

Further west on Orpington Road, there have been a number of improvements several have had another story added to, and others new verandahs.

In this district also the telephone service has been largely extended while the electric is in almost every home.

The gardeners have haryested their crop and as the weather is fine they are busy with the fall plowing As the acreage is not large everything will be in good shape for the winter.

The corner of Edison avenue and Monaghan Road, always a dangerous place has been made more so by the fact that a ditch 3 feet wide and two feet deep has been made on the south east corner.

German Children Make Big Profits In Gardening.

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—A unique harvest festival recently took place in the industrial suburb of Berlin, Neu-Koelln. The International Cash Register Company, a subsidiary of the National Cash Register Campany of Dayton, Ohio, has copied the American plan of turning over vacant land to children of its employes for gardening purposes. The festival marked the end of this year's experiment.

Thirty-five boys and 20 girls had cultivated strips of land each 50 by 10 feet. The average yield per child was: 100 heads of lettuce, 80 pounds tomatoes, 60 pounds cucumbers, 50 pounds cabbage, 30 pounds red beets, 25 pounds string beans, 25 pounds spinach, 25 bunches celery, 25 pounds carrots, 12 pounds peas, 10 pounds each of onions radishes and kohlrabi.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1924.

POPPY DAY.

Tomorrow is Poppy Day in Peterborough, and under the auspices of the local branch of the G.W.V.A. thousands of these scarlet flowers will be on sale on the streets, the proceeds to be devoted to work on behalf of the city's returned soldiers.

For three very important reasons the people of Peterborough are urged to buy a poppy and to wear it until after Tuesday next, the actual anniversary of the end of the war.

(1) Because the poppy has been chosen as the flower of remembrance, and in wearing one each citizen will proclaim that the men who laid down their lives in the war and are sleeping beneath the poppies of France and Belgium are not forgotten by the community from which they enlisted.

(2) Because the net proceeds of the sale will be utilized in helping veterans of the war and their families.

(3) Because the poppies to be sold here have been manufactured by disabled Canadian veterans connected with the Vetcraft movement, and a hearty response to tomorrow's appeal will mean much to these crippled soldiers.

The sale of poppies will be carried on all day and continued into the evening, and nobody in Peterborough should turn a cold shoulder to the appeal.

Moreover, wear the poppy until the anniversary of the signing of the Armistice is passed.

THE SETTELL PROBE.

That the allegations made by Clarence Settell, former secretary of Sir Adam Beck, against members of the Hydro-electric Commission staff and in regard to certain operations and enterprises carried on, the commission should be investigated fully, even though most of them are apparently suspicions for which there is no real foundation, will be generally admitted.

The method in which the inquiry is being conducted, however, is open to criticism.

In the first place, the charges as made by Settell in a long letter to Sir Adam Beck have been revised for consideration by the commission, some of them not being brought out at all.

The Examiner believes that the allegations just as Settell made them should be published and investigated.

The Hydro-electric Commission is a public body, and it is most desirable that any charges against it should be probed to the bottom.

At the same time it is difficult to justify the refusal of the commission to allow Hon. I. B. Lucas to cross-examine Settell on behalf of the Hydro Commission.

Mr. Lucas is thoroughly conversant with most of the questions under review, and it seems to the outsider at least that the probe would be facilitated by allowing him to bring out the facts.

The public is entitled to know just how much fire there is beneath the smoke of the numerous Settell charges.

MONTREAL'S SHAME.

Whatever may be the final result of the Montreal investigation in so far as the fate of the Chief of Police and other members of the Police Department is concerned, enough has already been brought out as to conditions in Canada's largest city to make decent Montrealers blush with shame.

The charge has often been made that in some respects Montreal is the most immoral city on the Continent.

Most Canadians have hitherto refused to believe that indictment, but the revelations made in the present inquiry as to the extent and nature of the red light district leave little doubt of the accuracy of the allegation.

The probe may cost some of the Police Department their job, but unless it does much more than that it will have utterly failed.

So disgusting has been the unveiling of the city's shameful district that the decent element in Montreal—which must mean the majority of its citizens—should resolve that the whole rotten system must go.

It is not possible to eliminate vice in a city of Montreal's proportions—or in a town for that matter—but it is possible to curb it, to punish it and to put an end to a policy that allows the powers of evil to operate uncontrolled and unashamed.

In these days of social service work, social hygiene campaigns and moral reform crusades it is astounding to realize that in the largest city of this Dominion there exists such a flagrant flouting of everything that is clean and sane and good.

Montreal should clean house—and not merely make a bluff at it.

MINISTERS' SALARIES.

Premier Ferguson having announced that the Legislature will be asked to increase the salaries of the Provincial Cabinet Ministers, the old question of the renumeration of public men comes to the fore again.

It is a difficult matter to get down to a satisfactory basis.

The present salary paid in Ontario may not be sufficient reward for the qualification brought to their offices by some of the Ministers, or for the manner in which they carry out their duties.

On the other hand, it is perhaps too much in the case of other Ministers.

Generally speaking, however, the man who is willing to assume the responsibilities of office must be prepared to make a sacrifice to some extent in the public interest.

The work cannot be paid for as similar services would be in private business.

It is necessary to strike a common scale with the result that it often happens that the good man gets far too little and the unqualified Minister far too much.

The problem is an old, yet even new, one and will be always with us so long as our present system of government prevails.

La Follette got but 13 electoral college votes, an unlucky thing for him, but decidedly lucky for everybody else.

ABBE DELORME AND THE LAW.

The Journal editorial of last week on the promptness, power and justice of the law in Canada has been returned to us by a correspondent with the question: "What about Delorme?"

The answer is that what happened in the case of Abbe Delmore is no way impeaches the law's power, promptness and justice. In his address to the jury, Judge Tessier, a French-Canadian and a Roman Catholic, said:

"You must not take into consideration the fact that the accused is a priest. Priests, lawyers, judges, rich, poor, high, low are all equal before the country's courts of justice; each must have equal consideration. You will be faithless to your consciences, to your oaths, to your duty, to your families and to society if you do not weigh all the evidence you have heard impartially and fairly and render a verdict in accordance with it, leaving aside all outside considerations."

In concluding his charge, Judge Tessier drove home his point. He said:

"The accused is a priest. I do not know if I should even mention this, but so much has been said that I feel it is my duty to say something. Are we going to say now that there is no equality in our courts of law? Are we going to say that because a man is a priest he must not be convicted? That would be social revolution. No; it does not matter whether the accused is a lawyer or a workingman, judge or priest, the law is alike unto all of them."

Throughout the whole of the proceedings in the Delmore case the law motioned with speed, efficiency, and resolution. He was a priest, but detectives of his own faith worked up a case against him and arrested him for murder. Following that the Quebec courts prosecuted him with vigor, a Catholic prosecuting attorney pressed home every possible point against him, the bench, presided over by French-Canadians and Roman Catholics, delivered charges to the jury which for fearlessness, fairness and eloquence rank high in the records of law. Is it to be said that because two juries disagreed and a third brought a verdict of "Not Guilty," the law showed fear or favor?

Our correspondent's interrogation may impeach the jury system, which has come down to us from the centuries; it does not reflect upon the justice, the fearlessness, nor the impartiality of those charged with administration of the law.—Ottawa Journal.

MAKING TREATY WITH SOVIETDOM.

The Radical-Socialist Government of France having unreservedly recognized the Soviet Government, is beginning to learn that this sort of de jure recognition is not so simple a matter as it appeared to be when it was announced. In the first place, there is a fairly large body of Russian emigres in Paris who may not wish to become naturalized Frenchmen and who certainly will not want to return to Russia as subjects of the Soviet Government. For the present they are to be allowed to live in peace, but they are to be "the subject of negotiations between the French and the Soviet Governments."

There is, however, a far more important matter for France than the disposition of a body of emigrants from Russia who have found asylum in France. France cannot allow a debt of twenty milliards to be wiped out, and, therefore, quietly announces that she reserves to herself the right to submit her claims to the Soviet Government. An invitation has already been sent to Moscow asking that a Bolshevist delegation come to Paris in an effort to reach some agreement with regard to this debt as preliminary to the ratification of a treaty of commerce. France persists in maintaining the logical position that the Soviet rulers are the successors of the former Russian Czarist Government and as such are responsible for the pre-war debt of Russia to France, as well as for compensation for losses by French subjects in Russia as a result of the confiscation of their property and the subsequent nationalization of their industries.

France holds a considerable amount of property which was sequestrated in 1918, including a quantity of gold which Germany got from the Russians at Brest-Litovsk, about 250 millions of francs, deposited by the Russian Minister of Finance and the Russian banks in various French corporations, as well as the warships brought by Wrangel and merchant vessels captured at various times which belonged to companies nationalized by the Soviet Government.

Soviet Russia has declared that she does not repudiate the existence of the debt, but that the valuation of the shares is excessive and not according to market quotations, and that it will take some months to estimate the real value of these securities. Similarly with regard to losses suffered by French subjects, Soviet Russia is quite willing to discuss both pre-war and post-war debts due to French creditors, but that such discussion will be subject to prolonged negotiations. On two points, however, Russia is adamant. Moscow demands that the gold taken from them at Brest-Litovsk be immediately returned, as well as the whole of the Soviet fleet now in French waters. As a counter claim Soviet Russia demands an indemnity of 25 milliards for the part which France took in the intervention of Russian affairs in 1918-1919.

The Russians do not seem to have changed their methods of doing business. Their own claims must be paid at once and the money they owe is to be the subject of prolonged negotiations.

Surely the last word has not been spoken in Russia and some day the prophecy of M. Barthou will be recalled:

"Russia, now delivered over to bandits, will one day resume the course of her ordered destiny."

When that time comes, what will happen to the agreements and the treaties of Sovietdom?—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—Sales on Wednesday of cattle were 1,883, and with the sales of the two previous days accounted for within a couple of hundred of the week's receipts. One heavy coarse steer sold today at $5.50 a cwt., and a bunch of good medium handyweights brought $5.35 a cwt. Except for this, the only other butchers were common, and these sold from $3 to $4.25 a cwt. A few canner cows sold at $1.50 to $1.75 and one medium cow sold at $3.40 a cwt. Rogers and Maybee will want up to 1,100 head of cattle for export next week.

Light receipts of calves have kept prices strong right up till the close. The small number in this morning sold from 8 to 11¼ cents a pound.

Today's lambs were not too good and the bulk of good ones went at 11 1-2 cents and one small bunch at 11¾ cents a pound. Heavy lambs were 9½ to 10 cents. A few choice sheep sold at 7¾ cents.

Hogs have not sold below $9 a cwt. f.o.b. for the week and this was price today. Two days' delivery will be on sale on Tuesday next and the packers are going to try out the cut again to $8.75 a cwt. for the week-end loading.

EGG PRICES.

OTTAWA, November 7 (Canadian Press). — Receipts of fresh eggs very scarce. Advanced prices expected for both storage and fresh quality. Quality of storage eggs far superior to previous years. Climatic conditions in the spring and early summer, and egg regulations showing effect..

Toronto fresh receipts light, quality fair, consumptive demand good. Jobbing fresh specials 64, fresh extras 60, storage extras 46, firsts 50, seconds 36.

Montreal firm. Prices practically unchanged.

Ottawa fresh receipts light. Jobbing fresh extras 57, firsts 50, seconds 40, retailing fresh extras 58 to 60, firsts 50 to 55, seconds 40 to 45.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, November 7 (Canadian Press). — The export trade in Canadian grain here yesterday was again very quiet on account of the fact that the prices bid by foreign buyers were below working basis at the advance in Winnipeg. The trade in cash grain in the domestic market was slow and prices were unchanged. Ontario No. 3 extra barley was quoted at $1.08, No. 3 grade at $1.07, No. 2 white oats at 60 cents, No. 3 white at 58 cents ,and No. 4 grade at 56 cents per bushel, ex-track, while the prices for Canadian Western grades of oats were 1-2 cent per bushel higher.

There was no improvement in the volume of business for export account in spring wheat grades of flour owing to the fact that foreign buyers have not responded to the higher prices asked by millers here. The domestic trade was also reported as quiet. There was no change in the winter wheat flour situation.

A fairly active trade continues to be done in all lines of millfeed, there being a good demand from all sources and the tone was firm. Prices ruled steady for rolled oats.

Owing to the continued liberal supplies of baled hay coming forward and the steady accumulation of stocks on spot on account of the limited demand, a weaker feeling developed and prices were reduced $1.00 per ton.

The undertone to the egg market remains very firm, with a fairly active business being transacted.

Business in the potato trade was quiet, and prices were steady.

The butter market was without any feature to note.

The feature of the cheese situation was the weaker feeling that developed in the market and prices for all grades were reduced fractionally, which was attributed to the limited demand from British importers for supplies and the liberal receipts for the season of the year.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, November 7 (Canadian Press). — Notable fresh upturns in the price of wheat yesterday accompanied big seaboard clearances and liberal new buying for shipment to Europe.

The wheat market here closed strong, 1 1-4 to 3 3-8 cents net higher, December $1.47 to $1.47 1-8 and May $1.52 1-4 to $1.52 3-8, with corn unchanged to 12 cent up, oats at 3-4 cent to 1 1-4 cent gain, and provisions varying from 12 cents decline to a rise of 42 cents.

It was estimated that yesterday's export purchase of wheat totalled at least 2,000,000 bushels, and that fully 5,000,000 bushels had been taken for Europe within the last few days.

Besides, export clearances yesterday were figured at 2,044,000 bushels, of which 1,817,000 bushels were from the domestic crop.

In connection with the evident improvement of export demand a sharp bulge in the price of November delivery of wheat at Winnipeg received a good deal of notice. The Winnipeg advance was taken here as implying that Canadian dealers had sold considerable wheat direct for export.

TRAVELLED THE WORLD BUT 'Never Found Anything to Equal Zam-Buk'

Mr. Henry C. Davis, a widely-travelled railway engineer, now of South 17th St., Kansas City, U.S.A., writes that he has found nothing in any quarter of the globe that compares with Zam-Buk for healing. He says:—"As a first-aid I have used Zam-Buk in innumerable instances for cuts, wounds, bruises and similar injuries sustained in my engineering work.

A REAL ANTISEPTIC HEALER.

"I also tried Zam-Buk for a rather common trouble in this country—skin poisoning by poison ivy. Disfiguring sores appeared on the hands, and other parts of the body after being in contact with the poisonous plant. Zam-Buk speedily cooled the affected surfaces, drew the poison right out, and healed my skin perfectly.

"Another time, whilst travelling, I suffered from a virulent outbreak of eczema, contracted through careless use of a public towel. I had medical advice and tried in addition, many special remedies without finding the hoped-for relief. Zam-Buk treatment took away all the pain and burning irritation, and quickly purified and healed the deep troublesome sores. It made my skin quite well."

ZAM-BUK IS— unequalled for cuts, chapped hands, chilblains, cold-sores, burns, scalds, etc., to check bleeding, inflammation and pain, and bring swift clean healing. Also for eczema, poisoned sores, ulcers, piles, bad legs. Of pure herbal origin, Zam-Buk is infinitely superior to artificial ointments composed of pore-clogging fats and crude drugs. Dealers everywhere sell Zam-Buk, 50c. box, 3 for $1.25.

ZAM-BUK FREE & POST-PAID.—The Proprietors of this wonderful herbal healer offer every reader a USEFUL SAMPLE BOX. Send request to-day to Zam-Buk Mfg. Co., Dupont St., Toronto.

SMITH'S VICTORY.

Smith Won New York Governor ship By a Plurality of 136,000.

NEW YORK, November 6 (Canadian Press). — Governor Alfred E. Smith's remarkable victory on Tuesday appears to have made him the outstanding national figure in the Democratic Party.

Smith won the New York Governorship by a plurality of almost 136,000 in face of the Republican landslide.

On Tuesday, for the second time in four years, he overturned approximately over a million votes.

These, according to the New York World, "have aroused the whole country to a realisation of his strength."

Hundreds of telegrams have been received by Smith hailing him as the new national chieftain of the Democratic Party. Many of them were from men who occupy high positions in the Party in various sections of the country.

A THOUGHT.

ECONOMY OF ADVERTISING

The one big essential to the growth and progress of businesses is saving as we go. A business must be practical enough in its knowledge of its product to employ the saving method of merchandising which will grease the ways down which the progress of tomorow must be launched.

The method calls for advertising, a greater institution for economy than the savings bank. It saves at the beginning of the cycle of merchandising, at the end and all the way between. Its powers is evidenced in the following statistics which were carefully collected relative to two stores which were on an equal footing save that one carried advertised goods and practiced quick turnover and one did not.

HAMILTON HAD 1ST METHODIST CHURCH IN 1824

This Church Was a Place of Worship For All Denominations.

CATHOLICS USED IT.

Every Preacher Was To Fast the First Friday In Every Month.

HAMILTON, Nov. 6.—Ancaster Methodist circuit lays claim to the title of the nursery of Methodism in Ontario. Founded in 1796 by settlers from the Mohawk Valley of New York State, the Bowman Church in Ancaster Township became the centre of a circuit extending into eight townships. There in 1822 was organized a missionary society and in 1823 Peter Jones, noted Indian orator and evangelist, was converted. But the great occasion was 95 years ago when, at the annual conference of 1829, the Christian Guardian was founded, Victoria University projected, temperance societies approved and a Sunday school society formed.

Not only are these great beginnings being celebrated in pageantry at the interprovincial convention in Toronto, but on Thanksgiving Day the Methodists of Hamilton, Milton, St. Catharines, Welland, Simcoe, Norwich, Brantford and Guelph districts are organizing an automobile pilgrimage to historic spots on the original circuit, and especially to Bowman Church, the scene of that great conference. The erection of a commemorative tablet in the church is being arranged.

If one scene in the Methodist Centenary Pageant were absolutely history, the first Canada conference of Methodism did enough great things to dignify a dozen church parliaments. According to the pageant writer, who must have "telescoped" events in order to increase dramatic interest, the thirty preachers who assemble dat Hallowell in Prince Edward County in 1824 registered the following major achievements:

A Sunday school society for Upper Canada was formed, no mean undertaking for a group of backwoods preachers.

It was decided that every preacher fast the first Friday of each month.

A weekly church newspaper was proposed and subscriptions sought.

Superannuated preachers were allowed to take collections on their old circuits, thus starting a pension fund which now pays out $510,000 annually. This actually occurred a year later.

Missions to Indians were begun.

Preachers of less than four years' standing were refused the right to marry.

And Egerton Ryerson, famous opponent of clerical pretensions, was received into the ministry.

In Seven Years.

All these events did occur between 1824 and 1830. They were the work of seven annual sessions, and certain license is allowed playwrights as well as poets in working over events to suit their purpose.

Massed together, these decisions and actions make a striking picture of pioneer energy, with here and there a quaint touch as the whole story is revealed or suggested.

Egerton Ryerson, founder of Ontario's school system, was one but not the youngest of five brothers who rode Methodist circuits. As a matter of cold fact, he did not enter the ministry until 1825. His career was so long that in 1874 he was able to serve as first president of general conference after the Methodist reunion of that year.

The Christian Guardian hinted at in the pageant, was not printed until 1829 and had the then Rev. Egerton Ryerson as its first editor.

Indian missions, the great issue of that day, began in spite of the protests of many Christians that these "degraded savages" were totally incapable of improvement. They were stigmatized as "beastly, drunken, filthy, the lowest of the low." They are not yet uniformly abreast of Anglo-Saxons after the white race's thousand years of opportunity, but the present condition of the Indians of Ontario vindicates those Methodist preachers of 1823-25, Alvin Torry and William Case, who first lit revival fires in their camps on the Credit, Grand and Thames Rivers.

Those were great days if "rough and ready," and Methodists would be less than human if they did not celebrate the sacrifices and triumphs of their forefathers.

Idle and Busy Preachers.

Records show that at that conference one circuit rider reported his charge as demanding three hundred miles of horseback riding between appointments each month. This circuit covered ten townships of the large Ontario size. The man, Thomas Demorest, had only seven townships at the start and promptly penetrated into three new townships, thereby adding twelve new preaching places to his original eighteen.

This rounded out the circuit nicely. He had to preach only once a day and ride ten miles through the forest daily in order to complete the circuit in the thirty days allotted. Side trips sufficed for regular pastoral visitation and the search for new settlers.

The district was then known as the New Settlements Mission. It is in the modern Peel, Halton and Dufferin counties of old Ontario.

The pageant also tells of another circuit on which the pastor reduced the number of days of riding and preaching to 27 per month by doubling up and holding two services a day for several days. He was remonstrated with by the circuit stewards, outspoken and hardy pioneer farmers, and, proving obdurate in his determination to have three days for study, was reported to conference as both lazy and idle.

Such was the age out of which emerge the scenes and heroes now being depicted in the centenary celebrations of the missionary society of the Methodist Church.

When the late Cardinal Gibbons went through the Carolinas as a missionary bishop in search of the isolated Roman Catholics, the Methodist churches were opened freely to him and the gracious little prelate never forgot the southern courtesy that facilitated his difficult work.

When the first First Methodist Church was built in Hamilton in 1824 it was a place of worship for all denominations in the young settlement, and more than once Roman Catholics convened within its walls. Those were rough and ready days, when good nature and open hospitality alternated with fierce broils, and it is good in these more conventional times a century since to remember the pleasant. First Church, Hamilton, the third church on that historic site, has just completed its centenary celebration, a period in which all classes and creeds have heartily rejoiced in the progress of a great community organization.

DRYING FARM CROPS.

British Test Invention May Prove Big Success.

OXFORD, Nov. 7.—An invention is being tried by the Institute of Agricultural Engineers at Oxford University, which, if developed will remove one of the chief causes for grumbling on the part of British farmers and revolutionize English harvsting methods.

The invention is a new process for drying farm crops, a very necessary thing in the damp English climate. The plan is to cut the crop and make it into circular stacks of from 10 to 20 tons weight around a hollow central chamber. Heated air will then be blown over it by powerful fans. Haystacks have been dried by this means in ten hours without fermentation.

It is asserted that the new process will allow a harvest to proceed in any weather, save field labor, give a greater corn yield, make straw better, and facilitate plowing.

ESCAPING CONVICTS CAUGHT IN A BOX.

Two Had Ben Shipped from Leavenworth as a Consignment of Shipping Tags.

ST. MARY'S, Kan., November 7.—Two Federal convicts in prison garb were taken from a westbound Union Pacific train here yesterday after an expressman had found them cutting themselves out of a box 5 by 4 by 2 feet, which was being shipped to Washington State billed as a box of shipping tags.

The box had been placed on the train at Lawrence, to which point it had been expressed on a branch line from Leavenworth.

The expressman turned the men over to the Sheriff at St. Mary's.

Both convicts were said to have been in a weakened condition.

In the box wer found two chisels, two knives, and a blackjack.

CHERBOURG TO HAVE PORT STATION

CHERBOURG, Nov. 7.—The Chamber of Commerce of Cherbourg has decided to borrow 22,000,000 francs for the erection of a quayside railway station at the entrance of the port. It is proposed to pay off this loan by means of a tax on passengers from transatlantic liners.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Rev. J. D. Paterson Addressed Bible Society Meeting.

OFFICERS ELECTED

MILLBROOK, Nov. 7.—The town hall was well filled on Monday evening for the annual meeting of the Bible Society, Rev. J. D. Paterson, of All Saints' Church, Peterboro, being the speaker for the occasion.

The retiring president, Dr. A. Jemison, occupied the chair, and the secretary, R. Stone, presented the financial statement showing the total amount sent last year from this district to the Upper Canada Bible Society as being 141.67, an increase of $38.41 over 1922 when $103.26 was collected.

The following are the officers and directors for 1924: President, Ex-Warden A. J. Henderson; 1st Vice-Pres. W. T. Wood; 2nd Vice-Pres., L. C. Russell, Secretary-Treasurer, R. Stone.

Directors—A. J. Fallis ,M.P.P., J. Steele, L. W. Smith, G. E. Burnham, A. A. Smith N. Belch T. W. Belch, J. L. Byam, L. C. Russell T. H. Aiken, J. W. Hamilton, J. W. Gardine, H. A. Elson.

Collectors—Millbrook West, Misses Ada Attwooll, Thelma Ball; Millbrook East, Misses Estelle Hetherington, Margaret Whyte; Carmel, Miss Mina Gibson, Mrs. Wilbert Thorne; Zion, Misses M. Leal, Blanche Fallis; Fallis Line Miss L. Hurd, Mrs. H. A. Fallis; 4th Line, Mrs. Offa Williamson, Miss Margaret Russell.

Rev. Mr. Paterson, whose address was one of the most practical and interesting ever delivered here on a similar occasion, spoke of his personal knowledge of the work of the Bible Society in the lonely and most distant parts of Canada, the maps thrown on the screen giving a comprehensive idea of the area which has to be covered. The slides used were largely taken from pictures which the speaker had snapped with his own camera.

The rapid growth of population in New Ontario, and in the Peace River district, were made clear by the views shown, and the work of the missionary who must go out and seek his people over many miles of territory, meeting the men in the bush, in lumber camps, and in railway construction camps, besides gathering with the scattered families and holding worship in the log shacks which are their homes.

In the pioneer days, when the forest is being cleared, or the virgin prairie plowed up, and homes established, the missionary is the only person to stand by the settlers. By dog-train, and on snowshoes, he travels in winter, on foot or by canoe in the warmer months. If it were not for the Bible Society, which supplies the Word of God for the foreigners in their own tongue, the missionary could not carry on; his visits are necessarily so rare, and his flock so scattered, the only momento of his call is the copy of the Scriptures which he leaves behind. The Bible Society agent visits the various camps and leaves the Word of God in such a way that if a man wants to put a copy in his pocket and walk off with it nothing will be said; there are from 200 to 500 men in bush or railway camps, many of them working on their farms in the spring and summer but forced to earn more money by turning to the other occupation the rest of the year, that they may but machinery and other necessities to make successful farming possible.

The rapid growth of new settlements was illustrated, forest just-beginning to be cleared, and twelve months later comfortable homes, a good church, school building, electric light, water and sewerage system, with sometimes a community hall, being the history of many towns.

The Indians are particularly dear to the Bible Society and the Scriptures have been translated into every Indian dialect and language in Canada. Difficulty is experienced with the Eskimo "picture writing," which nobody really understands, but the work of Mr. and Mrs. Walton, of Fort George, on the east side of Hudson Bay, who have spent thirty years with nobody but Eskimos to the north of them and Indians to the south of their home, is now bearing fruit and this year a copy of the Bible in the Eskimo tongue will be produced for the first time by the Bible Society.

The work of the Bible Society in helping to bring into the fold of Canadian citizenship the immigrants from many lands, binding all together through religion which is the only thing which can produce such a result, formed the theme of Mr. Paterson's closing appeal as Holman Hunt's picture, "Be old, I stand at the door, and knock," was thrown on the screen.

Rev. J. Wilks moved the vote of thanks to the speaker and Dr. A. Jemison seconded the motion. Rev. M. G. Williams, and R. Stone moved and seconded the vote of thanks to the collectors for their faithful services freely given last year, and asked again for the year just being entered upon.

The Great Breathable Remedy

Peps

FOR COUGHS, SORE THROAT, COLDS & BRONCHITIS

As you dissolve a Peps tablet on your tongue, certain healing fumes are released which are immediately taken with the breath down into the furthest recess of the lungs where liquid medicines cannot penetrate. These Peps fumes on their way bathe the whole of the breathing passages with their healing potency, soothing the throat, allaying inflammation in the bronchi, and relieving the chest. Liquid medicines are simply swallowed into the stomach and cannot act in this direct Peps way.

While Peps are an expensive remedy to produce, the demand has become so great that it has now been found possible to have the

At the Gateway Ports of the World

THE great ships of the Canadian Pacific—their magnificence of size and equipment—cruising from sea to sea, with a notable company of men and woman aboard, demonstrate and advertise Canada to the world.

No less than five great cruises will take place early in 1925—one of them Round the World, one to the Mediterranean, one Round America and two to the West Indies.

Within the forty-eight gateway ports of the world linked by these cruises lie the ships of all nations. The Canadian Pacific ships are among the largest passenger steamers touching these harbors, and give an impression of the importance of Canada such as could be achieved in no other way.

Thus they serve as advance agents for Canadian trade all over the world. Certainly, this is one of the great services performed for Canada by the Canadian Pacific. The message of peace, power and good will from our Dominion to all mankind, through each succeeding cruise, will spread the influence of Canada more and more widely over the earth.

DO YOU KNOW: That these Canadian Pacific steamers on these cruises will travel 55,-208 nautical miles?

SINGING SCOTS AT LAKEFIELD

Jack Smith and Bob Hendry Pleased Guy Fawkes Night Audience.

SONGS AND SKITS

LAKEFIELD, November 7.—The concert given on Wednesday evening under the auspices of the L.O.L. No. 122 was successful in that the programme was especially good, but the attendance was disappointly small.

The programme was given by Mr. Jack Smith and Mr. Bob Hendry of the Caledonian Club, Peterborough, assisted by Miss Wright and Master Joe Leith ,and was decidedly Scotch in character.

Rev. W. Cox acted as chairman, and Mr. K. S. Madill filled the position of accompanist in his customary efficient manner.

Mr. Hendry, Peterborough's Harry Lauder, delighted the audience with his Lauder songs, which are always popular with a Lakefield audience.

Mr. Smith's rendition of those stirring songs of the sea, "Nancy Lee" and "The Admiral's Broom" was excellent; in fact, all the numbers were well rendered and highly appreciated.

Master Joe Leith, who is a juvenile member of the Caledonian Society, shows promise of talent and played his part in a most efficient manner.

Miss Wright, the elocutionist, was also pleasing in her readings, showing especial talent for the child impersonations.

The latter half of the programme consisted of songs and jokes by the Singing Scots (Messrs. Smith and Hendry), who gave several duets—"The Wee Hoose 'Mang the Heather," "Love Makes the World a Merry-Go-Round," and "Singing is the Thing to Make Us Cheery," all of which were both tuneful and delightful to listen to. The humour interlarded dealt somewhat with the proverbial closeness of the gallant Scot, who guards his "bawbees" with care, but is never stingy in giving life and service at his country's call.

The following is the programme:
Chairman's address, Rev. W. Cox.
Solo, Mr. Jack Smith.
Recitation, Master Joe Leith.
Solo, Mr. Bob Hendry.
Reading, Miss Irene Wright.
Solo, Mr. Jack Smith.
Recitation, Joe Leith.
Solo, Mr. Bob Hendry.
Reading, Mr. Hendry "Grannie's Reading, Miss Irene Wright.
Solo Master Leith.
Pipe selection, Messrs .Smith and Leith.
Reading, Miss Wright.
The Singing Scots in Song and Story.
"God Save the King."

RE-OPEN HEARINGS.

Grand Trunk Freight Rates In U.S.A. Under Consideration.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Hearings of the application of the Grand Trunk Railway and the Canada-Atlantic Transit Company to continue class and commodity rates from Eastern trunk line and New England territory and from Canadian points to western and central trunk line territories without observing the long and short haul provisions of the Interstate commerce act were ordered re-opened by the interstate commerce commission yesterday.

GAVE PRESENTATION.

Smith Township Residents Moving Into Peterboro—A Social Event.

On Tuesday evening, November 4, a large and merry company gathered at the home of Mr. William Paul on the 4th line of Smith. The affair took the form of a Hallowe'en masquerade but its real purpose was to do honor to Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Scott and Miss Sara Scott, who are removing to the city.

Young and old enjoyed themselves to the full with the masquerade after which the guests of honor were made the recipients of gifts of remembrance, accompanied by an address read by Mr. T. H. Graham.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott weer presented with a quarter cut oak desk in fumed finish and Miss Scott received a cane. Mrs. Scott gratefully acknowledged the presentation.

Refreshments were served at 11 o'clock and the singing of Auld Lang Syne closed a very enjoyable evening.

The following is the address:
Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Scott:
Miss Sara Scott:

Dear Friends:

There is no friend like the old friend,
Who has shared our morning days,
No greetings like his welcome
No homage like his praise.
Fame is the scentless sunflower,
With gaudy crown of gold,
But friendship is the breathing rose,
With sweets in eevry fold.

Once more we meet in happy gathering of neighbors and friends, but our happiness is mingled with regret for we have learned of your intended removal from your farm home to the city, and we find it hard to give up those who have been the very best of neighbors.

Memory carries us over the golden road to childhood days, and happy recollections come to many of us, of the little ups and downs incident to school life, when we worked and played together at the old fourth line school. The years have slipped away with their sorrows and joys, their greetings and partings, and throughout them all we have found you faithful and true, sympathetic and kind, giving loyal support to everything that aimed at improvement of standards in our community.

In Gilmour Memorial church your places will be hard to fill. Your regular attendance upon its services, your unwavering interest in its welfare and your faithful and cheerful performance of duties which lay before you might be imitated by most of us, with great profit.

In presenting you with these tokens of our love and esteem we assure you of the deep appreciation of the good fellowship we hove all enjoyed with you, and our earnest hope that you may be very happy in your new home, which is not so far away as to prevent you meeting very often with us during coming days.

LARGER SALARIES FOR MEMBERS OF CABINET

Premier Ferguson Confident People of Ontario Will Approve Increases.

TORONTO, Nov. 7.—"As long as I have the distinction and honor of leading the government of this province—I am going to lead it. When you think I am wrong you may choose some other fellow." This was the declaration of Premier Ferguson Thursday, at the conclusion of a 40-minute eulogy of the present government at the luncheon of the Conservative Business Men's Club at the King Edward hotel.

In the course of his speech Premier Ferguson intimated that at the next session of the legislature, legislation will be brought in to increase the salaries of the members of the Ontario cabinet. He was sure the people of Ontario wish them to be remunerated "more in commensuration with their private sacrifices to accept office."

That a special trade comissioner for Ontario in England, would be appointed to complete the work commenced by the Ontario exhibit at Wembley, was also announced by the premier. His duties would be to help secure markets for Ontario's agricultural produce and manufactured goods. He stated that a suitable emporium for Ontario would be established in connection with the office, which would be a permanent

NEWS OF WARSAW.

Social Events in the Village —Union Services Next Sunday.

WARSAW, Nov. 7.—V. B. Coleman, Port Hope arrived in the village Saturday.

Rev. G. F. and Mrs. Weir are in Toronto this week.

Mrs. Davie Edwards, Young's Point, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Frank Lonsberry.

Gordon Bowen arrived home last Wednesday.

Milton Clysdale came to Warsaw on Saturday.

Nathan Bell's farm stock and implement sale was well attended, prices on most things were fair. Good horses were rather low, $110-$120. Cows went from $20-$47.

Land is so hard that plowing is in some parts quite difficult.

A few people have motored to Port Hope, Cobourg and other places along the front for apples. They are very scarce around here.

There was a rush to get root crops in last week.

Fair cattle have been brought home from the ranches.

Warsaw mill has a new iron roof. The receiving platform has been thoroughly repaired and a new roof added.

John Payne has a new iron roof on his house.

Robert Payne has the house he recently bought in good condition, new kitchen and wood-shed, chimneys and the interior re-decorated.

On Sunday evening Rev. F. G. Weir preached his third sermon from the parable of the prodigal son. The quarterly communion service was held. There were a good number present.

In the Presbyterian church Mr. R. S. Dutton of Peterboro took charge of the services at Warsaw and at Cottesloe. He gave addresses on Missionary work, and after the service there was a short meeting to see what could be done to increase the missionary contributions.

Many hunters left for their camps Monday morning.

Wm. and David Miller, V. B. Coleman (Port Hope), John Darling, Richard Darling, Galvin Dunford, Milton and Stewart Clysdale, and William Darling went to Silver Lake.

Alec Watts, Joseph, William and Richard Tedford, Jack Davis and Bruce Douglas went to Crane Lake.

E. R. Hamblin, Paul Payne, Rufus Payne and Charles Gow accompanied the Lakefield Club to Georgian Bay.

Allan Taylor, Norman Payne, Fred Calder, Will Hamblin, Ernie Batten, Wm. Davis, John Payne left for Cordova Mines Tuesday morning.

Halloween Party.

Mr. Percy Lloyd gave a delightful Hallowe'en party in honor of Miss Quinn on Friday evening.

A ghost received the guests, another ghost initiated them into the mysteries, and took their wraps.

The house was decorated tastefully with yellow crepe paper, witches, black cats and other spooky things.

Pumpkin faces with candles provided the lights. The guests who were masked carried out the Hallowe'en ideas with their costumes, witches, clowns, spooks, pumpkin people, were much in evidence. There were Hallowe'en games for a short time, progressive euchre. Miss Edna McCauley won the prize. She and Mr. R. Leeming were ties.

Dancing was indulged in and then supper was served in a large room upstairs. Pumpkin lanterns were placed around the room, and a large one with candles all around, was in the middle; from this one paper ribbons ran to each guests' place. The guests were seated on cushions. Supper carried out the Hallowe'en idea. The special cake was made of squares and in each a tiny candle, one for each guest. After supper there was much fun when each guest fished for his or her fortune from a pumpkin, with a magnet.

Union Services.

Owing to the death of his father at Inglewood, Ont., the Rev. W. R. Atkinson will not be able to take his work on Sunday, November 9th. Union Services have been arranged with the Baptist church for the day. Service at Warsaw at 11 a.m. in the Baptist church and service at Cottesloe at 3p.m. Both services conducted by the Baptist pastor.

Mr. Atkinson expects to return for his work on November 16.

NEWS OF MARMORA.

Interesting Game of Soft Ball In Public School League.

MARMORA, Nov. 7.—An interesting game of soft ball was played on the public school campus on Tuesday afternoon. The girls of the fourth room of the public had challenged the girls of the First Form of the high school and this was the result.

The line up was:

High School —Constance Simmons, c; Helen Conkrite, p; Gladys Williams, 1b; Anna Burns, 2b; Mabel Rogers, 3b; Ida Clare, ss; Dorena Gehan, ss; Jean Reynolds, fielder; Lena Rogers, fielder.

Public School—Leda Dorrie, c; Jean Thompson, p; Bernice Foster, 1b; Meile Bedore, 2b; Ada Archer, 3b; Alma Spence, ss; Myrtle Potts, ss; Kathleen Pitts, fielder; Evelyn Rice, fielder.

The score was 11-11 in favor of the Public School as the High School team had had no practice together there was lack of any good combination playing except in a very few instnaces.

Another drawback was the fact that the rules of playing used by the two schools were different and caused several errors. But nevertheless there was a good friendly game played and it was enjoyed by the spectators.

Norman Hanna Death

The death of Norman Hanna, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Hanna Rawdon took place Tuesday morning. Norman, a little lad eight years old, took sick a week ago Sunday. On Monday last he was operated on for appendicitis but the operation was too late. He sank rapidly and passed away Tuesday morning. His father, mother, a little brother and sister are left to mourn his loss. Mrs. Hanna is a daughter of Mr. Wesley Grant, Marmora.

The funeral will be held Thursday in the Marmora Methodist Church.

Rev. D. R. Clare went to Toronto on Tuesday to attend the Missionary Centenary celebration of the Methodist church.

Miss Aldora McGarvey returned to Toronto on Monday.

A meeting was held in the town hall on Tuesday night to see if better mail service could be secured for the village.

Constipation can ruin your health—get permanent relief with Kellogg's Bran

When clean and clear, the intestine is converting wholesome food into vigorous health. But when clogged by constipation, it generates poisons from the obstructed food that can lead to many serious diseases.

Kellogg's Bran sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It has a natural, healthy action. It works exactly as nature acts. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to relieve permanently the most chronic cases of constipation, or your grocer will return your money.

Results with Kellogg's Bran are sure, for Kellogg's is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. That is why Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is endorsed by doctors everywhere. Eat it and you need never take another habit-forming drug or pill.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, should be eaten regularly—at least two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. You will enjoy eating it. Kellogg's Bran has a wonderful flavor, a delicious nut-like flavor. And this flavor is an exclusive Kellogg achievement.

There are many ways to enjoy Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. Eat it with milk or cream as a cereal. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Look for the recipes on every package and try it in muffins, griddle cakes, bran bread, etc.

Bring back your health with Kellogg's Bran. Start to-day! Every member of you family should eat it. The leading hotels and clubs serve Kellogg's Bran in individual packages. It is made in Toronto Canada. Sold by all grocers.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Meeting of the I.O.O.D. on Wednesday Afternoon.

PERSONAL MENTION

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 7.—The meeting of the I.O.D.E. was held at the Public Library on Wednesday afternoon. On Tuesday morning at twenty to ten, November 11th, 1924, Armistice Day, the members of the I.O.D.E. will go to the High School and present a flag to the High School, after which the members expect to go in a body to a special Armistice service in the Parish Hall at half-past ten.

Jubilee Meeting.

The meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Church held in the Sunday School room on Tuesday afternoon, was a very interesting one, being in the form of a jubilee. The missionary officers had the places of honor. Mrs. Robert Bell, the present President, was in the chair, and on either side of the table were the Past Presidents, Mrs. F. Dinwoodie, who was the first President in 1886; Mrs. James Dickson, Mrs. Chas. Gillespie, Mrs. A. Haig, Mrs. Blythe Nelson. Miss Dickson of Peterborough, who was present thirty-eight years ago at the organization of the society, was also present on Tuesday.

One of the special features of the afternoon was the reading of letters received from the Past Presidents and officers during that time. Another was the presentation from members and friends of a life member certificate and pin to Mrs. F. M. Dinwoodie in honor of her being the first President. After Mrs. Bell, the present President, spoke of the appreciation of Mrs. Dinwoodie's services, and all the officers who had served in the past. Miss J. Dickson made the presentation of the life member pin and pinned it on. The other Past Presidents were each presented with a rose, also one to Mrs. Dinwoodie. Mrs. Dinwoodie felt very grateful to the members and friends for the certificate and pin and the honor shown her was to her too much for words.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie of Burnbrae were very heartily welcomed for the first time to the Campbellford W. M. S. Mr. McKenzie gave an excellent address on home mission work.

Miss Dickson of Peterborough gave a very inspiring address on "Our High Privilege and Duty to Give," and quoted many passages from the Scriptures which dealt with the subject of giving. She spoke of the honor and pleasure it brought to her to be asked to be present at this meeting, and also of the success this society had attained to since its beginning, with its eleven members in 1886 and the contributions of eleven dollars, to the large number of members now and its splendid contribution of today of over four hundred dollars.

The following ladies sang solos during the afternoon: Miss Hilda Bonnycastle, Mrs. (Rev.) McIntosh and Mrs. F. DeFree.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

The meeting regretted that one of their faithful members was unable to be present on account of illness, Mrs. David Robertson, and a was sent to her.

Miss Dickson of Peterborough was the guest of Mrs. W. Hume, Booth street.

News Briefs.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Johnston of Belleville, Mr. Brock Jandeur and friend, also of Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Jandeur of Frankford motored to Campbellford on Sunday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Hore, Grand road.

FARMER FOUND DEAD.

Samuel Matthews Passed Away While Working In Field.

COBOURG, November 6. — On Monday Mr. Samuel Matthews, who resided upon what was formerly the Jeremiah Clarke farm, Provincial Road East, with his young son and hired man, Mr. John Murray, was out in the field getting in mangolds. The man and the boy left the field with a load and Mr. Matthews remained to top the roots and get another load ready.

When they returned he was not to be seen at first, and then they saw what at first they thought was his smock lying upon the ground. They went to him and found that he had passed away.

Mr. Matthews had apparently been usually well up to the time of his death, although at no time a particularly robust man.

He was a member of the Grafton Presbyterian Church, and attended its services the day before.

Mr. Matthews was a man of exemplary character and of a kindly disposition. He was a good citizen and a kind friend, and will be much missed.

A sore bereavement came to Mr. Matthews two years ago last month in the death of his wife.

He is survived by a daughter Doris of Peterborough, who has been attending Normal School, and by a son formerly a pupil at the Collegiate Institute here; also by one brother, Ambrose Matthews, and three sisters, Christine, Magdalen, and Effie on the homestead in Haldimand.

The funeral took place this afternoon from his late residence to Fairview Cemeery, Crafton. The serr vices were conducted by his pastor, Rev. Mr. Moyer.

LINCOLN'S PAL, 102, DEAD

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7.—Former United States Senator Cornelius Cole, friend of Abraham Lincoln, died here at the age of 102.

FRED M'GAUGHEY A MODEL PRISONER

Still the Stoic of Court Trial, But Talks Freely.

LINDSAY, Nov. 7.—In a month's time Frederick McGaughey, who was sentenced to be hanged by Justice Logie for the murder of Beatrice Fee, will pay the death penalty in the jail yard here. The unfortunate young man has maintained the same stoical demeanor which characterized his attitude during the days of his trial, although at intervals he has talked quite freely to the guards and jail officials. According to reports he eats and sleeps well, and is a model prisoner in every respect.

As the day of the execution approaches, many expressions of sympathy are heard from friends of the unfortunate young man because of the terrible position in which he has placed himself. Temperance orators during the plebiscite campaign pointed a morai in his sad case from the platform, and this was strongly resented by many.

It is understood that the civic authorities have been endeavoring to have the law carried out in privacy —within the walls of the jail proper. It is also said that the local authorities are anxious that the decrees of justice be served at Kingston, as it is over fifty years, they say, an execution took place.

The whole countryside sympathizes for the relatives of the unfortunate young man.

WEDDING BELLS.

BEGLEY—SHEEHAN.

At St. Joseph's church, Douro, was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding when Miss Catherine Sheehan of Douro was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Dennis Begley of Downeyville. Rev. Father McGuire performed the ceremony.

The bride looked charming in a navy blue tricotine suit with gray plush hat and squirrel fur to match. Miss Nellie Sheehan, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, wearing navy blue suit and black hat. The groom was ably assisted by his brother, Mr. Martin Begley.

Miss Mabel Allen played the wedding march. During the ceremony Ave Maria was suitably rendered by Mr. John Sheehan, brother of the bride. The young couple left on the evening train for a short honeymoon and on their return will reside in Downeyville.

COSDEN GETS $120,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Lloyd's and the Alliance Assurance Co., of London, England, are out $120,000 a new insurance record for 1924, as a result of the activities of the Society Raffles who stole jewels worth that amount from Lady Montbatten and Mrs. J. S. Cosden, of Sands Point, L.I., while the Prince was there recently.

While Sunlight Works

YOU have more leisure hours on wash day if you use Sunlight Soap. Away downstairs in the wash tub this wonderful soap will do the labour. You rub the things with Sunlight—you put them to soak—and then its penetrating, cleansing ingredients search through and through the fibres, loosening even the hardest dirt or the oldest grease stains completely. No wash board rubbing, no boiling, no hard work. Then, with rinsing, the dirt runs away and your clothes are ready for the line, purified and snowy clean.

Wash day should not take your labour—only Sunlight's gentle strength.

Annual Marathon Race on Monday Next— Booker Family Will Move to States.

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 7.—The annual Marathon Race for young men will take place on the morning of Thanksgiving, at eleven o'clock. Entries can be made up to half past nine on Saturday night. Besides the silver cup given other years, five other prizes will be given.

School Redecorated

The Sunday school rooms of the Methodist church has been redecorated and are finished. The appearance is bright and cheery and makes a great improvemnt. The furnace and pipes have had two coats of alumin um and the several class-rooms are repainted as well as the ceiling of the whole basement. The whole floor has been painted as well. The entire place looks like new and those who attend Sunday School, League and prayer meeting will enjoy the freshness and cleanliness. The work was done by Mr. J. W. Taylor, Sebastapool street.

Move to States.

Mr. Clarence Booker has given up his position in Campbellford, and he and Mrs. Booker and little daughter, Gladys, will move to Washington, D.C., where Mrs. Booker's parents and family live. Mr. Booker intends selling his household effects by auction on Saturday, November 15.

A Presentation.

Miss Audrey Rowe, at Stanwood, was presented with a beautiful morocco covered index Bible at a surprise party at her home on Tuesday evening. Miss Rowe has been an active worker in the church at Stanwood, playing the organ and assisting in the Sunday School. Games were played, and at the close of the pleasant evening lunch was served. A most enjoyable evening was spent, and then all wished Miss Rowe success in her new position in Toronto. She will be greatly missed at Stanwood, as she was always willing to help in every good cause.

The following is the address:

Stanwood, November 4, 1924.

Miss Audrey Rowe, Stanwood.

Dear Audrey,—We have met here to-night to wish you God-speed in your new life, and to express to you, our appreciation of the enthusiasm and skill which you have placed into your work as organist of Stanwood Church and organist and secretary of the Sunday School.

We shall miss you very much from the community life of the neighborhood, where you played a very acceptable and willing part.

Please accept this small token (an index Bible, soft leather cover and India-paper) as a sign of our recognition and regard. We hope that when you use it, you will remember with pleasure your associations in connection with the work here.

Signed on behalf of your well-wishers:

C. D. Lawrence.
B. J. Lisle.
L. M. Aikens.
Etta Petherick.

Miss Rowe made a suitable reply, thanking her friends for the gift and "well wishes."

Reside in Detroit

Mrs. I. T. Frederick, left on the noon train on Thursday. She will make a short stop in Toronto and will then go on to Detroit, where she will live with her son, Douglas.

Mrs. Frederick has lived for many years in Campbellford and will be missed in the Methodist Church, choir and the different ladies' organizations. Since Mr. Frederick's death in the summer, Mrs. Frederick has given up housekeeping and this last week has sold her up-to-date and comfortable home on Grand Road. The best wishes of all her friends will follow her to her new home and they hope she may find good faithful friends where she will reside.

A New Doctor

Dr. and Mrs. Johnston and family arrived in Campbellford on Thursday from Saskatchewan. Dr. Johnston has decided to locate in Campbellford as a medical doctor and they will reside in the house lately occupied by Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Bennet former pastor of the Baptist church, on Sebastapol street.

A Box Social

The Central Loyal Orange Lodge Number 2322, of Petherick's Corners held a very succesful Box Social in their Orange Hall on Wednesday night. Mayor Meyer of Campbellford was chairman for the evening.

There was a good programme consisting of two solos from Rev. C. D. Daniel of Seymour Circuit, two selections from Spencer's orchestra, A character song, Mr. Fred Barnum and Mrs. Harold Simpson. A duett by Mr. Roger Lain and Mr. Ed. Anderson. A short play was also staged, which caused much merriment, entitled, "When your wife's away." Those taking part in this play were: Messrs. Everett Fairman, Morley Petherick, Raymond Fry, Misses Verna Barnub, Agnes Thompson, Jennie Fry, Hazel Barnum and Cora Irwin.

They also had a drawing contest for a ninety-seven dinner and tea set of dishes.

The lucky number drawn belonged to Mr. Charles Nadoo of Campbellford, and he is the possessor of the dishes, which are on exhibition in McIntosh Bros.' window, Front street.

The proceeds, which amounted to one hundred and eighty-five dollars and seventy-five cents, go toward paying of the cost of the new extension recently added to the Orange Hall. Mr. Robert Fry, of Campbellford, was the auctioneer for the boxes sold.

Mr. J. A. Donald, who was hurt in Stirling last Saturday morning, was brought to his home in Campbellford on Sebastapol Street on Thursday. He is improving but very slowly. Miss Alma Upton has been in Stirling nursing Mr. Donald.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Greig, Queen Street, left on Friday afternoon on a motor trip to Gouverneau, N.Y., where they will spend the Thanksgiving holiday at the home of Mrs. Greig's parents.

Mr. John Diamond and daughter Jean, of Norham, and his two nieces, Misses Edith and Bessie Diamond, of Palmerston, spent Thursday in Campbellford, the guests of Mrs. Nelson Stone and Mrs. T. L. Diamond on Front Street.

Mr. Gillespie, of Kingston, spent Thursday in Campbellford on a business trip.

Mrs. Frank Daly, who has been visiting friends in Bancroft, returned to her home on Oliver Road, on Wednesday.

TO BUILD 12 SHIPS.

Russia Has Begun Work On Ships Of Merchant Marine.

LENINGRAD, Nov. 7. — Soviet Russia has begun the creation of its own merchant marine. It has just laid the keels of eight cargo boats and four passenger steamers. The vessels will be built entirely in Soviet shipyards, principally at the Putilov Iron Works and the Baltic Shipbuilding Yards here.

The total cost of the 12 vessels, which will have an aggregate of 35,000 tonnage, will be $5,000,000. They will be completed early in 1926. The government hopes through these steamers to lower freight rates and to compete with foreign ship owners.

BALDWIN'S NEW CABINET READY

Crowds Cheered as the Two Groups Saluted in Passing —The Prince Present.

(By Lloyd Allen—United Press Staff Correspondent).

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The old regime and the new met at the gates of Buckingham Palace to-day, Labor Ministers who had relinquished their seals of office to King George, greeting and shaking hands with members of the Conservative Cabinet coming to take the oath of office. Crowds cheered as the two groups saluted in passing.

The King received Ramsay MacDonald and his Ministers and the seals of office were delivered. The Prime Minister was the first to arrive at the Palace, driving up in his much discussed automobile. J. H. Thomas and several other Ministers came in taxi cabs, while Sydney Webb and some others arrived democratically on foot.

The throng that pressed against the high iron fence at the Palace entrance, watched in silence as the Laborites entered. The pageant of the changing of the Palace guard amused them more.

Afterwards when the Labor ex-Ministers emerged and encountered Sir Laming - Worthington - Evans, Stanley Baldwin and Winston Churchill, the crowd cheered. Sir Laming shook hands with Tom Shaw, Labor Minister in the MacDonald Cabinet.

The Prince of Wales arrived from York House, just as Marquis Curzon and Lord Birkenhead drove up. They, too, were greeted with cheers.

A Privy Council was held and the new Cabinet took the oath and received the seals of office and a regime of the Conservative Government, which most believe will last five years, began. The Liberal press to-day agreed that Baldwin's new Cabinet was stronger and more brilliant than his former Minister, which the Daily Chronicle said was only a "scrub team."

The Times welcomes the inclusion of Winston Churchill, Lord Birkenhead and other members of the Lloyd George Coalition Government whereby Baldwin has "closed—let us hope for ever—the scism which never was due to any divergence of political outlook."

The new Cabinet is the first in British history which has had to wait for approval while the Sovereign watched a baseball game. King George spent the afternoon watching the Giants and the White Sox play, while Baldwin waited for the Royal approval of his list.

The appointment of Winston Churchill to the post of the Chancellor of the Exchequer was the one surprise. The United Press learns this was done in the belief that Churchill can introduce a budget rivalling Labor's in popular appeal.

NEWS FROM TWEED.

A Fire of Unknown Origin Destroyed the Union Hotel.

TWEED, Nov. 7. — The annual dance of the Auditorium committee, which was held in the Auditorium last night, was largely attended. An orchestra from Belleville furnished the music.

A fire of unknown origin destroyed the Union hotel, of which A. A. Farrar was proprietor. A grocery store was in connection. For a number of years Mr. Farrar had a grocery store here.

Mrs. Wesley Badgely was rushed to Kingston General Hospital this morning for an operation for appendicitis.

A car stolen from Felix Cashotte was found at Smith's Falls.

CHEAP AMERICAN COAL SHUTS DOWN WELSH MINES.

Ruhr Supplies Also Causing Loss in Production.

Closing down of two coal mines in the Welsh fields, which brings the number of mines now idle in the larger fields to 19, is the result of a serious falling off of the export trade, says the operators.

Competition from America, where coal is being sold under the British prices, and the fact that settlement of the Ruhr trouble has re-opened that source of supply, is responsible for the decrease in exports, an official of the operators' association said.

Production has dropped from 287,000,000 tons in 19913 to 279,000,000 tons in 1923.

NEWS OF COBOURG.

Sudden Death of Well Known Merchant—Industries Quiet.

COBOURG, Nov. 7.—Mr. Peter York a prominent merchant of Cobourg, passed away suddenly on Tuesday evening of this week. Mr. Yorke was apparently in good health and his death comes as a distinct shock to the resident's of this community.

One of Cobourg's prominent coal dealers predicts a shortage of coal this winter due to the fact that people throughout the United States and Canada have not been laying in their usual supply of coal during the summer and early fall months. He stated further that in all probability there will be a sharp advance in the price. Coal is selling locally at $15.50 per ton.

The continued fine weather has aided the farmers in their fall work. Plowing is nearly completed and fall grains are showing to good advantage. One prominent farmer stated that rain is badly needed to replenish the water supply.

Industrial conditions in Cobourg are very dull with several factories working part time. The Cobourg Felt Company which has had a checkered career, is now in the hands of the liquidation and it is expected this plant will be closed in the near future throwing about seventy-five employees out of work. The business outlook this coming winter is certainly not very promising.

PREVENT SHRINKAGE

All the waters in which blankets are washed and rinsed should be of the same temperatirue if you would prevent shrinkage.

KEENE CREAMERY.

Flourishing Industry is a Big Thing For Otonabee Farmers.

KEENE, Nov. 6. — The Trent Valley Creamery of Keene is a branch of the Trent Valley Cream Co., with headquarters at Campbellford. Mr. Southworth of that town is the head of this growing and enterprising concern. Every one in this district and surrounding country are familiar with the high-class product of which a great part is manufactured at the Keene factory. The fact that there were numerous factories which formerly made butter and cheese were closed down did not at all dampen the idea of the management in putting up another up-to-date factory. This has always been a good dairying township, and Mr. Southworth could not see why a factory could not be built to take care of the farmers' product right at their door with a minimum of labor to the farmer and the maximum price in return for what he produces. The vision he had has been put into practice. Three years ago a factory was constructed, built of cement blocks, 28 x 70, being situated within a few yards of the Canadian National Railway Station. It is operated by one of the best butter-makers in Ontario, Mr. Geo. Renwick, of Westwood. Mr. Renwick has devoted the major part of his life to this phase of work, and many hundreds will vouch for the quality of butter which he makes at this particular factory.

It is equipped with a large churn, its capacity being 1,000 lbs. of butter. This is driven by a large gasoline engine. The large quantity of cream coming in makes it necessary to churn every day, and sometimes twice per day. A cold storage plant is also installed in the building, about 10,000 blocks of ice being stored every winter for the summer use. A large steam boiler is also kept in use for heating, hot water, etc. Cleanliness is one of the first considerations. A truck is kept on the road all the time. Each day, early in the morning, it starts out and collects the cream from each individual farmer, the rapidity of trans port making it almost impossible for the cream to go bad from the time it leaves its source of supply until the product is ready for the table. Last year this factory alone produced about 130,000 lbs. of butter, and each succeeding year finds it still increasing. The butter is shipped to Peterboro and the local markets, and a large quantity to Toronto.

One of the main features of the management of this concern is the policy of quick returns to the farmers. Every two weeks each patron receives his cheque. This is far in advance of the old method of having to wait for six months for returns.

In the past three years the matter of having this factory running and taking all of the farmers' output has been a big asset to this district.

Mr. Renwick, the present manager, is to be congratulated upon the success of the factory in h charge, and hopes that the sam cordial relationship between himse and the patrons will always be maintained.

GET ACQUAINTED WITH K.G.O.

(OAKLAND, CAL IF.—312 METERS)

By WILLIAM J. FAGAN

Penetrating the tropic atmosphere of the South Sea Islands and the frigid regions of Alaska, as well as the temperate zone of the states lining the Atlantic seaboard, goes the voice of KGO, maintained by the General Electric at Oakland, Calif. And the voice has carried with it something that the far-off listener can enjoy, for the programs of KGO have maintained an unusual standard of excellence.

Along with WGY at Schenectady, KGO has been one of the pioneers in the field of radio drama and the KGO Players have weekly broadcasted dramatic material, both new and old favorites, as well as occasional 'first performances.'

Realizing the educational possibilities of radio, KGO has, for sometime, devoted its Monday evening program to an educational course, for the purpose of teaching Spanish, literature, music and other subjects which can be conveniently taught thru the microphone.

Then, too, the KGO Little Symphony Orchestra has done no little toward establishing KGO's prestige. It is a real orchestra, not one of the violin and piano ensembles which stations too numerous to mention dignify with the term "symphony orchestra." The Sunday afternoon concerts of this organization, as well as special weekly appearances, have been a real pleasure to listeners throughout the west.

These are the established features at KGO, along with the hotel orchestras which perform concert and dance music. The St. Francis Concert Orchestra has daily matinees, while Henry Halstead's Dance Orchestra is on the air three nights weekly with syncopation.

As in the case where a station's concert periods are restricted to but two or three nights weekly, KGO's studio concerts are of very good quality. Discrimination and selection can be exercised so that none but first rate singers and instrumental soloist appear on the programs. San Francisco talent is available just across the bay and some really fine programs have been given by San Francisco choral societies and choirs, as well as by solo performers.

There is an even balance between classical and popular music, as should be, and KGO's programs are exceptionally well arranged. The stations' power can be gauged by the opening paragraph of this article and KGO is well aware of the fact that it owes its army of listeners something in the way of good features. On the Pacific Coast broadcasters, KGO is probably the one which listeners would miss most were it to close down—than which no greater praise can be bestowed.

NEWS OF HAVELOCK.

Local Hunting Parties Off to the North Country—A November Wedding.

HAVELOCK, November 7. — A number from Havelock and vicinity have gone to the north country deer hunting, their destinations being Mink Lake, New Maynooth, Beaver Creek, Apsley, and Blue Mountains, near Stoney Lake.

The G.W.V.A. are holding a memorial service in the Town Hall on Sunday afternoon next. After the service they will decorate the memorial arch at the park. The principal speaker will be Major J. F. B. Belford, M.P.P., East Northumberland. Music will be furnished by the 40th Regiment Band of Campbellford.

The wedding of Miss Myrtle McLaren, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McLaren, e Ottawa Street, to Mr. Warden Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Norwood, was solemnized at 1 o'clock on Wednesday at the bride's home, Havelock.

The service was performed by the Rev. T. M. Wesley, of Norwood, in the presence of a number of friends and relatives. The house was beautifully decorated with ferns, cedars and smilax.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked very pretty in a dress of sand canton crepe with embroidered georgette trimmings, and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. Miss Elsie Armstrong, of Lindsay, was the bride's only attendant, and was charmingly gowned in a dress of cocoa brown canton crepe with lace trimmings, and carried a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums. Mr. Vivian Brown, of Norwood, brother of the groom, acted as groomsman.

The many guests enjoyed a dainty buffet luncheon after the ceremony, after which the happy young couple left on the 2.45 train for Toronto and other points West, the bride travelling in a brown suit, with hat, shoes and stockings to match, and wearing the gift of the groom, an Isabella fox fur.

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a string of pearls, and to the groomsman a gold watch chain.

On their return, the young couple will reside on a farm near Norwood.

Mrs. F. J. Hooper spent Monday in Toronto.

Mr. A. C. Denike is attending the centenary celebration of the Methodist Missionary Society of Ontario and Quebec, held in Toronto this week in Massey Hall.

Mrs. Ed. Williams is guest of her son, Rev. M. G. B. Williams, at Millbrook.

Mr. W. B. Ritchie, of Toronto, was in town Monday and Tuesday last, renewing old acquaintances.

Mrs. B. Haig is the guest of Mrs. J. E. Glover at Cambray.

Mr. Gordon Ames, of Toronto, was the guest of Mr. Thomas Wood this week.

Mr. Ronald Jack, of Trenton, was in town on Wednesday and Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bush spent Thursday in Toronto.

His Honor Judge Huycke presided at the regular session of Division Court on Thursday. There were very few cases and they were soon disposed of.

A football match between Norwood High School and Havelock Continuation School took place in the Park on Wednesday afternoon at 4.30 p.m., when Norwood was victorious by the score of 1-0. Referee, Mr. George Godden, of Havelock.

Shortage May Compel Bulgarian Government to Let Girls Bob Hair.

DRESS REGULATION

LONDON, Nov. 4.— Dame Nature may save Bulgarian school girls the liberty of bobbed hair.

The Tsankoff Government this autumn issued a decree that only girls with long hair would be allowed to enter the gymnasia. By some mysterious method many girls who were bobbed and shingled in mid-summer appear at school with long hair. Now comes a water shortage, which has even limited the drinking water in Bulgaria, and the public health authorities are debating whether they can afford to permit water to be used for shampooing, or whether the public health wouldn't be better served by permitting bobbed hair among the girlhood of the nation. The girls are anxious that the water shortage continue.

Curiously enough the anti-bobbed hair movement by the Tsnakoff government is quite in line with many of the reforms put into effect by the late Stambolisky agrarian government. Though Tsnakoff is a bourgeois professor and an enemy of the agrarians he has not seen fit to lift many of the restrictions laid down by the agrarian government.

Compulsory Labor.

Stambolisky decreed compulsory labor, partly because he thought it would please him to see spoiled aristicratic sons toiling under big-whiskered bosses. Yet Tsnakoff has not repealed this decree.

"Bulgaria's Sodom and Gomorrah" was the epithet applied to Sofia by Stambolisky and he ordered all cafes and saloons closed at 8 p.m.

Bulgarian women have had to suffer under dress regulations. Stambolisky laid down very strict rules regarding the height of waists and skirts. His government collected goodly sums from women who insisted upon wearing decollette gowns and short skirts. Beyond fines it is charged that women jailers administered physical punishment to some women transgressors of these laws. Some of these laws were lifted after the death of Stambolisky.

Demand Water.

One hundred thousand girls were affected by the decree issued this autumn against bobbed hair. There were long and loud protests when the order was issued, but there was general compliance for the memory of Stamolisky's women jailers with long whips remained fresh. Now that the water shortage has come the girls are harrassing the officials for permits for large quantities of water for shampooing their hair, maintaining that it takes far more water to shampoo long hair than bobbed hair. The authorities are giving the question weight consideration.

NORFLEET'S HOME SAVED.

Texas Ranchman Who Tracked $45,000 Swindlers "Broke" Again.

FORT WORTH, Texas, November 6. — Frank Norfleet, ranchman and deputy sheriff at Hale Centre, who lost one fortune to confidence men, and spent another chasing them to earth, has saved his home from a creditor.

A loan yesterday lifted a mortgage just before a foreclosure suit.

Norfleet in 19199 lost $45,000 to fake stock salesmen and market players, who fled.

Mortgaging his home, Norfleet caught one in Florida, another in Utah, another in California, and another in Washington in an 18,000-mile pursuit of three years. All of the "salesmen" were convicted.

Turns Garbage Into Gas then Burns It

TOKYO, (By Mail to the United Press).—If the gas in the cook-stove goes out along about dinner time in the coming winter months, the irate housewife should insist upon the installation of a plant like the one just invented here.

It burns gas made at ohme. Refuse from the commisary of S. Mizuno isn't dumped into a can for the stray dogs to turn over in the night. It is placed into a reservoir to await its turn to become manufactured gas. For this inventor has a plant under ground in his backyard where he turns garbage into combustible gas. Mizuno plans to become rich and famous.

Dr. B. R. Brickner, Editor Canadian Jewish Review, Rabbi of Holy Blossom Synagogue, and president of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, will address the Kiwanis Club on Thursday evening, November 6th, at their dinner at 6.30. He will also speak later in the evening at 8.15 at the annual convention of teachers of the city of Peterboro.

AUSTRIA ALSO TO HAVE UNKNOWN SOLDIER SHRINE.

Grave Will Be Blasted in Solid Rock Atop Alpine Peak.

VIENNA, November 7. — The Army of the new Austrian Republic has announced its intention to pay homage to the army of the old monarchy and following the example of France, Belgium, Britain, and the United States, will erect a monument to the Unknown Soldier.

The new army desires that the grave shall not be situated in Vienna, which is "overrich with monuments to great persons soon forgotten," and where "remembrance of the past is drowned in the dissensions and money-making of the present, but proposes that the grave be blasted in the top of Austria's highest mountain, Great Glockner, the icy peak which commands the surrounding Alps and looks down on all Austria.

CURE SLEEPING SICKNESS.

British Doctor Claims Success In Treating Disease.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—What is claimed to be the successful treatment of cases of "sleep sickness" by innoculation, is described by the Daily Mail as having occurred in the Lancashire Union Infirmary.

A boy patient, says the Mail, developed the disease and the doctor innoculated him with a special vaccine. A woman was admitted later suffering from sleepy sickness, and doctor innoculated her with blood serum from the boy. The woman improved almost immediately and is now in perfect health, and the boy also recovered. The ministry of health is investigating the claim.

FIFTY COUPLES AT FIREMEN'S DANCE

Peterboro's Youth Represented at Lakefield Masquerade.

LAKEFIELD, November 7. — The firemen registered another hit in their third annual masquerade on Tuesday evening. In spite of the fact that the call of "the hunt" had summoned a goodly number of the sterner sex from the village there was a good crowd and not as large a number of extra girls as one might imagine. About 50 couples tipped the light fantastic. There was a large contingent from Peterboro and several carloads from Young's Point. The music, which was excellent, was provided by Follis' orchestra of Peterborough, the programme having a variety of the popular dances. Prizes were awarded to Miss Clara Young of Young's Point, who represented an "Indian Maiden," and to Miss Helen Simpson as "Hallowe'en," and to Mr. Fred Webster as a clown, and Mr. Sam. R. Sherin as a "Scarecrow." Other notable costumes were worn by Miss Gwen Simpson as a Hawaiian, and Miss Yvonne Stuart representing the "English Crest."

Among those in costume were:

Miss Hilda McKibbin, Gypsy.
Miss Hazel Crawford, Golden Glow.
Miss Doreen Johnston, Bulgarian Girl.
Miss Ida Webster, Gypsy.
Miss Helen Burgess, Hallowe'en.
Miss Yvonne Stuart, English Crest
Miss Gwen Simpson, Hawaiian.
Miss Mary Johnston, Summer.
Miss Kidd, Queen of Hearts.
Miss Clara Young, Indian Head.
Miss Kathleen Young, Starlight.
Miss Ivah Windsor, Persian gentleman.
Miss Isabelle White, Persian Lady.
Mr. J. W. Ridpath, Parson.
Mr. Gerald Sherin, Clown.
Mr. Fred Webster, Clown.
Mr. Sam Sherin, Scarecrow.

Fire Chief W. L. Webster and his men have reason to congratulate themselves on the success of the evening.

Meeting in Omemee.

It is expected that a good representation of St. John's A.Y.P.A. will attend the meeting of the Local Council in Omemee on Friday night.

Lakefield Personals.

Mrs. H. J. Stuart returned on Tuesday from Toronto where she was a delegate to the convention of the Ladies' Auxiliary of G.W.V.A.

Mrs. Elmsley has returned from a visit to friends in Toronto.

Mrs. G. A. Welbourne spent a few days in Peterboro last week.

Messrs Thomas Strachan and W. Jones of Toronto, were in the village on Tuesday.

BRAINS ARE WORTH MORE THAN BEAUTY

Beautiful Girl is No Good if She Hasn't Brains.

By HAROLD E. SWISHER.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 7.—(United Press).—"I would rather have an ordinary looking girl with plenty of brains than the most beautiful creature in the world who lacked brains."

So says Sam Wood, prominent director, and so say other directors in Hollywood, thereby issuing a warning to many beautiful girls whose friends continually gush "you should be in the movies."

"The camera does not merely photograph the outer shell," says Wood. "It pictures the soul. There must be something underneath the veneer of beauty. Most of our feminine stars are not ravishingly beautiful. They can, however, be easily made up to photograph beautiful through the use of make-up, lighting and camera effects. They must possess brains or they would not be stars."

* * *

Emerging again from the semi-obscurity in which she has lived ever since the death of her husband, Wallace Reid, almost two years ago, Mrs. Wallace Reid, known professionally as Dorothy Davenport, is making another cinema preachment, evolved with the idea of entertainment which teaches a truth.

The success which greeted her first film venture following her prominent husband's death inspired Mrs. Reid to undertake a second picture. "Human Wreckage," shown some months ago and still a popular film, drove home the danger of the narcotic evil in forceful fashion, and undoubtedly was of widespread service in spreading a realization of the undermining power of drugs.

Her next picture is called "Broken Laws." It's theme, Mrs. Reid says, may be taken from the following recent words of a prominent jurist: "The good women of the nation, by insisting upon obedience to law in their own homes and elsewhere, will do much to maintain these civic standards, without which a Republic cannot live."

"Broken Laws," says Mrs. Reid, "will be more than a preachment. They are generally dry and uninteresting, but there are so many big possibilities that go to make up the daily lives of people that are entirely overlooked because of their simplicity."

One of the most discouraging things about poverty is that it lasts a long time.

THOUSANDS ARE GOING HOME FOR THANKSGIVING.

Thanksgiving this year falling on Monday, November 10th, allows an unusually long week-end, and permits travelling distances which would be impossible in a shorter period. Thousands are arranging to visit the home folks or out-of-town friends.

The Passenger Department of the Canadian National Railways are making special arrangements on all routes to provide the public with every travelling comfort. Nevertheless, as it is impossible to estimate the number who will be travelling, it would be wise for all those who anticipate taking advantage of this occasion to make their reservations as soon as possible.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

MME. SIMONE ON NEW YORK STAGE

Arrived For Short Season in French Plays—Polished Performance.

A CLASSIC LIST.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7. — The French players and Mme. Simone are offering Broadway its most European, its most conservative and perhaps its most polished performance.

Most of the importations have had the appeal of indiscreet armours, as in the case of the translated "Fata Morgana," or of intrinsic spectacle and tremendous publicity, as the Chauve-Souris.

Mme. Simone comes quietly with a repertoire of classical plays, having its appeal largely limited to Margaret Anglin, the Canadian actress and William Faversham will be united in the same company after years of separation when they take Zoe Akin's "Footloose" on a tour of the South. The play was presented five years ago in New York and ran five or six months.

those who speak French or to those craving to do the correct thing socially. Her season is announced to be of short duration, but there is great reason why it should be cordially received.

Rostand's "L'Aiglon" opened the season, with the program calling for Pirandello's "Naked"; "Madame Sans-Gene," "Camille," "Amoureuse" and "Phedre."

Sarah Bernhardt created "L'Aiglon" nearly a quarter of a century ago, and it is therefore a difficult path to follow, even as "France's foremost actress." Mme. Simone is not mimicking any other actress in her forceful personality into an individualistic conception.

Especially memorable scenes, made so by the effective handling of the actors, are the self-disclosure of the old servant, Flambeau, as one of Napoleon's veterans, and Metternich's tirade at L'Aiglon before the mirror.

As French as the Frenchiest of Parisian farces is the sophisticated "Firebrand" by an American, Edwin Justus Mayer.

Benvenuto Cellini is the leading figure, set in authentic history but entertaining rather than didactic. Joseph Schildkraut plays the role with his customary efficiency. Approaching much more nearly to lead interest than most supporting actors are Frank Morgan as the duke and Nana Bryant as the duchess.

Cellini trades his wife to the duke to avoid execution, but immediately gets in trouble with the duchess, with whom he was playing a "great lover." There are complications galore, agile subterfuges, balcony romances and numerous lines which skate over thin ice safely only by reason of skilful handling.

Florence Reed, who plays bad women as well as any actress on the boards, has the role of a very noble and long suffering creature in "Ashes" which probably affords her the worst vehicle of her career.

The play is badly written and insincere and deserves a speedy sentence to the store house, but there are two or three times when Miss Reed gets meat out of the meager morsel, and convince you that you haven't been mistaken about her ability heretofore.

"Ashes" is the story of an actress who finds it difficult to be a good wife, a good mother and a good Cleopatra at one and the same time. She wants to specialize on motherhood and does some very effective weeping for a child just outside the wings, but her husband insists on making a tragedienne of her. Hence the ashes.

PREVENTS TARNISH.

If you apply a thin coating of colorless lacquer such as you can get at any paint shop to your brass candlesticks and ornaments they will not tarnish and will need slight attention from you on cleaning day.

ENJOYS EVERY MEAL SAYS MONTREAL MAN

Lecavalier Gives Tanlac Full Credit.

Another well known Montreal business man pays high tribute to the merits of Tanlac. This time it is Hector Lecavalier, dairy and grocery merchant, 360 Beaubien St. Mr. Lecavalier resides at 1922 Chateaubriand Avenue, Montreal. Here is what he says:

"I am now enjoying my three square meals a day, sleep good at night and feel fine, but that is vastly different from the condition I was in before taking Tanlac. I used to have indigestion so bad I dreaded to eat and could hardly keep anything down.

"Besides, I was troubled with bronchitis, dizzy spells and upset nerves. My tongue was coated white, my energy gone and I felt worn-out all the time. Seven bottles of Tanlac has stopped my troubles and now I am a new and different man."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

TRY SULPHUR ON AN ECZEMA SKIN

Costs Little and Overcomes Trouble Almost Over Night.

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

JAPANESE WORRIED BY PUBLIC GRAFT

Late Disclosures Chiefly Of Concern Members of Tokyo Municipal Assembly.

By H. FRANCIS MISSELIVITZ

TOKYO, (By mail to United Press.) — Startling disclosures of graft among public officials have shocked the capitol.

Late disclosures chiefly concern members of the Toyko Municipal Assembly. The indictment of 20 members of the Government controlled railways caused intense interest in the manner in which it was alleged these men had misused public utilities and obtained about Yen 170,000 for their influence in various matters.

Toyko has been without a Mayor for nearly a month now and a half dozen members of the Assembly are suspected of complicity in a bribe plot which has caused great internal dissension in Toyko's city government.

The Mayor resigned when his appointment of a new head of the city electrical bureau was refused by the Assembly and that body elected another man for the post.

Since then, one alderman has been ordered held in prison pending his trial for giving bribes to buy votes for this new chief of the bureau, Ryota Daido, and others, are being questioned by the procurator as to their parts in the scandal. In the meantime, the assembly cannot settle on a new mayor.

This has held up reconstruction work in the Capitol. The program which was to have started late in September, has been delayed.

TRADE SUCCESS IS WEMBLEY FEATURE

Canadian Dried Milk Dealer Sold His Output For Next Five Years.

LONDON, Nov. 7 (Associated Press)—If the Wembley Exhibition has not been a financial success to the promoters it has been an unqualified success from the point of view of sales and orders. Many new markets, it is declared, have been created through the exposure of goods, and some Canadian and Australian manufacturers have sold their outputs for the next five years.

Among the big business deals concluded, the following are recorded:

One engineering firm received orders from five different municipalities for an equal number of electrical generating installations; a provincial grocer increased his sale of New Zealand butter by 100 per cent. in two months; a Canadian dried milk dealer sold his output for the the next five years to a British firm; one million boxes of Canadian fruit were ordered by European buyers; sales in the Indian pavilion amounted to $250,000 in three months; the little colony of Cyprus was overwhelmed with orders; one French firm asked for 20,000 dozen boot heels, and another dealer ordered $145,000 worth of Cyprus asbestos.

TWO MEN DROWNED WHEN BOAT UPSET

Waters of Montreal River Claimed Lives of Two Young Timber Inspectors.

COBALT, Nov. 7. — (Canadian Press).—The story of the All Saints' Day tragedy, in which two young married men lost their lives by drowning in the northern bush, was brought to the Provincial police district headquarters here yesterday by Constable Ambrose Craugh, of Elk Lake. Leo Guimond and Emil Gelina were the victims. Both men were 23 years of age, and had their home in Guigues, Quebec.

The men had been inspecting timber for Guimond's father, who has a contract with J. R. Booth Co. Crossing the bay on the Montreal River to their camp in a canoe, their craft upset within a short distance of the shore, and in sight of Guimond's father and two sisters, who, having no boat handy, could give no aid.

Gelina was drowned almost immediately. Guimond almost reached the bank by swimming, but collapsed almost within a foot of safety.

LIBERAL DEFEATED.

Ramsay MacDonald Exercised Little Patronage as Labor Leader.

VERNON, B.C., Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press).—Yale constituency remains in the Conservative column, Grote Stirling, Conservative, having defeated Daniel W. Sutherland, his Liberal opponent, in the Federal by-election to-day.

With all the main centres in and eight small polls missing at 9 p.m., Mr. Stirling had a majority of 419. One hundred and two polls out of 110 gave Stirling 6,600, Sutherland 6,186. In the last election the late J. A. Mackelvie defeated Mr. Sutherland by a majority of 542. The remaining polls will not affect the result.

GENERAL STRIKE CALLED.

Steamship Companies Employing Non-Union Men.

ST. JOHN'S Nfld., Nov. 7. — (Canadian Press). — The general strike was called yesterday in sympathy with that of the Longshoremen the day previous, who demanded an eight-hour day and no overtime. The Longshoremen voted to continue the strike until their demands are met. It was said here that it was doubtful if the call for the general strike would meet with a large response.

Steamship companies will begin to-day to employ non-union labor to handle the waiting cargoes. Strong police protection will be given the workers.

APPOINTED ONE JUDGE.

Yale Constituency Remains In Conservative Column.

LONDON, Nov. 7. — (Canadian Press).—Ramsay MacDonald is expected to issue his honors list at the end of thi week. Every outgoing Premier is entitled to submit a list to His Majesty the King. It is thought that Mr. MacDonald will confine his honors to the Departmental officials.

Few Premiers even with tenures of office as short as that of Premier MacDonald, have exercised so little patronage as the Labor leader. He has appointed only one Bishop and one Judge.

FLOAT WINNIPEG LOAN

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Offering will be made shortly of $6,000,000 Winnipeg Electric Company thirty year 6 per cent. refunding mortgage bonds by a syndicate of New York and Canadian bankers.

Give a man enough rope and he will start manufacturing five-cent cigars.

BOTNICK BROS. 432 GEORGE STREET

The Affair at Flower Acres

© 1924 by NEA Service Inc. — By CARLYN WELLS

"Now, now, Mr. Finley," the old man removed his pipe from his mouth as he glowered at the speaker, "it don't become you—the suspected murderer of Mr. Raynor, and the present lover of Mrs. Raynor, to come around here with such talk! You ain't in no position to threaten me—you'd better lay low, if you know what's good for yourself."

"Grimshawe Gannon, you're an old man—or I'd knock you down for that speech! Moreover, if you ever mention that lady's name, except in terms of utmost respect and reverence, I'll deal with you accordingly. Yout accusations against myself bother me not at all—but remember what I have said! Now I know you for a fraud and a rascal. I know you witnessed that will for Mr. Raynor, and I also know that it is in your possession. Produce it, or I'll have you arrested for fraud and deceit."

"My good land!" From a complacent, bullying old man, Gannon changed to a cringing, frightened coward. "What do you mean, Mr. Finley? I don't know anything about the will!"

"The copy was found in your house.'

"That doesn't prove the original is there."

"It proves that it may be," and Finley watched closely the changing countenance of the man.

"Maybe's a long way off," Gannon said.

He puzzled Finley; and Goddard, too, was at a loss just how to take him.

But, as if by an inspiration, Finley said, suddenly, "Oh, of course, you don't know anything about it. But we can get all necessary information from Peters—the other witness."

"Peters!" Gannon's face fell. "You don't know where he is."

"Oh, don't we!"

"Say—do you know where Peter is?" Gannon was whining now.

"We do. Now, here's your last chance, Gannon." This from Goddard "Do you want to come clean about the will—or take your chances on getting into trouble over the thing?"

Gannon considered. He looked from one to the other, and shrewdly concluded they were—partly, at least—bluffing.

"I'll take my chances," he said, and resumed his pipe.

And no amount of further cajolery, threatening or argument could gain any more information from him.

* * *

Detective Dobbins had a long session with Doctor Saxton.

The family physician admitted that there had been occasions when he had felt a slight suspicion that Douglas Raynor indulged in morphine, but he had never seen sufficient definite symptoms to prove it to his own satisfaction. Dobbins' story of the morphine Nan threw away made him very thoughtful.

"I do wish I could prove up her yarn," he said. "No, I've never suspected her of touching morphine herself—and I'm sure she wasn't an addict—but when a woman suffers as she has, it is not surprising if they turn to narcotics for relief."

"Never mind your opinions, Doc, get down to facts. Was there any trace of morphine found in the stomach of Douglas Raynor at the autopsy?"

"Not a trace," and Doctor Saxton looked carefully at the report he held.

"What would be the cure?"

"Why, atropine, of course."

"Was any trace of atropine mentioned in the report?"

"No"; and again the doctor scrutinized the typewritten statement.

"But there is plenty of evidence of cumulative arsenical poisoning?"

"Plenty."

"Then the yarn fails to the ground. It was clever but she is a clever woman. I believe, as you suggested, that her troubles forced her to the use of morphine. That she destroyed it rather than have it known to be in her possession. That she pretended it was her husband' who took it, to save her own reputation. And then, it came in handy to say the tablets she gave him secretly were to cure him of a drug habit—there are such things, aren't there——?"

"Oh, yes. There are such remedies advertised, and many foolish, hopeful wives have secretly tried to cure their unsuspecting husbands of the drink or drug habit by such means."

"Why foolish wives?"

"Because it never succeeds, and usually worse trouble ensues."

"Well, the kind of morphine she threw away—white powder—is the kind that is taken internally, isn't it?"

"Yes."

"And would be found in the stomach after death?"

"If taken recently enough."

"Well, as neither of these thing are shown and as arsenic is shown I'm betting that those tablets were arsenic—and I'm going to work on that belief."

"You're a detective, and I'm only a doctor. But I've known Mrs. Raynor pretty well, and I can't bring myself to believe that she would poison her husband."

"Have you ever known of a woman who did kill her husband?"

The doctor thought a moment. "Yes—I have known of two cases."

"And in either case would you have believed that that woman would kill her husband?"

"No, I would not! I could scarcely believe it after I knew it was the truth."

"That's the answer," said Dobbins. "Now, you knew that the Raynors were not happy together, didn't you?"

"Nobody could be happy with that man. I don't see why she ever married him."

"Probably for his money."

"It must have been."

"Now, here's another point, Doctor. That nurse he had. Why did he have her?"

"Oh, Raynor was a diet crank—there are lots of them nowadays. She was a dietitian, and she pandered to his fads and fancies."

"Is that all there was to it?"

"So far as I know. What do you mean?"

"I didn't altogether like the doings of that nurse. I didn't like the way she looked at Mrs. Raynor——"

"Jealous?"

"Vindictive, rather. She bore Mrs. Raynor no good will. Of that I'm sure. And she was a sly one. Moreover, she left hurriedly, and took with her a big sum of money."

"Whose?"

"Oh, her own—at least, they say it was. But it's strange for a man to give such a lot of money to a nurse—unless he's in love with her. And I've found no hint that such was the case."

"Oh, no; Miss Turner was not a young woman—nor in any way a fascinating woman. Also, Raynor was not like that sort of a man. He had faults—he was a brute to his wife, he was a cold-blooded fish, but he wasn't a woman fancier—not at all."

"Well, then, the nurse had some sort of a hold over him——"

"No; Raynor wouldn't be in thrall of any sort to any woman."

"She might have known something about him——"

"Not likely—though possible. Well, Mr. Detective, if you suspect Miss Turner of any wrong-doing, why did you let her get away?"

"I don't exactly suspect her of wrong-doing—but I'd like to question her about Raynor. And I'm going to do it."

Some women tell the truth and others are popular.

AGE OF FAKES.

False Furs, Jewels and Plumes Are All Worn.

Not so long ago no well-dressed woman thought of wearing imitation fur or imitation jewels. Anything but the genuine article was tabooed. Today, however, things have changed.

At the autumn dress show many beautiful coats and frocks displayed by famous dressmakers have been trimmed with imitation furs—leopard, chinchilla, ermine, sable, kolinsky and so on. So wonderful are these imitations that they are sometimes almost as costly as the real article.

Imitation pelts are also used satisfactorily for making into wraps, and are worn by the most fashionable women, who also favor tight-fitting necklaces of large imitation pearls. Their evening gowns, too, are adorned with gems that are dazzling, but not real.

Trimming on their hats often consists of imitation plumes.

Reproductions of all manner of rare skins are used to make smart shoes and attractive handbags.

Life wouldn't be worth living if it wasn't for the things beyond our reach.

Once in a while you will step on the starter switch and hear a thud as the starter pinion goes into mesh with the teeth on the flywheel—but the engine will not turn over. Sometimes this is due to a run-down battery which has enough strength to throw the pinion into mesh, but not enough to spin the engine.

If the trouble is with the battery, you will hear the pinion go over every time you step on the switch, but if you are experiencing the trouble Doc deals with this week, there will be no response when you step on the switch the second time.

The pinion is located on a continuation of the shaft which runs through the starter motor and is thrown into gear by a device known as the bendix drive. If the gear teeth become worn they are likely to slip out of mesh when the strain is thrown on them. If the pinion is made to climb over the flywheel teeth there will be a tendency to bend the shaft, but if it is too rigid to bend, it will bind in the bearings, locking the shaft so tightly that the spring can not release the pinion when your foot is removed from the switch.

By putting the car in high gear you will be able to turn the engine and flywheel over by rolling it forward or backward. Usually the pinion will be released by moving the car a few inches. If the trouble begins to occur too often you should have a new pinion put on and the bearings tightened up. You may be able to get rid of your trouble by tightening up the bearings without replacing the pinion.

FUR COATS

Are you in need of one? Then do not fail, before buying elsewhere, to take a look at any rate at the various garments we have to offer in Hudson Seal, Persian Lamb, Electric Seal etc. They are all made in the very latest styles and their values are, we are safe in saying, beyond question.

MUSQUASH COATS.—There are peculiarly suitable for Teachers and Business Young Ladies, being tastefully made up and beautifully lined. The prices are unusually moderate indeed the supply is limited — and we can recommend them as a very serviceable garment.

DEMONSTRATION AT THE MARKET

Much Interest Shown in Meat Demonstration Held Yesterday.

LADIES INTERESTED.

Nearly two hundred women and a score or more of men attended the meat demonstration given in the Market Hall yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the Local Council of Women, by Mr. J. C. Stewart, of the Municipal Marketing Bureau in Ottawa, and C. W. McIntosh, V.S., of Toronto, Federal Government inspector of packing houses in that city. The meeting was characterized by Mr. Stewart as the second best in their experience, a demonstration attended by two hundred ladies in Montreal being its nearest competitor. He also remarked on the large attendance of the male sex. Among the men who attended were Messrs. J. W. Fraser, C. S. Stapleton, W. Stocker, Dr. A. Y. McNair and D. McKinnon, of the Canadian Packing Company's plant.

The meeting was opened with a few words from Mrs. A. Stevenson, president of the Local Council of Women, followed by a brief address by Mr. Stewart, who explained the aim of the demonstrations as being an effort to bring consumer and producer into closer co-operation, for their mutual advantage, and said that the meeting were the outcome of an endeavor made by the Health Committee of the Local Council of Women in Ottawa, with the idea of improving conditions in that city. Mr. Stewart said that when money was plentiful, public marketing conditions were not improved. It was only during the past two years that they were being observed. "Even now, we can't advise the people of the cities to buy on the markets unless some change in inspection and handling is made." He also said that endeavors were being made to educate housewives into buying the cheaper cuts of meat, as it wasn't a good thing to have one portion of the carcase selling at forty-five cents a pound, and another at fifteen cents.

Dr. A. Y. McNair was called upon and spoke briefly, commenting on the advisability of taking an interest in a demonstration of this sort, and saying that scarcely a day passed in his office without some woman arriving in a frantic state of mind "with a bird in which she has discovered something unusual."

Methods of Inspection.

Dr. McIntosh gave a review of the methods used in packing plants to ensure provision for good meat and of the legislation which has to do with their observance. He said that, unless this inspection is carried on prior to the removal of organs from the carcase, it is almost impossible to detect bad conditions, and that in some of these infections, the poisonous toxins present are not destroyed by cooking. Salaries of inspectors in packing plants are paid by the Government, and the inspector is required to be on duty from seven o'clock in the morning until closing time, no matter how late that may be. When meat is condemned, it is followed by the inspector from the killing floors to the fertilizer tank, whose sealing and unsealing is watched and recorded on returns to the Government.

Dr. McIntosh reviewed the establishment of food inspection, from the time of the Egyptians, to the food edicts of the Hebrews, whose ban on pork-eating was possibly due, he said, to the fact that hogs often contain tape-worm cysts, on to the Mohammedan food regulations and those of Semitic races, which closely follow the Mosaic law, down to the form of inspection used by the Greeks and Romans. The spread of Christianity in Europe was followed by inspection of meat and at the beginning of the nineteenth century, practically all of the European countries had some form of inspection. On this side of the Atlantic, the decade following the year 1890 saw prohibition of all meat products from the United States in most European countries, on account of lack of proper inspection laws in that country. In 1906, such regulations began to be enforced. In that year, Upton Sinclair published "The Jungle," a book dealing with bad conditions prevailing in Chicago packing plants and in 1907 the Meat and Canned Foods Act came into operation in Canada. It was left to the various provinces to legislate as they wished in this regard, but Federal inspection in packing houses was inaugurated, chiefly to protect products for export trade, but also to provide that every pound of meat sent out from packing houses should be guaranteed by a special stamp as free from infection. The regulations provided also for the disposal of condemned products and for sanitation in the plants, which is rigidly enforced.

Many Condemnations.

"Condemnations of meat are fairly heavy," said Dr. McIntosh. In the last five reports returned to the Government in his department, a total of over 79,000 carcases were recorded as having been destroyed, with about six and one-half million portions. These portions, including the heart, lungs, liver or intestines, or bruised, crippled and immature carcases, are often condemned only as portions, because in many instances the infection discovered is present only in the lymphatic glands, the "policemen of the carcase," and does not exist in any other part of the animal. Of the 79,000 condemned carcases, about fifty-one per cent. were condemned for tuberculosis, and about sixty-one per cent. of the portions were destroyed for the same trouble. About seventy-two per cent or three-quarters of the total, of the beef carcases condemned were tubercular, also seventy-six per cent. of the condemned hogs were infected by the same disease. "It has been said that if we cook the meat thoroughly, we will destroy tubercular organisms, but there is a great danger in the practise of waiting on small children and giving them a piece of bread and butter, say, while the mother is engaged in preparing the coast and takes no further precaution than to wipe her hands off, thus transferring such organisms to the child." A recent report of a Royal Commission in England asserted that about thirty-seven per cent. of tubercular trouble in children up to five years of age was due to the same organism that caused tuberculosis in beef, and twenty-nine per cent. in children from five to ten years of age, and fourteen per cent. in children from ten to fifteen years of age was traceable to the same source. "As we grow older, we grow more resistant." In children, tuberculosis in glands and bones was due in seventy-five per cent. of the cases to the same organism that caused the disease in cattle.

In answer to various questions, Dr. McIntosh said that Canada is the only country in the world which has Federal Government inspection of chickens, and that importation of chicken soup into this country is prohibited on account of the lack of such inspection in other places. There is practically no way of determining the existence of disease in fowl after the bird has been drawn. Chickens suffer much from tubercular trouble, but there is little of this disease in ducks or geese. In lamb, also, the percentage of tubercular trouble is very small, being only about six or seven diseased animals in a million; but cattle suffer to a great extent, particularly the older milch cows, and hogs are often infected directly from the cattle, by consumption of milk and dairy by-products. In the Province of Quebec, the law requires that recompense for animals discovered with disease at the public abattoirs in Montreal shall be borne directly by the farmer owner of the animals. The only way to discover the disease is to have an inspection while the windpipe remains in the animal, with the organs of the thoracic cavity attached, so that no chance is given of switching good organs to a diseased animal.

The speaker told of the action of the Local Council of Women in Montreal, in making objection to the "dirty splurge" of the inspection stamp on the carcase, and later, when its meaning as a safeguard was explained to them, asking that it be placed on every portion of the carcase that might be offered for sale. He said that only a trained veterinarian could adequately inspect meat, and that even the most honest, conscientious butcher might fail to detect the presence of disease in animals brought in.

Speaking of the municipal inspection of meat as carried out in some centres, Mr. Stewart said that in Ottawa and Brantford the milk inspector makes the rounds of the public markets also and inspects meat offered for sale.

Mr. W. B. Jopling was in attendance at the meeting, to cut up a front quarter of beef provided for the occasion, most of which was purchased by the ladies present, who came armed in many instances with marketing baskets.

G.W.V.A. POPPY DAY.

Poppies Are Made By Returned Men—For Local Relief.

To-morrow will be Poppy Day in Peterborough, when the poppy, "the flower of remebrance," will be sold on the city's streets, and the proceeds devoted to the relief of indigent returned men and their families. Any veteran who would be willing to assist is asked to communicate with the secretary at the G. W.V.A. hall. The poppies are made by returned men, their sale is for the purpose of relieving conditions in the lives of returned men and their families, the sale will be made by veterans, and the Flanders poppy that became familiar to the men who fought in France and Belgium, and that Col. McCrae immortalized in his poem, is the most suitable flower for the occasion.

KNOX CHURCH BAZAAR.

Mrs. R. Martin Acted as General Convenor.

The bazaar held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of Knox Presbyterian Church on Wednesday and Thursday of this week in the U.F.O. Rooms on Simcoe Street had a good attendance and there were quantities of useful and pretty things on sale in every department, including dainty babies' wear, quits, aprons and fancy work, home-made cooking and candy, a fish pond for recreation for the kiddies and an excellent supper of home-made delicacies, served on both days. The big room and the booths were decorated in Hallowe'en colors of orange and black. The president of the society, Mrs. R. Martin, acted as general convenor; Mrs. N. Henry had charge of the sale of quilts; Mrs. A. Parker and Mrs. J. T. McCurdy of the fancy work; Mrs. W. Carter of the candy sale; Mrs. H. Wilson of the home-made cooking; Mrs. A. Jones and Mrs. S. Watson of the babies' wear; Mrs. J. Londerville and Mrs. N. Gillis of the aprons; Mrs. Donovan of the fish pond, and Mrs. T. Skinner of the supper. Mrs. M. C. Mackinnon had charge of the decorating.

MR. A. MOWAT G AVE INTERESTING ADDRESS TEACHE RS' CONVENTION

Rabbi R. Brickner Congratulated For His Able, Inspiring and Eloquent Address.

C. BROWE, CHAIRMAN.

Religious Knowledge Made Compulsory Is Not Sufficient to Form Character.

In the morning session of the teachers' convention on Thursday, Mr. A. Mowat gave a paper on Character Education. It was based largely on the experiences of the Protestant schools of Quebec in giving religious instruction. It had been found that religious knowledge made compulsory and tested by examinations was not alone sufficient to form character. The beautiful passages of the Bible should be committed to memory but there was more than that required.

The chief end of education is training in character, a training in living. Schools should teach pupils to live together. Experience is of more value than information. Gains have been made—for example, there is less quarreling amongst children than was formerly the case.

Education and training are the reaction of life upon life. The teacher is the chief factor in building character. His kindness, sympathy, etc., are reproduced in the children, due to his daily influence on them.

For the benefit of the children, especially young children, it had been found advantageous to get from them lists of undesirable habits such as lying, cheating, bullying, disobedience, profanity, cruelty, snobbishness, boasting, incivility, etc. Questions that stimulate pupils to think as: What is a lie? Can we act a lie? Is it right to accept too much change? Should we pay our fare on a car if we are not asked for it? Should we play marbles for keeps? Is it right to coax boys on to fight? Should we give help to another who is trying for the same prize? Would you work if you were a millionaire? Is it right to fight All have great value in directing them along proper lines of conduct. Other questions as: What is religion? What is the difference between Christian and heathen? What is the church for? Why do people go? Why do they sing?—will show by the answers of the pupils where there is need for teaching.

Teachers should bring their pupils to the point where they know what is right, then implant a desire to do the right, and to carry this desire out in practice. Foster a good school spirit; encourage pupils to take pride in their school, in the doing of things collectively. Supervision of games is necessary; most of the evil habits are fostered when pupils are not under the eyes of the teacher.

Some subjects, as literature for example, when properly handled, are most effective character builders. Reading of suitable books is a great aid also.

In the afternoon session of Thursday Miss H. Bonnycastle gave a paper on "Mental Tests." Different definitions have been given for the meaning of intelligence. One says it is the ability to carry on abstract thinking; another, that it is adjustment to environment; a third, that it is ability to learn. Pupils are classified as dull, bright, average, etc., according to their ability to learn.

A mental test is an attempt to measure the mental processes. These are graded and varied. Tests for insanity have been used for centuries but they were not specialized as they are to-day to test intelligence. Phrenology and the study of faces were considered valuable for this purpose years ago but are now discarded as being unreliable.

Tests are now used in a variety of ways. They are given to students desiring entrance to many American universities. They are used by employers in selecting employees, etc. The tests are really a trial of one's memory, observation, and knowledge of the common objects about him. Many schools now promote pupils largely according to these tests and not on the amount of book knowledge that has been memorized. Tests let us know where a pupil should be. Our capacities are inherited and our environment must be adjusted to them. Our class environment may not be at all suited to our capacity. Tests give the teacher a basis to build upon and make him more sympathetic with pupils.

Miss Bonnycastle gave examples several tests beginning with children of three years old and upwards. Most of our tests are based on those of Binet and Simon, but here in Canada we should have tests adapted to our own conditions. Small children may be asked to tell from a defective picture of a face what parts are missing; they may be asked to tell which of certain faces in pictures are the prettiest; they may be asked to distinguish colors. These are just a few of the very many illustrations given by Miss Bonnycastle.

These mental tests help to determine whether pupils are normal, subnormal, or supernormal, and aid materially in classifying the children.

In the Thursday afternoon session Mr. G. S. Mattice gave a resume of some of his experiences in teaching Nature study. He began by indicating that the things of Nature are for our enjoyment. Do we consider that the birds sing for us? Have we drawn attention to their songs? Nature is beautiful for us. Have we appreciated it?

Teachers have not been systematic in dealing with the subject of Nature study. Too often it is avoided or overlooked. Excursions to the woods and fields under proper supervision are very valuable. We should encourage pupils to attend Peterborough Exhibition and other exhibitions. Beforehand some general directions regarding what to look for in animals, fowl, etc., should have been given. It helps pupils to have outsiders, who are enthusiastic about hens or other domestic animals, to come and address them. Their interest is thus aroused. Visits to plants and factories are a valuable aid in the study of Nature and agriculture. It can thus be correlated with geography as pupils get much information as to our manufacturies, and exports.

Nature study is not of great importance unless it arouses the child to activity in getting first-hand knowledge, and increases a love for out-of-door objects. Nature study is natural study—a development of power by close observation. The teacher must have a feeling of enthusiasm in the subject and the ambition to encourage pupils to make their own investigations.

The various topics of the course must be studied at the opportune times. Germination of seeds comes naturally in the spring and dispersal in the fall. The idea is that the object must be studied when it is available.

Mr. Mattice, by referring to the ordinary house fly and the potato beetle, outlined the best methods of procedure in dealing with any topic. It is generally wise to give pupils questions to guide them in their investigations.

Evening Session.

Mr. C. Browne, of the Collegiate Institute, acted as chairman at the Thursday evening session of the Teachers' Institute.

Mr. R. A. Brown sang with excellent voice two selections, "Invictus" by Huhn, and "Sea Fever" by Ireland. He was accompanied very sympathetically by Mrs. Harold Young. The audience appreciated their kindness very much and the teachers are indebted to them for their excellent contribution to the evening's programme.

The speaker of the evening was Rabbi B. R. Brickner, M.A., Ph.D., D.D., of Toronto.

He said that he was a teacher ordained to teach and preach in the synagogue. Rabbi is the translation of master, the term applied to Christ.

His subject was War and Peace Myths. This seemed appropriate, due to the approach of Armistice Day.

The last war was supposed to end war, and yet it seems to have not brought peace. Shall more wars follow? Are we in an interlude between wars?

It is the duty of serious-minded persons to ascertain the causes of war. It is the duty to plan and think, and pray for peace. There are many bad thinkers in the world. They do not control thought. Are the schools in error? Do we teach people to think? Men too often stop learning new things at thirty years of age. The Peace of Versailles was formulated by men over sixty. Did they make a peace to end peace? Superstitions and myths are too common in men's thinking in all directions and so enter into thoughts about war.

People regard war as a natural cataclysm in the class of earthquakes and eruptions—a sort of visitation on man by God for sins. This is a myth. God is a God of love, justice, righteousness, and could not be associated with hatred and jealousy which accompany war.

Cataclysms came quickly. Wars do not come that way. Wars are man-made, the result of secret diplomacy, of materialism. God makes natural boundary lines but man makes artificial ones. The possession of oil may be the occasion for the next war. The centre of action seems to be moving to the Balkans because oil is there and oil is now the great motive power. The great nations are trying now to get concessions there and the basis for war is thus instituted.

Nothing can stop a cataclysm. Man cannot stop a tidal wave, an earthquake. Man can stop war if he will. War is the sin of man and not an act of God.

Man is a fighting animal and human nature cannot be changed is a fallacy. The idea is presented by sabre-rattlers. Human nature can be changed. Man's physical nature changes slowly; the physical characteristics are predetermined largely by ancestry. Man's intellectual and moral nature does change. That is the reason why we have teachers and schools. There are stages in human development from barbaric to semi-civilized to civilized. Man has changed in ten thousand years from savage to the present civilization. The Japanese have changed in two generations ue to education. Education is changing from that which is to that which ought to be. New environment and education make a new man. A man can be taught to be as docile as a lamb.

Is man a fighting animal? He is poorly equipped physically. He has not horns, claws, etc., to fit him for fighting. The ape lives by means of his wit, by his cleverness. Our strength lies in our intelligence. We uncover the laws governing Nature and use them for our own uses. The original man was peaceful; he had no weapons for warfare, and lived from the fruit of the soil. Man, under the influence of economics, and the strugge for bread, makes war. Peace and security belong to Canada and United States. Why is this? We are descended from the fighting stock of Europe. It is largely a matter of better conditions and environment.

In England there are many races as Scots, Welsh, etc., co-operating. The great things of life are due to co-operation. We must not inculcate the idea of competition too much. We must develop each child to his best, but not at the expense of the other children. Children must learn to work together; men must do likewise if wars are to cease.

Does war breed heroism? It breeds stratagem, camouflage. There is little room for heroism. To kill for one's country is considered more important than to die for one's country.

Does war tone up man? Does it bring democracy, liberty? Is the world safe for democracy yet? Prussianism has been destroyed in Prussia. Is it destroyed in the world? What about the communism of Russia, the Ku Klux Klan of United States? War does not develop ideals and service.

Do nations and wars get markets? All nations have to compete with others. It is not a matter of flag, or nationality in business.

Does war bring peace? Peace is often a continence in a deluge of war. One war sows seeds for another war. War stirs up passions and hates, a desire for revenge. It breeds war only.

Does preparedness lead to peace? France has not paid her debts to England, yet she is arming and keeping up the largest army in Europe, and also helping to keep up armies in Poland and other countries. Preparedness means that the country is ready to enter into the war at the first click of the gun. The League of Nations should have an army to police the world. Who do nations need their own armies? The British Commonwealth of Nations is the best example to the world of what a League of Nations should be.

"The way to eliminate war is to eliminate the causes." Is that so? War has become imbedded in mankind. It would take too long to eliminate the causes. We recognized that slavery, duelling, piracy, booze, were evils and outlawed them. We made laws against them. The international code legitimizes war. We ought to declare war an evil the same as we did the others. Make war illegal. Formulate a code of international law regarding relations between nations and form a court to pass on all disputes between nations.

Force accomplishes nothing. Love does accomplish in time, in school. Love never faileth. Changes must come rom within. We must cultivate a distaste for war. We must cultivate a love of mankind for mankind.

A vote of thanks, moved by Rev. Jas. Gordon and seconded by Mrs. W. R. Morris, was extended to Rabbi Brickner for his most able, inspiring, and eloquent address.

At the close of yesterday's session Mr. Brickner was escorted to the home of Mr. M. Fine, 302 Margaret Avenue, by a number of the Jewish people of this city, where a social evening was spent.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Thursday afternoon the Primary Section met at the Central School, with Miss McKay ably presiding.

Miss L. Wilson, one of the city's foremost primary teachers gave a talk on Primary Teading. Miss Wilson has had a varied experience in two provinces, consequently her remarks were worthy of note.

It behooves the primary teachers to start pupils well. Miss Wilson emphasized the importance of experience in primary work.

Miss O. Armstrong led a discussion on Primary language games. To teach a child to speak well is one of the aims of education and we make a rough beginning in teaching correct language in the primary grade. Various language games were demonstrated by the different schools being led by Misses Smith, Bennett, Paxman, Ross, Stubbs, Buckham.

Miss E. McKay gave a very comprehensive address on "Discipline." She emphasized particularly control by love, and kindness, these being much more effective than force.

Teach the child to do right because of the satisfaction derived from doing right. "The way of the transgressor is hard" Teachers must be patterns and raise the standard to a lofty height. It isn't so much what we say but what we are that affects the child's conduct. Small children, unconsciously, copy their teacher. If you can't control yourself you are not fit to control others. Kindness calls forth kindness. Ruling by fear is wrong. We all know the influence of people about us—those who repel; those who call forth the best that is in us.

The teacher has a tremendous task in coping with children of different natures; children from different environments, with different home training, but let the teacher gain the sympathy of the majority of the class, then her surplus energy can be devoted to individual cases. Let the child feel that he is a helper, a hero that is indispensable to the working of the whole school.

Demand the highest standard. We all remember the respect we had for the teacher who was firm but kind.

Do not suppress activity but turn it into proper channels: Normal, healthy children are active; therefore have your time table arranged to cope with this natural condition.

The teacher should speak with authority and make her word as good as a Victory bond. Win the confidence and affection of the child for, particularly, small children will do anything for the teacher they like. The teacher should always remember that she should be a model in every respect—appearance, speech, behaviour, etc.

A paper on Story Telling by Miss Batten followed. Story Telling is one of the oldest and most beautiful arts in the world. With the advent of books this art has been lost to some extent. Story Telling has had a renaissance in recent years and is now holding it proper place as an essential factor in the development of the child. Story telling creates a friendly feeling between teacher and pupils, and gives a valuable lesson in citizenship in listening quietly in a group to the teacher's story. Stories give a dramatic joy, instil love for good literature, cultivate love of nature, increase vocabulary, develop language, instil a sense of rhythm, and musical cadence in the nursery rhyme, supply high ideals of conduct, and finally develops imagination, which really includes all other points.

The following are the officers proposed by the Nominating Committee and passed by the Institute:

President, Mr. Munro.
Vice-President, Miss Murphy.
Sec.-Treasurer, Miss F. D. Walker
Executive Committee, Miss Elliott, Miss Eagleson, Sr. Evangelesta, Mr. Frost, Mr. Mowat.
Social Committee, Mr. Wightman, Mrs. Langford, Mrs. Goodwill, Misses Coulter, V. Burgess, Crookshanks.
Committee on Reading Course, Mr. Boulton, Mr. Kerr, Miss Pakenham.
Auditors, Mr. Dearborn, Mr. Waer.

WALL PAPER SALE.

Trebilcock Bros. Are Selling Their Stock of Wall Coverings, Half, Third and Quarter Value.

One of the greatest opportunities for tenants, householders, or apartment owners, is presented by Trebilcock Bros., in their large advertisement to-day. In order to clear their racks in readiness for the reception of a big $20,000.00 purchase of spring papers, they are offering their present stock, consisting of all new, 1924 patterns, at prices that are half, one-third and one-quarter the regular selling prices and it will certainly pay to buy now and hold for spring use or have the papering done now when the paper hangers are not busy A saving of half two-thirds or three quarters of the regular selling price is surely worth anticipating one's wants in this line.—Being the regular stock of this old reliable firm, the quality can be absolutely depended on.

MacDONALD IS LEADER.

Labor Heads Declare No Applicants For Former Premier's Position.

LONDON, Nov. 7.— (Canadian Press.)—Ramsay MacDonald is to continue as leader of the Labor Party. Last night at a dinner given by the party in Mr. MacDonald's honor, Arthur Henderson, former Home Secretary, and J. R. Clynes, Deputy Leader in the House, both intimated that their chief had no rivals for the leadership of the Labor party.

Express Wrecked—2 Dead.

New York Times' Staff Man Injured in French Train Train Smash.

PARIS, Nov. 7. — (Canadian Press.) —Two persons were killed and six injured last night when the Paris-Havre express was derailed in a tunnel near Rouen.

A freight train coming in the opposite direction struck the express. A French resident of Havre and a British citizen living in Paris were killed. Walter Duranev, staff correspondent of the New York Times, had both legs broken.

Society

The Misses Grace and Frances Crawford and Master Tom Crawford are guests of Mrs. T. A. S. Hay, McDonnell street.

Mrs. Rupert Gliddon is spending the week end with friends in Montreal.

Mrs. L. Bickell and youngest daughter, Marie, have left for Los Angeles, Cal., where they will reside in future. They will stop over in Chicago and Milwaukee.

Miss B. Cook, Romaine street, and Miss M. Bell motored to Port Hope yesterday and were the guests of Mrs. H. Nellington.

Mrs. R. Killen, of Ennismore, is spending the week end with her daughter, Mrs. B. Sullivan, Reid street.

One of the prettiest and most successful teas of the season was held by the Rotary Annes yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. R. Widdess, 292 Stewart Street. The event took the form of an Opportunity Tea, when conveniences of all sorts for bridge parties were disposed of, also home-made cooking. The decorations were carried out in the Rotary colors of yellow and blue, and the tea-table was exceptionally lovely, with its arrangement of Cluny lace cloth, silver serving dishes and candlesticks, blue candles and russet and yellow 'mums. The guests were received by Mrs. Widdess and the president of the club, Mrs. Reg. H. Turner. Mrs. H. O. Fisk assisted at the door, and Mrs. D. Hall took the ladies into the tea-room, which was in charge of Mrs. C. G. Graham. The fancy work and bridge accessory sale was supervised by Mrs. G. H. Thompson and Mrs. F. Hungerford, assisted by Mrs. A. L. Killaly, and the home-made cooking table was in charge of Mrs. C. H. Rogers, assisted by Mrs. Gerald Wood, Mrs. M. Comstock and Mrs. D. Lawrie. Tea was poured by Mrs. M. A. Morrison and Mrs. T. Barrie. Tea-room assistants were Mrs. W. H. Young, Mrs. Homer Meyers and Mrs. D. Carlisle. During the afternoon, an enjoyable musical programme, conducted by Mrs. Gerald McClelland, was given, including vocal solos by Miss Elva McIntyre and Miss Geraldine Collins, violin selections by Stewart Widdess, and instrumental numbers by Mrs. F. Hills, Miss Gladys Graham, Miss Marjorie Turner, Miss Mary Harstone and Miss Helen Lamb. Accompanists were Mrs. W. H. Young and Miss Gladys Graham.

Nowadays many a girl is as old as her mother looks.

ALL SAINTS' CLUB.

Men's Organization Commences Winter Sessions—Supper Served.

All Saints' Men's Club commenced their winter session last week by discussing the "Church's business" at a meeting addressed by Mr. R. W. Allin, from the Synod Office in Toronto.

The second event was held in the Parish Hall last night, when the members of the Ladies' Guild were entertained with supper and a programme, both of which were splendidly provided and heartily appreciated. The song sheet suitably drawn up for the evening proved a hummer, all present lending heart and voice in the "all sing."

President Richardson presided, long speeches being barred by introducing each speaker with the song-chorus, "Be a Sport, Cut it Short."

Rev. J. D. Paterson complimented the men for arranging the gathering, bringing together the parochial workers in social evenings, thus getting acquainted with each other, possible in no other way. He hoped there would be many more such events.

Mr. W. H. Buller, warden, proposed the toast to the Ladies' Guild, seconded by the vice-president, Mr. I. Runnett, and its hearty reception left no doubt as to the men's appreciation of the work of the Guild.

Mrs. Fitzgerald, president of the Guild, thanked the promoters of the banquet for providing such a pleasant evening, thoroughly appreciated by all the members. Reviewing some of the activities of the men of the parish recently, particularly the great improvement in the church grounds, Mrs. Fitzgerald hoped that their work had only begun.

Mr. J. John gave an interesting address, and musical numbers were ably rendered as follows:

Piano solo, Miss Margaret Johnson.

Sog, "My Ain Folk," Mrs. J. D. Paterson.

Banjo solo, Mr. Clark.

Vocal duet, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Devey.

Song, "Quaint Old Cornish Town" Mrs. Trotter.

A hearty vote of thanks to those who kindly furnished the programme including the young ladies who gracefully waited at the supper was moved by the chairman and carried with applause.

Mr. R. J. Devey who presided at the piano for the evening, briefly responded, and a very pleasant gathering terminated at 10 p.m. b yall singing "God Save the King."

The Men's Club propose to entertain the other organisations of the church during the winter months.

ELBERFIELD GETS NEW CHURCH BELLS

ELBERFELD, Nov. 7.—Fifteen new church bells on decorated wagons arrived in this town recently and were welcomed by large crowds. They were consecrated by the clergy on a public square and then, with music and great ceremonies, handed over to the various Protestant congregations of the city.

These bells are substitutes for those of the Elberfeld churches were melted down during the war when there was a scarcity of bronze and copper for arms and ammunition in Germany.

THOUSANDS ARE GOING HOME FOR THANKSGIVING.

Thanskgiving this year falling on Monday, November 10th, llows an unusually long week-end, and permits travelling distances which would be impossible in a shorter period. Thousands are arranging to visit the home folks o out of town friends.

The Passenger Department of the Canadian National Railways are making special arrangements on all routes to provide the public with every travelling comfort. Nevertheless, as it is impossible to estimate the number who will be travelling it would be wise for all those who anticipate taking advantage of this occasion to make their reservations as soon as possible.

French Duellists Settle Their Difficulties In Vacant Room of Pittsburgh French Bakery And Both Were Found Dead on Field of Honor

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press). — A vacant room in a Forbes street building here, was used as a "field of honor" by two Frenchmen to-day—and when the smoke of battle cleared, the men lay dead on the floor each with a bullet in his head.

Pierce Biagioli, of French-Italian extraction, was called upon by J. N. Fournaire, French baker, to explain attentions alleged to have paid to Fournaire's wife, Georgette, mother of two children. Fournaire spent the last two months in jail on a serious charge lodged by a fourteen year old girl. He was released on bail yesterday, and returning home he is said to have heard whisperings concerning his wife and his friend.

Fournaire summoned Biagioli seeking an explanation and they met this morning, going to a vacant room in the baker's building to settle the argument. Police reports were that Fournaire, after killing Biagioli, shot himself.

LEFT HUSBAND $5.

Laura Jean Libbey, Novelist, Leaves Estate Worth $11,000.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press). — Mrs. Laura Jean Libbey Stilwell (Laura Jean Libbey), novelist, left her husband, Van Mater Stilwell, lawyer, only $5 and her interest in property at Floral Park, L.I., under the terms of her will, filed for probate yesterday in the Surrogate Office in Brooklyn.

Mrs. Stilwell died October 25th last. In the schedule filed with the will, Mrs. Stilwell's estate was estimated at more than $11,000. After the clause mentioning her husband, Mrs. Stilwell stated in her will:

"I make no further provisions for my husband for good and sufficient reasons well known unto him and to me."

GABY ON THE STAND.

Was Chief Stock Holder in a Sand Company.

TORONTO, Nov. 7.— (Canadian Press.) — Chief Engineer F. A. Gaby, of the Provincial Hydro Electric Commission, testified before Judge Snyder to-day as the resumed inquiry into the Settell charges. He went into the witness box after the Commission had heard allegations that material and time of the Hydro Commission had gone into construction of his private residence and charges regarding his expense account for his European tour.

Questioned as to Settell's charge that he had sold a steam shovel to the Commission, Mr. Gaby stated that he had financed A. Cridland, of Mount Denis, to buy assets of Cataract Sand and Gravel Company, who later sold the equipment, including the shovel, to the Commission.

He admitted Cridland was just a figure head for him and that the Commission did not know that he was the chief stock holder in the sand company.

KAMERUN TO BE SOLD.

Germany Will Have Chance To Buy Back Their Lost Colony.

LONDON, Nov. 7. — (Canadian Press). — The Germans have a chance to buy back a considerable area of their lost colony of Kamerun in Western Africa, according to the Daily Mail, which means that fifty thousand acres of valuable plantations there are to be auctioned in London on November 24 by order of the late Government, it being stipulated that there shall be no restrictions regarding the nationality of the purchasers.

The Mail indignantly protests against this opportunity for "the Germans to acquire vast estates in the British colony, with future possibilities of important arms-equipping submarine bases."

Kamerun was divided between the British and French after the war.

FUNERAL YESTERDAY

The funeral of the late Jackie Allen, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen, 629 Roger street, took place on Thursday morning from the family residence.

Quite a number of friends and relatives attended the mass and also the interment at St. Peter's cemetery.

Six boy friends, Eddie O'Brien, Jack Moher, Oscar Perdue, Frank Meade, Martin Guerin and Michael English, acted as pallbearers.

Among the floral tributes were: wreath, Quaker Oats Company, spray, Miss C. Fox, spray Mr. and Mrs. T. O'Connor, spray, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Goheen; spray, The Garvey family; spray, Mr. and Mrs. F. Guerin, spray, Mr. and Mrs. John Quinlan spray, Herb. O'Connor.

There were also a number of spiritual bouquets.

The sorrowing parents have deepest sympathy in their sad bereavement.

CLARENCE SMITH IS FOUND GUILTY

Judge Coatsworth Will Give Sentence on December 1 —Maximum 3 Years.

TORONTO, Nov. 7. —(Canadian Press.)—Colonel Clarence F. Smith of Montreal, Que., one of the directors of the Home Bank, was to-day found guilty by County Judge Coatsworth on the charge that he "Negligently did sign or approve of false returns" to the government, in connection with the Home Bank, now in the hands of receivers. This is the first conviction against the director of the bank, although officials are awaiting sentence. Judge Coatsworth intimated that he would sentence Colonel Smith on Dec. 1st. Smith was found not guilty on two counts, charging deception in connection with the statement.

In his judgment Judge Coatsworth comments on the fact that the directors and their friends and the companies in which they were interested had secured loans to the amount of eight million. The directors, says the judgment, cannot plead that he did not know what was going on. It was his duty to know. Personal dealings of the accused, says the Judge, seem to indicate that he became a director for his own purposes. He was present when all the large debts, accounts and securities were discussed. Falsity of statement, His Honor remarks, may now be taken for granted. It remains only to fix the responsibility of those who are accused.

The maximum penalty, it is stated in legal circles here, is three years on the charge on which Smith has been found guilty.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Dear Mr. Editor,—The teachers' convention of this city should be highly congratulated on securing such an eloquent orator as the Rabbi B. R. Brickner, M.A., Phd., D.D. His lecture was food for reflection and easily digested by those of us who were privileged to hear him last night in the Collegiate Institute Assembly Hall.

Touching on education and the peace of the world, going back forty years ago, there was a great number of the working class of people who could neither read or write, but a desire for knowledge has been slowly but surely springing up among the people, coupled with the efforts of a progressive element. I cannot see that any political party or religious sect can lay claim to the credit of this.

Education has been described as the guidance of growth, bodies cease to grow, but the mind never, and every fresh circumstance of our lives added to our knowledge and broadened our outlook.

And to my mind a man or woman never left school until he or she left this world for the next. Too long it had been thought that fourteen years was the age when formal education ceased, but at that age it is only the beginning, and at a time when the curtain was drawn aside on our hitherto limited horizon, to unfold new splendours in a world of increasing interest and beauty.

The dullness and monotony of our surroundings were what we ourselves made them, and it cannot be denied that in most cases an educated man or woman makes a better citizen than an uneducated one, but the education must be of the right type.

If the world is to be at peace the nations must desire peace, and education must be made in that direction to enable us to guide aright international relationship and also national and local relationship.

As we must all admit the cost of one year of war would create an endowment fund sufficint to provide an annual income that would give all our children a complete education and leave something over for university education, and even education for adults if required. The training of adolescents would lead to a greater production and efficiency. Whilst at the present time young folks are being thrown on the labour markets to work, whilst in hundreds of cases their father and elder brothers were walking the streets unemployed. And to my mind the best of education was that of the greatest teacher that ever lived. An education that had its foundation in Christian ethics would lead to the solving of social and industrial and international problems, and when we learned to love our neighbor even as we love ourselves we shall have gone far on the road to a real system of education, the result of which would be a happier world than we are at present living it.

Yours sincerely,
JAMES ABRAHAM.

Ladies' Guild Held a Banquet

All Saints' Parish Hall was the scene of a happy gathering last night when the Men's Club entertained the ladies of the Guild at a banquet. It was found, however, that even in this as well as in all other undertakings, the help of the ladies was necessary, and several youg ladies were enlisted as waitresses.

After the inner woman, and man, had been satisfied, Mr. R. J. Devey led in community singing.

The president of the Men's Club, Mr. G. B. Richardson, then started the programme with a few well-chosen words.

The following short musical programme was then rendered:

Piano solo, Miss Margaret Johnston. Vocal solo, Mrs. Paterson. Banjo solo, Mr. Clarke. Vocal duet, Mr. and Mrs. Devey. Vocal solo, Mrs. Trotter. Accompanists, Mr. Devey and Mrs. J. D. Paterson.

The Rector was called upon to make the address of welcome to the ladies. He stated that it was a great pleasure to himself and to all the men of the congregation to provide a banquet for the ladies as a slight return for the many bounteous repasts which had been served to them in the past.

The toast to the ladies was then proposed by Mr. W. H. Buller, seconded by Mr. J. R. Runnett. They reiterated the rector's remarks, and the men endorsed them by the hearty singing of "For they are jolly good fellows," followed by loud cheers.

The reply on behalf of the ladies was made by Mrs. P. D. Fitzgerald. Mr. J. John and Mr. F. Waudby also short speeches.

At the conclusion of the entertainment a hearty vote of thanks was moved by Mr. J. Crowe to those who had contributed to the musical part of the programme, and also to the waitresses, who had worked so hard in the early part of the evenig.

The gathering then joined in singing the National Anthem, bringing to a close one of the most successful socials in the history of the parish.

MONDAY A PUBLIC HOLIDAY.

Next Monday being Thanksgiving Day, and a public holiday, families will be reunited all over Canada and gathered around the festive board to celebrate a year that has given much to be thankful for. In its relation to family life it is an occasion second only to Christmas in all the year.

Thanksgiving Day is also a time when most men change to more seasonable clothing. They like to show their families and friends that they have enjoyed a share of the general prosperity. For this reason the Regent Tailors have given instructions to all their stores to sell all window and store model suits and overcoats at ordinary prices, so that men who require clothes in a hurry can get them without waiting to have them made to measure.

These model suits and overcoats have been tailored with extra care and are certainly an exceptionally good purchase. The Regent Tailors specialize on suit or overcoat to measure at $24, and their values are not surpassed in Canada. Their store is located at 326 George Street Arcade.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

The second good picture within the week is at the Capitol Theatre until Saturday night, in "The Border Legion', filmed from Zane Grey's story with the same title. It is a tale of the West and of the life of a band of "bad men", the Border Legion, and recounts in picture form the exploits of a real band of desperadoes the Henry Plummer group, that ravaged the borders of Idaho and Nevada in the early seventies. Jack Kells is the leader, and, although he has not the recognized stellar role, he is the dominating character of the piece, one of those enticing bad men whose good qualities reveal themselves in the end, and who pays with death for the wrong he has done. When Joan Randle, (Helene Chadwick), comes into his life, he softens and then Fate smites him. One of the outstanding characterizations is that of the brutal Gulden, watching and waiting for his leader's down fall.

Antonio Moreno enacts the role of Jim Cleve, the hero. During a visit to his sweetheart, the herd if which he is in charge is stampeded by the Legion, and Joan upbraids him in such fashiion that he departs to join the band of desperadoes. Followed by the girl and the owner of the cattle, Harvey Roberts (Charles Ogle) the latter is killed by Kells and Joan is carried off. The scenes that follow are packed with action and the cast seems eminently suited to the portrayal of the rude life of the desperadoes. Jim arrives to join the Legion and discovers Joan, who, in the mean time, has shot Kells and wounded him slightly. The leader, however, protects her by claiming her as his wife. A plan to attack the mining camp of Alder Creek is frustrated by the treachery of one of the gang, which starts out in pursuit of the stage coach that carries the gold to safety. Jim and Joan are on the stage and a thrilling scene is enacted in the wrecking of the big vehicle over a cliff. Then Kells and Gulden cut the cards for Joan in a tense scene that has the quality of realism through its story book atmosphere. The ending is one of the artistic bits of modern screening seldom used. It is a fine picture, entertaining and worth while.

The Topics of the Day have some witty sayings, there is one of the clever animated cartoons in an Aesop fable, "Homeless Pups", and a very interesting Jack Dempsey picture, in the "Fight and Win" series "The Title Holder." The big champion, with his reconstructed nose, makes rather a striking figure in his role of hero of these little episodes. This week's offering has a humorous twist afforded by the trials of a gentleman in pursuit of Jack's picture in conjunction with a designing chorus girl.

JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD'S FAMOUS STORY AT THE CAPITOL THEATRE

Next Monday and Tuesday

James Oliver Curwood's widely ready story of the wilderness, "Jacqueline" or "Blazing Barriers" is the feature presentation at the Capitol Theatre next Monday and Tuesday. This is considered one of the best stories that Curwood ever wrote and has been picturized with remarkable vividness and attention to detail. A superb cast headed by Lew Cody, Marguerite Courtot, Edmund Breeze and Sheldon Lewis appear in the picture.

AT THE ROYAL.

BETTY BALFOUR SCORES AGAIN AT THE ROYAL.

A large audience greeted the latest appearance of Betty Balfour in "Life, Love and Laughter" at the Royal last night. This new British film deliberately throws down the gauntlet to California. The producer has, with the assistance of that admirable little comedienne, gives us a moving picture of real life, which is destined in all probability to take its place among the screen classics. We like this production better than her previous ones; it may not have as much comedy in it, but you feel better for having seen it. There is something spiritual about it that her other pictures lacked. Betty just carries everybody along with her. She is irresistible in such scenes as those in which she sings and dances "Sweet Hortense" and pretends to be a music hall star of the low comedienne type. At other times she is simply adorable and a picture of dainty loveliness in beautiful gowns and whimsical airs and graces. "Queen of Happiness" is the proper way to describe Betty. It is impossible not to feel happy when in her company.

Andy Gump also gets his usual share of laughs, and William Duncan in "The Fast Express" is as exciting as ever. It's a good programme.

"Let's go away from this terrible place."

NOVELTY PUZZLES AND AIRSHIP BALLOONS PRIZES AT ROYAL SATURDAY MATINEE.

The kiddies have another treat in store at the Royal Saturday matinee. The first 350 children to enter the theatre will receive one of the new novelty puzzles. Balloons will then be given. Every child will receive a present.

SPECIAL MORNING MATINEE AT ROYAL THANKSGIVING DAY (MONDAY.)

A special morning performance will be given at the Royal on Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Balzac's "Slave of Desire" is the main attraction. Two selected comedies have been added.

PARISIAN LIFE PRESENTED IN MASTERLY WAY IN BELZAC STORY, "SLAVE OF DESIRE," ROYAL MONDAY.

"Slave of Desire," the screen offering presented at the Royal Theatre for three days is an adaptation of one of Honore de Balzac's best known novels, "The Magic Skin," and naturally has all the magnificent imaginative touches, brilliance of color and powerful human analysis for which that great author is noted.

Of primary interest to picture goers, of course, is the able cast which Gilbert E. Gable, the producer, has equipped the film. George Walsh, one of the most handsome men of the screen, plays the role of Raphael Velentin, the Parisian poet and dreamer. Bessie Love is to be seen in one of the finest roles of her career as Pauline, the heroine. Carmel Myers makes a violent entry into the ranks of screen vamps by her scintillant acting as the alluring Countess Fedora.

George D. Baker directed "Slave of Desire."

AT THE GRAND.

A BIG DOUBLE BILL.

The Grand's big double bill with the Dempsey-Gibbons fight picture and the striking Gasnier feature film, "Poisoned Paradise" on the one programme and a Larry Semon comedy thrown in for good measure, proved last night to be one of the most entertaining of the season. Both features are classics in their way, and the programme offers plenty of variety.

The film version of the Dempsey-Gibbons battle at Shelby, Montana, is remarkable in its clearness. The next best thing to having been at the ringside is to sit in a comfortable seat at the Grand and watch this remarkable fight. Little time is wasted in non-essential details such are usually depicted at length in fight pictures. The film starts with the entry of the two battlers into the ring, and almost the whole fifteen rounds are shown, the spectators being able to follow every blow as clearly as if looking at the actual fight.

The film confirms the newspaper reports of Gibbons' great stand against odds. His desperate and successful attempt to last out the fifteen rounds and the cleverness with which he baffled all Dempsey's efforts for a knock-out are clearly shown, and it is difficult to recall a fight picture in which all the details stand out so clearly. It was a great ring battle, and a great picture has been made of it for the benefit of the fans who could not make the trip to Montana.

"Poisoned Paradise."

Following the Dempsey-Gibbons fight film on the Grand's bill is a most unusual feature film, "Poisoned Paradise," based on a novel by Robert W. Service and with most of its action taking place at Europe's most famous gambling resort, Monte Carlo. There is plenty of material in the hectic life of this notorious spot for a remarkable picture, and "Poisoned Paradise" is exactly that, for it depicts a story of rare interest and has a wealth of striking characters, most cleverly acted by a strong cast, headed by Kenneth Harlan, Clara Bow, Raymond Griffith and Carmel Myers. In a minor role is seen a former resident of Peterboro, Barbara Tennant (Mrs. Wadely).

The central figures in "Poisoned Paradise" are a young English artist and a little French girl drawn to Monte Carlo by the lure of the gaming tables, and who enter into a brother-and-sister compact that brings them into a most exciting adventure with a band of crooks. How the latter are eventually foiled and how the compact is wrecked in favor of a matrimonial undertaking forms a most intriguing story, and the cast, director and cameraman have combined their efforts to produce a picture that will live long in the memory.

Especially striking is the performances of Clara Bow as the French girl. Here is a young film artist who seems bound to become famous and in "Poisoned Paradise" her work is so far ahead of that of some of the alleged stars as to convince all who see the picture of her ability.

With two such pictures on one bill, the Grand should be packed for the balance of the week.

AT THE REGENT.

"THE SILENT STRANGER."

In "The Silent Stranger," the film booking office attraction now playing at the Regent Theatre, movie fans will see Fred Thomson, world champion athlete, in a series of remarkable feats of horsemanship.

The film first shows Thompson as Jack Taylor, an ex-service man who is now deaf and dumb, saying good-bye to his horse "Silver King."

But, with the devotion to his master that is only known by a horse or dog, "Silver King," jumps a fence and follows the stage coach. Jack seeing Silver King, leaps from the fast moving stage to the horse's back.

Thomson's next bit of daring riding is a stunt calling for him to leap from the saddle to the branch of a tree while the horse is going full speed. The action throughout the entire story is swift. Thomson mixes his riding and athletic ability nicely. At one time he jumps clear over a Ford car into the saddle. The most daring stunt of all is made when he does a flying mount on a runaway team, rides them in Roman style, and finally stops the horses.

The love sequences follow in good order. Hazel Keener, winner of many beauty contests, including that of the Chicago Tribune, is winsome and plays her role well. "Silver King," Fred Thomson's trained horse, gives what we believe to be the most wonderful performance ever given by an animal on the stage or screen. The cast includes many well-known players in addition to Thomson and Miss Keener. "The Silent Stranger" is replete with thrills and action and is certain to please all who see it.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY.

Miss Dorothy Hopkins entertained a number of her friends at a Hallowe'en party on October 31st. The rooms were lavishly decorated with Hallowe'en novelties. About twenty-five gathered in the house in costumes that ranged through every variety of colorful combination. Mirthful games were the order of the evening, after which refreshments were served. The guests were dressed as follows: Edna Mesley, as a dairy maid; Rebecca Lobban, as an old-fashioned lady; Reggie Taylor, as a witch; Hazel Panter, as a gypsy; Alice Aspinall, as a pierette; Doris Steele, also as a pierette; Isabel Panter, as a gypsy; Edythe Greenhalph, as a pom-pom girl; Ruth Yardley, as a Russian girl; Rosie Minnicola, as a clown from "Clicktown"; Marjorie Dodson, as a clown; Geraldine Doig, as a clown; Messrs. Jack Marshal, as an ex-convict; Raymond Milliard, as "Nora," a girl; Bill Warne, as a skeleton; George Hutchinson, as a clown; Noel Monks, as a member of the Klu Klux Klan; Rodney Peace, as a member of the Klu Klux Klan; Tommy Williams, as "Lizzie Pins"; Bertie Milliard, Edward Simmons, Cyril Hall, Douglas Simmons, Albert Williams, dressed as "ladies' men"; Dorothy herself, as a charming "Giesha" girl.

Being in love is about as bad as waiting for your turn at the dentist's office.

ROYAL FAMILY AT BALL GAME

King George and Two Sons Shook Hands With American Players.

QUEEN PRESENT

LONDON, November 7. — In the presence of the King and Queen, the Prince of Wales ,Prince Henry, and the United States Ambassador, the New York Giants yesterday defeated the Chicago White Sox 8 to 5 at the Stamford Bridge football grounds.

Before the game started the King, Prince of Wales and Prince Henry went on the field and shook hands with each of the players.

The Royal guests saw a game that was a hard-hitting affair, with frequent smashes into the bleachers which surrounded the grounds. These bleacher hits counted only as two-baggers by agreement.

Almost every time a foul tip sped straight off the bat toward the Royal box, directly behind the plate, the King and Queen either dodged or put up their arms to protect their heads.

Each time the ball collided harmlessly with the wire netting sheltering the grand stand spectators and rolled to the ground.

The King seemingly enjoyed the fact that his instinctive act of protecting the head that wears the crown wasn't without its amusing aspect.

He got several good laughs out of the situation.

CORBETT AGING BUT KEEPS FIT

Long Out of the Ring, He Still Trains—for Health.

LOOKS LIKE 35

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 7.—"Jim Corbett, the great fighter, is in town.' You hear the little newsies say it, rather awestruck, although their dads may have sold the extras that announced "Corbett knocks out Sullivan."

Although it is thirty-two years since he won the world's heavyweight championship and twenty-nine years since he was in San Antonio to spend five weeks training for the memorable fight with Bob Fitzsimmons that brought about his retirement, the quarter century absence from the ring has not robbed the name Corbett of any of its magic, and San Antonians who were not born when the great John L. Sullivan crumpled to the canvas at New Orleans in 1892 respond to it instantly.

When Jim Corbett fought his way to fame he was but 26. Now he's 59, and still fighting—fighting gloom in a theater here.

Always an Actor.

"I have always been an actor," says Corbett, "I was an actor before I was a fighter. Yet people come to see me as they would a famous boxer who, without stage training or even ability in that direction, capitalizes on his ring accomplishments by means of theatrical tours.

"I've been an actor for thirty-five years or so. You get used to it in that time. I suppose I've been in every kind of show there is—or was. And yet folks don't think of me as an actor any more than they think of Walter Johnson, after he retires, as a farmer. I'm still Corbett, the ex-champion pugilist, and I always will be."

Sitting in his dressing room Corbett appears a man of apparently 35 or 40. His gleaming black hair and his huge, trim figure show little sign of age.

Corbett weighs now within six pounds of the weight announced from the ring when he stepped in to meet Sullivan.

How He Does It.

"How do you do it?" was the very unoriginal query shot at him.

"I take extremely good care of myself. My exercise is light, but my diet I watch as if in training for the hardest fight of my career. I never put anything in my stomach that I know is going to do it any harm. I think any man that does it is a bit 'nuts.'"

Corbett, in his pugilistic career, was one of the great exceptions among the champions. He was always in training—as he is now—and ring history recounts that this fact, coupled with his intelligence, his personality, and, of course, his marvelous boxing skill brought among probably the greatest assemblage of heavyweights who ever disputed that title at one time.

"Gentleman Jim" was visited by Dan Kivlan, a friend of championship days, who motored from Dallas to see him the other day.

The Carson City Scrap

Kivlan's presence reminded Corbett of his first visit to San Antonio in 1896 to train for Fitzsimmons. Training quarters were established at the old fair grounds race track. Dan Stuart has built a big arena at Dallas, in which the fight was to be held. Governor Culberson called a special session of the legislature to stop it and Stuart "went broke." But he borrowed money, took the principals to Carson City, Nev., and there the fight was staged. It was at this fight that the first motion pictures of boxers in action were taken, and from the proceeds of the films Stuart recovered the fortune lost in the Dallas venture.

SOCCER NOTES.

A very important league game in the soccer schedule will be played on Saturday afternoon at the Oval. Mr. Jack Clark will officiate as the referee and the kick-off is scheduled for 2.45 p.m. prompt.

Both teams have played 15 games each and have won seven each, lost 4 each and drawn 4, with the total of 18 points apiece. The goal average shows 36 goals for and 24 against for the Thistles, while the Vets show 21 for and 15 against. Taking everything into consideration, the game will be well worth going to witness, because the teams have the privilege of using all their players in the league game, and whoever wins will head the schedule. At present the Woollens head the list with all their games played with the total number of 19 points.

On the holiday (Monday) the Quaker Oats are scheduled to meet the Thistles in a league game at the King Edward Park. This ninety-minute tussel will be in the capable hands of Mr. Alex. McKinley, who has officiated for many years in local circles with great satisfaction to all the fans with his accurate decisions. The time for the kick-off is 2 o'clock prompt. In all probability Bain, the custodian of high calibre, will defend the goals for the Quakers.

BOWLING

LEADING FOR TURKEY PRIZE

A. Pratt is still leading for the turkey prize which is being given to the gentleman rolling the high three games. Mr. Pratt's score is 653.

ROLLS HIGHEST SCORE FOR LADY BOWLER IN CITY.

Yesterday when Mrs. W. Barringer went into first place in the prize contest this week at the Water Street Alleys, when she rolled a sensationally high score of 633 for three games. Her individual scores were 265, 139 and 229. This is the largest score ever rolled by a lady bowler in this city for three games and is a score that a good many men would be satisfied to duplicate.

There are very few bowlers who ever roll over 600, and Mrs. Barringer's score is really a great feat, especially for a lady bowler, when you consider the short length of time the ladies have been bowling. In making the high single game of 265, Mrs. Barringer made five consecutive strikes. The score for the men's prize is only 20 pins more than Mrs. Barringers.

LADIES' MERCANTILE LEAGUE.

The Ladies' Mercantile League opened at the Water Street Alleys last night when the Westclox met the Canadian Packing Co. Westclox won the first game but C.P.C. came back strong and won the next two with good rolling.

Misses J. Eagleson and J. Moffat were tied with the high three games, each having a score of 393. Miss Eagleson had the high single of 170.

This new league promises to be a great success and should turn out some real bowlers.

Following the the scores:

Westclox—
M. Caird	108	102	84—294
R. O'Brien	120	93	108—321
J. Anderson	123	98	55—276

BANKERS' LEAGUE

Dominion took two out of three from the Montreal (Geo. St. Branch) at the Water Street Alleys last night. Good rolling was a feature of the clash, and great improvement is being shown in the Bank League.

The Bank of Montreal's second game, in which they rolled 870, is believed to be a record team score for a four-man team.

Payne had the high three games with a nice mark of 586, while Cummer was right on his heels with 573. Fitzgerald had the high single of 246.

Following are the scores:

Montreal (Geo. St.)—

BRINTON CARPET LEAGUE

..At the Water Street Alleys last night in the Brinton Carpet League the Carltons took three straight from the Windsors after an evening of great rolling. All three games were hard fought affairs and the Carltons had to fight all the way to win. Each team rolled a total of over 2005 for team rolling, which is exceptionally good for four-man teams. The Carltons total was 2175.

All the rollers were dead on, but L. Martyn was the best. He had three great games, hitting the wood for a score of 699, just one pin short of 700. This is the best rolling to date in the Brinton Carpet League and is deserving of special mention. Other good score were: W. Curtis, 589; G. Anderson, 563; F. Cripps, 560; J. Kilbrick, 545; A. Thomas, 502. Martyn had the high single with 259.

Following are the scores:

Carltons—
L. Field	117	137	175—429
J. Kilbrick	146	103	236—545
L. Martyn	259	224	216—699

MONTREAL, Nov. 7.—Following a meeting of the directors of the new local hockey club it was announced that the organization would be known as the Montreal Professional Hockey Club, but this, it was pointed out, would probably soon diminish to "The Montreals". Nothing else of importance transpired at the meeting, according to Cecil Hart, manager.

Pipe the Boys In Swagger Evening Duds Giving Signor Sarazen the Ocular Survey.

By way of proving night golf is practicable if the electric lights are strong and numerous enough, Gene Sarazen, former champion, demonstarted a variety of shots on one of the metropolitan courses the other evening with encouraging results. Not only did Sarazen's shots come off in the customary manner, but he scored a hole-in-one. It is generally conceded that this accomplishment is tough enough in broad daylight. The gallery which observed the nocturnal demonstration was appropriately attired in dinner clothes, asyou'll note.

If you bought underwear tailored to your measure—

—you couldn't get a better fit

STANFIELD'S great range of sizes and proportions enables any man of any build to get a suit of underwear that fits just right—snugly and comfortably. It's cut and tailored to fit perfectly—won't bulge at the back of the neck or bind in the crotch.

Stanfield's will not shrink! You don't have to buy a larger size than you'd ordinarily wear and "allow for shrinking." Stanfield's fits when you first put it on and with ordinary care in washing according to our directions, it will stay that way, as long as you wear it. And it stands strenuous wear.

There are fabrics and weights in Stanfield's for every man.

Stanfield's is made in all grades and weights: Pure Virgin Wool, Silko-Wool and mixtures of Wool and Silky Cotton. Whether you work indoors or out, you'll find there's a Stanfield's weight especially suited for you. And while our prices range to suit every purse, you'll find but one high standard of making all through —full, generous cut—no skimping, seams that lie flat, buttons that are sewn on to stay. This careful making is part of every Stanfield's garment, from the lowest priced to the most expensive.

Be careful to select the size that fits you perfectly. There's a size, style and weight of Stanfield's for every member of every family, priced from $1 to $10.

No. 7700—Moderately heavy natural Combinations (Sizes 34-44) at $5.00. Also Shirt and Drawers, $2.75 per garment.

Stanfield's Red Label, all-wool, heavy rib Men's Shirt and Drawers (Sizes 34-44), at $2.50 per garment.

No. 3200—Boys' Natural Combinations, medium weight (Sizes 24-28), at $2.25. (Sizes 30-34) at $2.75 Also Shirt and Drawers.

These illustrated booklets showing Stanfield's wide range of styles and weights in men's, women's and children's underwear will be mailed on request. Write for them.

QUAKER OATS NIGHT WAS A BIG SUCCESS

Over 120 Men Took Advantage of Open Night at the Y.M.C.A.

Over 120 men of the Quaker Oats Company took advantage Wednesday evening of the kindness of the Y.M.C.A. in throwing open all departments in the Association's building for their use. The entertainment was in the form of a big Indoor Picnic and from the way the men entered into the various games and sports, it was apparent that they thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated the opportunity of getting together.

A basketball game had been arranged between the Quakers and the Woollens, and some snappy playing was witnessed on both sides. The Quaker team was certainly encouraged to do its best on account of the gallery in the gym being crowded with the fellow-workers of the men on the team. That the Quaker team had a decided edge on the Woollens was borne out in that the final score was 44-18 in favor of the Quakers.

A schedule for bowling had been drawn up and teams from the various departments of the mill were lined up to defend the honor of their respective departments. Some very promising bowling material was discovered during the course of the evening. Although much could be said about the scores of certain individuals, comparisons are not always pleasant or favorable.

The showers and swimming pool were very much in use all evening, for the water in the plunge had been heated and some of the men were glad to get in for a swim under regular Palm Beach conditions.

The billiard and pool tables were in constant demand all evening, and many of the spectators, who continually watched the games, received a thorough education on the fine points of English billiards and otherwise.

In the lobby small groups were seen congregated around tables where ardent checker sharps were valiantly trying to annihilate their opponents in that royal and ancient game.

After the basketball game in the gymnasium, a picked team from the mill, with the aid of the umpire, undertook to show the office team how indoor baseball should be played and they succeeded admirably. Later on the Package Department endeavored to show up their old time opponents from the Box Shop. They, however, met stout opposition and when the game was finally called "on account of rain," the score was a tie.

About ten o'clock the 'Y' staff had refreshments ready for the men and these added materially to the already enjoyable programme. While the "eats" were disappearing a sing song was held in the lobby, and while no arrests have yet been made for disturbing the peace, it is rumored that the Director of Music is in line for a summons. Some of the local choir masters would have given worlds to have been able to secure such excellent results in harmony and tone color, which were forthcoming without apparent effort from the Quakers.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Roper and the members of the 'Y' staff for their kindness in arranging the picnic and for the efforts which they put forth during the evening to see that everybody was made to feel right at home, for they certainly succeeded wonderfully well in making this possible.

GOOD WOOD VALUE.

Six Cars on Siding at Ten Dollars a Cord.

For the last two weeks we have been loading a quantity of high grade wood at Pontypool. We now have six cars of this wood on the siding here and for quick sale and to avoid putting it into the yard we will sell this direct from the car at ten dollars a cord. It is cut in stove lengths and will run eighty per cent. hardwood. If you want it in four foot lengths you can get it for nine dollars a cord. Order early and avoid the rush, as this will be the best wood value offered this winter. You can afford to stock up on this. Remember this is for delivery from cars only. It will cost you more to buy it out of the yard. Don't overlook our slabs at nine dollars.

PIANIST TELLS OF POLICE WHO VISITED HOUSES

Referred To Conditions of Some Years Ago—Made a Fortune Himself.

WOMAN ON STAND.

Denied Having Given Presents to Captain Sauve—Montreal Enquiry Proceeding.

MONTREAL, Nov. 8.—Several policemen and detectives used to congregate in certain houses of evil fame around Cadieux Street and Charlotte Lane dancing, singing, and making themselves generally at home, John Swain, retired pianist who formerly exercised his functions in various disorderly houses in the red light district, told the police inquiry yesterday.

He was referring to a period a good many years ago, as he has been out of the business for some time. He made so much money during the war playing in disorderly houses that he bought himself a house in the country with his savings.

He could not remember all the names of the policemen who frequented these places, but "they were all good boys, congenial, nice fellows." One or two of them almost lived in the house witness was playing at.

From his experience of many years in the "red light" district, he was of the opinion that it was a standing attraction for visitors, like a circus or other shows. If the houses were scattered all over the city, instead of being grouped together in segregated districts, it would not be such an attraction for people wishing to "see the sights."

Mrs. Beauchamp, giving an address on Sherbrooke Street, at which she says she lets rooms, testified that she knew Captain Sauve and had been arrested by him several times. Once, she remembered, was on Demontigny Street, and once on St. Lawrence Boulevard, for being in disorderly houses.

"Did you ever give presents to Captain Sauve?"—"Never."

"Did you ever give him a sum of money?"—"I once gave him $5."

"What for?"—"He had arrested me and at six o'clock gave me a little time to go to the bank. The arrest was made at six o'clock and the bank did not open until seven, so he allowed me time until the bank opened, so that I was able to get some money out."

"Did you ever meet Captain Sauve otherwise than in raids?"—"I met him once outside the courthouse here."

"Did you talk with him?"—"Yes."

"What about?"—"Oh, about different things."

"For instance?"—"We spoke about our cars."

"Did you trade cars with him?"—"No."

"Was your car a better one than his?"—"I don't know about that."

Memories of the Captain.

"Have you pleasant memories of Captain Sauve?" Defence counsel objected to that question, but it was finally allowed and the witness answered: "I have memories of him as a man who came to arrest me several times."

"Did you ever state to anyone that you were protected by Captain Sauve?"—"No, never."

"Did you ever say that Captain Sauve looked after your business?"—"Never."

"When did you see him last?"—"I don't remember."

"You did not see him lately, asking him to try to get a license for a friend of yours as automobile driver?"—"That was some time ago."

"What happened?"—"He refused."

"Did you give him anything?"—"I said I would give him a good present if he would get the license for my friend, but he refused."

"Did he say why he would not do it?"—"He said he knew the man and he would not get him a license."

Captain Sauve was then called back into the witness box.

NEW YORK MASONS QUIT WORLD BODY

Irreligion of Some Foreign Jurisdictions Cause of Action by Grand Lodge.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The Grand Lodge of New York has just given notice of its withdrawal from the Masonic International Association, with headquarters at Geneva, according to Square and Compass, a Masonic monthly, published at Utica, N.Y.

The irreligion of some of the foreign Masonic jurisdictions and their tendency to "meddle with the League of Nations" were given as the reason for the withdrawal. The announcement was made by Grand Master William A. Rowan, who said:

"We believe in universal Masonic intercourse, providing the jurisdictions with whom we are to join and to recognize believe in God, have the Bible on their altars and are within the landmarks."

The withdrawal followed an investigation, which confirmed reports that the Bible and the Christian religion were out of favor with some of the Masonic bodies of Europe. A further explanation is made as follows by the publication:

"For several years an attempt has been made to have a universal Masonic association. New York was the only English-speaking jurisdiction that belonged to the International Association until Mexico and Louisiana joined.

"It was learned that the name of God and of the Bible were omitted by some of the jurisdictions in this International Association, Grand Master Rowan advised the brethren, and these statements became so persistent he sought the assistance of Harold E. Lippincott, Judge Advocate, who in turn took it up with the constitutional committee, comprising Samuel Nelson Sawyer, Thomas Penney and Arthur S. Tompkins, Past Grand Masters. These agreed that a resolution passed by the Grand Lodge of New York in 1923 to join the International Association was unconstitutional."

LIQUOR SHIPS OFFER WHISKY FOR WATER

Activities of Dry Fleet Said to Have Shut Off Supply to the Rum Vessels.

NEW YORK, November 8. — Three boats were caught by the Coast Guardcutter Manhattan under Captain Oscar Vinje. Two men were arrested and 400 cases of liquor valued at $20,000, seized.

The high-powered motorboat K-14512 was overhauled off Jones inlet after a seven mile chase. The two arrested gave their names as James Kidd and Charles Meyers, both of Oceanside, N. J. About 160 cases of whiskey were found on the boat.

The other two boats captured were the K-12115, abandoned, with 95 cases of liquor off Point Lookout, and a motor dory with 50 cases of liquor beached off the same place. At the same time 88 cases were found piled up on Shirt Beach, L.I. and 125 sacks with about 150 quarts, were found in shallow water of Oak Island Beach, near Fire Island.

The Coast Guard brought the information that several liquor schooners lying about 20 miles off the coast were offering a barrel of rum for a barrel of fresh water. The ship cordon of the coast guard apparently had the remainder of the liquor fleet hemmed in so that the vessels cannot obtain fresh water.

HAMILTON FUNDS LOST THROUGH LAX METHODS

Employees Had Easy Opportunities to Falsify Accounts.

HAMILTON, Nov. 8.—The final report of C. S. Scott & Co., auditors, who examined the city's books following the discovery of defalcations in the tax office and treasurer's office, was presented to the Board of Control Friday. It was released for publication, but the meeting at which it was discussed was closed to the press. The report fixes responsibility for the looseness in these departments through which large sums were stolen equally upon City Treasurer Davis and City Auditor Dempster. Regarding the theft of $50,000 by Harold Forbes, the missing cashier, Mr. Scott says:

"The present situation is almost wholly the result of insufficient supervision by the treasury department. The loss to the city occasioned by Forbes was wholly caused by omissions of importance, so that he was perfectly free to omit, falsify or mishandle funds as he pleased."

The lack of system in the tax office was also severely criticized. The engagement of a firm of chartered accountants to conduct a continuous independent audit is recommended.

THE WEATHER.

Some rapid changes have occurred in weather conditions during the last few hours. Yesterday morning the thermometer was at 55 degrees, as the lowest reached during the night. This was a mid-summer night's temperature. Yesterday's highest point was 65 degrees—warm, murky and with lowering clouds, and a general appearance of a change on the way. After sunset the wind arose, and increased in strength until it blew a gale, bringing in its wake much cooler and more seasonable conditions. At the present time all west of the Sault is in the grasp of winter, as well as the northern part of Ontario. The Ottawa valley, and the country eastward has also had several inches of snow. In this district there have been but a few lonesome flakes. Last year we had snow on Nov. 1 and 8, while on the 23rd and 24th there was snow to the depth of 4½ inches.—W.P.

CHURCHILL HAS CLYNE'S HOUSE IN DOWNING ST.

New Chancellor of the Exchequer Allotted Residence Next to the Premier's.

EARLY AT POST.

J. H. Thomas Bids Farewell to Colonial Office Staff—Horne's Position.

LONDON, Nov. 8. — (Canadian Press).—In connection with the omission of the name of Sir Robert Horne in the Stanley Baldwin Cabinet, it is interesting to note that the former Chancellor of the Exchequer is a director of Mr. Baldwin's own coal business at Swansea, Wales, in which, however, the Premier has taken no direct interest for some years, so, it is said, that what Stanley Baldwin loses by not being able to secure Sir Robert for his Cabinet, he gains by keeping him as the watchdog over the family's private interests. The question of Sir Robert Horne's unwillingness to take over a Cabinet position raises afresh the old problem of private financial interests clashing with opportunities for public service, and already it is being asked if the salaries for Cabinet Ministers, considering the present high cost of living, is sufficiently tempting to secure "first class brains" for which Lord Birkenhead modestly pleaded when the Coalition Government collapsed and the former Lord Chancellor found himself out in the cold.

Incidentally it was announced on Friday that Lord Birkenhead has renounced his position of £5,000 as an ex-Lord Chancellor. He will receive this amount for his post in the new Cabinet as head of the India Office.

Persy and Wood.

Two of the least known men in Mr. Baldwin's Cabinet are Lord Eustace Percy, Minister of Education, and the Right Hon. E. F. Wood, Minister of Agriculture. Lord Eustace Percy is the younger brother of the Duke of Northumberland. He had a distinguished career at Oxford, but he will have to cultivate a greater sense of humor than he now possesses before he becomes really popular in the House of Commons.

Hon. Mr. Wood is a son of Lord Halifax, the venerable High Church champion, and held the position of Minister of Education in the last Conservative Ministry with considerable success. He takes up his duties in the Ministry of Agriculture, in many respects a peculiarly difficult office, with the most cordial wishes of all those on his side of the House.

Churchill Begins.

With characteristic energy Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, after receiving the seals of his office from His Majesty the King yesterday, drove straight to the Treasury Office. It has been arranged that he will inhabit 11 Downing Street, next door to Premier Baldwin's official residence. During the tenure of the MacDonald Government, I. R. Clynes, who was Lord of the Privy Seal, and leader of the House of Commons, lived in this house, but according to established custom, the residence ought to fall to the Chancellor of the Exchequer.

J. H. Thomas said farewell to the staff of the Colonial Office yesterday, and afterwards took tea at a little shop in Whitehall, which he used to patronize before his Cabinet days.

The Saturday Review suggests that the time has come to alter the title of Colonial Secretary to Secretary for Imperial Affairs.

SOUND SLEEPER ROBBED.

EVANSTON, Ill., November 8.—Jerome D. Mason slept so soundly that burglars stole his keys from his trousers and ransacked the house without waking him.

Embassy In France To Fly Soviet Russia's Red Flag

PARIS, November 7 (Canadian Press). — The Russian Embassy, which for the last seven years has sheltered the leaders of the Opposition to the new regime in Russia, now is in possession of the Soviet Government, and the red flag will be flown from its masthead in a few days when Leonid Krassin, the newly appointed Russian Soviet Ambassador to France arrives here.

MR. BALDWIN OFF DUTY

Stanley Baldwin, former British Prime Minister, who has just been returned to power, here is shown in rarely unconventional pose. He and Mrs. Baldwin are taking the waters at Aix-les-Bains, the famous French resort.

BODY OF SAILOR IS IDENTIFIED

One of Three Who Disobeyed Captain's Order Not to Launch Lifeboat.

RAN ON SHOAL.

KINGSTON, Nov. 8.—(Canadian Press). — The mate of the steamer Glenlockie, which ran on the Charity Shoals Thursday morning, was in Kingston yesterday afternoon and identified the body found floating off Simcoe Island Friday as that of John Brodie, believed to be of Montreal.

According to the story told by the mate, other members of the crew also entered the ill-fated lifeboat when the Glenlockie stranded, but when Captain Chartier, who was forward in the vessel, saw what they were doing, he went aft and ordered every man back on board, this order being obeyed except in the case of the three men who lost their lives. Every effort is being put forward to locate the friends or relatives of John Brodie, who is believed to have a brother employed on another boat of the same line as the Glenlockie.

PREMIER'S TOUR OF WEST ENDED

Returns to Ottawa With Ministers Who Accompanied Him on Trip.

PROBLEMS WAITING.

OTTAWA, November 8. — Premier MacKenzie King, accompanied by Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, Hon. Hal. B. McGiverin, Minister with portfolio, and Senator Andrew Haydon, arrived in Ottawa this morning.

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, is also in town after accompanying the Prime Minister on a part of his western trip, and Hon. E. MacDonald, Minister of National Defence, has returned from Geneva.

The return of the Premier, and the gathering in Ottawa of many of the members of his cabinet, who have not been here consistently during his absence, will doubtless result in action on a number of important matters which have been held up.

Freight Rates Appeal.

To the west, the most important matter which the cabinet must grapple with is the recent decision of the board of railway board commissioners upsetting the Crow's Nest Pass westbound rates.

Notice of appeal to the governor-in-council, embodying a demand that pending the hearing of the rates in force prior to the finding of the railway board, should remain in effect, has been received from the three prairie provinces.

The cabinet, however, declined to interfere with the judgment of the board, at least until the return of the premier and western ministers.

CARGO OF BEER BEFORE COURT

Legality of Operations of Beer Scows on St. Clair River Questioned.

300 CASES SEIZED.

SARNIA, Ont., November 8. — The legality of the operations of beer scows on the St. Clair River is to be thoroughly tested in court following the seizure of a scow and its contents at Corunna, and the issue of summonses Friday, by County Magistrate Woodrow, to all concerned in any way with the operation of the scow in question.

Three hundred cases of beer seized are being held at the county jail in Sarnia. Included in the summonses issued are the Carling Brewery Company of London.

A. Grandie of Detroit, to whom the beer is consigned, Michael Famuluara, who is alleged to be the operator of the scow, and A. Fleming of Cortunna, who is said to be the owner of the property to which the scow is moored, are all requested to show in court on November 17 legal authority why this seizure should not be destroyed in accordance with section 70 of the O.T.A., and if they fail in this it is understood that the contents of other scows operating on the river will be seized.

NOT ROSEATE HUED.

Sale of Mr. Rose's Lands Ordered by Justice Rose.

TORONTO, November 8. — The married life of Adey Rose and Donald Rose, of Peterborough, prove not without thorns.

Yesterday application was made to Mr. Justice Rose at Osgoode Hall for the sale of the defendant's lands to satisfy an alimony action. The order was made, a reference being directed to the local Master at Peterborough.

J. P. Walsh appeared for plaintiff.

BANFF ATTENDANCE BEATS ALL RECORDS.

EDMONTON, November 8.—The camping grounds at the Banff National Park in the Canadian Rockies had a record attendance this past season. The records show that 12,193 persons spent the summer under canvas, while 2,524 Canadian cars carrying 9,720 persons and 714 American cars carrying 3,473 passengers registered there this year.

No date has yet been announced for the hearing of the appeal.

Geneva Protocol.

Hon. E. M. MacDonald, Minister of National Defence, who with Hon. Raoul Dandurand, represented Canada at the meeting of the assembly of the league of nations in Geneva will lay before the cabinet a copy of the protocol of disarmament and security which was approved at that meeting. The protocol, will of course be submitted to parliament at the coming session, but doubt has been expressed of the possibility of its ratification here.

LINDSAY'S 'RUM SQUADS' RELIEVE HUNTERS OF THEIR LIQUOR CARGO

"Vigilantes" Launch Campaign With Seizure of Six Gallons—Watchers at Minden.

FEWER SCRIPTS.

Two Doctors Said to Have Issued Many in Last Four Months.

LINDSAY, Nov. 8.—The "night riders," a term used by the opponents of the O.T.A. in referring to the Prohibition Vigilance Committees of the county, have already inaugurated their campaign for a vigorous enforcement of the Act.

The first to suffer as a result of their vigilance was a party of hunters from the county, bound for the hunting preserves of Haliburton. They were waylaid by the vigilants at Haliburton a few days ago, their cars searched, and six gallons of liquor taken from one of them. The liquor was confiscated, the hunters allowed to proceed, but they will be asked to explain matters later.

Word was sent out to other hunting parties to watch out while going through Minden if they had anything to conceal.

Slump in "Scripts."

There has been a decided slump in the "script" market here as the result of the visit of Vice-Chairman Dingman, of the Provincial License Board. That official disclosed the information on Thursday that two doctors during the past four months had issued 10,000 scripts. Thursday night some of their "patients" gave out the statement that they were unable to obtain scrips and that the town was bone dry insofar as this particular end of the traffic was concerned.

Bootlegging has been carried on in Lindsay with impunity for a considerable period by a number of well known residents, and it is stated by those in a position to know that one of the number is about to retire from business with a snug bank account to his credit.

PENSIONS SINCE 1790 NEAR SEVEN BILLIONS

More Than Six Billions Paid on U.S. Civil War Account.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.— Payments of pensions by the United States to veterans of all wars in which the country has been engaged except the World War, from 1790 to 1924, inclusive, aggregated $6,836,182,860, according to tabulations just completed by the Pensions Bureau.

Of this total, $6,427,106,586 was paid on account of the Civil War. For the war of the Revolution the United States paid $70,000,000 in pensions, for the war with Mexico $56,545,364 and for the war with Spain $126,673,359.

The Indian wars are recorded as costing the smallest amount in pensions. Pensions paid to Indian fighters and their widows amounted to $25,640,832. Next came the War of 1812, with pension payments reaching $46,145,923.

In addition, the Government has paid $67,557,368 in pensions for its regular establishments of the army and navy; $16,513,425 for unclassified pensions, and $168,538 pensions for the World War that have been handled by the Pension Bureau instead of the Veterans' Bureau.

UPWARD TREND SEEN IN TRADE

Steel Industry Advances in Toronto—Cold Weather Stimulates Business In West.

SOME IMPROVEMENT.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 8.—(Canadian Press.)—The weekly trade report of the Canadian credit men's trust association states:

Halifax—Wholesale trade is being well maintained, retail trade, while not being active is considered satisfactory. Collections fair.

St. John—Wholesale and retail trade continuing to be satisfactory; collections fair.

Montreal—No change reported in boots and shoes over last week. Dry goods show a slight increase in trade. Groceries show no marked change over previous reports with all other lines remaining about the same. Collections all lines reported fair.

Toronto — Signs continue that there is a slight upward trend in business generally. Steel industry is showing a nice advancement. A number of large buildings are being erected in Toronto which is helping the building trade and the general employment situation improving. Retail trade continues a little quiet and very little movement of winter supplies or goods. Collections fair.

Winnipeg— Cooler weather and snow had a stimulating effect on most wholesale lines. Footwear, clothing and dry goods feeling considerable benefit. Retail trade has been more active. Collections responding to heavier grain movement.

Regina—Wholesale trade reported fair to good. Retail trade shows a marked improvement over last week. Cooler weather has had a good effect on business generally. Collections fair with prospects better for November and December.

Saskatoon—Both wholesale and retail trade showing a slight improvement over last week on account of the recent cold snap. Collections fair to good.

Calgary — Conditions both in wholesale and retail lines continue of a very satisfactory nature. Seasonable lines have shown signs of improvement during the last week. Collections fair to good.

Edmonton— The heavy rain of last week which was followed by snow and colder weather had quite a good effect on seasonable trade lines with prospects better for the future. Collections fair to good.

Vancouver—Trade in all wholesale lines reported good with improvement noticed in retail trade. Collections fairly good.

MILK PRICE DECLINE

Reduction From 10 to 8c. By Woodstock Dairy Co.

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 8.—(Canadian Press).—The Woodstock Dairy Company has announced that starting with to-day, the price of milk in the city will be lowered from 10 cents to 8 cents. F. Yeo, manager of the concern, states that the sudden decrease is due to a similar cut in the price being paid to the producer, indicating that there is an oversupply of milk in the province.

The wholesale price is about 40 per cent. lower than it was a year ago. It is believed that the new price for Woodstock sets a low quota for the cities of the province and is unusual in that it comes at this time of year when milk dealers usually announce an increase.

DECLINE IN INCREASE OF FRENCH BIRTH RATE.

PARIS, November 8. — A striking decline in the rate of increase of the French population is shown by the statistics of birth and death rates.

In the first six months of 1923, there were 595,621 births and 514,442 deaths, representing an increase in the population of 81,179, whereas in the corresponding period of 1924 there were 575,636 births and 544,287 deaths, being a increase in the population of only 31,349.

A STRIKING EXAMPLE.

Plaintiff Died in Court and Defendant Recited Prayers for the Dead.

STRATFORD, Nov. 8.—(Canadian Press).—A striking example of duty to Christian principles was portrayed under trying circumstances in Mitchel yesterday. Standing on the witness stand at the Division Court session, giving evidence in the case in which he was plaintiff, John Walsh died suddenly. Mr. Walsh was a resident of Bornholm, and had brought suit against Mr. Kenny, a resident of the vicinity. He was a Roman Catholic, and there being no resident priest in Mitchel, some time elapsed before the arrival of a priest sent for from Logan.

Judge Barron, of Stratford, presiding Judge, announced that some one might recite the prayers for the dead and dying. Immediately from out of the crowd assembled in court arose the defendant in the case, likewise a Roman Catholic, who, with his sisters, advanced to where the man lay, and recited the prayers for the dying. The priest arrived soon after and anointed the body.

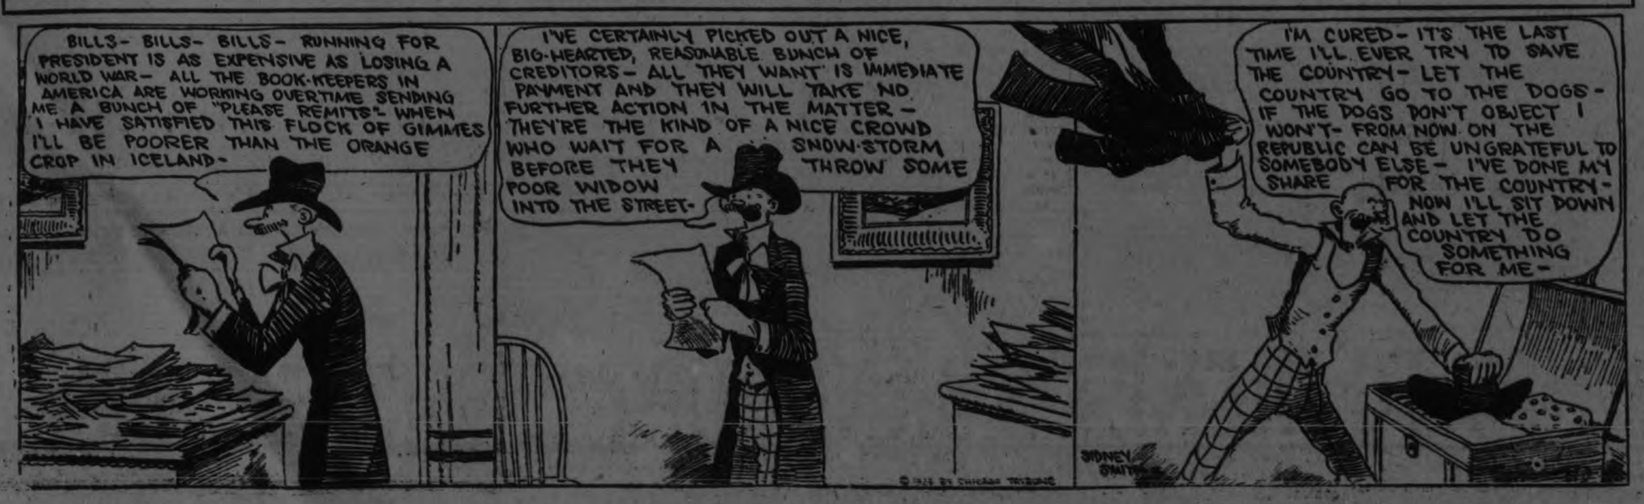
THE GUMPS—GOOD-BY, BOYS, I'M THROUGH



CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., Gave An Address on Public Men of Canada.

CAMPBELLFORD, November 8. —A good attendance gathered in the Assembly Hall of the High School on Friday night to hear G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., of Peterborough.

Dr. O. C. Watson and G. A. Kingston, of the Chamber of Commerce, were on the platform with Mr. Gordon.

Dr. Watson, as chairman, introduced Mr. Gordon.

Before Mr. Gordon began his address, he said he wished to mention that Lord Byng would be in Peterborough on the 28th of November, and hoped that some of the people of Campbellford would have the opportunity of seeing him.

"The Public Men of Canada was the subject of Mr. Gordon's address.

"One cannot get proper impressions of men from histories or biographical sketches. The best way is to read and study and listen to their addresses. He first mentioned Sir John A. Macdonald, Conservative. He was one of the first prominent men to fight for Confederation. His prophecy, that Canada should be a self-governing nation within the British Empire, has been fulfilled. Sir John was forced to leave school at the age of fifteen and help to support the family. Later he studied law, and finally succeeded in getting to the bar. He was not very successful at first, because he defended Von Schultz, who committed a seditious act against the King. He fought to get the Capital of the Dominion at Kingston, thus getting the support of his native city and becoming a member of the House of Commons. In some ways his character resembles that of Abraham Lincoln. Times were very hard, because they were laying the foundations of this country. Notwithstanding this, Macdonald had broad vision and was very tolerant, not extreme as characterised most of the men in their views. He was above that, and could by confidence and tact quiet any storm in the political world. He was a great leader and had great charm of manner.

Mr. Gordon then related several humorous incidents which occurred in the House of Commons. The second man referred to was Sir Wilfred Laurier. He was delicate, a great student. He became a great orator, one of the greatest ever known. He did not have the plain speech of Macdonald. Laurier was religious, his orations were filled with Scripture, and this made his debates very effective, for arguments against this could not be made.

He came into office when the difficulties were practically over. A great number of settlers were coming into the country every day, and conditions had greatly improved from the time of Macdonald. The West had opened up, due to the efforts of such men as Sir John A. Macdonald and Donald Smith, who had not been narrow as the other men of their day had been, and could see ahead the great future for the West.

Sir Robert Borden had his health broken by the war—a result of the responsibilities on his shoulders, as Prime Minister during the Great War. He has stepped out of public life and is now aiding in giving information for memoirs, which it is hoped he will live to see published.

Mackenzie King and Arthur Meighen both went to Toronto University at the same time. Meighen is very serious, a great debater, splendid speaker, has a great memory, perhaps unsurpassed by any man in Canada. He has a very high sense of public duty, and has refused offers of splendid positions. He became a candidate in 1911, rose quickly in the political world. Hon. Mackenzie King is the political opponent of Hon. Arthur Meighen, and probably a greater speaker in some respects.

Mr. Gordon spoke briefly of other men in the House of Commons. The politicians of Canada have reached as high a standing as those in the United States.

He closed his address by saying it was a great pleasure to be in Campbellford and have the privilege of giving an address to the Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Watson, the chairman, expressed appreciation for the splendid address.

Mayor A. J. Meyers then said a few words. "We cannot expect a country to achieve greatness unless she has great men, for finances alone will never make a country." Mr. Gordon's reputation as a lawyer, Deputy Speaker and member of the House of Commons, had always been of a high standard. Mr. Meyers moved that a hearty vote of thanks be tendered Mr. Gordon for the excellent address he had given.

Mr. N. Stone seconded the motion. He said he was struck by the fairness of discussion.

The motion was carried by a hearty clapping of the hands.

Mr. Gordon thanked the audience for their kind appreciation and expressed his willingness to aid in whatever way he could, the Chamber of Commerce.

The chairman then called upon C. L. Owen, I. A. Humphries and D. J. Lynch for a few words, and each responded.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Brigadier Moore and Staff Captain Cameron, of the Salvation Army headquarters in Toronto, will be in Campbellford on Tuesday, 18th November, and will hold a special public meeting at night in the Army Citadel.

The lucky number for the comforter given away at the Regent Theatre on Monday night went to Fred Hite, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles White, on Garry Street.

The Thanksgiving turkey given on Friday night's lucky number, went to Mr. Graham, of the Hydro construction works on Mill Street.

There will be a special Armistice Day service, under the auspices of the Daughters of the Empire, in Christ Church, on Tuesday morning at half-past ten o'clock. All the members of the Order are asked to go to the High School at twenty minutes to ten for the presentation of the flag and then over to the church service.

There will be a special thanksgiving service in the Methodist Church on Sunday. Rev. W. Elliott, the pastor, will preach. Besides thanksgiving hymns, the choir will sing in the morning: "Lord, God, We Worship Thee," by Schneider, and "King of Kings," by Simper.

Evening—Male chorus, "Comrades in Arms," Adams, and "Hallelujah Chorus."

Next Sunday, 16th November, will be anniversary services and a thankoffering will be asked for.

The speakers at the Armistice meeting in the Regent Theatre on Sunday night at 8.30, under the auspices of the Band, will be Rev. W. Elliott, Rev. G. C. Clarke, and Captain Fisher. The musical numbers will be a solo, "The Trumpeter" by Mr. W. Henson; duet, "The Battle Eve," Mr. Colison and Mr. Parish.

Besides the hymns the Band will give two selections.

This meeting will be held after all the church services are over, so that no one need remain away from the church.

Mr. L. Richardson, of the Hydro has gone to Fenelon Falls to join Mrs. Richardson who is visiting friends there and will spend his holidays there.

Theteachers in the High School were given a holiday on Friday afternoon so that they might get home and have the full benefit of theirt holiday.

Mr. Carmen Miller of Toronto, whos pent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Hall, Queen street, returned to his home on Friday.

Miss K. Corrigan of Toronto, is the guest over the holidays of Miss Helen Wood, Front street.

Captain Fisher of the Salvation Army, had the pleasure of a visit this week from his sister and niece, Mrs. S. Scott and daughter, of Lindsay.

HOUSE OF REFUGE BARN BURNS DOWN

Fire Yesterday Evening Destroyed Grain and Produce of Year—Big Set-back.

LAKEFIELD, November 8. (Special.) — Fire Which broke out between 5 o'clock and 5.30 yesterday evening, completely destroyed the big barn at the Peterborough House of Refuge, ¼ of a mile from here. Two calves and two pigs were lost in the blaze.

Workmen near by were the first to see the fire, and, according to one of them, it is possible that it started through a defect in the electric wiring, although no definite cause has yet been found.

The efforts of these workmen and other helpers succeeded in saving the hen houses and the driving shed, but the barn, with its stock of grain, and all the summer produce, is demolished.

Lakefield fire brigade made a gallant attempt to stop the blaze, but in a few minutes from the first tongues of fire were seen, the entire barn was a mass of flames, and the case was hopeless.

The fire is particularly unfortunate, not only because of its relation to the old folk of the country, who now make their home in the House of Refuge, but because of the report of the Grand Jury to Mr. Justice Orde last week, in which it was said the institution was almost on a self-supporting basis.

The stock of grain and produce that made that heartening statement possible has now been wiped out and Fred Bullied, the superintendent of the Institution, will be compelled to start somewhere very near the bottom to again build.

FOUND BODY BOY.

Four Boys Admitted Part In Killing of Companion.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(Canadian Press.—Body of Ernest Schwer, jr., aged 13, who disappeared from his Brooklyn Home ten days ago, was found by detectives in an old ash dump, near Maple Grove Cemetery, in Richmond Hill, last night. Police said they were led to the spot by four boys who admitted their part in killing, claiming that he had been shot accidently, and confessed they had hidden the body through fear of the consequences.

Two Men Trade Wives and Get Eight Months Apiece

BERLIN, Nov. 8. — (Canadian Press.—The devotion of a teacher and an arichitect for each other has caused their imprisonment for a term of eight months. The two men according to dispatches from Gera exchanged wives as a proof of the esteem they held for each other; but when the police learned of the affair. Both couples were arrested. The wives were released on ground that they acted under tutelage,

GERMAN WOMEN DEMAND EQUAL RIGHTS IN DIVORCE.

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—German women are tired of having mere man absolute lord of the household, and through Dr. Marie Munk they have demanded from the Reichstag wholesale changes in the marriage and divorce laws of the Republic.

The women lay special stress upon the importance of mothers having equal rights with fathers in the control of children born in wedlock; they denounce the statutes which even permit fathers who have been divorced upon statutory grounds to exercise authority over children whom the courts have given into the charge of innocent mothers.

AN EXTENSIVE programme of four days' duration marks the celebration in Peterborough of the signing of the Armistice six years ago on Tuesday. The principal events will be on Sunday, when two big parades will be held, and the veterans will look backward to honour their comrades whom they left amid the ruins of French battlefields.

Among the activities of the day will be the unveiling of a memorial in All Saints' Church, and a memorial service, open to the public, in the Grand Opera House. Any who wish to place flowers on the Cenotaph on Murray Street in honour of friends ho fell overseas are invited to do so during the parade that takes place there at 2.30 p.m.

Saturday being Poppy Day, when poppies made by disabled soldiers attached to the Vet-Craft movement are sold, it is expected that the flowers will be worn by everyone during the ensuring three days.

Monday will be "Open House" day at the G.W.V.A. Rooms, the public being invited to inspect the building from top to bottom, and to use it for this day.

Tuesday will see a grand re-union on a large scale, soldiers and their lady friends being invited to participate in a happy evening.

The detailed programme is as follows:

Sunday, 10.30 a.m.—Parade of members of G.W.V.A. at G.W.V.A. Hall. All veterans are invited to participate in this parade. The 4th Machine Gun Company and Pipers will also parade. Proceed to All Saints' Church via Murray, George, Charlotte, and Rubidge Streets.

11 a.m.—Unveiling of memorial at All Saints' Church by Lieut.-Col. T. J. Johnston, Commanding Officer of 93rd Battalion, C.E.F., Peterborough Overseas Battalion.

2.30 p.m.—Parade by Militia units, members of G.W.V.A., and all veterans at G.W.V.A. Hall, Murray Street.

Inspection by Brig.-General A. E. Ross and Lieut.-Col. Hon. W. H. Price. During the inspection the 57th Regiment Band will play.

Salute to Cenotaph. During this ceremony, any person wishing to place wreaths on the Cenotaph may do so.

Funeral March—Massed bands, 57th Regiment and Salvation Army.

Roll of Drums, Last Post, Reveille—57th Regiment, Bugle and Drum Corps.

Parade will proceed to Grand Opera House, Murray to George Streets.

Order of Parade—G.W.V.A. flag, "1866" Veterans in automobiles, Salvation Army Band, Honorary members G.W.V.A., Members G.W.V.A., Other Veterans. Military units as follows: 4th Battery, C.F.A., 3rd Dragoons, 4th Machine Gun Company, 57th Regiment with both Bands, and Cadet Corps.

8.15 p.m.—Armistice Concert by Band of the 57th Regiment in the Grand Opera House.

Sunday, p.m.—Programme at the Grand Opera House:
Opening—Attention in silence in memory of our Dead.
Hymn—"Onward, Christian Soldiers" (2 verses), Massed Bands.
Address—The Chairman.
Address—Hon. G. N. Gordon, M.P., Deputy Speaker.

Saxophone selection—Salvation Army.
Address—Rev. Capt. Paul Costello, Padre, C.E.F.
Hymn—"Abide With Me" (2 verses), Massed Bands.
"God Save the King," Massed Bands.

Monday (Thanksgiving Day)—The G.W.V.A. Rooms will be open to the public all day and evening. Officers and members will be pleased to receive citizens or strangers. The Rooms have been completely renovated, and they are the finest Veterans' Rooms in the country. Membership draw tickets are on sale all day or evening—ten grand prizes to be drawn for on the evening of the 11th of November.

Tuesday (Armistice Night), 7.30 p.m.—Free-for-all entertainment for veterans and their ladies. Every returned soldier should be present for this renewal of old associations. Programme of songs, dances, "talks, not speeches," with the big draw about 10 o'clock, when ten grand prizes will be received by the lucky holders of tickets as follows:

FRANCE WILL RETAIN ITS PENAL COLONIES

Commission Reports Convicts Would Menace Domestic Security, But Offers Reform Plan.

PARIS, Nov. 8.—There will be no immediate suppression of France's penal colonies. The interministerial Commission appointed to study the question has reported that public security forbade Premier Herriot's humanitarian measures, and the Minister of the Colonies announced that the credits for the transportation of convicts from France to the colonies have been re-established.

The Government's recent announcement of the intention to do away with the penitentiaries in Guiana and New Caledonia caused dissatisfaction in France that outweighed the sentiment of approval. Two motives were behind the Government's proposal — first, humanitarianism, and second, public economy, as the transportation of convicts is a costly procedure.

An agitation immediately started against the new measure. It was pointed out that the presence of the prisoners in Continental France would be a menace to public, that the cost of new prisons would be too heavy a burden on the State and that to confine convicts in the old prisons here would be more cruel than to send them to the colonies.

The proposal to suppress colony prisons has accomplished one result. The Interministerial Commission has suggested ots humane regulations which are aimed to permit convicts to "come back." These measures it is reported will be announced soon in a Ministerial decree.

APSLEY SCHOOL PROJECT MOVES

Committee Formed to Obtain Details of Cost of Consolidated School For District.

APSLEY, Nov. 7.—A meeting was held in St. George's Institute on Tuesday evening November 4th to discuss the question of a Consolidated school for Apsley and district, which was attended by about thirty ratepayers. Reeve Brown occupied the chair, and opened the meeting with a brief speech in which he declared that the subject for discussion was a very important one, but of which he knew little, and had come like the rest of the audience seeking information. He called upon the Rev C. A. G. Spence, whom he understood was interested and who had called the meeting for an address. Mr. Spence explained that the meeting was in no way a business one—it was simply informative. The subject should be thoroughly understood before any action should be taken and he hoped to make the matter perfectly plain. He had been in communication with the Minister of Education and gave an exhaustive explanation from literature supplied which was listened to with close attention. The Rev. Joseph Ogden who had personal experience of the working of the Act followed the speaker. After complimenting Mr. Spence on the very lucid explanation he had given he said that he had been Township Clerk and Treasurer at Wilberforce and while there a Consolidated School had been built and had proved a great success. He found that after one year the levy had been less than for the past ten years, and the school attendance had been almost perfect. In his experience a Consolidated School never costs as much as the old system, and he hoped that a Consolidated School would be established here. At this point it was decided to get the feeling of the meeting with regard to the matter and a vote being taken resulted in a unanimous desire to act on the suggestion of Mr. Spence that a committee be appointed from the school sections affected to procure data as to cost etc., to be presented at meetings of ratepayers in said School sections. The following committee was then appointed Revs. C. Spence and J. Ogden, T. J. Wilson, W. Lean, Joseph Tucker and Mrs. Woods. The committee will at once get to work and it is expected before the end of the month the project will be in shape for presentation to the ratepayers.

Sunday School Shower

A pleasant function took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Tanner, Chandos on Thursday after noon when under the auspices of the Sunday school a shower, was given Miss Laura Tanner the senior pupil who is shortly to be married. The popularity of the young lady was evinced by the many useful articles presented by her many friends.

The first deer brought through the village fell to the guns of Robert Howden and G. Henry who were hunting near Kidds and got their tally the first morning of the season.

A bad forest fire has been raging since Sunday about a mile from the village, but now seems to be under control.

PORTER RECORD IN HOUSE BLANK

Hon. T. A. Low Declares E. Gus Porter Had Done Nothing in 23 Years.

HANNA AT MARMORA.

MARMORA, November 8. — A public meeting was held in the Town Hall Marmora, on Thursday evening, 6th November, in the interests of Charles E. Hanna, Liberal candidate in the forthcoming West Hastings by-election.

The best of order prevailed throughout.

Dr. D Thomson assumed the duties of chairman most creditably.

The large audience were favoured first with a banjo solo by Mr. Hinchley. This was followed by a solo by Mr Ed Brown.

J. J. Hunter, ex-Mayor of Kincardine, was then called upon to speak. In a short but forcible address, he confined his remarks to the Murdoch charges. After defending the honour of the Hon. James Murdoch, the speaker charged the present Ontario Government with the breaking of the Home Bank through the withdrawal of its invested money whereby the bank was put upon the rocks.

At the conclusion of his speech, Mr. Cook gave a very pleasing solo.

Mr. Charles E. Hanna was then introduced to the audience. In a few words he described his acceptance of the nomination by the Liberal Convention. He appealed not only for the votes of the people, but also for their influence.

Hon. T. A. Low.

The Hon. T. A. Low, Minister of Trade and Commerce for Canada, who followed, declared that his coming into West Hastings was not as the coming of a stranger, since he represented an adjoining riding, South Renfrew ,and so he only had to step across the line. He commenced by outlining the life history of "honest James Murdoch." He evoked considerable applause by his statement that in going over the records of the Canadian House of Commons for the past twenty-three years, he had failed to see one instance of Mr. E. Guss Porter doing anything in the interests of his riding. He was sure that within twenty-three months, if elected, and the Liberal Government were still in office, something would be done for a better mail service for Marmora and the outlying places like Bancroft, by Mr. Charles Hanna.

He told of the deficit of $81,000,000 on the last Conservative Budget being reduced to $31,000,000 by the Fielding Budget and the presentation of the Robb Budget with a surplus Budget in ten years, He said Canada has three great needs—men, money, and markets. Agriculture is the basic industry of the country. In 1921 there was an adverse balance with Canadian trade. On 30th September, 1924, it was shown that Canada had a trade surplus of $260,000,000. He addressed his concluding words to the women, for he said that in this Province they represent 51 per cent. of the vote.

Hon. Duncan Marshall.

The Hon. Duncan Marshall, former Minister of Agriculture in the Alberta Government, was the last speaker. This formidable opponent of Conservatism was in humorous vein and merely touched on the Murdoch affair. He dealt with the general programme of the Liberal Party as sustained for the past forty years, comparing conditions when they were in power to those when they out of power. He received the greatest applause of the evening for the emphatic statements of his speech.

Mr. Cook, in giving a French-Canadian character sketch, caused much amusement with the concluding item of the programme.

All the speakers in turn touched on the qualifications of the candidate to represent the riding.

A short meeting was held at Deloro earlier in the evening, and was addressed by the same speakers.

Personal Mention.

Mr. W. Williams is on the sick list.

Mr. John McGie is relinquishing his position with the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company at the end of the week.

There was a good turn-out at the regular meeting of Deloro Women's Institute on Wednesday evening.

THE SILENT TRIBUTE.

The actual anniversary of the signing of the Armistice that brought hostilities in the World War to a close is next Tuesday, Nov. 11th, and it should not be forgotten that the two-minute period of silence in memory of the Empire's dead will commence at two minutes to 11 o'clock, Tuesday morning.

This silent tribute will be observed throughout the whole British Empire at the request of His Majesty the King, and every Britisher is asked to stop wherever he may be at the hour designated and stand for two minutes while his thoughts go back to the war years and his memory dwells upon those who paid for victory with their life's blood.

It is a matter for regret that this simple but most impressive ceremony was not as generally respected in Peterborough last year as it should have been.

By many citizens it was neglected altogether, and there was not that community observance of the tribute that its significance calls for.

Let us hope that on Tuesday the two-minute period of silence will be respected by every Peterborough citizen.

WEAR THE POPPY.

It is to be hoped that the wearing of poppies over the week-end will be more generally carried out in Peterborough than on previous Armistice anniversaries.

The sale of the scarlet flowers by the G.W.V.A. today should not be regarded as merely a tag day, and the poppies should not be worn as the ordinary tags are, just to protect the wearers from being canvassed again.

The intention of the promoters of Poppy Day was a dual one, to raise funds for the assistance of veterans and their families and to give the people a chance to demonstrate by the wearing of the flower of remembrance that the services of all the men who fought and the sacrifice of those who gave up their lives are still gratefully remembered by their fellow-citizens.

Tomorrow there will be the dedication of a monument and a memorial service, and the Armistice celebration will be continued on Monday, while Tuesday, of course, is the actual anniversary of the signing of the Armistice.

The poppy, therefore, should be worn by as many citizens as possible until after Tuesday.

The more of these flowers shown the more visible will be the evidence that Peterborough remembers her war heroes.

NOT CLOSED YET.

Peter Smith, ex-Provincial Treasurer, in pleading guilty to the second list of charges brought against him, has thereby admitted that he received secret commissions from the Home Bank.

That would seem to justify the inference that Peter Smith found a smooth-running system when he came into office, availed himself of the opportunity to line his purse—and earned a penitentiary sentence.

The people of Ontario, in view of Smith's plea of guilty, will be all the more anxious to know further details of the toll-gate system in the Treasury Department.

It has already been brought out through the report of Clarkson & Co. that $39,500 was paid out by the Home Bank, apparently to influence Provincial business, in the September before Peter Smith came into office.

The report indicates that there was a sum of $2,500 on September 4, $12,000 on September 12 and $25,000 on September 23.

This money did not reach the Provincial coffers.

Hon. T. W. McGarry, who was Provincial Treasurer at the time, has sworn that he did not receive it.

Who got that $39,500?

Was there, as the Globe has forcibly put it, a toll-gate in operation long before the unlucky Peter Smith arrived on the scene?

If so, who was the keeper of that toll-gate, and what steps are being taken to discover his identity and to put him in prison with Peter Smith, who evidently inherited a going concern, and kept it going?

The matter cannot be left in its present condition.

ON THE RIGHT TRAIL.

An interview given by the Attorney-General, Hon. W. F. Nickle, furnishes cause for hoping that the Ontario Temperance Act is to be enforced henceforth on common-sense lines.

The quarry that is to be sought by the officials charged with the carrying out of the Act is the man who is making a profit out of violating the measure and who by reason of his illegal traffic is putting temptation in the way of others.

Penalties for minor infractions of the O. T. A. on the other hand are to be lessened—as they should be.

Mr. Nickle, in fact, is adopting the policy that the Examiner has long been urging—even back in the days when Hon. W. C. Raney was the man who cracked the O. T. A. lash.

It has been the contention of this paper that the real offenders under the Act have been escaping too lightly, and that the measure was too drastic in the punishment it inflicted upon men who were guilty of unimportant infractions.

That people should have to serve a jail sentence through inability to pay an excessive find simply because they were found in possession of a few ounces of liquor—with no suspicion that they were selling the spirits—is such a tranenty of justice that it is a matter of wonder that certain sections of the Ontario Temperance Act have been allowed to stand so long.

Mr. Nickle is on the right trail—round up the men who are making a profit and have a little mercy on the victims of the illegal traffic, and there will be a wonderful improvement in conditions generally.

Canadians should not be puzzled in thinking up many excellent reasons for giving thanks.

ONTARIO HAS TOO MANY TEACHERS.

Ontario has 1,000 more teachers than school boards to employ them. Such was the problem presented to Premier Ferguson by a deputation from the Ontario Educational Association. The suggestion made was that the qualifications of teachers be raised to exclude those who did not intend to pursue it as a life work.

A few years ago teachers organized to better their conditions, says the London Advertiser. They did so, and the salaries were increased considerably. The result was that there were more students heading for the teaching profession, attracted there by the better conditions secured by the teachers themselves. In another way, the teachers secured not only better conditions, but with them more competition for the available positions.

There is something to be said in favor of confining teaching as far as possible to those who intend to follow it permanently, but on the other hand it is a fact that teaching has been a useful stepping-stone to many a young man thrown on his own resources and determined to work his way through to a professional career. It is not so much used for this purpose today as it was a few years ago, but there are many who have come through by this route, and there was nothing to show that the teaching of the children suffered as a result.

Qualifications for teaching should not be framed with the idea of keeping a certain number out of the profession. The fact that Ontario has 1,000 too many teachers now will attend to that.

SPREAD THE NEWS.

Ontario factories report better employment conditions, and the wheels of industry generally are beginning to hum, says the St. Catharines Standard. Crop realization in the West, also the realization of good prices, are beginning to be felt in the industrial East. There are other factors also making for business rather outside than inside the country. Buying power is being re-established in Europe, and now that the United States elections are over, business is assured for the next four years of being fairly let alone and subject to no radical upset. The financial markets of the world, New York, London and Paris, reflect more of a buoyant tendency. The day after the Conservatives were elected in Britain stocks went up and there was substantial buying of sterling. These incidents are indicative of confidence being restored. Even the German situation is reassuring, and buying power in that country is coming back.

Confidence and security are the bulwarks of good business, and there is no reason to think that the upward trend will not be felt right in this peninsula in the months to come. Seasonal unemployment there will always be, but it is much to be doubted whether conditions this winter will anywhere near approach the description some calamity howlers picture. Take a Canadian review of the situation first, then a world review, and it will be seen that the clouds are disappearing from the horizon as quickly as they came.

COOLIDGE AND STABILITY.

The Americans, like the British, have voted for "stability." In Great Britain, the bogey was Socialism; and the British plumped for the Conservative candidates as the surest and most unmistable way of showing their distrust of this philosophy. In the United States, the bogey was the uncertainty and intrigue which would follow a failure to elect a President; and the Americans plumped for Coolidge as the surest way to avoid this morass.

It looks at this writing as if they had also succeeded in breaking the deadlock in both Houses of Congress. That is, they seem to have put the Fepublicans definitely and effectively in power. They are nominally in power, of course, in the present Congress, but the Progressive bloc within the Republican ranks is strong enough to unite with the Democrats at any time and bar the passage of straight Republican measures. The result has been that legislation has been more Progressive-Democratic than Republican, and that the principal activities of the Republican President have been accomplished—not with the baton of leadership—but with the veto-power of restraint.

Certainly it would seem better for our neighbors to have one party definitely in power, and so be able to hold that party fully responsible for whatever is done or left undone. This is usually regarded as an essential of responsible government. But few nations are able to criticize others in these modern days for lacking this essential—for it has become a common lack. Happily the British have now escaped from this anomalous position; and the Americans will be happy if they, too, have made a similar escape.

As might easily have been foretold, La Folletteism proved to be a damp squib. The widespread disgust with the two old parties promised for a time to give him an impressive popular vote; but as the campaign progressed, even the disgusted voter decided that the least of two evils was to cast a vote which would, of course, return an irritatingly imperfect party to power but would at least prevent the far more dangerous calamity of flinging the great office of the Presidency to the politicians for months of bargaining, balloting and business uncertainty.

This only deprived La Follette of a vote which never was properly his. This vote was not "Progressive" in the La Follette sense at all, but merely dissatisfied with the two regular parties. It intended to utilize the chance to vote for La Follette—a candidate who was safe not to be elected—in order to register this dissatisfaction. Much of it undoubtedly did so vote. But the part that went back to Coolidge was not composed of perverted Progressives, but of sane Republicans who decided that—in view of all the disturbing consequences involved—it would be better to forget "oil" and "Teapot Domes" and mysterious houses in Washington, and continue a regime which at least gives the Americans the services of such men as Secretary Hughes, Treasurer Mellon and Secretary Hoover.

The purely Progressive movement does not seem to be formidable. Even with many accretions not Progressive at all, it has made a much poorer showing than was anticipated. Even in the most of the States where it runs second, it owes this prominence largely to the fact that the local Democrats could see no other way of preventing the election of Coolidge except by temporarily swelling the totals of the La Follette figures and so possibly throwing the election into Congress. Incidentally, the collapse of La Follette casts a revealing light on the value of "straw votes." La Follette was running ahead of Davis in New York State itself in some of these mimic elections, and seemed to have shouldered the Democratic party everywhere into third place. But the real elections have told a quite different tale.—Montreal Star.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Nov. 7.—Receipts of cattle at the Union Stock Yards this week were about the same as those of the previous two weeks, around 8,300 head. These supplies have not been too large, but the proportion of good to choice butchers could have been larger and much more acceptable to the buyers. This week closed with practically everything closed out, and prices during the week were as steady as unstandardized animals are able to be guaged. The bulk of butchers for domestic uses sold between $4.50 and $5.50 a cwt. and only a few handyweight butchers were able to get as high as $6.25 a cwt.

Rogers and Maybee had a little competition in their export purchases, and the volume of offerings was not as large or the quality as high as recently. This resulted in advances of 10 to 15 cents a cwt. For two choice loads of heavy steers, $7.50 a cwt. was paid. Some other good ones cost $7.25 and $7.30 a cwt., but a large number were secured from $6.25 to $6.75 a cwt. In all, nearly 1,100 were sent overseas for the week. Export heifers cost $5.50 to $6.25 and choice fat cows $4.75 to $5.50 a cwt. Feeders bought by the exporters this week were returned to Ontario farmers on contract of $1.50 a cwt. and weight increase when brought in finished for export.

For butchers' stock there was keen competition for the best but the common and poor medium quality required selling. The packers took a couple of loads of good heavy steers at $7 a cwt. and a bunch or two of 1200-lb. steers were bought at $6.40 a cwt. by local butchers. Good handyweight mixed butchers averaged about $5.75 a cwt. and mediums, $5.25. Passably good light heifers were $4 to $4.25 a cwt., and plain common butchers sold from $3 to $3.75 a cwt. The commonest butchers would be even lower than this, but that some are being taken in as stockers to fill up shipments.

Butchers' cows continue in good enquiry. Choice exporters are $5 to $5.50 and finished butchers' cows at $4 to $4.50 a cwt. Good medium quality cows are $3.50 to $3.75 and common ones sell at $2.75 to $3.25 a cwt. Canners are averaging $1.50 a cwt. Not many fat heavy bulls are being marketed and these are around $4.50 a cwt. Bolgona bulls are quite steady at $2.75 to $3 a cwt. A smaller trade is reported for milchers and springers this week, but without price changes. The stocker and feeder business is seasonably heavier with quotation less firm than they have been owing to the apathy of farmers.

For the fourth week calves have maintained the steadiest kind of undertone. Supplies are scarcely sufficient for the demand and this keeps buyers on edge. Choice calves are holding from 11 to 12 cents and good calves 10 to 10½ cents a pound. Medium calves are 7½ to 9 cents and common and heavy calves 6 to 7 cents. Scarcity of grassers has brought these up to 3¾ and 4 cents a pound.

Lambs shot up 50 cents a cwt. on Monday when the bulk of good lambs sold at 12½ cents a pound. The market on Thursday was 12 cents for choice light ewes and wethers. Heavy lambs, 100 lbs. and up, are still under a good discount and selling at 9½ to 10 cents a pound. Choice sheep are 7 to 7¼ cents and yearlings 8 to 9 cents a pound.

A cut of 25 cents a cwt. was made made in hogs this week, bringing the price down to $9 a cwt. f.o.b. Packers are still dissastisfied with the price and will make bids of only $8.75 a cwt. for next week.

EGG PRICES.

OTTAWA, November 8 (Canadian Press).— Markets continue firm According to latest advices received, Montreal reports storage holdings on 1st November amounting to 92,364 cases as against 107,350 cases on the same date last year and 119,905 cases on 1st October, 1924.

Toronto firm. Retailing fresh specials 70 to 75, fresh extras 65 to 66, storage extras 50 to 54, firsts 55 to 56, seconds 39.

Montreal very firm; prices unchanged.

Winnipeg market firm. Dealers country shippers delivered extras 40 to 45, firsts 31 to 35, seconds 23 to 26.

MONTREAL GRAIN.

MONTREAL, November 8 (Canadian Press). — The trade in cash grain in the domestic market was very quiet there being little demand either from exporters or from local buyers, and the prices were unchanged. Car lots of Ontario No. 3 extra malting barley were quoted at $1.08, No. 3 grade at $1.07, Ontario No. 2 white oats at 60 cents, No. 3 white at 58 cents, and No. 4 grade at 56 cents per bushel, ex-track, while Canadian Western oats were 1 cent per bushel higher.

Owing to the continued strength in the Winnipeg market for cash wheat and the further advance in prices, the local market for spring wheat grades of flour was strong and millers generally marked up prices 20 cents per barrel.

Ontario millers in some cases asked for an advance of 20 to 30 cents per barrel for winter wheat grades.

There was no actual change in the spot prices announced, which ruled firm.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, November 8 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quated here yesterday as follows:

Demand ... $4.58 1-2
Cables ... $4.58 7-8

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, November 8 (Canadian Press). — Wheat rose rapidly in price yesterday and reached to within two cents of the season's top record for the May delivery. Buying was on a big scale, owing to the activity of the export demand as well as to unfavourable crop conditions both in Argentina nd Australia.

Closing quotations here on wheat were strong 1 7-8 to 3 1-8 cents net higher, December $1.50 to $1.50 1-8 and May $1.55 1-8 to $1.55 3-8.

Corn finished at 1 cents to 1 3-8 cents gain, oats showing 3-8 to 5-8 cent up, and provisions unchanged to 27 cents advance.

Broad buying power made itself felt in the wheat pit yesterday from the beginning, and despite huge sales to realise profits the market continued to climb until the very end of the Board of Trade session. Export purchases yesterday were said to total more than 10,000,000 bushels and with sterling exchange above $4.58 for the first time this year and wheat prices at Liverpool showing a sharp advance, sentiment favouring higher prices in Chicago became more nd more pronounced.

more and more pronounced.

ed to the bullish character of wheat crop developments in the southern hemisphere. Hot winds prevailing in the Argentine emphasised the need of moisture, and an estimate was current that the Argentine exportable surplus would be only 11,000,000 bushels, the smallest amount mentioned so far this season and 85,000,000 bushels under last year's total.

Heavy rains in Australia threatening to result in a wet harvest there tended further to stimulate buying. Cash wheat premiums meanwhile scored a decided advance.

NEWS FROM APSLEY.

Confirmation Administered By the Lord Bishop of Toronto.

APSLEY, Nov. 7.—The Right Rev the Lord Bishop of Toronto visited the Apsley Mission on Monday, Nov. 3, for the purpose of administering the sacred rite of confirmation. He was accompanied by the Rural Dean, the Rev. T. J. OConor Fenton, of Norwood, and Mr. R. W. Allen, the secretary-treasurer of the Synod. Miss Fenton motored the party from Peterborough. Service was held in St. Paul's Church, Lasswade, in the afternoon, when eight candidates, all male, were confirmed by his lordship, who also afterwards admitted Ernest Walke, of Owenbrook, to the office and work of lay-reader in the Mission. A large congregation assembled at St. George's Church, Apsley, in the evening, where, again, the Apostolic rite of the layinng on hands was administered to seven persons, six female and one male. The same order was observed as at St. Paul's, the Rev. C. A. G. Spence presenting the candidates, the Rural Dean reading the preface, and Mr. R. W. Allin the appointed portions of Scripture, this being followed by a highly edifying and eloquent address by the Bishop, of which the following is a brief synopsis. "There are five points," said his Lordship, "that God expects of us as sons of God: prayer, reading God's word, worship, partaking of the Holy Communion, and service, that is, consecrating our talents and time to doing work for Him. I spoke on the first of these, the approaching God prayer, at the service at St. Paul's this afternoon, and will now speak on the last, taking as my text the words, 'Son, go work to-day in my vineyards St. Matthew, 21 : 28. What are the rights of God in this respect, the right to say, 'Son, go work to-day in my vineyard'? He has the right of creatorship. We are His offspring. He is our Father by creation, therefore He has the right to command. He is our Father by regeneration, adoption and grace. When we say 'Our Father,' we are embracing everybody else in our prayer. The right of God to say to each of us, 'Son, go, work,' involves the duty of obedience on our part. The question is how are we to render obedience, and in what spirit. Are we going to be like one of the two boys in the parable, or are we going to say willingly and stick to it: 'I am ready to go and work as Thou, Lord, commandest, from early morn till dewy eve. It is a duty and privilege to serve Thee, our Father by creation, by regeneration, adoption and grace When God made man in His own image He gave him freedom of will, and He also gave him that instinct of religion that prompts him to say, 'Father, I will go and work.' You will notice, in picking out references to the vineyard throughout the Bible, a note of disappointment, discontent and tragedy. They all portray the Church of God in the world and the challenge to men and women. If they do not respond to the challenge they sound that note because they are crucifying afresh the Son of Man, and putting Him to open shame. How shall we interpret that challenge to-day? There is the call to the sacred ministry. How small a proportion of Christian families dedicate a son or daughter to the work of God in His Holy Church. How often, in a big confirmation class, there is not a single candidate for the ministry. Of the more than 35,000 that have been confirmed, had there been only a small percentage in every class of candidates for the ministry we would not, as we do, look over the Dominion and see innumerable missions without a minister, and even in this great diocese. I pray that from this community some will offer themselves for the work of the sacred ministry. Then, again, we can work in His vineyard by responding to the call to parochial activity by doing our share of work in the social organizations, and again in Christian social service. Never before has there been so much of what is valled Applied Christianity as at the present day, so much time, thought, care, prayer, attention and devotion to this work.

We want to be clothed with dignity to carry the consciousness of being sons and daughters of the Almighty—sons and daughters of the King—clothed with the dignity of the thought that we are heirs, joint heirs with Christ, workers together with God. Oh, the dignity that He should choose me, so full of sin, to be an inheritor of the Kingdon of Heaven, and then to send me to work in His vineyard. And, at the last, if I respond and am faithful, to hear 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord.' This is within the bounds of possibility of experience of everyone."

The fifteen candidates confirmed on Monday bring the total number to fifty presented by the Rev. C. A. G. Spence in his six years' ministry in the Mission of Apsley.

CHEESE AN ALL AROUND FOOD

But Sometimes Misunderstood.

Cheese is probably the oldest manufactured food we have. It is mentioned several times in the Bible and it is certain that the art of making it was known long before the birth of Christ. While it is one of the oldest foods, it is also one of the most misunderstood, even though there are many people who think they know all about cheese.

People believe a great many foolish things about cheese, one of them being that it does not agree with them; that it is hard to digest. Government tests and hundreds of doctors and dietitions have proved time and again that this is not the case. Cheese should be eaten with other foods, the same as you eat meat, for it is a perfect alternate for meat; the food properties are almost the same.

Milk is the most perfect food we have. In fact, it is the only food that contains all the elements necessary to sustain life. Cheese is nothing but solidified milk. The 87% of water in milk is reduced to about one-third in cheese, but all the other precious food qualities are still retained. Cheese is composed for the most part of the protein of milk, called casein, and there is about ten times as much casein in cheese as in whole milk. This casein, or protein, of the milk is what builds and repairs the muscles, while the fat gives us energy, and the minerals produces growth, blood regulation and proper composition of the digestive fluids. Milk also contains the three important vitamins—A, B and C, and it is believed that at least two of these—A and B—are retained in cheese.

From this you will see that cheese is really a meat food the properties are nearly alike. People overload their stomach with a big meal, top it off with a big piece of cheese, and then wonder what's the matter with them. They do not know that in eating that piece of cheese they are virtually consuming a piece of beef about three times its size. Yet that is just what they do.

Eat plenty of cheese but eat it as you would have any other highly nourishing food. Here is a recipe that has been tried and found very good.

Baked Cheese Omelet.

1 cup stale bread crumbs.
1 teaspoon baking soda.
2 eggs beaten light.
1 cup grated Kraft Canadian cheese.
1 pint milk.
1 teaspoon hot water.
¾ teaspoon salt.
1 tablespoon melted butter.

Soak bread crumbs in milk to which has been added soda dissolved in hot water. Add eggs, salt, dash cayenne, grated cheese and melted butter. Turn into greased baking dish and place in very hot oven. Serve immediately when it is puffed and golden brown.

PUT ON HANGERS

Always put your dresses away on hangers as soon as you take them of, and dust and clean them before putting them back in the closet.

THE COST OF U.S.A. ELECTION

It Is Estimated That About Ten Million Dollars Will Be Spent.

SOME ITEMS IN BILL.

The expenses of the United States Presidential election, as indicated by the various campaign committee budgets, are expected to amount to ten million dollars.

The sum is a large one, but the national campaign has many ramifications. The present is supposed to be a campaign of economy, for the Senate has for some time been investigating the question of campaign funds.

In 1916 the Republicans spent approximately $2,500,000 and the Democrats not quite $2,000,000, but money went further then than it does today.

In 1920 the actual outlay of the Republican National Committee, as reported to the Senate, was $5,-319,729, while the Democratic National Committee spent $1,818,274.

But the 1924 campaign, with State expenditures added, cost $10,-338,509. This included, as well as State expenditures, the cost of the special committees campaigning for the election of members of the Senate and House.

The fact that more than $10,000,-000 went into the campaign, however, when there were only two tickets in the field, emphasizes the fact that the 1924 campaign will be one of economy. The outlay of $10,-000,000 this year will be used to finance three parties instead of two.

About 40 per cent. of the money is spent for publicity, 20 per cent. for campaign speakers, 25 per cent. for the maintenance of headquarters in the various key cities, and the remaining 15 per cent. for miscellaneous and emergency purposes.

Millions of Campaign Buttons.

More than half the money allocated for publicity is for campaign books, lithographic pictures of the candidates, and for campaign buttons such as enthusiastic party workers wear on the lapels of their coats. The campaign books are of different kinds, devised to win the support of different classes of the voters.

The most pretentious is the campaign text-book, an imposing publication with a hundred or more pages, containing the party platform adopted at the national convention, the speeches of acceptance of the Presidential and Vice-Presidential candidates, brief histories of their lives, a record of their achievements, and other campaign data.

Books for general distribution are smaller in size and less expensive, although they are printed by the hundred thousand. The books sent out to farmers discuss farm problems entirely, on the theory that the purpose is served. Those sent to laboring men discuss labor issues. One of the oldest campaign friends is the lithograph, a large picture of the Presidential candidate alone or the Presidential candidate with the Vice-Presidential nominee. Prices vary, but the ordinary lithograph costs about 4c. In 1920 the Republicans got out 5,-000,000 pictures of Warren G. Harding.

Campaign buttons are another important and expensive method of creating interest in the fight leading up to the election. These also are produced by the million, and they cost, according to whether they carry the picture or merely the name of the candidate, anywhere from 3 and 4c apiece upward.

Wireless a New Factor.

All this campaign literature, lithographs and buttons must be shipped from the place of production, through a general headquarters, to the workers in the field. And this means heavy bills for freight and express. Coupled with this is the expense of maintaining shipping departments. This item alone cost the Republicans $680,000 in 1920.

Billboard advertising on a large scale made its appearance in the national campaign of 1920, when the Republicans covered the country with posters at a cost of $400,-000.

Approximately 10 per cent. of the campaign fund was in newspaper advertising.

In the present campaign, says a writer in the New York Times, the cost of speakers is expected to be modified somewhat by the use of radio, a new factor in politics.

About 5 per cent. of the entire campaign fund goes for the travelling expenses of the Presidential and Vice-Presidential candidates, when special trains are invariably required.

SURGEON

Kentucky mountaineers usually sit up and watch with interest while they are being operated on, says Dr. S. C. Smith of Ashland, Ky. Only a few generations since patients, tied to the operating table, screamed while legs wer sawed off. The invention of anaesthetics was one of the greatest blessings, even though it did permit a lot more operations than are necessary.

HOLY BOOK IS STILL WORLD'S BEST SELLER

CHICAGO, Nov. 8 (United Press).—The Bible continues to be the world's best seller, with an annual distribution of more than 7,000,000 copies issued by the American Bible Society. This was attested in a report submitted today to the biennial convention here of the United Lutheran Church in America.

Lutheran members of the Advisory Board of the Bible Society announced that the largest circulation of the Bible outside of the United States was in China, which last year received more than 2,500,000 copies of the book, an increase of more than 500,000 over the previous year. The distribution of the Book in Japan aggregated 3,3,000 copies, a gain of more than fifty percent.

Courting Agreement That Went Wrong

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 8 — (United Press).—John, Peoples, a prohibition agent, has a $250,000 heartache, according to a suit for alienation of affections on file here against Herman F. Pronger, manufacturer.

Before he got married, Peoples charges, he and Pronger were rival for the girl's hand. One afternoon they met at the girl's home.

"You're intruding," Pronger told Peoples, according to the suit.

"I'm not," Peoples replied. "We're engaged."

"Well, so are we," Pronger retaliated.

They agreed that the courting should continue until one or the other won. The agreement provided that as soon as one triumphed the other would yield and abandon the courtship.

Peoples married the girl, but according to the suit, Pronger didn't live up to the agreement. He induced Mrs. Peoples to run away with him, the suit charges.

Pronger was a persistent and ardent wooer, according to the suit and threats of violence didn't dampen his ambitions to win Peoples' wife.

MAKES WETS WETTER.

Malcolm MacDonald, English Labor Leader's Son, Heard in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Oxford debaters headed by Malcolm MacDonald, son of the English labor leader, "won over" 100 members of an audience at Northwestern University from wet to wetter. After the debate 100 persons who had voted "mildly wet" when they entered the hall cast their votes "emphatically wet."

The English debaters also talked thirty-nine persons into opposition to prohibition who had voted "dry."

TIGHT HATS AND BALD HEADS

CHICAGO, (U. P.)—Many cases of premature baldness are accelerated, although not entirely caused, by tight fitting hats which constrict the blood vessels leading up to the top and front of the scalp and diminish vitalizing blood currents, according to C. Nestle, New York hair specialist in an address given at a convention of hairressers here.

MARRIED LIFE.

It takes so little to make a man happy—a kiss, a word of flattery, a decent cup of coffee—that one marvels at the fortunes paid out in alimony.

At twenty a man marries a good looker, at thirty a good talker, and at forty a good cook.

Marriage is a steam-roller. Every once in a while it flattens you out and takes every bit of your pep. And just as you've picked yourself up and got yourself back into shape it comes along behind you and does the same thing over again.

Tell your husband he's a hero. You can Coue a man into being anything you want him to be.

Pay day always looks good whether it rains or shines.

ASTHMA NEVER CAME BACK

Since Taking The Fruit Treatment in "Fruit-a-tives"

Read this letter from Mrs. J. M. Pennington of New Rockland, P.Q. "In 1919, I was taken with Bronchial Asthma and no one knows what I suffered during the winter. I began having choking spells and would just gasp for breath and could not speak. The doctor said he could do nothing for me.

In the spring of 1920, I started taking "Fruit-a-tives" and soon the choking spells became easier and I have not had one since May 7th, 1920. It is such a relief to be able to go to bed and have no thought of having to get up in the night for an hour or more as I did all that winter, but never have to now, all because I take a "Fruit-a-tives" tablet every night.

GERMAN EDITOR DARES WOMEN TO SHAVE HEADS

DRESDEN, Nov. 8.—"If women will cut off their hair and shave their necks why don't they shave their heads all over the way many German men do who regard themselves as very aristocratic and distinguished?" is the challenge a German editor makes to women of fashion.

"Many men who belong to the Steel Helmet organization have shaved their heads. It is a distinct mark of the officer class, and since women are organizing a feminine branch of the Steel Helmets they should also shave their heads."

The Fordor Sedan

Comfort

There's nothing in the world so grateful to the traveler who fares forth on chilly autumn days as the snug interior of a Ford closed car.

Once upon a time the colder weather made prisoners of all but the hardiest, and mustard footbaths and doctors' bills were regarded as things that just had to be put up with.

Nowadays, when business or pleasure calls us from the fireside, we step into the cozy comfort of sedan or coupe, and the journeys we used to dread become pilgrimages of delight.

There's added safety too for the Ford closed car owner, safety from the hazards of wet streets, safety from the danger of draughty buses and street cars, safety from the menace of sudden changes of temperature.

No better investment this winter than a Ford closed car.

CHAPTER XII.

As to Miss Turner.

"Mrs. Raynor," Dobbins said, speaking gravely and very respectfully, "I wonder if you can tell me anything about your husband's young life—before you married him."

"Only in a general way," Nan answered. "He was married before, you know, and had one child—Lionel. I never knew his first wife; I think she died before they had been married many years."

"It was a love match?" ventured the detective.

"Are these questions necessary, Mr. Dobbins?"

"Perhaps not absolutely necessary, but advisable."

"Then I will say that while Mr. Raynor had my esteem and respect, I was not what may be called in love with him."

"But married him at your father's orders, eh?"

"In accordance with my father's wishes, certainly."

"And have had no reason to regret the step?"

"I protest, Mr. Dobbins."

"Well, Mrs. Raynor, to tell you the truth, I am trying to get at something, and I don't know just how to put it. But, if I must say it bluntly, was your husband ever interested in any other woman during his married life with you?"

"No," she said; "I am sure I can affirm that he was not. It may be I am mistaken, but I knew my husband's ways and character very well, and I am positive that there was no attachment of the sort you suggest."

"How about before he married you?"

"Of that I cannot speak with authority. I was acquainted with Mr. Raynor for less than a year before we were married."

"I don't mean casual affairs, or slight attachments, but do you know of no episode in his life so serious as to cause anyone—any woman—to wish to bring about his death?"

"No," but Nan looked troubled.

"I am sure, Mrs. Raynor, you have someone in mind.

"Mr. Dobbins, have you anyone in mind? If so, name her, and I will tell you if I can corroborate your suspicions."

"Very well, then"—Dobbins glanced around—"the nurse, Miss Turner."

Nancy Raynor looked startled.

"I hate to breath suspicion with no real evidence to go upon," she said, slowly, "but I have had doubts of Miss Turner's sincerity. Yet my reasons are so slight—merely a glance of hers at my husband when she thought no one saw her, or a stern set of her lips as she turned away from him. This may have been only in my imagination, but from many such instances I somehow gathered that she hated him."

"If so, Mrs. Raynor, that would presuppose a previous acquaintance, would it not?"

"It would seem so," Nan meditated. "It's queer—I can't mention any definite occurrence, but I feel sure she hated Mr. Raynor strongly, vindictively, and—oh, do you think she shot him?"

"No, Mrs. Raynor, I've not the slightest reason to think that. But I do think—if your story of your drug remedy is a true one—I do think it possible that she was administering the poison pellets."

"My story is true, Mr. Dobbins—oh, please, believe it! I knew my husband was secretly taking drugs—I found that soon it would become an ineradicable habit. Somebody told me of the cure—it was warranted harmless, so I tried it on Mr. Raynor. I reasoned that if it didn't cure him, it could do him no harm. And, too—I cannot tell you—I don't want to tell you, how unutterably cruel he was to me because of the drug."

"But I thought," Dobbins watched her closely, "I thought morphine made people merry and happy."

"Yes—but it was when he couldn't get the drug that he was so terrible. I had to hide it from him—and then, when he couldn't find it, he—he became almost like a maniac—he tortured me until I had to give it to him again."

"You poor woman! I don't wonder you wanted to kill him!"

If this was a trap, Nan took no notice of it. She went on.

"I gave him the pellets quite regularly for a time—he not knowing it, of course. I could see no marked improvement in the matter of the drug habit, but I was alarmed at noticing symptoms that seemed to indicate that something was radically wrong. He became slightly anemic, was short of breath, and subject to intense thirst. I spoke of these things to Miss Turner, but she said I imagined them and that he was all right. "I became more alarmed—yet I didn't like to speak to Doctor Saxton about it."

"Why?"

"I think the principal reason was, I feared he would attribute the conditions to the pellets I had been giving him—and I knew those were harmless—for I had had them analyzed by an expert chemist. So—I really don't know how I came to think of poison, but I did, and I bought a little book telling about poisons and their antidotes. As I read it, I became convinced that Mr. Raynor was regularly taking arsenic into his system. I thought first of suicide—then I began to suspect Miss Turner of knowing something about it."

"And that explains, you think, the whole matter of the arsenic poisoning?"

"Don't you think so?"

"Frankly, I do not. I still think—pardon my brutal plainness, that all this is a fabrication of your own. First, poison pellets were found hidden in a vase in your bedroom. Again, if either the drug, morphine, or the patent medicine you say you were administering had been found at the autopsy, your story might carry more weight. But no traces o those substances appear in the report of the operating surgeons. If you suspected Miss Turner, why didn't you accuse her at once?"

"As I told you," Nan spoke with difficulty, "I didn't—I don't exactly suspect her—I can only say, I don't entirely trust her. I hoped, if I threw away all the morphine and all the curative pellets, it would never be known that my husband indulged in drugs at all. I am sensitive about his reputation, and I don't want the matter known. His sister would be most chagrined and mortified if she knew of it."

"Well, Mrs. Raynor, I can't think this is a time for such punctilious consideration of Miss Raynor's feelings, or even of your husband's weakness. Try to remember that you are under grave suspicion yourself of having killed your husband, by poison or by a shot, or both. Try to remember that your explanations and excuses, so far, have no real weight as evidence in your favor, and for heaven's sake, if you know anything definite or truly prejudicial to anyone else, tell it—and help your own cause!"

Dobbins spoke emphatically.

"Now," he went on, "what I'm getting at is this. If you have enough real doubt of Miss Turner, say so—and I'll go straight and hunt her down and face her with the question."

"I don't know——" and Nan's worried face showed deepest doubt. "It does seem so awful to accuse a poor nurse of crime, with so little to suggest it."

"Maybe I can add a little," and as the short, sharp tones fell on their ears, Miss Matti glided into the room.

"I've been listening," she said seating herself. "I make no bones of doing that in any matter concerning my brother's death. I've heard all you two have said—and I must confess, Nan, I think you're pretty fine. I don't believe, now, you poisoned Douglas—I believe your story of the drugs and the cure; you see, I know you better than Mr. Dobbins does. I am shocked, of course, to learn that Douglas hankered after morphine—it's disgraceful—but, to my mind, it's a small matter compared with the question of who killed him. Now, I always disliked the Turner woman, and, moreover, I always thought there was something between her and Douglas. I mean something that happened before she came here."

"That's what I want to get at!" cried Dobbins, eagerly.

"Come to me, then," said Miss Mattie, calmly. "Mrs. Raynor is young and trusting—she's really unversed in the ways of women of the world. I don't say she didn't shoot my brother—she suffered, Lord knows! and in a moment of desperation—but that's not the point at present. If Nan didn't give Douglas poison—then Eva Turner did. My brother had a lamentable episode in his life about twenty years ago."

"With Eva Turner?" asked Dobbins, quickly.

"That I don't know. But the girl's name was Effie Talcott—and it might have been Miss Turner, under a different name."

Miss Mattie settled herself in her chair, almost as if prepared to enjoy the recital.

"It was when my brother was perhaps forty years old. He was a widower. Effie Talcott was a chorus girl, and Douglas fell madly in love with her. He had no idea of marrying her, but he lavished every attention on her.

"Well, one night they were driving out somewhere after the threatre, and there was a motor accident. Miss Talcott's leg was broken and she went to the hospital. She was there nearly a year, and when she came out she did not exactly limp, but she could never dance again. Of course, this ended her stage career, and she turned to my brother for support.

"This he refused and she brought a breach of promise suit against him. It was settled out of court, but the girl was not at all satisfied with the arrangements made for her, and she vowed she'd get even with Douglas sooner or later. My brother only laughed at this. But I heard that during her stay in the hospital she had developed an interest in nursing and had an aptitude for it. That is all I know—but, if you put two and two together——"

Miss Mattie paused.

"The Talcott girl would be about forty now, and if she has been a nurse for years, she may be a dietitian as well as any other specialist."

* * *

In consequence of this story of Mattie Raynor's, Detective Dobbins set off at once for New York City, to interview the nurse at the address she had left behind her.

He was greeted in a non-committal fashion by a middle-aged woman, carelessly groomed and informally attired.

"Sit down," she said. "What's it about?"

"About Miss Turner," Dobbins replied. "Where is she?"

"Out on a case—I don't know where, exactly."

"I think you can find the address, somehow, can't you?"

"Maybe; when I know what you want her for. Is it a case?"

"Yes; it's a case," and Dobbins smiled inwardly.

"Oh, well, then, I'll give you the address.

"Look here, I want you to tell me something about her—about her early life. I'm—I'm a reporter—I'm getting statistics about the early life of nurses, and how they came to take up their profession."

"Oh, publicity?"

"Yes. Where was Miss Turner born?"

"Land! I don't know."

Dobbins stared. "I thought you were her mother!"

The woman laughed outright.

"I'm only a hired mother. You know, actresses and nurses and, oh, lots of girls—nice ones—have to have a mother. Well, sometimes, not having a real one—they hire one. I'm a professional mother. I have four 'daughters' in this house."

"Miss Turner is in luck to have secured your services," he smiled, "but—er—do ladies as—as mature as Miss Turner need a—a chaperon?"

"Not always," she smiled at him. "Eva is no chicken—but I've been her mother so long—she still keeps me on."

"How long have you been with her?"

"Lemmesee. Twenty years or more."

"Was she a trained nurse all that time?"

"Not all—she was on the stage first off, but she got hurt in an automobile accident——"

Dobbins' calm gave way, and his involuntary expression of excitement frightened the woman.

"Look here," she cried, "who are you anyway? What do you want of Eva?"

"I want to see her—I want to talk with her. Why are you so alarmed?"

"You don't want her for—for anything special?"

"Such as what? What have you in mind that frightens you so? I think, Mrs.——"

"Mrs. Morrison."

"I think, Mrs. Morrison, that you are unnecessarily disturbed. Unless Miss Turner has reason to fear my questions, I cannot think she will object to them. But, one thing first. You have known Miss Turner for—did you say, twenty years?"

"About that," the woman's face was sullen now.

"Was her name always Eva Turner?"

Mrs. Morrison's face turned white.

"So it's come, has it?" she said, with a moaning wail that transformed her independent attitude to one of cringing fear. "Are you a detective?"

"Yes, I am. Now, you'll save yourself time and trouble for yourself, Mrs. Morrison, if you answer my questions. What was Miss Turner's name as an actress? I know all actresses have assumed names."

"She didn't. When she was a chorus girl—not an actress—she used her own name—Effie Talcott. She was a nice girl and a good girl, until——"

"Until she fell into the clutches of a bad, unscrupulous man."

"Exactly that. He made love to her, he led her astray, he ruined her and at last he took her on a joy ride—there was an accident, and she broke her leg—a bad compound fracture. He took her to a hospital—and, he never saw her again!"

"He paid her expenses?"

"Ye—but he had promised to marry her——"

"Are you sure?"

"She always said so. She sued him—but he was too great and powerful for her to have success of that sort. His lawyers settled with her for a very small sum—which she was obliged to take because she had no way to make him pay more."

"And—was she—is she of a revengeful disposition?"

"She is, indeed!—that is—why, no—I don't know——"

The woman had suddenly come to her senses and realized that she was telling too much for her "daughter's" good.

"I don't know anything about it! I will tell you nothing more!" she cried angrily.

"Give me her present address."

"I will not."

"Then I will find it out for myself. Good day." And Dobbins left her without further word.

CHAPTER XIII.

Eva's Story.

It was two days later that Dobbins returned in triumph to Flower Acres, bringing Miss Turner with him.

When accused, in the presence of Mrs. Raynor, of poisoning Douglas Raynor, Miss Turner at first denied it, and then, as further pressure was brought to bear, she cried out—"Yes, I did—I did try to put that man out of the world. But I didn't do it—his wife shot and killed him!"

And this story she stuck to.

She told the tale of her acquaintance with Douglas Raynor, admitting it was twenty years ago.

"He spoiled my whole career," she said; "my whole career. I was a successful singer, a favored chorus girl. My dancing was greatly admired, and I planned to become a professional dancer rather than a singer or an actress. I had a fine opportunity for advancement, and was about to accept another and better position than the one I then had, when I went, at Douglas Raynor's invitation, on a midnight ride in his car. He drove the machine himself—a swift roadster, and, when we were on a long lonely stretch of road, late at night, that man——" She paused a moment, glancing at Mrs. Raynor, and then, at a nod from the detective, she went on, "that man tried to throw me out of the car."

"Incredible!" murmured Dobbins.

"Yes, he did," Eva Turner reiterated; "he gave me a push, and I should have fallen out but that I grabbed the side of the car. I also grabbed at his arm, and that threw the steering gear askew, I suppose—for the car swerved, and upset, and we both landed in a ditch by the side of the road. He escaped without serious injury my ankle was broken in two places, and I could never dance again. I could walk all right—without a limp—but I couldn't take a dancing step. Of course, I couldn't walk until after three months in the hospital, and then three more of reconperation at home. And Mr. Raynor never came near me—never sent me a line of sympathy or encouragement—merely sent his secretary, or some man of business, to learn of my progress and to pay the bills."

"You felt revengeful for all this?" Dobbins asked, mildly.

"Did I?" Eve Turner's eyes blazed. "I wanted to kill him; I wanted to put him to death by some slow, lingering torture that would make him feel a tithe of the grief and despair that I suffered!

"The only thing I felt I could take up was nursing. During my stay in that, and the nurses I met there were kind and helpful. So, when I was able I took my training and became a graduate nurse."

"And all the time your heart was full of revenge toward Mr. Raynor?" the detective inquired.

"Yes, but I saw no way to gratify it. In fact, as the years went by, and I grew older, I rather forgot my hatred of him—and became absorbed in my work. Then, one day, by chance, I came across—I heard through another nurse, that Mr. Raynor wanted a dietition. That is one of my specialties, and as I thought about old times, all my hatred of the man came back to me—all my animosity revived, and I conceived a diabolical plan of coming here to be his dietitian—and poisoning him while I prepared his food."

ANIMALS THAT ARE DISAPPEARING

340 Elephants Killed in One Year; Also White Rhinoceroses.

That many interesting and beautiful types of animal life are gradually dying out and vanishing today is undeniably true. The chamois in the Alps, the beaver in Canada, the giraffe in Africa and the wild cat in Scotland are on the verge of extinction. Their entire disappearance, along with that of many other creatures, is probably only a matter of a comparatively short time. Posterity is not likely to see them alive. It will have to be content with stuffed and decaying specimens in our museums.

One of the reasons for this vanishing of animal types is that many creatures do not breed so abundantly when they scent the (to them) unpleasant odour of human beings, and they seem to retreat before the advance of civilization. But another cause is that there are so many people who appear to be only happy when they are killing something. If they happen to be rich they go "big game" hunting in India or Africa. If not, they shoot the birds at home. Very few gorillas, for instance, are left on the earth. Twenty-six were shot in one year recently. Animals like the antelope and the bison, which used to roam over the plains of South Africa in vast herds half a century ago, can now be practically counted on the fingers.

Elephants also are growing much scarcer than they were a few years ago. A single hunter had a "bag" of no less than 340 in the year 1920. In the same year there took place in Zululand what was called the Great Drive. The farmers, knowing that the parasites of the dreaded tsetse fly are carried in the blood of wild game, grew alarmed about their stock, and disregarded the various scientific remedies which the Government authorities were preparing. In a certain district they beat up every white man who could handle a gun, enlisted numbers of natives to assist in the drive, and then set to work to kill every wild animal they could find. Of the last eleven white rhinoceroses remaining, two went in the Great Drive. Among other harmless and beautiful creatures which were slaughtered were the waterbuck, buffalo and the rare blue wildebeest.

That similar wanton destruction sometimes takes place in Scotland, the following incident proves. A party of sportsmen in the Hebrides recently took up their position on a rock overlooking the ocean, and sang songs to attract the seals. When a considerable number had collected, up went the rifles, and several of the animals paid for their pathetic trustfulness with their lives. The poor creatures were doing no harm, yet their ranks are being thinned by such heartless persecution.

The disappearance of some of Nature's inoffensive species has had curious results. South Africa, for example, is at present suffering from the serious incursions of lions on the abodes of mankind, and from an alarming increase both in numbers and in their ferocity. At one time they maintained a more or less dignified aloofness, so far as human beings were concerned. Now they invade fields and even gardens, hold up traffic at railway stations and break into huts and vans. This inconvenient change in leonine habits is mainly due to the unregulated destruction of the wild deer and antelopes which used to form the lions' prey. The balance of nature has apparently been disturbed by the gradual extinction of some unoffending creatures.

The same thing is traceable among ourselves. The vanishing of the eagle and the osprey has caused the increase of other undesirable species. In the north of Scotland, determined efforts have recently been made to complete the extinction of the wild cat. Five of the species were shot in Ross-shire, Scotland, in the spring of this year. There may be many counts against this creature; but it has not a few advantages also, of which its disappearance would deprive us. It is inoffensive, unless attacked. From the fur-bearing point of view, it is exceedingly valuable. If allowed to increase, its fine pelt would be a source of great wealth. To the grazier, the farmer and the forester it does much more good than harm. Even if, like the domestic cat, it seizes a chicken now and then, it clears the ground of rats, voles, fox cubs and other animals the number of which it is always beneficial to have reduced.

HOW OFTEN DO YOU CHANGE EARRINGS?

Follies Dancer Says Every Costume Calls for Facial Adornment.

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—How often each day do you change your earrings?

Could you change them three times a day for a month and not repeat.

Catherine Crandell can. This little dancer of the Greenwich Village Follies has a hobby for collecting earrings and has just acquired the pair that rounds out her colection to the hundred mark.

This aggregation includes pearl, jade, amber and diamond earrings as well as hoops of gold, silver and marcasite and all sorts of antique and modern novelties.

"But my favorite pair," says she, "are long ones that touch the shoulders made of numerous flexible links of red gold.

"Every costume calls for its own earrings," she declares.

"I am as particular which I wear as I would be about my hats or hosiery, perhaps more so, because they have so much more individuality for me. I may wear one pair out in the morning, come back home and change them for lunch and afternoon and then don a third type for evening.

"They make a frame, a background for my face," she explains. "Other women have color in their faces. My skin is naturally pale and my eyes, hair and whole color scheme is in subdued, pastel tints. To put life and pep into it, I give myself a scarlet mouth and add the earrings.

"I would not recommend earrings for every woman, she went on. "Not for women with high or brilliant coloring, for instance. They do not need them and it produces that look of over elaboration that kills distinction."

Gum Chewing Aids the Teeth

You have the authority of doctors and dentists for this statement. Your own experience will prove it, if you will use WRIGLEY'S after every meal.

The following quotations from a recent work on teeth and health are worth remembering:

"Dentists have found that the exercise of gum chewing brings about a better nutrition of the teeth . . . ."

"The cleansing action of the gum between the teeth helps to keep them free from the particles which lodge in the crevices and cause decay."

The busy man—or woman either—rarely has time to clean the teeth after eating. Yet they should be cleaned, and

CARE OF THE PIANO.

The Badly Treated Instrument In Every Home.

That long-suffering instrument the piano is very often treated disgracefully, and its owner wonders why its tone is flat and dead, or harsh and strident. A piano must never stand in a draught. It is certain to become out of tune if it is placed between a door and a window, as its delicate mechanism cannot put up with draughts, and damp, too, is a deadly foe. It should live in a perfectly even temperature; one end should not be close to the fire and the other near the window. A piano gives of its best when it is placed on a polished, uncarpeted floor; but this is not always possible to arrange, especially in a flat where the tenant below hears all to plainly the musical efforts of the occupant above, unless they are deadened by the thick pile of a carpet. The lid of the piano must be shut up after use, and the keys covered with a piece of velvet or silk, so that they do not turn yellow. Last, the piano must be tuned regularly—about once in every three months. The agonizing half-hour endured while the tuner carries out his operations is well worth while in the long run.

FARM LIFE AND ITS PROBLEMS

BERRY GROWERS REACH OUT FOR FRUITS TO CAN

Would Increase Their Output to Reduce Overhead Unit Charge to Minimum.

CANNING APPLES.

Loganberry Wine Is Now Forging Ahead In Popularity.

Apples which, at best, were formerly fed to hogs, are, this fall, being canned at the canning plant operated by the B. C. Berry Growers Co-operative Union at Mission. They are finding chiefly a local sale for use in camps. They are put up in gallon cans, solid pack, in which form they are good for cooking purposes, particularly for apple pie. A case holds six gallon cans, and between eight and ten thousand cases will be turned out before that phase of operations comes to an end. Apple canning is in full swing now.

Will Can Corn.

When the apples are finished there is still a quantity of jam to be put up from this season's fruit. For next season it is hoped it can can corn and beans. If arrangements now under discussion fructify as expected, there will be no necessity for growers on Nicomen Island and elsewhere to reduce their acreage in corn. A few weeks ago Farm and Home carried a story, the result of enquiry on the spot, in which growers around Nicomen, Dewdney and Hatzic faced the probability of having to reduce acreage this year devoted to corn. As intimated at that time, the fact that the plant at Mission was looking for fresh openings and the growers for fresh markets, led to the logical result of a conference which promises to result in the best possible solution of both problems.

Loganberry Wine Popular.

Loganberry wine is forging ahead in popularity. In readiness for the Christmas trade the Union will have around ten thousand gallons of what is really a good port wine available for market; with almost a similar amount maturing for later. The agitation for similar treatment for the B. C. wine industry as is enjoyed by Quebec wine makers, started by the Union, is progressing. Quebec wine makers get a refund of 99 per cent. of the duty on the sugar they use; B. C. wine makers get no refund. Island wine makers and berry growers have recently joined in the representations made by the Union on this subject.

Seek Law Amendment.

The Union is also seeking amendments of the Co-operative Societies Act, under which it operates, in the all-important direction of strengthening the contract entered into by grower members. This action is on similar important direction of strengthening the contract entered into by grower members. This action is on similar lines to the legislative changes sought by the Associated Growers, who, however, operate as an incorporated company.

As instancing the unfairness of the present position it is sufficient to mention that the Union was refused an injunction in a Lulu Island case on the ground that having, as an act of grace, allowed a contracted grower to sell small quantities of berries to tourists, they could not hold him to the terms of his contract.

The Provincial Government is heart strengthening of the contract. The matter of the amendment of the Co-operative Societies Act in this direction will come before the House at an early date.

Practically all winter varieties of apples are being canned at the Mission plant, and apples are being received from Chilliwack and other river points; the balance come by truck or rig direct to the plant.

IMPROVING POULTRY.

Do Not Waste Time on Poor Hens or Chickens.

"Breed Better Poultry for Bigger Profits" was the heading that appeared over an exhibit made by the Poultry Extension Specialist of Colorado Agricultural College at the recent State Fair in Pueblo. Poultry producers who studied the exhibit got some good pointers from the charts, including the following:

Do not breed from the late maturer, the early moulter, the bird with poor capacity, the mongrel, from the layer of poor eggs, or the bird with low vitality.

Colorado flocks average 75 eggs per hen, per year. Well bred flocks average 175 eggs.

An alarm clock in the centre of the exhibit had this motto: "Don't waste time on poor hens."

HARD IN U. S, TO GRADE UP COWS TO PURE BREDS

Technicalities in States Keep Farmers From Bettering Cattle.

100 PER CENT PURE.

Story of One Man Who Succeeded Against Odds—Good Care Won.

Professor H. H. Wing, head of the Department of Animal Husbandry at Cornell, does not think that there has been anything extraordinary in the production of Glista Ernestine or anything out of the reach of a plain farmer. "But," he says, "you will note that the various sires represented the most productive bloodlines of the Holstein-Fresian breed of their time. What we have done in fact is to breed out the unproductive qualities of the original Glista by the use of strong sires. As I have often said, the Glista family has shown results in uniformly increased production because the Glista blood has been bred out of them. In other words, we have used the same methods within the limits of the breed that the ordinary farmer has been so often urged to employ by the use of a purebred sire on common or grade cows."

There's the meat in the cocanut. Can a farmer afford to grade up purebreds? Well, here is one good case that invites imitation, especially in these times when purebred cattle are cheap, even in the popular families.

The Fly in the Ointment.

But there's a fly in this grading-up ointment. If you lived almost anywhere and you got your heifers up to the fifth cross, which, you know, is 31-32 purebred, you could register them in a recognized herd-book for the breed in the country in which you live, and you could then sell your stock for breeding purposes like any other breeder.

Here in this country, if you should bring your herd up even to the tenth straight cross, with only 1-1024 of blood from outside the breed, those cattle would technically be grades just as much as the first cross, with one-half of mixed or native blood in them, and they and their descendants would always sell at grade prices based solely on their value as producers and practically not at all on what they may be worth as breeders.

The Rules of the Game.

Of course, lots of people sell grade bulls as such, and as many more buy them, but those folks never get themselves into the ranks of recognized breeders until they cut loose from the grades and tie up with the purebreds. Those are the rules in this country and we must abide by them if we are going to play the game.

Most farmers can give a lot of reasons why they do not use purebred livestock but one reason common to all is that of cost. If that can be met, then the course is justified, for a grading-up process with purebreds is both a time-saver and a money-maker. You save time, because you start with the work of 100 years of constructive breeding behind you and you make money because you are starting with animals that have been bred to a definite purpose and plan—the things you do not want have already been eliminated to a large extent—your cattle are purebred and every step upward increases their value for breeding purposes and their saleability. There is one proviso—that you use the same practical judgment in handling the purebred herd that you used with your grade herd—no frills, no fuss and feathers, no unnecessary equipment and expensive overhead, just plenty of feed, good care and seinsible management.

A Plain Tale.

Now the story I have to tell is how a herd of purebred Holsteins was graded up, starting with inexpensive purebred cows as the foundation, using good purebred bulls from high-producing families, with costs that were not beyond the reach of a farmer's pocketbook. It is the story of the development of the Cornell University herd at Ithaca N. Y., familiar enough to folks in New York State, but not so well known to outsiders. I can tall you about it quickly with a few figures.

In 1878, Prof. I. P. Roberts, of Cornell, imported some black and white cattle—Holstein-Friesians, we now call them—from Holland for Howard White of Syracuse. These cattle were kept pure and the University got some of the stock. In 1887, a heifer calf named Glista 7857, was born. She was bred by the University and was sired by a bull that had been imported by Smith and Powell, called Robinson Crusoe 1471.

Glista did not develop into much of a cow. She averaged during three periods of lactation only 188 pounds of butterfat a year. She may have been worth $50 in those days, but she was a purebred and registered cow and she gave the University a clean slate to start on Glista was bred to Netherland Remus 6276, a grandson of Netherland Prince 716 out of Fatimitza 2nd 2724 and produced the heifer Glista 2nd 23905, which had the same butterfat record as her dam. This heifer was bred back to her sire, a daring thing to do with that record. That mating produced marked improvement in production. Glista Netherland averaged 286 pounds of butterfat during five years of production.

The University bought the bull Sir Beets De Kol 21422, a grandson of De Kol 2nd out of Jessie Beets, the dam of Paul Beets De Kol, and his mating with Glista Netherland gave the heifer Glista De Kol 43396 which produced an average of 303 pounds of butterfat for six years. Her daughter, Glista Iota 58202 by Earl Korndyke De Kol 24954, a son of Belle Korndyke and a half-brother of the famous Pontiac Korndyke, produced 381 pounds of butterfat a year for seven years and this cow, bred to the University bull Prince Vbma Spofford 6th 47135 produced the cow Glista Ernestine 117999 that all friends of Cornell brag about, especially if they are Holstein fans. The sire of Prince Vbma Spofford 6th was a grandson of Katy Spofford Corona out of Vbma 3rd Pledge Clothilde and his dam was Veenaan Koningen 3rd and she was sired by Billy McKinley, the sire of the dam of King Segis, one of the outstanding sires of the breed.

A Worth-While Achievement.

Glista Ernestine was 15 years old on last November 12. During 13 years in the dairy business she has produced 187,339 pounds of milk and 6,802 pounds of butterfat, an average of 14,411 pounds of milk and 523 pounds of fat a year. In her best year she produced 23,241 pounds of milk and 833 pounds of fat She is a big, rugged, 1500-pound cow, with still more usefulness ahead of her. On a seven-day test made just after her last freshening on August 30, 1923, she produced 463 pounds of milk with 23.77 pounds of butterfat.

Now that is a mighty good record of achievement, because it's a dirt farmer accomplishment. Like some other agricultural colleges, Cornell has never had a lot of money to spend on livestock equipment. If the University professors needed a new bull, they couldn't walk into a herd or a sale-ring and pick and choose whatever they wanted. They had to go shopping—get as much as they could for the little money they had to spend.

GIRLS WIN PRIZES IN COLOR CONTEST

Only One Boy Appears Among This Week's Prize List.

The colouring of the leopard, picture number seven, brought out the artist in many competitors, and the judging was difficult. Helen Thompson, 12, took first place in the junior competition, with Lorne Johnson second, and Jean Clancy third. Jean thought she had to draw the picture on plan paper and then colour it, and she did it so well, for a girl of 9, that she really deserved a prize.

In the senior class there were not so many entries, and the quality of the work was not up to the usual standard.

The Prize-winners.

Under 14—

1—Helen Thompson, age 12, R. R. 3, Peterborough. Prize of $2.00.

2—Lorne E. Johnson, age 11, 515 Albert Street, Peterborough. Prize of $1.00.

3—Jean Clancy, age 9, Carlisle Avenue, Peterborough. Prize of 75c.

14 and over—

1—Reta McAlpine, age 14, R. R. 3, Havelock. Prize of $2.00.

2—Mabel Mullen, age 14, R. R. 4, Peterborough. Prize of $1.00.

3—Florrie Stevens, age 14, R. R. 5, Peterborough. Prize of 75c.

SOW RAISES TWO TON PIG LITTER

This is the Profit Given a Pure Bred Sow Owners.

The profitableness of a purebred sow is shown by the records kept by Gilbert L. Gardner, Connersville, Ind. In 1923 one of his purebred Hampshire sows produced a purebred Hampshire litter which, at 180 days, weighed 2,438 pounds. This litter consisted of eleven pigs. This same sow, in the fall of 1923, produced another litter of which no accurate record was kept. In the spring of 1924 this same sow, when mated to a purebred Hampshire boar, farrowed thirteen pigs, one of which died when it weighed 115 pounds. The twelve pigs at 176 days weighed 2,545 pounds. The reason this ton litter was weighed at 176 days was that Mr. Gardner had the ton litter on exhibition at the Indiana State Fair.

The 1924 litter was fed a ration composed of corn, a commercial pig feed, hominy, middlings, some milk and mineral. The litter ran on a rape and oats pasture during most of the summer.

The following figures give definite information and show that a purebred sow is capable of making a large profit by the pigs being sold only on market and in a year when conditions were not ideal for the swine producer. The cost of feeding the sow from breeding time, and the litter until they were weaned, was $19.45. The total cost of the litter from weaning time to 176 days was $127.07, making a total cost of the ton litter $146.52; this includes all of the feed with the exception of pasture; the increase in fertility of the soil would, to a degree, offset the cost of the pasture. At the time the litter was 176 days old, it would have brought $318.13 on the Indianapolis market, showing a profit of $171.61. In addition to this profit, Mr. Gardner won $50 at the Indiana State Fair on two barrows of the litter in the barrow classes making a total amount of profit on one ton litter of $221.61.

With records of this kind being made all over the country with purebred sows, it seems as if the average farmer would have nothing on his farm but purebred hogs. However, figures from the United States Department of Agriculture show that there is a large percentage of hogs raised in the United States which are not purebred. The farmers who are really making a profit are those who are raising purebred stock, and the thinking farmer is getting the best purebred stock he can buy, even though he is raising only for the market.

FARMERS SHOULD ENJOY THE BEST

Farm Is Productive Of Richest Table Adornements.

Farm home-cooking is deservedly amous the world over, and nowhere s its reputation better deserved than in B. C. But when farm home-cooking is poor it is awful living on a farm. In fact, no one can long survive it.

Some time ago a Farm and Home writer met a city man out for a combined business and sporting trip in a rural district. The first night everyone did well—the townie cooked fresh caught fish admirably, and everyone had a real banquet of one course.

Next day, not so good. The harassed farm housewife, with multitudinous duties inside and outside, served to hungry guests—paying guests—hambourg steak. That delicacy has many varieties. This one was of the hand chopp d, big lump, fatty, heavy kind—badly cooked to boot.

Th townie ruminated between abortive jaw work. "There is a whole veal hanging in the killing frame; the garden is full of vegetables going to waste (it was, too); there are carrots, turnips, parsnips, cabbage, cauliflower, pumpkin, cucumbers, squash, beets, peas, beans, and only a seedman's catalo u nows what else rotting in the r l ; there are mushrooms in pro on lisdained even by the pigs; ther ar hickens, eggs, gallons of mil A l we are asked to eat hambo er, uds, and take skim milk in po coff e." This is a tr nscript of par of is actual comments—which wer uru . "It's sad," he concluded.

He Left.

It was a tragedy. After a chastening meal, the persistently aggressive predatory insects which lurked in the beds did their stuff all night. Early next day the townie left.

And the harassed farm housewife went on working, drudging, at too many tasks; the jays spoiled good fruit; the room which could—and should—be filled with visitors to whom the fishing and shooting would be a delight, and whose presence would mean comparatively easy money for the housewife, and lots of it—were empty. And worst of all the hambourger appeared for lunch—cold.

WALKS AND TALKS.

Why the Farmers Do Some Plowing in the Fall of the Year.

Every year more and more land is being ploughed in the fall. The high price of labor and its scarcity on the farm during the past ten years has helped to bring this about. If all the ploughing for spring crops is left for that season it is often an utter impossibility to get it all done. Late fall and early winter ploughing, therefore, lengthens the ploughing season.

Often a week in November or December accomplishes more with the plough than twice that number of days in the unsettled weather of March, April or May. Usually in the spring the soil is wet and may be injured; if so injured in the fall the repeated freezings and thawings will correct the damage.

Other advantages we find are in better control of insects and grubs that infest the old grass fields. By fall ploughing many of these are destroyed. The soil prepares better, also, in the spring. It has been harrowed and rolled all winter by frost. The job of fitting this fall ploughed land for corn, potatoes, or other cultivated crop is much simplified, and not only does a better seed bed result, but the crop can be planted at the proper time. We are definitely committed to fall ploughing, and now would not think of depending upon each season for each season's proparation. We aim always to keep ahead of our work.—C. W. B.

WHY SWINE ROOT HOLES IN EARTH

Pigs Given All the Corn They Could Eat Did No Rooting.

Pigs at the North Dakota experiment station, running in standing corn and given all the tankage they would eat, did no rooting. Pigs fed corn alone did the most rooting. Pigs fed an allowance of .4 of a pound a day of tankage and pigs having access to third cutting alfalfa did a small amount of rooting. All the pigs in this test received coal and salt.

These tests at the North Dakota experiment station were made with four lots of twelve pigs each. Late in August all the pigs were turned into the corn each lot in a separate field with an allowance of .3 of an acre to the pig.

The test continued eighty days. By this time the pigs receiving all the tankage they would eat had consumed 800 pounds, and the twelve pigs had made a total gain of 1,641 pounds. The twelve pigs having corn only had gained 1,239 pounds, and had not cleaned up their plot of corn. The tankage eaten was valued at $75 a ton, therefore the pigs had eaten $30 worth and had gained 402 pounds more than the pigs on corn alone. At 7½ cents a pound, the price received for this extra gain was $30.15.

The twelve pigs fed .4 of a pound of tankage per head daily made a total the ones getting corn only. This re tra gain brought $17.85, while extankage they had eaten cost $13.11 leaving a margin of $4.73 above what was returned by the pigs getting the corn only.

The twelve pigs having free access to half an acre of third crop alfalfa gained 1,408 pounds, or 169 more than the pigs on corn only. This extra gain at 7½ cents a pound brought $12.67, or at the rate of $25.34 an acre for the alfalfa.

The pigs in the lot getting a limited tankage ration and the ones on alfalfa left some corn, but not so much as the ones getting corn only. In the corn alone lot the gain of 1,239 pounds was at the rate of 342 pounds to the acre, which made the corn, yielding at the rate of 32½ bushels an acre, return $25.63 to the acre. Owing to weather conditions it was impossible to determine the exact amount of corn left.

SAYS SKUNKS SAVED CROP.

E. R. Leigh of Marshall County, Illinois, is positive that skunks saved his field of sprouting corn from the cu tworms one year. Alongside of each hill of corn he found a little cone-shaped hole where the skunk had worked to get the cutworm. Other farmers report that skunks under the barn kill all of the rats and mice, and when they run short of that class of food they go after bugs and worms.

VERMIN IN STOCK

Cold and Dryness Help Lice to Multiply Rapidly—Cause Misery.

Thousands of dollars are lost each year by stock owners neglecting to take the necessary measures to destroy the lice that infest the stock. Millions of these busy little insects make life a misery to the animal, and they also make the animals a source of loss to the owner. The keeping of live stock as a medium of support for lice never made any money for the farmer. It is unprofitable. Many people neglect, for reasons best known to themselves, to apply the simple remedies that destroy vermin and prevent losses on live stock operations.

Lice Multiply Rapidly.

Lice multiply most rapidly in dry, cold weather, and are found in greatest abundance on long-haired, old and poorly cared for stock during March and April. Spring rains tend to reduce the numbers of vermin on animals that are exposed to the weather, and the lice become less numerous as the season progresses. A few seem to survive the summer and show their presence in the late autumn or early winter when their progeny have increased to millions, and bring torment to the unfortunate animals that support them. Rub and scratch is the practice, until the hair is off and the louse is either crushed or pushed further along. Bare patches are noticed on side of neck, breast, head and back, wherever the animal has been able to reach—evidence of vigorous attempts at relief from the tiny tormentors. Animals that are tied and not free to rub themselves have a harder lot than those running free.

Treatment for Cattle Lice.

All animals should be given a good grooming with brush and curry comb to remove scurf, loose hair, and any vermin that may be off guard, then apply the followinr:—

Soft soap	1 quart.
Hard soap	¼ pound.
Coal oil	1 pint.
Water	2 quarts.

Mix the quantities of soap and coal oil together first, then add the two quarts of boiling water. This will make an emulsion if thoroughly mixed, to which a gallon of warm water must be added before applying to the animals. An ordinary stable brush is a good instrument with which to apply the emulsion. Care should be taken to saturate the skin over the entire body. Repeat the treatment in ten days; another brood will be up and doing by that time. Sheep dips prepared by reliable manufacturing chemists are available and very useful in destroying cattle lice. There are three species of lice attacking cattle, viz.: the long-nosed louse, the short-nosed louse, and the biting louse. Herds that are regularly groomed during the winter suffer but little from lice.

Treatment for Horse Lice.

If the weather is warm enough so that it is safe to wash a horse, the kerosene emulsion given for cattle is very effective. If the weather is cold, the animal can be given a good grooming, and then either sodium fluoride or pyrethrum powder should be well dusted on the skin, and the horse blanketed. Raw linseed oil can be brushed into the hair quite easily and with good effect. A good brush and oil are death to the mites. Any treatment given should be repeated in ten days, since the powers of multiplication are wonderful. There are two kinds of lice infesting the horse, the biting and the suctorial.

Treatment for Pig Lice.

Raw linseed oil applied with a brush to all parts of the body is very effective. The formulæ for kerosene emulsion can also be used to advantage. An oil rub, always accesible for the use of swine, will do much to keep the vermin down. The practice of having a machine oil can handy at feeding time and giving each pig a squirt along the back once a week is a good one. It will make conditions unhealthy for a pig louse. The pig louse, "Haematopinus suis," is a big one, almost as long as its name, and can easily be seen.

Do not let the louse rob you of your season's profits, and do not let it annoy your animals. A little soapy of greasy material will stop its breathing for all time. Why not get after the louse to-day?

ROUP CAUSING HUGE LOSS TO POULTRY YARD

This Is An All Round Year Disease, But Gets Worse in the Fall.

HARD TO CURE.

The First Symptoms Are Sneezing, Coughing, Running Eyes and Nostrils.

For the ast grass cutting of the season, set your mowing machine to cut as low as possible. In fact, the grass should have what might be termed a close shave followed by a severe raking, then a good rolling with a heavy roller. Grass does not need any kind of protection from the frost.

If you are going to put a straight soil dressing on the lawn do it now, but if you intend to use organic manure, such as horse, cow, or sheep manure, apply it during December. If applied now at the coast, rain will wash strength out of reach of the roots before spring; but inland, away from the rain, manure may be applied now.

While we quite agree with the slogan of "plant one more fruit tree at your back door," which saying is now quite the rage, it seems very pitiful to think of those same trees in a few years, that is, judging by the many neglected trees one now can see all over vancouver district, even along the Pacific highway to White Rock and Hazlemere—delapidated, neglected fruit trees meet the eye on both sides

Possibly some of the trees in such a bad condition are not worth growing from the quantity and quality of fruit aspect. If that is the case, they should be thrown away and their places taken by new improved fruit trees. However, if you plant any this fall do not neglect the trees and you will be repaid by a return of fruit, which means that you need not buy any.

Setting Fruit Trees.

The actual planting is not hard. Remember the following few facts and you will get satisfaction. The hole should be deep enough to plant at the depth the tree was formerly planted at; notice marks on trunk; the diameter of the hole should not be less than twice the length of the longest root. Spread roots out naturally, do not bunch, take care that the tree is perfectly upright. It usually takes two amateurs to plant a tree straight. Unless manure is well rotted do not put any near roots.

When you are planting any tree always look about ten years ahead. Fruit trees have a standard distance which should be kept between trees. On small lots it is usual to see that distance cut down too much; the result is that in a few years you see a tangled mass of foliage above and impoverished soil conditions below; you see the result in the low fruit yield.

Setting Raspberries.

Some amateurs may be going to plant some raspberries this fall. It is well to remember that if you allow them to fruit the first year on last year's wood, then the growth and fruit will be affected for some years. When you move raspberries all growth should be cut right down. Of course, you will get no fruit for the first year; no, but the bushes will make up for it in the next few years. Some bushes and trees suffer a great check to their growth when they are moved. Raspberries come under that heading. Give the roots all possible chance to recuperate by cutting away top growth after moving plants.

Propagating Black Currants.

If the leaves have fallen from your black currants, you may take cuttings from them. Cut below joints; make them about 8 inches long, rub off all eyes but the four top ones. You do not need to be extra careful with them because they will grow almost under any condition in any soil. Unless you have the Boskop Giant variety, or a better one than that, do not bother to take cuttings, but get some good ones from your friends. Some black currants are not worth bothering with.

Start getting your manure for next year, stack it and make the top of th stack conical. That will enable the water to run off. By getting the manure now it will be in a well rotted shape for digging in during late winter or early spring. Get horse manure for heavy land, and cow manure for light land.

Although chicken manure is very good as a fertilizer for most crops, especially onions and their tribe, it is just about the dirtiest manure which can be used for a garden. I have had good proof that you will get more weeds to the square inch by using chicken manure than you will get from any other manure. The chicken manure does not generate enough heat when stacked to do any damage to the fertility of the weed seeds.

The amateur who has a number of Jersey Wakefield cabbage planted out for cutting as spring cabbage, or any other variety for the same purpose, will get the benefit in good cabbage if rotted manure is now spread between rows and forked in, but not deeply; or it can be left above ground and forked in at the end of the winter.

HASTINGS AND THE DISTRICT

A Presentation — Several November Weddings— Hastings News.

HASTINGS, November 7. — Mr. and Mrs. James Cowan were on Tuesday evening presented with tokens of farewell from friends prior to their leaving for their new home in Toronto. Mr. Cowan was presented with a travelling bag and Mrs. Cowan with beautiful silk scarf. Several of the gentlemen present expressed their regrets of losing Mr. and Mrs. Cowan from our midst and wished them good luck and success in their new surroundings.

Mr. Cowan on behalf of himself and Mrs. Cowan made a very fitting reply and expressed his regrets at leaving Hastings and losing friends they had made during their residence here, and thanked those present for their kindness, stating they would always remember their friends in Hastings.

Buck--Walsh.

A quiet wedding was solemnized in the Bishop's Palace, Peterboro, on Wednesday, November 5th, when Laura Eleanor, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Walsh, of Hastings, was united in marriage to Earl Reynolds, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Buck, Norwood.

The bride wore a chic tailored suit of navy poiret twill and silver hat, trimmed with squirrel.

The young couple left on the afternoon train en route to California, where they will spend the winter.

The bride travelled in a beautiful seal wrap trimmed with squirrel, the gift of her parents.

The groom's gift to the bride was an exquisite rope of pearls. Among the many useful and beautiful gifts received was a silver service from the groom's parents, and from the bride's father a substantial check.

Owen--Keogan.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Alphonsus church, Windsor, on Tuesday, October 28, at 8 o'clock, when Catherine Pearl, the second daughter of Mrs. Ellen Keogan and the late D. J. Keogan, of Hastings, became the bride of William Earle, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Owen, Sr., of Windsor. The nuptial mass was said by the Rev. Dean Downey. The altar in the church looked beautiful with a profusion of gladioli and chrysanthemums.

The bride, a former graduate of Hotel Dieu Hospital, was assisted by a classmate, Miss Evelyn Clyne, while Mr. Stanley Holmwood of Detroit, attended the groom. The bride was lovely in a gown of pussywillow satin, with which she wore small hat of silver cloth, and a scarf of grey squirrel.

The bridesmaid as pretitly attired in a gown of biscuit colored crepe, with hat to match. The bride's sister, Miss Marie Keogan, wearing a smart frock of poudre blue ,also assisted. Immediately after the ceremony, the bridal party was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, Dufferin avenue,where a wedding breakfast was served. The table was beautifully decorated for the occasion, with pink and white chrysanthemums and streamers of the same shade.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen left on a short trip to Cleevland and points east and upon their return will take up residence in Detroit.

Fleming—Waddel.

The marriage took place at St. Andrew's manse, Hastings, on Wednesday, Nov. 5, 1924, of William James Fleming, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fleming, of Percy township, and Annie Evelyn, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Waddel, of Percy.

Reverend D. A. Thompson performed the ceremony. The bride was dressed in brown satin and georgette with hat and shoes to match and the young couple were unattended. After a short honeymoon trip to points west they will take up residence in Percy.

Duff—Blodgett.

Married in Hastings, on Monday, November 3, 1924, by the Rev. D. A. Thompson, Ellen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Blodgett, to James, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Duff, both of Roseneath, Ontario.

Armistice Day.

A short Armistice Day service will be held on Tuesday morning, Nov. 11th, in Memorial park, of the citizens and school children. A hymn will be sung by the children, which will be followed by the Lord's prayer. The two minutes of silence will be observed and addresses by the local clergy will be given.

The Last Post will be sounded by Pte. Cyril Blackbourne and wreaths will be placed on the monument.

Curlers Meet.

The annual meeting of the Hasting Curling Club was held on Monday evening. The club was exceptionally well represented and the officers elected were as follows: :

Honrary Presidents— Rev. D. A. Thompson and Rev. C. S. Bretherton.

President—Mr. C. E. Jones.

Vice-President — Mr. W. Learmouth.

Secretary-Treasurer— Mr. A. U. Bailey.

Executive Commmittee— Messrs. G. B. Stevenson, L. T. Huycke, L. E. Kelly, M. J. Baker.

Euchre Parties.

The first of the fall series of progressive euchre parties held under the auspices of the Catholic Women's League was held in the Catholic Order of Foresters' rooms on Wednesday evening. Thirty-one tables were in use. The ladies' prize, a thermos bottle, was won by Mrs. C. Prest, and the gents', an ash tray, was won by Mr. W. D. Barry. Lunch was served by the members of the League during the evening.

Mr. Fred Jones, of Peterborough, has purchased the Claredon hotel on the corner of Front and Bridge streets, and takes possession shortly. Mr. James Cowan, the recent proprietor, is leaving for Toronto shortly.

Miss Beryl Hill has returned to her home after an extended visit with relatives in Pittsburgh.

Mr. Carlos Runnels, who has been visiting friends in Toronto, has returned to his home here.

"Worth $100 to Me Relieved Eczema and Piles"

Mrs. Peter A. Palmer, Saltburn, Sask., writes:

"Dr. Chase's Ointment has completely relieved me of eczema and piles. I also used this Ointment for my baby, who broke out in eczema. A few applications were all that was necessary in her case. Dr. Chase's Ointment has been worth a hundred dollars to me,—before using it I had spent a great deal more than that in unsuccessful treatment from doctors. We have also used Dr. Chase's other medicines, the Nerve Food having restored my health after suffering from severe nerve trouble when a girl."

A GRATEFUL LETTER.

From a Lady Made Well by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"I wish from my heart I could persuade every person who is run-down in health to give Dr. William's Pink Pills a trial." Thus writes Mrs. Louie Mitchell, Oak Point, Man., who further says: "About a year ago I was a weak woman, suffering from a run-down system and impoverished blood. Any little exertion would cause my legs to tremble and my heart to throb violently. I could not sweep a room or walk fifty feet without being exhausted. Then I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after taking only six boxes I am as well and strong as ever. I can walk and run without stopping every few seconds gasping for breath as previously. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be my stand-by in the future if ever my blood needs building up again, and I shall always find pleasure in recommending them to anyone needing a tonic.

There are many troubles due to weak, watery blood which can easily be overcome by a fair use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The sole mission of this medicine is to enrich and purify the blood and when that is done all the varied symptoms of anaemia disappear, and good health returns. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, nt.

COOLIDGE CABINET.

Secretary Hughes and Attorney General Stone Are Not Inclined to Remain Through Four Years.

WASHINGTON, November 7. — Speculation as to the Cabinet President Coolidge will name after March 4th, continues, with no very definite indications as to any probable changes. Information thought to be reliable is that Secretary Hughes, Secretary Hoover, Attorney-General Stone, and Secretary Wilbur will be asked to remain.

Secretary Hughes and Attorney-General Stone, it is said, are not inclined to remain through the full four years of President Coolidge's terms.

The Secretary of War, it is said by his friends, does not care to continue in public life. He is now homesick. This will leave a vacancy for which the present assistant Secretary of War, Dwight L. Davis, is mentioned.

There will be no change in the Interior. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, who supported the Republican Party, is being pushed strongly by Labor men for Secretary of Labor. John Hays Hammond is being discussed for Secretary of Interior, and C. Bascom Slemp has been mentioned for Postmaster-General.

ROBBERS GET $6,000.

Three Officials of Young Men's Building and Loan Association Held Up.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press). — Three officials of the Young Men's Building and Loan Association were held up shortly after 11 o'clock last night by threer armed and masked robbers, who escaped with the night's receipts amounting to $6,000.

After felling Robert J. Smith, treasurer of the association, with the end of a revolver, the robbers jumped into a waiting automobile and hastened away before aid could be summoned.

NO MORE INCOME TAX IN FLORIDA

Constitutional Amendment Proposed By Legislature Was Passed.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press).—Florida has ratified the constitutional amendment proposed by the Legislature which forever prohibits the levying of income or inheritance taxes in that State.

The measure was brought up in the Legislature of 1923, Florida having biennial sessions, and after considerable discussion and some little opposition, it was adopted by both Houses, the vote being decisive, and the resolution then going to the people for ratification, which makes it a part of the constitution. In addition to the prohibition regarding the income and inheritance taxes, the amendment also provides for the exemption of from taxation of personal property to the value of $500 for the head of a family. One of the amendments admitted objects, is to cause wealthy men to take up their permanent residence in the State.

INVESTIGATE DEATH.

Dr. Ferris, of Cobourg, Will Hold Inquest on Thursday.

COBOURG, Nov. 7.—Dr. Ferris Coroner of Cobourg, empanelled a jury to investigate the death of the Peter Yorke, who died under rather mysterious circumstances on Tuesday of this week. After viewing the remains of the deceased an adjournment was made until Thursday, November 13 at 8 p.m. The jury consisted of the following: A. W. Young, foreman, W. H. Dundas, Ben Ewing, A. D. Roberts, H. Maguire, Dr. Drewry, W. M. MacLeod.

W. J. Crossen who was sentenced by Justice Wright on Wednesday, to six years in the penitentiary will be removed from the local gaol to Kingston on Friday.

On Tuesday afternoon next, November 11, the war memorial to Cobourg citizens who fell in the great war will be unveiled.

On Monday evening, November 10 the local war veterans will hold their annual banquet. Rev. Canon Scott who was chaplain overseas will be the speaker for the occasion.

COOLIDGE A CHIEF

While the campaign was on President Coolidge did a lot of smiling for the camera men. He also had many honors thrust upon him. Here he is with a hat of the Sinoki tribesmen, sent to him by the Chamber of Commerce of Prescott, Ariz., when he was made a member of the tribe.

GET ACQUAINTED WITH K. S. D.

(ST. LOUIS.—546 METERS.)

By WILLIAM J. FAGAN

Of a number of stations owned and controlled by middle-western newspapers, perhaps the two most prominent are WDAF of the Kansas City Star and KSD of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

KSD, possessing ample power to be heard readily throughout the middlewest, is perhaps the most popular of the two, although partisans of WDAF would naturally violently deny this. However, KSD's programs possess more variety as well as really good features than in the case with WDAF.

Possessing a really fine symphony orchestra St. Louis has not been niggardly in permitting the outside world know about it and one of the best features throughout the country during the winter months are the concerts of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Rudolph Ganz. In putting these concerts on the air, KSD's remote control work has been first rate, considering the difficulties encountered in broadcasting an orchestra of 90 instruments.

Many features included in KSD's programs from time to time demonstrate initiative of a very high type. Municipal opera and the broadcasting of the outstanding political events of the year about to close have proved that KSD is entitled to a place with the best broadcasting outfits of the country.

Unfortunately, however, KSD's efforts are confined almost exclusively to remote control features. In fact, it might be said that KSD leans over backwards in regard to remote control as much as some broadcasters neglect it. To be a really top-notch station, it is necessary that it possess good studio entertainment. Broadcasts direct from theatres and hotel grill rooms have found favor all over the country, but no station ever succeeded in reaching the top without versatile studio programs at least twice weekly. There are talented people in St. Louis, surely, who could provide KSD with recital programs which should enable it to step to the fore considering the good remote control features which it now boasts.

Abergh's Concert Ensemble, Rodemichs Dance Orchestra and performances of the Missouri and Grand Central Theatres are the regular, outstanding features of KSD the year round. The winter symphony concerts add more interst, but if three periods a week were devoted to studio recitals, KSD's standing would immeasurably increase, for it has practically everything else that goes into the making of a Class A-1 broadcasting station.

THANKFUL MEMBERS.

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little one she would use nothing else. The Tablets give such results that the mother has nothing but words of praise and thankfulness for them. Among the thousands of mothers throughout Canada who praise the Tablets is Mrs. David A. Anderson, New Glasgow, N.S., who writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for my children and from my experience I would not be without them. I would urge every other mother to keep a box of the Tablets in the house." The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative, which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach; drive out constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers, and make teething easy. They are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CLEVER.

"Four cats were meowing in the lobby of the Winton," writes Mabel Harper from Cleveland. "They were discussing the recent marriage of a well-known actress.

"'You know,' began one of them, 'they say that she made a full confession of all of her indiscretions before she accepted him.'

"'What touching confidence!' sighed one lady.

"'What needless trouble!' ejaculated another.

"'What a remarkable memory!' finished the fourth.

HAMILTON SCANDAL.

Final Report on Tax Shortages Presented to Board of Control.

HAMILTON, Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press).—Final report of C. S. Scott and Co., auditors, who examined the city's books following discovery of defalcations in tax office and treasurer's office, was presented to Board of Control to-day. It was released for publication but meeting at which it was discussed was closed to press. Report fixes responsibility for looseness in these departments through which large sums were stolen aqually upon the City Treasurer Davis and City Auditor Dempster. Regarding theft of $30,000 by Harold Forbes, missing cashier, Mr, Scott says:

"Present situation is almost wholly result of insufficient supervision by Treasury Department and failure of auditor to adequately check department. Loss to city, occasioned by Forbes was wholly caused by omissions f importance so that he was perfectly free to omit, falsify or mis handle funds as he pleased.'

Lack of system in tax office was also severely criticized. Engagement of a firm of chartered accountants to conduct a continuous independent audit is recommended.

EPIDEMIC HALTED.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 8.—Spread of pneumonia epidemic which broke out in Mexican quarters of Los Angeles has been definitely halted. The death toll now stands at 26.

OSAKA TO BE LARGEST CITY

Inclusion of Two Counties by April Will Mean 2,000,000 Total.

TOKIO, Nov. 8.—According to the Osaka Dispatch, Osaka City will become the largest city in Japan with its population over 2,000,000 by April 1, next year. The municipal authorities are now working toward the inclusion of two adjacent counties in the City of Osaka by that time. The city will be enlarged in its size three times larger than the present area thus making 11.04 square "ri."

The total population of the City of Tokio dropped from 2,500,000 to 1,500,000 because of the great earthquake September 1, last year. At present the population has increased to about 1,700,000 and it is generally believed that it will take three more years for Tokio to regain its pre-earthquake quota.

"TEMPERANCE ALLIANCE" MEANS "DOMINION" ONE?

TORONTO, November 8. — "To the temperance alliance of the Province of Ontario, $200," appears in the will of the late Mrs. Caroline White, widow, of Dummer Township ,Peterborough, Ontario, and Mr. Justice Rose at Osgoode Hall has been asked to say whether this is to go to the "Dominion Alliance for suppression of the liquor traffic, Ontario branch."

Another legatee is "the branch of the Epworth League at the Methodist Church at Warsaw."

This bequest involves $150.00.

There is said to be no Epworth branch at Warsaw.

Mrs. White left about $10,000.

HEAVY SNOW FALL IN SASKATCHEWAN

Seven Inches of Snow on the Ground in Edmonton District.

Mr. Harry Long, well known resident of this city, returned to-day on the noon train from the west. He reports that Edmonton district suffered a heavy snow storm on Thursday and that there was about seven inches of snow on the ground when he left. Mr. Long states that miles and miles of telegraph poles are lying on the ground as a result of the storm and that in the district about Edmonton there is still quite an amount of grain standing in the field, unthreshed. There is also some grain in Manitoba unthreshed. A good deal of the grain is soft on account of the wet fall and very low prices are being offered for the soft grain. At present it looks as if winter has set in around Edmonton and Winnipeg.

The Police Probe.

Woman Admits Giving Five Spot to Delay Arrest.

MONTREAL, Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press).—A Mrs. Beauchamp, giving an address on Sherbrooke Street, where she says she lets rooms, this morning told Judge Coderre, presiding at the local police probe, that on one occasion she gave Police Captain Sauve five dollars for delaying her arrest while she visited her bank.

Captain Sauve admitted that passage of a five dollar bill between them, but claimed it was for a taxi to take Mrs. Beauchamp and other women arrested with her to the station. They had, he told the court, a particular aversion to the patrol wagon, and he had consented to convey them to headquarters in a taxi, provided they paid for it. He explained that women arrested in disorderly houses were permitted to use taxis instead of the patrol wagon if they paid the cost. Otherwise they went to the station in the latter vehicle.

DOURO BUSH FIRE.

Fire Burnt Itself Out in the Swamp Along Buckley's Lake.

DOURO, Nov. 8.—There was a good deal of excitement on Saturday afternoon, when a fire spread through swamp land along Buckley's Lake. Fears were entertained that the buildings of Mr. William Hayes might take fire, and a large crowd of men gathered to help fight the flames. However, the fire burned itself out without doing much damage.

Funeral Wednesday.

The funeral of Mr. Garrett McMurray was held Wednesday from his late home to St. Joseph's Church and cemetery, and was attended by a large crowd of friends and acquaintances. The members of the Holy Name Society, of which Mr. McMurray was a member, marched in procession to the cemetery, carrying the society's banner. Mass was sung and the service at the grave, conducted by Rev. M. J. McGuire. Deceased is survived by his widow, two sons, Gerald and Pius, at home, five daughters, Misses Irene and Helen and Mrs. E. Leonard, of Peterboro', and Misses Florence and Bertha at home. Many friends from Peterboro' and elsewhere attended.

A few girl friends gathered at the home of Miss Catherine Sheehan on Monday evening and presented her with a shower of aluminum on the eve of her marriage.

Mrs. Frederick Walsh spent a few days, the guest of her mother, Mrs. Kennedy, of Lakefield, last week.

Mr. Fred Maloney, of Rochester, is visiting friends here.

Mr. Patrick Kennedy, with his son and daughter, visited his brother, Mr. John Kennedy, on Sunday.

Mr. John Sweeney spent the week-end with Ennismore friends.

Mrs. Chas. Perdue, of Ennismore, spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Buckley.

Mrs. Frank Moher spent a few days with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary E. Condon of Lakefield.

Miss Margaret McMurray and friend, Miss Paquette, nurses-in-training at Guelph Hospital, are visiting the former's father, Mr. John McMurray.

Mr. Ross Staples was called to Millbrook on Wednesday, owing to the illness of his father.

Mr. William O'Leary has returned after an extended stay in the West, visiting friends at Calgary, Edmonton and Red Deer, Alta., and at Young and Stranraer, Sask.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Sullivan and family, of Otonabee, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. David Garvey.

Master Sarsfield McGuire is now making his home with his uncle, Rev. M. J. McGuire, and is attending S.S. No. 7. Master John McGuire, who was with Father McGuire for some years, is now attending college at Kitchener.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Begley, of Downeyville, whose wedding took place here on Tuesday.

GENEROUS GIFTS

The immense value offered by The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal this season is meeting with the success the publishers deserve. Their large calendar for 1925 with the beautiful picture—"The Sale of Old Dobbin" is proving a very popular premium, while the Ten Thousand Dollar Election Contest is a record breaker. For those who raise clubs of new subscribers, there is a catalogue of some very handsome and useful rewards. The Family Herald is securing thousands upon thousands of new subscribers by their generous gifts, added to the super excellence of the paper itself; in fact few homes will be found without that great weekly when Two Dollars will secure so much.

BREAD TAKES DROP TO 10 CENTS A LOAF

Wheat Drops From $1.75 to $1.45 Per Bushel.

TORONTO, Nov. 8.—Bread is down again to 10c a loaf.

It is said that the Master Bakers' Association held a meeting at which the price of bread was discussed at some length. Some of the bakers were antagonistic to the idea of dearer bread. It was argued that, while flour was dear, there was so much unemployment that it would be advisable to sell cheaper bread in an effort to meet the difficulties incident to financial stress as far as the people generally were concerned.

Mark Bredin of the Canada Bread Company, Ltd., stated that wheat on Monday had dropped from $1.71 to $1.45 per bushel, and in the hope of continued cheaper flour it had been thought advisable to take a cent off the eleven-cent price and give the people the benefit of the drop, which, he declared, so far did not justify a drop of a cent on the loaf.

"Is the civic inquiry back of the drop at all?" Mr. Bredin was asked.

"It has nothing at all to do with it," he declared.

ELECTION FINALS.

Republicans 54, Democrats 40, Farm-Labor 1.

NEW YORK, November 7. — As the final returns from doubtful states and districts trickled in today, it appeared that President Coolidge had carried North Dakota, and probably New Mexico, and that the political line up of the new Congress would be as follows:

Senate: Republicans 54; Democrats 40; Farm-Labor 1; vacancy—(Connecticut)—1.

House, Republicans 246; Democrats 184; Farm-Labor 3; Socialist 1.

With North Dakota in Coolidge column, the president's electoral vote, in the event he holds the lead in New Mexico, will be 382, Davis 136, and Lafollette 13.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—In the Globe, of Nov. 4, appears a sensational letter from A.an C. Thompson, 130 Lombard Street, Toronto, who, as a Presbyterian, protests against having to join the Methodists for the following reason:—"In The Christian Guardian, of January 25, 1922, the Editor writes: 'We cannot possibly accept the supernatural and plenary authority of the Holy Scriptures; the substitutionary atonement; the second coming of Christ.'" And yet these people were the leaders in depriving the rest of us of our liberty

J. H. BURNHAM.

Church Union and Doctrinal Standards.

To the Editor of The Globe: Dr. R. J. Wilson, in speaking in favor of Church Union in New Beach Presbyterian Church on Sunday, made the following statement in regard to the belief of Presbyterians: Their doctrines are: "The total depravity of man. The rigid doctrine of predestination of a fixed number of men and angels to life eternal and the consequent decree of a remainder of men and angels to eternal death. The belief that Christ died only for the elect, that the others God passes by."

Either this is true or it is not. If it is true, did not he accept it and solemnly pledge himself, at his ordination, to teach and defend it?

If it is not true—I will leave the implication to himself.

However, anyone who passed through the late war or knows anything about its horrors will have little difficulty in acceptance of the doctrine of the natural depravity of men, and may I add that the spectacle of a D.D., a teacher of ethics, such as all ministers are supposed to be, caricaturing the belief he swore to defend, and which he is paid money by the church to teach, is a deplorable spectacle.

In his address he neglected to tell us of the fact that the Methodist Church with which he is so anxious to submerge us, no longer believes in the inspiration of the Scriptures and denies many fundamental Protestant doctrines.

In the Christian Guardian of Jan. 25, 1922, the editor writes:

"We cannot possibly accept:

"The supernatural and plenary authority of the Holy Scriptures.

"The substitutionary atonement.

"The second coming of Christ."

The following is taken from No. 9 of the Ryerson essays, a series of tracts published by the Methodist Book and Publishing House, and written by Dr. Sanford, Principal of the Methodist College at New Westminster:

"The Sacrifice of Jesus may be considered as symbolic of the offering of our lives for our sins. It did not purchase forgiveness; it did not make it possible so far as God is concerned; it ceases to promote spiritual religion if considered as a legalistic sacrifice to satisfy Divine law. We ought to give up our lives in sacrifice even unto death if necessary, in order to expiate our sins or show our revulsion therefrom."

Speaking of the Crusifixion, he says it was "an event that never should have occurred."

These are but samples of what can be found in any modern Methodist publication.

As a Presbyterian, who believes in the inspiration of the Scriptures and that our Lord knew more than his modernist critics, I may be pardoned if I absolutely refuse to join with a church which teaches such rank blasphemy.—ALAN C. THOMPSON, 100 Lombard Street, Toronto, Ont.

Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—A thought for Poppy Day. Words by General Lejeune.

The one glory of war—The redemption which comes to man on the field of battle before certain death:

"There is something deep down in human nature which gives man courage to face death and destruction in spite of himself. It is the glory of human nature for a man to lay down his life for his country or his friend.

"You see a fellow hanging about, who doesn't look like much. He stands on the street corners and smokes cigarettes. Yet I have seen men just such as this, leading apparently useless and aimles slives, human rakes, rise to the height of emotion into what is called heroism in the heat of battle. They go through fire like thoroughbreds.

"It is inexplicable. God Almighty has planted something in that man's heart. And he is willing to face death and destruction—and that is the only glory of war. Oh, war is not nice. All else is hunger, sleeplessness, danger, sickness, hardship, mutilation, wounds, death.

"The only thing about war is this thing that comes out in man, this latent spark of the divine spirit. I asked a man who had been up in a shell-hole for twenty-four hours, what he did with his time. 'I spent most of the night praying to God,' he said. I have heard that repeated may times. There is a certain divinity a sense of one's own helplessness that comes out of war, that purifies and enriches the spirit.

"Any man is a fool to sit up and say that he believes in war or advocates it. But any man who has commanded men or has seen what men do when their lives are at stake, and doesn't glory in it, isn't worthy the name of a man. I have real cause for glory in the service rendered by the men during the World War."

Canadian men such as these from all classes in our country have made the great sacrifice, or are with us to day in body or spirit. Many of those still with us are suffering in broken bodily health or financial circumstances. To all such may we send a word of gratefulness.

May I ask the public of Peterborough to attend the meetings tomorrow at the Cenotaph and Grand Opera House. Over 900 seats are available for the general public at the Opera House.

BUSH FIRE RAGES.

Thousands of Dollars' Worth of Timber Destroyed.

MILTON, Nov. 7. — (Canadian Press).—A bush fire which started on Wednesday in Fraser's Woods, south of Campbellville, is still raging, and the timber loss is estimated at thousands of dollars.

Hundreds of farmers and others in the district have been fighting the flames day and night, and yesterday were successful in saving the Schoolhouse near Campbellville, which was in danger of destruction.

AN OMEMEE MILL TRAGEDY RECALLED

Grain Grinder Blew Up and Two Men Had a Narrow Escape.

OMEMEE, Nov. 8.—The grist mill tragedy of eleven years ago, which caused the death of Mr. T. C. Stephenson, was forcibly brought to mind this week, when the grain grinder again blew up. Had it not been that a steel guard was placed over the chopper after the previous accident, much more serious damage would have resulted, as this hindered the pieces of metal from being hurled. The owner, Mr. W. G. Stephenson, and his employee, Mr. W. Brockley, were both near by, but fortunately only received a severe shock. The repair, it is reported, will cost in the neighborhood of $1,000.

Hallowe'en Concert.

On Friday afternoon of this week the pupils of the junior room of the Public School held their annual Hallowe'en concert, commencing at 3 p.m. The room was prettily decorated with fancy painted lanterns, the work of the scholars, and pumpkins, which were lighted when the hour for commencement arrived. After an interesting programme of songs and recitations, such games as pinning on the donkey's tail, etc., created much merriment among the children at the conclusion of which an abundant supply of home-made candy provided by the scholars was served.

The "WideAwake" Mission Band held their regular meeting on Friday at 4.30 p.m. and at the close the members were treated to cake and sandwiches, which they thoroughly enjoyed.

Missionary Society.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. C. Ivory, with twenty members and three visitors present. In the absence of the president, the vice-president, Mrs. Bushnell, conducted the meeting. Following the opening hymn and prayer, Miss Parsons read a devotional leaflet, "A twofold condition of prevailing prayer." The remainder of the meeting was devoted to business. Mrs. T. C. Ivory, who had taken charge of collecting the fruit for the "Fred Victor Mission" and "Deaconess Home," Toronto, then reported that thirty-six gems had been donated and forwarded. A letter of thanks was read from the Deaconess Home by Mrs. Ivory.

Mrs. J. Shields and Mrs. Wm. Henderson were appointed the programme committee for the next three months.

A letter had been received by the secretary from Rev. Waltham, of Oshawa Mission, asking for help in the way of second-hand clothing and bedding to assist him in his work there. It was unanimously decided to pack and send a bale in the course of a couple of weeks, the goods to be left in the Parsonage. Mrs. R. Wilson and Mrs. R. Williamson to look after the same.

Mrs. E. Bradburn was appointed a delegate to attend the district convention to be held in Cambridge Street Methodist Church, Lindsay, on December 4th.

The corresponding secretary, Mrs. Widdis, was requested to order six "monthly letters" for use during the coming year.

The annual bazaar which is to be held in the Sunday School room on Wednesday, December 10th, was discussed. It was decided to extend an invitation to the ladies of the Bethel Church to give the cheerful assistance that they had given in the past to help make the bazaar a success, and that all articles sent in for sale be marked at value and brought to the Parsonage, not later than December 9th. Committees were then appointed to take charge of the different booths. The bazaar will open at 4 p.m., and tea will be served by the committee in charge for the nominal fee of 25c.

The birthday box was remembered by a couple of donations.

The hostesses were Mrs. Chas. Rutherford, Mrs. Maygarth, and Mrs. C. Corneil.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. R. Poast on Tuesday, Dec. 2nd, on account of the district convention coming on the reguar dtae.

Held a Debate.

The A.Y.P.A. of Christ church held their regular weekly meeting on Monday evening. An important feature on the programme was a debate, the subject for discussion being "'Tis better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all." The affirmative was in charge of Miss Carrie McQuade and Mr. John Bent, while the negative was upheld by Miss Marion Pogue and Mr. Harry Burgess. After some length the judges gave their decision in favor of the affirmative.

Misses Irene Clemett and Mabel Rowan, delegates to the recent conference at Kingston, gave a splendid report of the different sessions, after which Miss Edith Robinson contributed a missionary paper.

St. Andrew's Church.

On Wednesday afternoon, the members of the W.M.S. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, met in the Sunday school room for their regular monthly meeting. The president, Mrs. Black, occupied the chair. This being the week which has been set apart for self denial and prayer to increase the missionary budget in the Presbyterian church, the president chose the responsive Scripture reading from the 8th of Romans, it being relative to self denial and the roll call was responded to by verses of Scripture containing the word "prayer."

The secretary's and treasurer's reports were received, the latter showing an increase in the thank offering over last year of about $12.

As this is the month for the renewal of the 'Messenger,' several subscriptions were handed to the newly appointed messenger secretary, Mr. S. J. Mackey.

Many ways were discussed to raise money for the missionary budget of the church, but no decision was reached.

It was decided not to order the new study book until this year's book was finished.

Mrs. E. H. Mitchell then read a continuation of the chapter, "The New Era in North Formosa," from the study book, "The Island Beautiful."

The December meeting will be held in the basement of the church, the word 'guide' being chosen as the subject for consideration.

Tie Up St. Catharines Couple and Threaten to Burn a Barn.

ST. CATHARINES, Nov. 8.—(Canadian Press).—How Mr. and Mrs. Charles Butcher, of Jordan, were tied with ropes by a mob of masked youths when they protested against the destruction of their barn on Hallowe'en night, was told in Police Court yesterday before Magistrate Campbell. Mrs. Butcher declared that she had been dragged through the vineyard by the alleged assailants.

Five young men, Morgan and Harvey Wills, Arnold Nethercote, Clifford McNinch and Orville Honsberger, were charged with malicious destruction of property.

According to Mrs. Butcher, a body of masqueraders, about 30 strong, made their descent from a hall in the village, where a Hallowe'en party was being held.

First the intruders got an old mattress and set fire to it opposite the barn, she added. Then they set to work to dismantle the building, tearing off boards and smashing doors.

She further stated that she and her husband ran out with lanterns to remonstrate, when they were seized, bound with ropes, and tied up while the mad role of destruction proceeded. She asserted that she was dragged through the vineyard, and burst into tears on the stand.

About Several Things

(By F. M. DELAFOSSE.)

A few days ago I happened to be driving through a village not thirty miles distant from Peterborough. It is a beautiful little hamlet cosily situated in a hollow of the hills. A shallow stream flows placidly across its main thoroughfare and is spanned by a neat little rustic bridge which adds very materially to the picturesqueness of the view. Nature has endowed it also with an abundance of foliage which serves to screen the somewhat stark outlines of the buildings which here and there raise their heads above the trees, and to impart that sense of coolness and solitude so refreshing to the soul of the traveller.

I am free to confess, however, that I was not so much impressed by the beauties of foliage and of stream as by the spectacle of several men in various stages of neglige who were leaning against the wall of the hotel or lolling about its verandah. I am not much given to moralising but the sight that was then presented to me gave me food for thought. I saw before me a building decayed and tottering, with shutters creaking in the breeze and with windows thick with dust and cobwebs' A few years ago I had seen it in the plentitude of its prosperity and with just the same stamp of individuals idling away their time on its benches and the conviction was borne in upon me that we shall never be nearer to a higher and purer mode of existence until indolence and sloth are banished from the hearts of men.

Sages have for centuries proclaimed to mankind the surpassing folly of idleness, for they knew it to be, as we know it to be, the foster-father of most forms of crime. Philanthropists also have devised all sorts of schemes for the amelioration of social conditions, with the object of leading men into nobler forms of thought and to higher ideals of existence. The pity of it is that notwithstanding all the manifold advantages offered to mortals to improve their minds and to better their condition, there is no diminution in the numbers of that vast host that prefers indolence to industry.

It sometimes strikes me that timidity keeps people away from many institutions that have been created for their especial behoof. Men who have been accustomed to the humblest of habitations and to the rudest surroundings are often awed by the magnificence of fine buildings.

As a case in point, I recall an incident that occurred in the Library some years ago. A drunken shantyman wandered in one Saturday night when it was crowded with people, and after a tortuous and exciting passage managed to reach the desk. Sprawling across it he whispered hoarsely, "Say, mister, where do you keep your drinks?" I placed my finger to my lips and said softly, "Sh—just come round here." I took him to the back of the shelves and asked him if he knew where he was. He replied, "Blamed if I know." I said, "You're in the Public Library." A look of blank and undisguised horror overspread his face and he gave a raucous gasp, exclaiming, "Gee whiz mister, get me out of here to onct! I was never in such a place afore in my life!"

The problem is how to get that element of shyness and distrust eradicated from the minds of the ignorant, and imbue them with a wholesome desire to taste of the pleasures that in these days are so ungrudgingly offered to them.

A Drive to Ottery St. Mary.

Amongst the many enjoyable trips that fell to my lot in England was a drive to Ottery St. Mary, the early home of Samuel Taylor Coleridge. The sleepy little town is situated in a very beautiful part of Devonshire, and in order to get there from Exmouth we had to pass over a very interesting bit of country. Far away to the left, across a wide valley, could be marked the outskirts of Dartmoor, and as we ever and anon topped some heather-covered rise, wonderful panoramas would be laid out before us of orchard-clad hill and meadowy vale. We passed through Salterton, birthplace of one of England's most cherished heroes, Sir Walter Raleigh, and many another deep-sequestered hamlet on our way to our destination. Many a time we stopped to admire the scenery and to listen to the piping of linnet and thrush to which my ears had been a stranger for many years.

When we reached Ottery I could hardly realize that I was in a place made famous as the birthplace of one of England's great poets. The day was Sunday and perhaps this fact lent an added quietude to the streets. So silent was the place that as I stood in the churchyard and looked about me, insensibly there arose in my mind the saying of that thoughtful writer, Sir Arthur Helps, "The mill-streams that turn the clappers of the world arise in solitary places." One could hardly imagine a being dreaming dreams of conquest and destruction in a place so entirely given over to solitude and serenity.

The church of Ottery St. Mary is a very old one, and I would have liked much to have walked through its aisles and examined the mural tablets and painted windows. But it was closed to the public on that day and I had to be content with walking along the well-trimmed paths and reading the inscriptions on the headstones. I was about to leave when I noticed two ladies of middle age and of very respectable appearance sauntering down one of the paths. Like good stout-hearted English souls as they were they were taking a quiet constitutional, regardless of the fact that it was raining. I introduced myself as a visitor from Canada and said that I would be very much obliged if they could tell me where I could find some memorial of Samuel Taylor Coleridge. To my surprise they looked enquiringly at each other, and turning to me said that they could easily show me the Coleridge burial plot but they had never heard of that particular gentleman. They asked me if he had been a missionary and when I informed them that he was one of England's best-known poets and had been born in that very town they expressed the greatest surprise that nobody had ever informed them of that fact. It certainly was surprising, seeing that they were both natives of the place.

Since beginning this article I have come across a small volume of essays written by an English writer, William Winter, and one of the most interesting in the book is entitled, "At the Grave of Coleridge." A lover of Coleridge will find a good deal to sadden him, but a good deal to ponder over in that short essay.

Scott Not the Author.

'Sound, sound the clarion, fill the fife—
Let all the sensual world proclaim
One crowded hour of glorious life
Is worth an age without a name."

The authorship of this well-known verse has so often been attributed to Scott that the world at large has apparently come to recognise it as the offspring of his muse. As a matter of fact, he was not the author, although one of the editors of his works has seen fit to head a chapter in Old Mortality, attributing the words to him. The actual writer of the lines was a Major Mordaunt, a descendant of the famous Earl of Peterborough. He died in 1809 and in all probability nobody would have disputed the claims of Scott's admirers had it not been for the fortuitous finding of an old copy of a magazine in a gentleman's greenhouse. The facts were made public in the Times Literary Supplement of August 5, 1920, and having some personal interest in the subject, and thinking that others besides myself may be interested also, I bring it to the notice of lovers of literature in Peterborough.

Mr. G. Hope Tait was the discoverer of the authorship, and the following excerpt from his letter details the facts connected therewith:

"I happened to be in an old greenhouse in Mr. Rankine's garden, and while talking to him I noticed an old book lying on a high ledge there. We had it taken down, and seeing it was a copy of a very old magazine, I asked Mr. Rankine to allow me to take it home and dry it, it being all mildewed and damp. It was on the following day, when running through the old magazine I came upon Major Mordaunt's poem with the stanza of the Clarion printed there. I knew the value of the discovery I had made, having read so many of the literary controversies to which it had led, and here, at last, by the lucky turning of an old page, I had settled for ever a doubt which as a lover of Scott I reluctantly cherished. I lost no time in publishing the facts as I looked upon the discovery as of first-rate literary importance."

I obtained much additional testimony as to the writer when in England, and this can be obtained on referring to our catalogue, to which everybody, of course, has access.

MEN AND HORSES

How closely related is man to the more intelligent of the animals is seen in many of the ailments to which both are prone and the remedies to which they answer.

Doctors and veterinarians are oftentimes surprised to learn of the similarity of their methods of handling the ailments of man and beast.

Sprains, burns, scalds, scratches and many other minor injuries, many everyday ailments, too in men and animals take the same course, and both answer immediately to the same treatment—Absorbine Jr.

Absorbine was first discovered by a very close student of the horse, W. F. Young, and by him, devoted to its cause. Its very exceptional benefits, however, were promptly seized upon for the human race and, in a milder form, the preparation is sold all over the continent today as Absorbine Jr. It is used for men, women and children everywhere as a positive germicide—a germ killer—and a prompt and certain healer of all hurts. It is useful not only for all the purposes served by ordinary liniments and embrocations, but as a mouth-wash and for anything else where a germicide is needed. Don't wait until you need it. Get it in the house today. $1.25 at your druggist's.

COAL

The soft coal industry continues quiet. A lot of coal men accept the situation fatalistically and blame it on poor business conditions generally. When factories aren't running, they're not burning coal. On the other hand, the railroads use a large part of the coal output, and they have recently been hauling more freight than ever before.

One thing that has made the coal business quiet is the great number of businesses and buildings that have turned to crude oil for fuel. More will, many of them.

INDIGESTION ONLY AILMENT OF ESKIMO

Photographer Brings Back Film Record of Daily Life in the Arctic.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—After living with Eskimos in the primitive Eskimo way for most of a year and a half in order to record every phase of Eskimo life during the year, Earl Rossman of New York City has returned to this city with 30,000 feet of films, including pictures of the aurora borealis taken by color process.

Eskimo medicine is of the simplest kind, according to the photographer and explorer, consisting simply of the eating of raw meat as a cure for anything that goes wrong.

"The Eskimos never have anything wrong with their health except occasional indigestion from tremendous fits of overeating," he said. "When they have a lot of meat they eat it up as fast as they can. It is nothing for a fifteen-year-old boy to down a five-pound steak at a sitting.

"They eat nothing but fish and meat. They are never afflicted with any of the diseases of civilization that are commonly traced to meat-eating. Cancer is unknown. Many of them live to great ages and they are exempt from sickness, with the one exception of discomfort from gorging. Vegetables and fruits are, of course, unknown.

Found Arctic Friendly.

"I found the Arctic the friendly Arctic that is pictured by Stefansson. I had never been there before and had no training for it, but I was able, by living with the Eskimos and living their lives, to keep healthy and hearty. The secret of living in any strange place is to live as the natives do."

Rossman confirmed the discovery of Stefansoon that raw meat is a cure for scurvy by putting himself on a raw meat diet when he found himself growing weak by living on canned foods.

"I was soon strengthened and in good shape by eating raw meat," he said. "It contains vitamines against scurvy, as shown by Stefansson, and the Eskimos know by experience that it is the thing for them when they are not feeling quite fit. I found the Eskimo diet fairly palatable. It consisted of raw whale skin, known as muck-tuck and tasting like sour cocoanut; walrus, seal, polar bear, ptarmigan and caribou.

"In still air I found the weather at 50 below zero not worse than a cold day in New York, but at 30 below with a strong wind the chill was intense and no amount of clothing could keep you warm out of doors. But by studying the Eskimo methods of building shelters you can live all right in the Arctic."

NEW YORK GLIMPSES.

New Slang and New Prices of Bootleg Whiskey.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The first in New York to know that Christmas is coming are the bootleggers and the bootleggers' customers. Today bootleggers were notified of increases of $6 to $10 a case. This means an increase of 50 cents a bottle to the ultimate consumer.

Scotch whisky brought in from Rum Row is now $48 a case wholesale. The retail bootlegger clears only $8 a case at that price.

There are several thousand places in New York City where liquor can be purchased, apparently with little or no danger of arrest.

The two latest bits of catchy slang in Gotham are, "And I don't mean maybe!" and "You don't know the night I spent!" You can say either one of them on almost any occasion.

Barney Oldfield in his palmiest day could have broken no speed records along the roads about New York on Sunday. For miles in all directions roads are blocked with machines creeping along, fender to fender. Bob Dorman, the eminent correspondent, photographer, airplane scout and driving demon reports that it took him exactly one hour to travel one mile on the Philadelphia road last Sunday.

She is now a respected member of society in a western city. One of the others is dead and the third is a charwoman. A friend of mine who knows New York's underworld inside-out tells me that the one who married the rich man still has a bushel of gems.

As days grow shorter and nights longer business in Broadway's gilded palaces picks up. The new cabarets will have a cover charge of $5 a person.

Profits of these night jazz joints average about $2500 a week. Some of the more successful shows a profit of $7500 a week. The Silver Slipper, until it was padlocked by prohibition agents, averaged a profit of $10,000 a week and is reported to have made $12,000 one week.

The cabarets do not have to have a large patronage to make large profits. Every check represents a profit of 80 per cent.

Many well-known stage people, especially vaudeville performers, are engaged as entertainers. Some of them have entirely severed their connections with the stage for this work. Their pay often runs into four figures.

Jimmie Hussey, comedian, is reputed to receive $2000 a week as a master of ceremonies in a cabaret just opened.

BLINDED SOLDIERS DANCE WITH EASE

Four War Officers Guide Their Partners With the Aid of an Occasional Tip.

LONDON, Nov. 8. — (United Press.)—Four war blinded ex-officers are among the regulars at west end dance clubs and hotels. They have developed an almost uncanny sense of the proximity of other people and are able to guide their partners with the aid of an occasional tip as to the approach of particularly clumsy dancers. Most people do not know the officers are blind. One of them danced with professional partners at an exclusive club for some weeks before they learned he was blind. He told them.

Among the four is Captain Ian Fraser, a Conservative candidate for parliament at the general election.

KILLED BY A DOOR.

Boy Ordered Away From Plant Returned and Was Killed.

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 8.—(Canadian Press).—Coroner Robert Ferguson has ordered an inquest into the death of Samuel Appelle, ten-year-old lad, who died following serious injuries last night. According to the story told the police, young Appelle was playing with some other children around the plant of the Webster Construction Company. A gale was blowing at the [illegible] and workmen ordered him away.

He continued to play there, however, and the wind suddenly blew one of the large doors of the entrance of the plant of the company violently against him, crushing him between the door and the wall. An autopsy revealed that the boy's heart had been reputured so violently that it was virtually split in two sections.

This new way works wonders on cloudy teeth

Modern science, by perfecting a new way of combating the stubborn film that covers teeth, now opens the road to whiter teeth, safely.

THAT cloudy teeth, yellowish, discolored teeth can be made whiter is now an accepted fact. Foremost dentists of the world are widely urging this new method. You can have cleaner, prettier teeth if you will start today.

This is accomplished by combating a viscous film that covers teeth. A stubborn, hard to remove film that old type dentifrices do not fight successfully.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you can feel this film. Under it are the clear, attractive teeth you envy in others. Combat it, and your teeth become many shades whiter—more glistening. This offers you a 10-day test free. Mail the coupon.

The great enemy of teeth

Film is the great enemy of teeth beauty. And a chief cause, according to world's dental authorities, of most tooth troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs by the millions breed in it. They, with tartar, are the common cause of pyorrhea. It holds food in contact with teeth, inviting the acid that causes decay.

You can't have prettier, whiter teeth; you can't have healthier teeth unless you combat that film.

Ask your druggist or mail the coupon for Pepsodent. Don't expect the same results from old time dentifrices. Begin beautifying your teeth today.

HE GIN PILLS FOR THE KIDNEYS

THE WORLD'S BEST REMEDY FOR ALL KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

Four St. Thomas' Youths Tied Up the Power Services.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 8.—(Canadian Press).—Four youths of the city with tree climbing proclivities caused the local Hydro-Electric Commission a great deal of worry and expense Thursday night and yesterday morning, seriously inconvenienced about 5,000 residents of the city, and narrowly scaped figuring in the obituary notice to-day. While playing some simian game in a tree one of the boys stepped on a limb, causing it to strike the 2,200-volt domestic service power wire feeding that district. The wire in turn came in contact with a 2,400-volt street lighting wire and the trouble began.

The impact threw the entire city in darkness for about ten minutes, and No. four district, comprising the whole north-east section, until 7.30 o'clock yesterday morning. The two wires that crossed were soldered together, and it took the gang of linemen several hours to repair the damage. One youth named Fred Mann was apprehended by the police and admitted that he was implicated in the rash act, but named three other boy accomplices.

All are summoned to appear under the Public Utilities Act.

Pasteurization is a Public Health Safeguard

The simplest, cheapest, easiest and best method of making raw milk safe is to pasteurize it.

For family use, it is advisable to obtain milk already pasteurized by a trustworthy dairy. It is cheaper, safer and better to heat milk by wholesale in a large plant with competent supervision than to depend upon each household heating its daily supply. If drinking water needs purification, it is filtered at a central station, and not left for each individual kitchen.

In the home, milk should be kept cold, clean and covered. If part of the milk in a bottle is used, do not replace the paper stopper, but invert a clean tumbler over the neck of the bottle and at once replace in the ice-chest.

Milk is one of the BEST and CHEAPEST foods.

KLAN HALL BOMBED

New $200,000 Auditorium at Fort Worth, Tex., Destroyed.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Nov. 8.—Fire following the explosion of five bombs in the Ku Klux Klan newly constructed auditorium here Thursday completely demolished the structure with a loss of $200,000.

Klan officials say a dozen witnesses who were in the vicinity of the building when the first blast occurred declared the auditorium was practically wrecked before flames consumed the ruins. The first explosion sent the roof crashing down, followed quickly by blasts that caused the walls to collapse.

The huge hall was but recently dedicated. It covered a block in length.

Another Klan Hall Burns.

Following the destruction of the Klan auditorium, subdivision Klan Hall, No. 11, in West Fort Worth, was destroyed by fire shortly before noon.

The No. 11 hall is in an outlying section of Fort Worth, and was in ruins before fire companies reached the blaze. The loss here was $11,000.

ANNIVERSARY OF WELLAND CANAL

E. W. Beatty, Chairman and President of C.P.R. Railway, Speaks to Engineers.

100TH ANNIVERSARY.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Nov. 8.—Canadian Press.—"I ask fairness to your transportation systems because they deserve it on their past record of service, the important part they are playing in Canada to-day, and the factors they are bound to be in its future development."

These words were the key note of an address delivered here to-night before a large number of citizens at the dinner of the Niagara Peninsula Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada by E. W. Beatty, chairman and President of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

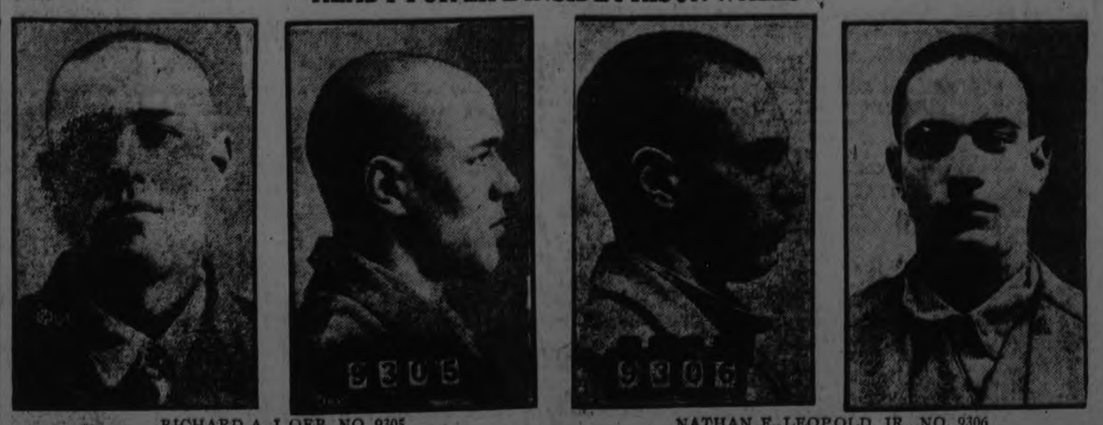
The dinner was held to celebrate the hundredth anniversary of the building of the first Welland Canal, and Mr. Beatty largely confined his remarks to the present railway situation in Canada touching to some extent upon the matter of immigration.

Mr. Beatty was introduced by A. J. Grant, chief engineer of the New Welland ship canal, who spoke of him as a son of the Welland canal district, and a leader in Canadian transportation as the president of a company that had done much to help make Canada a nation.

The chair was taken by E. H. Johnson, chairman of the local branch of the institute, and among those present was Dr. Chevrier, of Montreal, president of the Canadian Institute.

Mayor Smith presented Mr. Beatty and Dr. Chevrier, with the freedom of the city.

READY FOR LIFE INSIDE PRISON WALLS



RICHARD A. LOEB, NO. 9305. NATHAN F. LEOPOLD, JR., NO. 9306

Oh, what a difference haircuts and clothes make! Old friends back in Chicago would not know Richard A. Loeb and Nathan F. Leopold at first glance. The prison barber at Joliet (Ill.) Penitentiary, you know, doesn't think much of the pompadours and sideburns. A haircut like this is much better, he insists. And the Penitentiary tailor doesn't go in for sheikish clothes. He prefers loose-fitting suits of grey denim and heavy-striped, baggy-at-the-neck shirts. He doesn't go in for snappy ties, either. Anyway, girls, these are the first pictures of "Babe" and "Dickie"—oh, pardon us, warden, we forgot they are Numbers 9305 and 9306 now—to come out of Joliet since they began their life sentences for the murder of little Bobby Franks.

USE OF SMALLL CARDS OR ENVELOPES TO BE DISCOURAGED.

During the Christmas season the use of small cards and envelopes results in considerable annoyance to the Post Office and to the public, as such small cards and envelopes are difficult to sort and are readily lost. The public are requested to cooperate with the Post Office Department and discontinue the use of the envelopes and cards smaller than size 3 x 4 inches for the following reasons:

1—As a result of th small size of the cards or envelopes the Post Office cancellation mark frequently falls on the address partially obliterating it, with the possibility that the article may be misdelivered or at least delayed.

2—There is difficulty in the Post Office sortation and handling of the small cards and envelopes, and this unavoidably causes delay.

3—There is also difficulty in putting small cards or envelopes through stamp cancelling machines at larger offices, and this, too, causes delay.

4—The small size of the cards or envelopes makes them apt to fall out of bundles in which they are tied, and there is the possibility of loss as a result of this.

Responsibility for loss, misdelivery or delay as outlined above, arising from the use of small cards or envelopes, rests entirely with the sender.

LOSE WEIGHT.

Breakfast—One large glass orange juice, 1-2 cup uncooked cereal, 4 tablespoons whole milk, hot water.

Luncheon—Salad a la Elysium, 1 slice whole wheat bread, 1 cup raspberries, 1-2 cup whole milk.

Dinner—One cup cream of spinach soup, 2 baked eggs, 10 stalks asparagus, 4 radishes, 2 large green olives, 12 slices cucumber, 1 thin piece gluten bread.

Bedtime—One cup skimmed milk.

Total calories, 1174. Protein, 329; fat, 302; carbohydrate, 642. Iron, .0177 gram.

Salad a la Elysium.

One-half cup cottage cheese, 1 tablespoon currant jam, 1 small head lettuce.

Wash, drain and crisp lettuce. Arrange the leaves loosely in a salad bowl. Sprinkle cottage cheese through leaves. Add jam, a little at a time, scattering it over the cheese.

Total calories, 183. Protein, 48; fat, 10; carbohydrate, 125. Iron, .0008 gram.

GAIN WEIGHT.

Breakfast—One large glass orange juice, 1 cup uncooked cereal with 1 sliced banana, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1-2 cup cream, 2 pieces toast, 1 tablespoon marmalade, 1 tablespoon butter, hot water.

Mid-morning lunch—One cup whole milk.

Luncheon—Salad a la Elysium, 2 nut bread and butter sandwiches, 1 cup raspberries, 1-2 cup cream, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 large piece sponge cake, 1 cup weak hot tea.

Afternoon tea—Large glass iced tea, 3 tea sandwiches.

Dinner—One cup cream of spinach soup with 2 tablespoons whipped cream, 2 baked eggs, 4 tablespoons potatoes au gratin, 10 stalks asparagus with 1 tablespoon melted butter, 4 radishes, 2 olives, 12 slices cucumber with 1 tablespoon French dressing, 2 slices whole wheat bread, 1 tablespoon butter, 4 tablespoons chocolate souffle.

Bedtime—One cup whole milk.

Total calories, 3921. Protein, 401; fat, 1628; carbohydrate, 1892. Iron, .019 gram.

More currant jam should be used with the cheese for this salad. The cheese is made moist with cream and well seasoned with sugar and lemon juice.

The only value in the iced tea lies in the sugar and lemon juice you use in it. The sandwiches of course are real food but a tea sandwich is so small that only 100 calories are calculated as their worth.

APE-MAN

An ape-man saw a forest fire started by lightning. He picked up a piece of wood, blazing at one end, and ran into the darkness with it. That was mans first form of artificial illumination.

Recently Gene Sarazen played golf at night, the course illuminated by an electric serchlight of 400 million candlepower. Later this powerful light will seem, to future men, as primitive as the ape-man's blazing fagot sees to us today. We are barbarians, by future standards.

KING'S WHARF AND DOWNEYVILLE

KING'S WHARF, Nov. 8. — On Monday evening a fowl supper was served by the ladies of St. John's Church on the boundary of Emily and Verulam.

Supper was served to some 250 people from 5 p.m. till about 9, when all went into the church where a splendid programme was presented by local talent and others from Dunsford and Bobcaygeon. The total proceeds were $200. The following was the programme: Address—Rev. Mr. Carmicle, Dunsford; violin solo—Clayton Taylor, Scotch Line; song—"Come Back Old Pal of Mine," by Mr. Morrow, Dunsford; address—Rev. Mr. Drumm, Bobcaygeon; song—"You Better Ask Me," by Miss Grace Reed, Bobcaygeon; address—Mr. J. C. O'Leary, King's Wharf; quartette—"We Stood on the Bridge at Midnight," by Elliott Quartette; recitation—"Ask Maw," Miss Evelyn Forrest, Verulam; address—Rev. Mr. Hicks, Bobcaygeon; monologue—"What I Found," by little Mae and Jean Elliott, Miss Nellie Patrick then gave one of her pieces to the words of a hymn.

Mr. J. C. O'Leary was again called to the platform amid loud applause, and kept the audience in peels of laughter by his witty sayings, and finally he sang an old song which took the audience by storm, as the old gentleman is over 80 years of age, and some 25 years ago he was at the opening of the church, and he is the only one left now of the old folks who were there that day. The closing number was a violin solo by Clayton Taylor.

The following evening a social was held, and was attended also by a large crowd.

Fell Off a Horse.

Joseph, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Herb. McFeeters, met with a serious accident Sunday while riding horseback with his brother. He fell off his horse and his brother's horse ran over him, tramping him badly. Dr. Kelly, of Bobcaygeon, was immediately called and pronounced the boy was in a serious condition and had him removed to the Ross Hospital, Lindsay, where he is at present in a serious condition.

The many friends of Mr. John Winn will be sorry to learn he lies in a serious condition in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterboro'.

A very large number from here attended the fowl supper on the boundary on Monday evening and report a splendid time.

Mr. and Mrs. John Guiry and Mrs. Joseph Guiry spent Saturday in Peterboro', the guests of friends.

Miss Gertrude O'Neill spent the week-end, the guest of friends in Lindsay.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Perdue spent Saturday, the guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Perdue, in Peterboro'.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Herlihey, Sr., Miss Lillian and Walter spent Saturday in Peterboro' and spent the day with Mr. Herlihey's sister, Mrs. Murray, who is seriously ill in St. Joseph's Hospital.

The Misses Irene, Madeline and Florence Winn, of Peterboro', are spending a few days at their home here, having been called home by the serious illness of their father, Mr. John Winn.

Mr. Edmund Herlihey spent the week-end, the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Patrick Perdue.

Downeyville News.

A very interesting meeting was held here in the hall on Wednesday evening by Mr. Amos, president of the U.F.O. The hall was crowded and many interesting subjects were discussed. Speeches were also made by Mr. Bruce McNevin, Reaboro', Mr. F. G. Sandy, ex-M.P., Omemee, Mr. Martin Carroll and others.

On Sunday evening, Joseph O'Connell, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent O'Connell, was seriously hurt. The little fellow was feeding the hens when an old horse came up and the little fellow attempted to chase it away when it kicked him about the head and face and rendered him unconscious. Medical aid was at once summoned and the little fellow was rushed to the hospital in Lindsay, and is doing as well as can be expected at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lucas, the Misses Reda and Anna Clancy and Mr. Albert Clancy motored to Peterboro' on Saturday and spent the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Clancy, of Otonabee, spent Sunday as the guests of friends in the village.

Mrs. Lillie Lucas and children spent the week-end as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Perdue in Peterboro'.

Mr. Wm. O'Brien was a business visitor to Peterboro' on Saturday.

The many friends of Mrs. Edmund Herlihey will be pleased to hear she is somewhat improved after her serious illness.

Miss Mary O'Connell intends having a sale of her farm, stock and implements on Nov. 11.

WARNING

Why you should take organic iron to enrich your blood instead of metallic iron—how to tell the difference.

While iron is absolutely necessary to your life and health always remember that your blood contains organic iron and not metallic iron which people usually take; therefore when you take iron always take organic iron like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. Metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron and is an entirely different thing from organic iron. Organic iron may be had from your druggist under the name of Nuxated Iron.

Millions of people annually are using Nuxated Iron. It will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. A few doses will often commence to enrich your blood, help revitalize your wornout exhausted nerves and give you new strength and energy. It costs about eighteen times as much to make organic iron, like Nuxated Iron, as it does to make metallic iron, though it costs you but little more. Always insist on having genuine organic iron—Nuxated Iron. If you are not feeling quite up to the mark, telephone for a package today. In tablet form only; look for the letters N.I. on every tablet and refuse to take substitutes. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results. At all druggists.

Thanksgiving

There can be no cereals of higher quality, of more positive purity or more absolute cleanliness, than the products of The Quaker Mills. Here are some of them:—

Quaker Oats
Quick Quaker Oats
Quaker Aluminum Oats
Quaker Puffed Rice
Quaker Puffed Wheat
Quaker Corn Flakes
Quaker Flour
Quaker Best Corn Meal
Quaker Macaroni
Tillson's Natural Bran
Ivory Flour
Saxon Pastry Flour
Victor Blend Flour
White Corn Flour
Victor Barley
Schumacher Feed
Full-O-Pep Poultry Feeds

AND now the nation unites in giving thanks. From East and West, from farm and factory, office and store, from every Canadian home come sincere expressions of gratitude for Nature's blessings.

That the crop is a bountiful one, means much to Canadians in every walk of life. It will speed the wheels of industry; it will accelerate development in all parts of the Dominion.

The crop is safely harvested. But it must be marketed. A great part must be transmuted into food products for Canadian tables. It is in this important work that the Quaker Oats Company's activities loom larger each succeeding year.

The Quaker Oats Company gathers from all parts of the country a vast quantity of the best grains of every kind. Its mills are the most modern and efficient in the world. In them the grain is milled most perfectly for human consumption.

The first consideration of the Quaker Oats Company is to meet the domestic demand for cereal products of highest quality. The surplus output of the Quaker Mills is then shipped to all parts of the world.

The Company's symbol—the homely Quaker—is as evident in Asia, as in Canada. In the Far North, in the Tropics, in 50 different countries—wherever there is civilization—you will find the familiar Quaker packages.

The daily capacity of the Company's Canadian Mills is 5,000 barrels flour, 3,000 barrels Oats products, 350 barrels cornmeal, 1,000 cases puffed goods, 600 cases corn flakes, 200 kegs barley, 500 tons poultry and cattle feed. The elevator capacity is 2,500,000 bushels.

That the Quaker Oats Company is privileged to serve to such an extent in the capitalization of the crop—that it is privileged to contribute to the promotion of Canada's position as one of the leading food exporting countries in the world—actuates this message at Thanksgiving time.

STOLEN

Five autos, stolen in New York, were traced to Holland, where they had been sold. This leads to arrest of three "leaders" of an international auto-stealing ring"—something new in crime, exports and big enterprises.

It emphasizes that the theft of autos is becoming a highly organized crimnial industry. One way to check it is to make all car drivers carry papers proving their ownership, with fingerprints and signatures attached.

COLOR IT NEW WITH "DIAMOND DYES"

Beautiful home dyeing and tinting is guaranteed with Diamond Dyes. Just dip in cold water to tint soft, delicate shades, or boil to dye rich, permanent colors. Each 15-cent package contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint lingerie, silks, ribbons, skirts, waists, dresses, coats, stockings, sweaters, draperies coverings, hangings, everything new.

Buy "Diamond Dyes" — no other kind and tell your druggist whether the material you wish to color is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods.

STRENGTH

John de Vito, 18, modern Samson, is shown in news pictures lifting one end of an auto holding 13 people. Any one can do the same with a lifting jack.

Brute strength doesn't count much any more, except in occupations where inventors have not yet figured out how to use machinery instead of human muscles. What counts is: How much can you lift mentally?

CORNS

Lift Off—No Pain!

Doesn't hurt one bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers.

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn soft, corn or corn between the toes, and foot calluses, without soreness or irritation.

It Has Healed Many of Eczema Why Not You?

If you are afflicted with skin disease, the kind that seems to baffle medical treatment, investigate this discovery. Many skin specialists are recommending it in preference to their own prescriptions.

The formula is being published and physicians note that it contains the rare iodide—T. D. D. M. H. C.

How long have you had to endure disfigurements — humiliation — itching pain? How many times have you looked into the mirror and wished you had an unblemished skin? How many times have you followed hopeful advice in vain?

You will not be disappointed in the action of this remedy. It works instantly on the inflamed and tortured skin. The rough unsightly surfaces assume that healthy look you have perhaps not known for years.

A soft though powerful agent, beautiful in color, pleasant in odor, a cooling, soothing fluid, D. D. D. is the ideal treatment for the most sensitive skin.

D.D.D.

We guarantee D. D. D.—The first bottle relieves you or your money back. $1.25 a bottle. Try D. D. D. soap too.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE MEETINGS

In the exchange of teachers between England and Canada there came to Peterboro last September, Miss L. Williams. The Teachers' Institute is very glad to welcome her to their midst. At the morning session on Friday, Miss Williams gave a very instructive paper on the English Educational System.

She prefaced her remarks by saying that Peterboro to her had proved to be an agreeable disappointment. Most English teachers hope to go to British Columbia. Why they do, Miss Williams did not explain. She had found her experiences here very pleasant.

Her paper was technical. She dealt with the general organization. Above all is the Minister and general Board of Education, which unfortunately is not a committee of the Cabinet. It appoints the inspectors and sub-inspectors, attends to the course of study, and is responsible for teachers' examinations and training. In smaller centres, as counties and cities, there is an Education Committee, which attends to the local needs.

The schools there corresponding to our Public schools are divided into three classes—primary, intermediate and secondary. The last corresponds to our Collegiate Institutes.

Educaton in England received a great impetus through Mr. Fisher's Education Bill.

In the elementary school there was the infant school for pupils of five years of age. Kindergarten methods are here used. In some schools there are nursery rooms presided over by a specially trained woman. These are for children of three years of age or more, whose mothers must work. The tots are taught to do many little things during the morning, but sleep mostly in the afternoon.

At seven or eight years of age boys and girsl separate. Girls are taught much needlework, knitting, cooking and the use of the sewing machine. Boys have two hours' woodwork during the week, and one hour must be given to organized games. Physical exercises have to be given every day. Pupils leave school at fourteen years of age. The age has not been raised owing to the poor business conditions prevailing since the war.

At eleven or twelve years of age, children in the bigger towns must take a scholarship examination. All must take it. It consists of the usual subjects as arithmetic, English, and so on.

A second examination admits students to the Intermediate school. It is difficult, so that the bright pupils can be found out. These then take higher work as French and Science. They are not supposed to remain here till 16 years of age.

In England five years' apprenticeship is required to learn trades. The boys start in about sixteen and attend technical colleges part time.

In the Secondary schools heavy fees are charged. There is class feeling, and some snobbishness. An entrance examination is necessary to enter. This brings pupils up to a standard, and is killing off many of the private schools. Conditions are good with all teachers.

Every headmaster arranges his own scheme of study, developed from the code laid down by the higher authorities. Studies are not organized as they are here. There are no definite school text books. Each master chooses his own and makes his own timetables. Of course these are liable to government inspection. Nature study excursions are common, and many were made to Wembley this year, where Canadian products, especially apples, had a strong attraction for English children.

There is a perfect system used in training teachers. Certain pupils are given privileges and they do special work, help in discipline and in supervision. They help to tone up a school. Classes are much larger there than here.

Student teachers start at sixteen. They teach and observe and do much of the routine work. At eighteen they go to training colleges for years. They do much reading in psychology, child study, etc. They must pass the final examination or quit. Mental tests are much used in England to test pupils.

Some of the drawbacks are big classes and old buildings.

Mr. V. J. McElderry Favored the teachers by giving a paper on Earliest English Drama.

Previous to the time of Shakespeace, miracle and morality plays were common. The former were religious plays fostered by the Roman Catholic church, whose aim was to teach the people the great truths of Christianity. They had a profound effect on the lives of the people. They were carried out by the various guilds of those days. A guild was somewhat similar to labor unions of to-day but had broader purposes. The spiritual aspect was always kept well to the front.

Miracle plays were first given in the Latin language although French, being the court language, was sometimes used. The first actors were monks and clergy and the plays were given in connection with the church. When the craft guilds took charge of them and did most of the acting, they were given in public squares. The plays depicted scenes from the Bible. One craft guild would specialize on a particular scene such as Adam and Eve being driven from the Garden of Eden. They would present it at one square and then move on to another to make way for another guild to depict the next scene to be represented. The costumes were elaborate; the stage was a raised platform.

The plays were often given on Corpus Christi day. They had distinct educational value when there were no printing presses and few books.

Morality plays personified the vices and virtues of humanity and were popular in the early part of the Tudor period.

Mr. McElderry wondered if we actually took full advantage of the beautiful doctrines of Christianity. All children are born with evil impulses. Christian doctrines have a great modifying and upbuilding influence.

At the Friday afternoon session, Dr. Park gave a paper on "The State in Relation to Education."

Dr. Park began by this quotation: "The law is jealous of the liberties of the subject." He said that the State might be considered in education to be curtailing the liberty of the individual. Parents have not full control over the education of the child, cannot withdraw him from school as they wish, cannot choose his course of study, his books, the school, the teacher, but they must pay for the child's education. We accept all these restrictions almost without question as if they were used universally. We almost get a shock when we find that even in limited States many of these restrictions do not exist or are much modified. A School Board there may hire any person as teacher. Different textbooks may be used in adjoining sections. Uniformity is not nearly so evident.

Why should there be State control of education? A nation that does not pay attention to universal education cannot compete with others that do. Every child must be educated. Spain in a population of 19,000,000 has 12,000,000 that cannot read or write. Many villages are without schools and 76 per cent. of the people are illiterate. Spain has become a decadent country because she has not educated. Public education brought Germany to the front. Unfortunately her education became perverted due to the desire for military and commercial supremacy. The bad conditions of Russia are largely due to lack of education. You cannot give much liberty to untrained people. Japan has risen due to universal education; China remains behind because of lack of it.

How is education to be administered—in local units or centralised ones? At one time county councils and inspectors issued certificates to teachers. This was not wise. Local administration is not likely to be just due to baleful influence, jealousies, etc. There are not the same great dangers in centralisation. If the State goes wrong we can make or break its power. Education is viewed from a broader standpoint by the State. It has force to carry out its desires. Force is necessary to compel certain persons and communities to take right channels. A broad treatment gives fair play.

Teachers as a body have not as much influence as their intelligence warrants. They are not consulted regarding changes in the curriculum and text-books. The Education Department is arbitrary at times. It seems to be guided by faddists and outsiders too often rather than by teachers. Subjects once put on the curriculum are difficult to remove. Now the Department is urging teachers to give advice which they should have asked for from the first. There must be closer organisation amongst teachers and more unity in evidence.

Mr. C. S. Browne led the teachers in the singing of some popular songs. Community singing is an innovation to the Teachers' Istitute, and proved a distinct diversion.

Mr. L. J. Pettit gave a paper on Entrance History at Friday's afternoon session.

There is too much history to cover. It has to be covered fairly thoroughly, because the requirements of the examination demand it. It is more difficult too because the text-book is not suitable. Pupils do enter the Collegiate Institute not at all well prepared in this subject.

Compromise is too prevalent in our days; moral convictions are going by the board too often. History places before us men of the past who had strong convictions. This has a good effect on the character of pupils.

Problem questisons for pupils to answer are valuable.

Teachers can arouse interest, enable pupils to organize topics, and get facility in organizing topics.

Teachers should aim to arouse interest. The life-story of the people should be used to establish important facts of the constitution. Appeal to the child's knowledge of present institutions. Children are hero-worshippers. Supplement your teaching by stories, pictures, and the reading of books. A small library should be got and pupils directed to search for facts. The library should have a vanity of text-books and historical novels.

We must organize topics. Make outlines on the blackboard containing essentials. Have pupils make notes based on good questions.

What is the best method of presenting the subject? This seems to depend on the individual teacher. Some teachers use the text-book method, others use the centrifugal method. Perhaps the best is that that depends on the continuity of the subject. This unifies it. The facts should be put under proper topics and sub-topics.

PASSPORTS

American Bankers' Association urges Uncle Sam to negotiate with foreign governments to eliminate the passport system. Then you could travel freely from one country to another.

No chance. The passport in Europe is more a police than a tourist device. We might profit by the German system, making every new arrival in a town report to police headquarters within 24 hours to get his "paper" o.k.'d Fugitives would be more readily traced, even in a large country.

Would not be Without Zutoo Tablets At Any Cost

Mr. A. O. Norton, the millionaire Jack Manufacturer, of Boston, who recently died, was a great "booster" for Zutoo Tablets.

He suffered from headaches from childhood and when he found Zutoo Tablets stopped these headaches in a few minutes and left no bad effect, he began recommending them to his family and friends. In an unsolicited letter, Mr. Norton says in closing:

"My family use them when ever needed with equally good results. I have frequently given them to friends who were suffering from Headache and they never failed to give quick relief. I always carry Zutoo Tablets in my grip on the road and WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT THEM AT ANY COST."

CANADA EXPECTS TARIFF AID FROM CONSERVATIVE PARTY

Revival of McKenna Duties and Baldwin Trade Preferentials Deduced From Complete Victory for the Tory Government.

OTTAWA, Nov. 8.—It is considered certain here that the return of the Baldwin Government, with a majority sufficient to bring its own policy into effect, will be attended with economic results of much importance to Canada, Australia and British South Africa, as well as other portions of the Empire.

For one thing, it will undoubtedly mean the return of the McKenna duties, which placed a tariff of 33 1-3 per cent on automobiles, musical instruments and picture films when imported into Great Britain from foreign countries, but granted a preference of one-third if these goods were from the Dominions.

Preferential Duties Expected.

These duties were repealed August 1. At first, the exports of automobiles to Britain did not seem to be much affected by the repeal, but subsequent trade returns show to the contrary. It is possible that the British demand for cars may have passed the peak, but, on the other hand, it is thought the preference of one-third cannot but help the automobile industry.

Canada, Australia and British South Africa are keenly interested in the prospective adoption by the British Parliament of the preferential trade proposals of the Baldwin Government made at the last Imperial Conference, and which was subsequently rejected by the British House of Commons. Canada would greatly benefit through the preference on canned salmon and lobster, raw apples, honey and probably fruit juices and on preserved fruit.

As the United States is a considerable exporter of canned salmon and fruits to Great Britain, it is believed that the Dominions, as a result of the incoming of these preferences, will enjoy a decided advantage over the Republic in the British market.

Baldwin Trade Proposals.

These proposals were as follows:

Raw apples: Duty of 5s. per cwt. to be levied on imports of foreign origin, with free admission to Empire-grown apples.

Canned salmon, lobster, crayfish and crabs, duty of 10s. per cwt, with free admission of Empire goods.

Honey, duty of 10s. per cwt; Empire produce free.

Fruit juices, duty of 6d. per gallon on lime and lemon juices, with free entry for Empire produce. The British Government will consider a list of other fruit juices that the Dominions may regard as of interest. Similar duty to be levied on fruit syrups, exclusive of present duty on sugar content of such syrups.

Preserved Fruit Impost.

Preserved fruit, additional to present duty on sugar content, duty of 5s. per cwt to be imposed on preserved fruit not at present dutiable (except fruit pulp for jam manufacture, which will remain free), preserved fruit from Empire countries to be admitted free of duty.

Dried fruit (figs, raisins, plums, apricots, apples, pears and peaches), 10s 6d per cwt; from British Empire countries free.

Currants, increase of the existing duty to be considered, with a view to giving preference to Empire-grown currants, which will be admitted free.

Sugar, stabilization of cash value of present preference on Empire-grown sugar (approximately ¼d per pound on refined sugar) for ten years, so long as the duty on foreign sugar does not fall below the level.

Tobacco and Wine.

Tobacco, increase of preference on Empire-grown tobacco to one-quarter of the gross duty, a preference of about 2s per pound on unmanufactured tobacco at current rates of duty. The preference, of course, will represent a higher cash value on manufactured tobacco (cigars, etc.) on which the gross duty is heavier.

Wine, existing preference of 2s. per gallon on the duty of 6s per gallon on wines of a strength exceeding 30 degrees, and not exceeding 42 degrees, to be doubled. Preference on the surtax of 12s 6d per gallon onsparkling wines to be increased from 30 to 50 per cent.

RUSSIA CELEBRATES HUGE ANNIVERSARY

Doors of Old Imperial Embassy Thrown Open For Seventh Anniversary of the Soviet.

LONDON, November 8. — The Russian Embassy here was the scene of the strangest function in British diplomatic history last night.

As the last of an army of painters and decorators left, Christian Rakovwky, the Russian ambassador, threw open the doors of the old Imperial embassy of Russia, and welcomed the friends of Russia to a celebration of the seventh anniversary of the Soviet.

The affair was exclusive, newspaper correspondents were excluded, and all information was refused.

The embassy, one of the most magnificent in London, was turned over to the Russians a fortnight ago, since when there has been feverish decorating. Guests who entered last night, declared that they were astonished at the gorgeous cream and gold rooms, and furnishings, said to surpass those of any other embassy.

At the entrance twelve men in working clothes, with red neck kerchiefs, welcomed the guests between puffs on cigarettes. Teh guests ranged fromtypists and clerks from the Soviet offices to men distinguished in the political world. A few of the guests were in evening dress but most of the women wore jumpers and blouses, and the men business suits.

Among the distinguished persons were H. G. Wells, George Bernard Shaw, George Lansbury, Arthur Henderson, Tom Shaw and Sidney Webb.

W. H. M. Selby and C. P. Duff, two of MacDonald's private secretaries, are appointed Comanders of the Royal Victorian Order.

FEARS DOMINIONS MAY NOT BENEFIT

J. R. Clynes Thinks Conservative Interests May Militate Against Development.

LONDON, Nov. 8. — (Canadian Press).—J. R. Clynes, former Lord Privy Seal, in an interview yesterday, declared that he feared that the private interests of forces dominating Conservatism would now prevent the development of the Dominions on the lines followed by the Labor Government.

Referring to J. H. Thomas' work as Colonial Secretary in the late administration, Mr. Clynes remarked that the tendency of the Dominions towards Labor rule was now greater than ever before. He said he thought the Conservatives would offer the Dominions nothing more than the ultimate hope of a form of preference.

REPUBLICANS GAIN ONE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(Canadian Press).—Republicans, on basis of revised election returns appeared yesterday to have gained additional seats in House, bringing their total up to 247 or 29 more than majority. Upset in first Oklahoma district cut Democratic strength to 182 seats as against 207 in present house.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.

The City's Fine Musical Organization Will Open Season With Concert at End of Month.

Steady and effective work has been going on since the opening of the musical season at the rehearsals of the Symphony Orchestra, and Director Rupert Gliddon has this fine organization about ready for its first public appearance, which will take place on Friday, Nov. 28, in the Grand Opera House. The past achievements of this popular orchestra are such that Peterborough is proud to be possessed of, and indications are that they will be followed by still greater things.

At the annual meeting held a few weeks ago, the following officers were elected for the year:

Hon. Pres—G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P.
Vice-President—Mayor J. J. Turner.
Secretary—J. M. Greene.
Treas.—W. E. Lech.
Councillors—W. R. Cormack and R. A. Brown.
Conductor—Rupert Gliddon.

New music has been purchased, and new musicians have been added to the membership. A number of new instruments are required to complete the instrumentation of the Symphony, and while there are musicians ready to take these up, they lack the instruments, and the coming concert is part of the programme decided on by the directors, in order to secure the funds required for the proper equipment of the organization.

Popular prices will make it easy to greet the orchestra with an overflowing house, a mark of appreciation that is certainly up to the citizens at large, and a bumper crowd is going to receive an evening's entertainment of the very highest order. Announcements, giving full details, will be made later and everybody given a chance to show their recognition of the hard, continuous, and painstaking work of both conductor and players by seeing that the sign, "standing room only" is put out on the evening of Nov. 28th.

BYNG OF VIMY TO VISIT CITY

Governor General Will Be In Peterborough on November 28.

CIVIC RECEPTION.

His Excellency General, the Right Honorable Lord Byng of Vimy, G. C.B., K.C.M.G., M.O.V., Governor General of Canada and Commander in Chief, will visit Peterborough on November 28, according to information divulged at a meeting of the Reception Committee of the City Council last night. The intimation was given in a letter from Captain The Honorable Francis W. Erskine, Aide-de- Camp to His Excellency.

This is the first official visit of Lard Byng to the city, and the Reception Committee last night discussed ways and means of showing what Peterborough can do in the way of entertainment. As on other occasions the citizens will be asked to co-operate to extent of decorating their premises.

GENERAL LORD JULIAN BYNG

After deliberation, it was moved by Alderman Stocker and Alderman Fife that the following programme be suggested to the Governor General: A drive around the city, the presentation of an address and a reception at the Armouries where the Veterans will be present, and a luncheon. The school children to be massed at two schools and the route of the drive to pass those schools. The chairman, the Mayor, Alderman Phelan, Messrs Greene, Giroux, Mowat Col. Bradburn and Mr. Layfield were appointed a committee to carry out the program and arrange the details with authority to vary the programe if there is not time to carry it all out.

After discussion, it was decided to ask the Collegiate Institute Cadets to supply a guard of honour. Decorations will be placed at the railway station and at the Arouries and the merchants and other citizens will be asked to decorate their premises.

The Governor General will arrive at 10 a.m., it is expected.

There were present: Alderman J. Crowe, chairman; Alderman J. Maher, W. Stocker, N. E. Phelan and J. O. Fife. Others not on the committee who were present were Alderman McIntyre, J. M. Greene, chairman of the Board of Education, S. H. Giroux, chairman of the Separate School Board; A. Mowat, Public School Inspector; Colonel F. Bradburn of the 57th Battalion, Col. T. D. Johnston and R. E. Layfield, representing the G. W. V. A.

MARKET CROWD TO BUY FOWL

Turkeys Were 30 to 35 Cents — Chickens From 20 to 32 Cents.

PIGS IN POKES.

The basket section of the farmers' market this morning held a real Thanksgiving crowd of buyers and a multitude of birds for the Thanksgiving table. Prices of fowl offered a wide range of choice.

Chickens might be purchased all the way from 20 cents o 32 cents a pound. Dry-plucked and milk-fed birds were 25 cents a pound. Geese were 25 cents a pound, and ducks 25 and 28 cents. Turkeys were generally priced from 30 to 35 cents a pound, but big seventeen-pounders could be bought as low as 25 cents a pound.

Cream was 30 cents a pint, eggs 50, 55 and 60 cents a dozen, butter 32, 37, and 38 cents a pound.

Downstairs, the crowd did not circulate as freely in the cold morning. Upstairs, the back-warming brigade was present in full force around the stoves.

Potatoes were 85 cents a bag this morning, carrots 75 cents a bag. Beets were selling two pecks for 35 cents. Cauliflowers were 15 and 20 cents apiece. Citrons were a nickel each, and squash 15 cents.

Apples were priced variously at different cars. Greenings and Baxters were 50 cents a peck, McIntosh 90 cents, Snows 45 cens, Starks in boxes containing 3½ pecks were $1.25, and Rhode Island Pippins were $4.25 a barrel.

Pork was 16 and 18 cents a pound, in front and hind quarters.

Hardwood was $11.00 a load, and mixed wood $8.50.

A vendor of bright pink hair tonic was doing a good business, and another medicine man was pouring headache mixture on outstretched hands. "Sniff it and it drives the headache away."

The auctioneer refused to part with a large Holstein cow, whose bids went no higher than $34.00, and the second auctioneer sold a shot gun for $2.50.

Little collie pups were $1.00 and $2.00 apiece.

Rhode Island Red hens, pure bred, in a crate, were $1.00 each.

Pigs in pokes were on the market this morning. Two tightly-sealed bags emitting protesting squeals tried to escape from their owner by wriggling beneath the wheels of a nearby automobile.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Enos Aldridge, Six, and His Sister, Winona, Twelve, Trapped in Blazing House.

VICTOR, N.Y., Nov. 8.—(Canadian Press.)—Enos Aldridge, six, and his sister, Winona, twelve, were burned to death early to-day when they were trapped on the upper floor of their blazing farm house home about three miles from this villiage. Marion Bowerman thirteen, a friend of Winona, was badly burned before she was dragged to safety. The fire was caused, it was said, by an overheated oil stove.

Efforts by parents to rescue the children were of no avail. The mother was burned as she made her way through the flames with an infant.

BUTTERICK 5634

Dull brick-red crêpe de Chine with a pointed yoke and tiny sleeves of beige lace makes a useful member of the young girl's wardrobe.

For any afternoon at matinées, bridge parties or teas and for many evenings when the party is small and early a little frock of crêpe de Chine is indispensable. Clear, rather dark shades of red, such as cherry brandy, brick, rust and cranberry are charming with beige or ochre colored lace. The lighter shades of green, Lanvin and almond, madonna blue, amber, string color or scarlet can be used for both afternoon and informal evening frocks. Clusters of plaits and the pointed hem are seen on many of the new French frocks and are suited to Georgette as well as crêpe de Chine.

In the above picture, he is seen hopping in. Below are some of the babies he has ushered into life.

KIWANIS CLUB HAD BRILLIANT SPEAKER

Rabbi Brickner, of Toronto, Addressed Club on Ladies' Night.

Thursday night of this week was Ladies' Night for the Kiwanis Club, and was marked by the presence also of Rabbi Brickner of the Holy Blossom Synagogue, Toronto, who spoke to the Club during their dinner party on the subject of "Business, Politics and Morals." The Rabbi, who is a speaker of outstanding ability and charm, emphasized the idea that a strict moral code should be applied to politics and business, and pointed to examples in public life in Ontario and the United States of those who were not true to their trust in political life.

There were twenty-one ladies present at the dinner in the Empress Hotel, and about thirty-three of the members of the Club. Among the guests present were Kiwanian Dr. Graham McDougall and Mrs. McDougall, of Whitby, formerly residents of the city. Kiwanian Frank Dawson was booster for the evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. Percy Bond, who captured the first award of a twenty-four pound bag of flour, Mrs. George Farrow, of Toronto, a fourteen-pound bag of flour, and Miss McClellan. Vocal solos were rendered by Jean McKone and Isabel Weddell, with accompaniments by Mrs. J. A. McKone.

MARK STREET CHURCH.

Big Event In History of the Church—Special Services.

All arrangements are now completed for the two greatest days Mark street church has ever known.

Commencing on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, the anniversary services will continue until Monday evening. The board has been fortunate in securing the services as preacher of Rev. E. Harston, of Woodville, whose preaching here on former occasions was much enjoyed. At three o'clock on Sunday afternoon the Sunday school will meet, when a large gathering of old friends is anticipated. Again at seven o'clock, Mr. Harston will have charge of the services. A special soloist at both services will be Mrs. James Young, formerly Miss E. Courtney, a member some years ago of the Mark street choir, and the choir also will render special anthems for Thanskgiving, solo parts to be taken by Miss M. Sucee, Mrs. H. Hunter, Mr. V. Wood and Mr. V. Boorman.

On Monday evening, commencing at five o'clock, a Thanskgiving fowl supper will be served and during the evening, interesting musical numbers will be rendered, including radio and instrumental selections.

At eight o'clock, members of Trinity church choir, under the leadership of Mr. George H. King, will give a musical entertainment that promises to be one of the most enjoyable portions of the programme.

All old friends of the church are especially invited to attend these anniversary services.

OLD, BUT GOOD.

"If you've heard it before, stop me," coronas Lew Strauss, "but it's the one about the goofy thing, whose escort had ordered a demitasse. 'What will the lady have?' chirped the waiter. 'Oh,' says the dambphool, 'I think I'll have the same—and a cuppacoffee!'"

ENVELOPE PURSES.

FABLES ON HEALTH

FOR SLEEPLESSNESS.

Many people complain of sleeplessness.

Surely, Mr. Mann of Anytown was never bothered by such a trouble, and a great flood of worries generally muddled his head to such an extent that he was gapy to get sleep as an escape.

Until recently people thus troubled worried a great deal about the condition but modern science teaches that there is no great cause for worry, as rest may be had without sleep and the evils have been exaggerated by the sufferers.

Nevertheless, since it does prove a mental disturber, there are a few simple aids that might be tried—and these involve getting a better circulatory distribution.

Get out of bed, stand erect, and rise to tiptoe position. Repeat this rapidly until a good blood flow is felt in the calf of the legs.

This will indicate that the blood is leaving the head. Then lie down again ,compose yourself and breathe deeply and r.pidly. This will gentrally act in a relaxful way, and sleep will soon follow.

THE BAND CONCERT.

Two Marches Featured on the Sunday Evening Programme at Grand Opera House.

Attention is drawn to the two marches featured on the programme, as both being remarkably appropriate to the occasion. "The Contemptibles" (Stanley) is dedicated to the first British expeditionary force which the German war lord termed "a contempible little army." The composer has produced a stirring march, distinctly military, fine counter melody, and a trio, that bring to the listeners mind the glory of the men to whom it is dedicated.

"The Vanished Army" (Alford) was also written in memory of the "contemptibles," but in a retrospective strain.

It pictures columns of men passing swiftly and silently into the shadows, phantom bugles dimly calling them on, and the subdued strains of "Tipperary," that simple melody, chosen and immortalized by them as their marching song, constantly rising and dying away.

The last strain, the only double forte passage in the march, sings as eloquently of the "Vanished Army" as does the famous march in "Faust" "Glory and Love to the Men of Old," sing the praises of Valentine's victorious troops.

By kind permission of Lt.-Col. F. L. Bradburn, the band of the Peterborough Rangers will give the following programme in the Grand Opera House on Sunday evening, commencing at 8.30, Conductor Lt. W. H. Peryer:

God Save the King.
March, "The Contemptibles" — Leo Stanley.
Overture, "Pique Dame"—Suppe.
Vocal solo, "The Better Land," Miss Olive Cullen (arr. Cowen).
Reminiscences of Grand Opera, including Fra Davollo, Crown Diamonds and the Finale to William Tell.

PAYING

Argentina rang with public rejoicing when it passed its new national pension law by which every one who has worked 25 years is entitled to quit work and retire on a full-pay pension.

To provide money for this, the law requires every one during years of work to contribute five per cent of his earnings to a government pension fund. The public doesn't particularly care for this levy.

Argentina is not the only place where people don't "see" that every penny spent by government has to be raised in taxes.

CITY CHAMPIONSHIPS.

Johnny Ward Wins Howden Trophy, While Eastwood Trophy Goes to R. Evans.

The city championships this year were not as big a success as was desired since the number of competitors in all but one class were few. The class for the Peck Troph for boys under fourteen was keenly contested by a good number.

The results are:

Peck trophy, 14 and under.
Ted Dormer, 481 points; Murray Hartley, 473 points; G. Beauvis, 871 points; Jack Sturgeon, 359 points; Huycke trohy, 16 and under.
Bob Sturgeon, 495 points out of a possible 500, losing only 100 yard dash; Clayton Frost 359; Roy Lewis, 357; S. Hope, 266.
Eastwood trophy, 18 and under.
R. Evans, 471; J. Marchen, 456; R. Swanger, 419.
Howden trophy.
J. Ward, 30; B. Miller, 234.
Offical of course, D. Loomis of Y.M.C.A.

HAP HARRISON HEAVED BELMONT CLUB TO VICTORY OVER KIWANIS

Belmonts Came From Behind to Win One of the Best Softball Games of the Season — Rotary Defeat K. of C.

ENGINEERS BEAT BRASS.

The feature softball game last evening and the most exciting contest played this season was put on by the Belmonts and the Kiwanis, the Belmonts coming from behind and winning by the score of 6 to 5. "Hap" Harrison made his first appearance on the mound for the winners last night and turned in a fine performance. He had a world of speed and although he was a little wild at times he managed to hold the Kiwanis at bay. Carl McLean did the hurling for the Kiwanis and turned in his same good performance, although he was touched for 14 safeties a number of these were scratchy hits. Jobbit's spearing catch on a line drive down the third base line was the stellar stunt of the evening.

ROTARY BEAT K. OF C.

Rotary won their first game of the season last evening from the Knights of Columbus by the score of 20 to 8 in a heavy hitting contest that lasted for seven innings. Rotary were right there when it came to slugging the ball and the spectacular work of Sloan at third base was a big factor in their win.

K. of C., got away to a bad start and although they put up a hard fight until the fifth innings, they blew completely in this frame and "Chris" Graham's boys chased four runs across the plate.

ENGINEERS WIN

The game between the Brass and the Engineers was a scrappy battle with plenty of crabbing. Engineers won after a one-sided game by the score of 13 to 5. In the fifth inning Umpire Thomas chased the Brass catcher and the rest of the team left the field. After considerable wrangling on the side lines the teams took the field again and was wound up by the Brass scoring 4 runs in the last innings.

HECKMAN OFF TO JOIN THE HUNTERS

Petes' Pitcher Will Chase Deer With Eagle Lake Club.

Messrs. Al. Heckman and Arthur Johnston leave tomorow to join the Eagle Lake Hunt Club who are in full strength at their usual hunting grounds. The personnel in addition to the two already mentioned consists of Chas. Gunsolus, Capt. A. G. Carruthers, Walter Evans, Gordon White, "Shiner" Johnston Tom Donaldson, Clint Coons, Dan Muskrat and Chef Baptie. Some of the deer had better be careful about getting too long a lead or "Al" and "Shiner" are liable to pick them off.

CONNIE MACK MAKES ANOTHER PREDICTION

BY BILLY EVANS

Connie Mack at the opening of the 1924 season predicted that his club would run second. It didn't.

The usually taciturn leader of the Athletics based his belief on the offensive strength which he felt sure Strand, Simons and Bishop would add to his club.

Strand, who had made over 300 hits in the Pacific Coast League, was the player Mack banked most on. However, his minor league batting average of .400 meant nothing to American League pitchers. He failed.

Around the failure of Strand to deliver can be written the story of the Athletics' poor showing during the first four months of the campaign.

Made Strong Finish

The club lacked the punch, a clean-up hitter who would come through with men on the bases.

During the last two months of the race the Athletics played practically .600 baseball, made a better showing over that period than any other club in the league.

The belated dash of the Athletics came after Outfielder Bill Lamar had joined the club.

Lamar, twice before in the majors, was secured by Mack from the Toledo club of the American Association. In payment he gave the highly touted Strand and the veteran pitcher, Rollie Naylor.

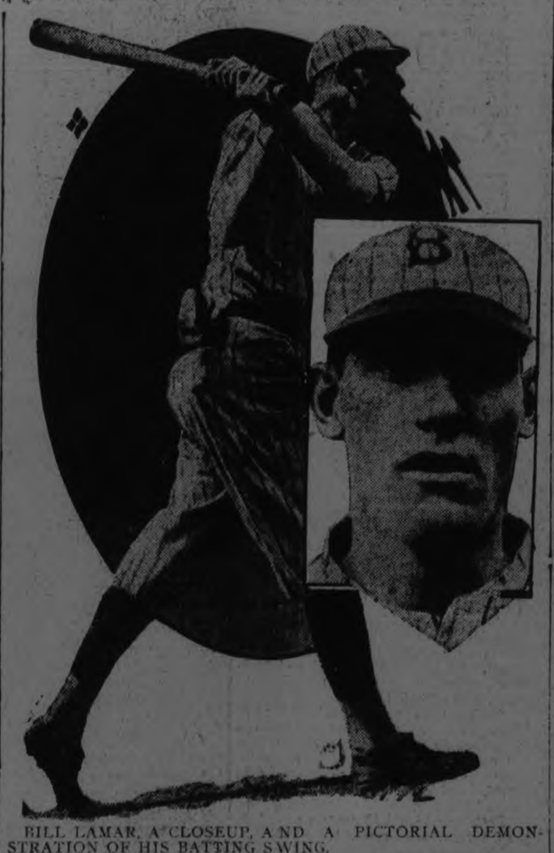
Lamar Supplied Punch

Lamar started to hit the day he joined the ball club. From that very day the Athletics began to perk up.

At the close of the season, the early part of which was a keen disappointment to him, Connie Mack remarked:

"In Lamar I have finally gotten the man so badly needed in my outfield. He has given the club a batting punch. After he joined us we played the best ball in the league. Lamar makes the Athletics a strong pennant contender."

During the world series I bumped into Lamar, who lives close by Washington. He was delighted at having made good in his third chance and gave much credit to Manager Mack. That he is much pleased with his berth was evident from the following remark he made to me:



BILL LAMAR, A CLOSEUP, AND A PICTORIAL DEMONSTRATION OF HIS BATTING SWING.

Now Shooting at Pennant

"Every man on our club believes we have a fine chance to win the pennant next year. Our fine showing in the home stretch has supplied that much needed confidence in our ability.

"The Athletics can field as well as the rest, hit pretty well and if we get the pitching of the last few months look out for us in 1925.

"Looks like an open race in the American League next year and the Athletics have the big chance just ahead.'

HIGH SCORES FOR PRIZES

In the Thanksgiving turkey competition this week at the Water Street Alleys, L. Smithson knocked down A. Pratts' high score of 653 by rolling 275, 230 and 203 for a nice total of 708. A. Burgess in turn upset Smithson's score with 239, 206 and 237 for a real score of 772. This score will take some beating.

Mrs. W. Barringer's high score of 633 has not yet been beaten in the ladies' compettiion.

"COGS" STILL AT IT.

Have Been Practicing at Exhibition Park For Next Spring's Ball.

Pshaw! on Spring training, its the Fall training that counts. So argue the Cognawagas. It is November but for the past weeks each fair Saturday and many evenings the Cogs have been out on the Exhibition Park diamond batting and fielding the ball as though the East Peterborough League was in full swing and an important game was on the slate.

They are going right out after the championship of their league next year and figure they can get in more valuable practice yet this year.

The Cogs will if they keep up the good work certainly be a factor to be contended with next year.

The women chased the men out of saloons. Now they are chasing them out of the barber shops.

KINGSTON HERE ON THE HOLIDAY

Collegiate Rugby Game Should Draw Crowd on Monday—First Play-off.

FOR EAST TITLE.

The big gridiron battle between Kingston Collegiate and the local Collegiate squad for Eastern Ontario honors in Interscholastic rugby to be staged at Riverside Park on Thanksgiving Day should carry all the fans across the river.

Last year the Limestone City team came a much-tooted and over-cheesty crew and they came down to earth hard when Coach Browne's squad trimmed them by no mean score. Privileged to dwell in the same hamlet where Batstone and Leadley do most of their performing they were a cocky crew.

They had a right to be for they carried a team of big hefty boys who had grown up with the game and they used clever interference and corking good plays. However, they neglected one feature—the main department—their condition. This cost them the game. During the first half they pressed the game but in the second condition told and the locals romped over their fagged and worn out players for many points.

After last year's experience it will certainly be different on Monday. Kingston come here as representatives of the far eastern group and they carry a real team. "Red" McKelvey, brother of the two Queen stars is listed on their line up and will buck through on the middle wing position.

The P.C.I. are not in the best of shape for the game. "Ollie" Bookhout their big half has not yet fully recovered from the Oshawa tilt and will not be used in the beginning of the game. However, Coach Browne is confident that his firey half pair, Cole and Wood, will do much to overcome Bookhout's absence. This pair team up together as well as their names imply and have been going great guns in practice. Wood is the fastest runner on the P.C.I. squad and makes a great open field runner. Cole did the booting all last season and his punts have gained height and distance. The whole squad are fit and ready. Three stiff workouts took place this week and the plays were working perfectly.

Certainly the game will be worth seeing. It is expected the Kingston crew will try some brand new stuff as copied from the tri-colored squad.

P.C.I. will journey to Kingston the end of next week to play on Friday or Saturday.

Shortstops Are Badly Needed By Five Clubs

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. —A good shortstop is the crying need of a number of American League clubs.

Since weakness at short is a serious fault, clubs so handicapped are certain to make every effort to strengthen before the opening of next season.

The Chicago White Sox are the worst off, with the Boston Red Sox a close second, since Dudley Lee is still an uncertainty.

The New York Yankees must find a successor to Everett Scott, who showed by his play last season that he is showing up badly.

Ty Cobb has a problem at Detroit since Rigney is troubled with a back ailment that seriously affects his play.

Chick Galloway of the Philadelphia Athletics, a shining star two years ago, slumped badly in his all round play last season.

Washington, with Peckinpaugh; Cleveland, with Joe Sewell, and St. Louis, with Gerber, are the only clubs well fortified at the important position.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Willie Lewis, managing Abe Goldstein, taught Carpentier how to box.

Pete Herman, former bantamweight champion, is running a cabaret in New Orleans

"Any kind of putting for is good," says Jock Hutchison. "Develop confidence and stick to it."

Ellsworth Augustus of Cleveland is one of the longest drivers in the game, amateur or professional.

Catcher Steve O'Neill of the Red Sox started out to be a fighter but was stymied by parental objections.

Fighters agree Jack Johnson was the most scientific heavyweight the game has ever known.

Herb Pennock of the Yankees is easily the most consistent twirler among the American League's long list of southpaws.

Because of England's refusal to accept the new American model it is unlikely that a change in golf balls will be made before 1926.

Kid Kaplan of Connecticut and Danny Kramer of Pennsylvania are the two foremost challengers for the featherweight title.

For one of the few times in his long career, Stanley Coveleskie, star pitcher last season, failed to get at least a 50-50 break in games won.

British golfers like to write. The two Wethereds collaborated on a book and Cyril Tolley, now in this country, has also written one.

The veterans Hank Gowdy is loud in the praises of Baldwin, a New York recruit. Baldwin is a right hander.

Bobby Jones is considered the best brassey shot-maker in American golf, if not in the world.

Coach Dobie of Cornell admits the loss of so great a player as Pfann has greatly handicapped his team.

Experts predict George Von Elm of Los Angeles will win the amateur golf championship within the next three years.

George Sisler says he hopes to bat 50 points better the coming season than last. That would make him about normal.

The failure of Morrison, rated the best curve ball pitcher in the National League, to deliver, was an awful jolt to Pittsburg. He won only 11 games.

Looks as if there was something wrong with eastern football. Illinois and Oklahoma both beat Nebraska, which in turn smothers Colgate, 35 to 7.

The goals from field specialist is beginning to make his presence felt. In the Navy-Princeton game a drop kick by a substitute won for Princeton. Penn enjoyed the same margin over Columbia.

Who is the best backfield man at Notre Dame? Four football experts in commenting on the army game differed. Strudldreher, Layden, Crowley, and Miller each received one vote.

The consensus at University of Syracuse is that there never was better football material at that institution. Which means the students expect Coach Meehan to put over a big winner.

Gerald Patterson of Australia says Bill Tilden is the only first-class tennis player in the world. "Richards, Johnston and the rest are only second-raters," he says.

"THE LOVES OF MARY, QUEEN OF SCOTS."

Commencing with the holiday matinee on Monday afternoon, and continuing for three days next week, the premier showing in Canada of the big English picture, 'The Loves of Mary, Queen of Scots,' will be given. A special musical score accompanies the picture, which is one of those romantic historical productions that are so much enjoyed by the majority of theatre-goes.

The life of Mary of Scotland is one of the most colorful in all history and the vivid incidents that filled her career are well portrayed in the picture which has Fay Compton, the eminent English screen actress, in the title role. No detail of picturesque back-ground or costuming has been overlooked and the romantic adventures of the beautiful queen are depicted from the moment of the death of her boy husband in France to the final offering of his life from the gallant Douglas. The queen's life at Holyrood Castle and the stirring episodes at Loc Leven, the killing of Rizzio and the death of Darnley, the fights and turmoil which surrounded her life in Scotland, are all pictured in an entertaining series of scenes drawn from history's pages.

With the big picture is a comedy film.

MORNING MATINEE AT ROYAL MONDAY.

A special morning performance for the children will be given at the Royal on Monday at 10 a.m. Added Comedies in addition to the regular performance will be shown.

DRAMA OF WILD HORSES AND RACING HEARTS.

A drama of wild horses and racing hearts is told in "The King of Wild Horses," a Pathe picture producted by Hal Roach and showing for the first time at the Royal Theatre Thursday. Each year civilization crowds the wild horse deeper into the mountain fastness so that each year his number grows less—he is being wiped out!

The title role is played by Rex, a magnificent Morgan stallion, bought by Roach for the part. At first the horse was wild and unmanageable, he having for years roamed the Colorado plains at the head of a band of wild horses, but with patience and kind and humane treatment, Rex developed into a talented performer. He has been hailed as a "comer" in the world of animal film stars. Edna Murphy, Leon Bary, Charles Parrott and others are prominently cast. Fred Jackman directed.

'SLAVE OF DESIRE,' THE SHOW WINDOW OF PARIS LIFE. BIG BALZAC FEATURE AT ROYAL MONDAY.

"Slave of Desire," the presentation at the Royal Theatre on Monday, is heralded as a lavish production of one of the world's great literary masterpieces, 'The Magic Skin,' from the pen of Honore de Balzac.

With a splendid cast, a compelling story lending itself readily to screen adaptation and a skilfull presentation, "Slave of Desire" is said by critics to be one of the year's most worth-while films. The picture was produced by Gilbert E. Gable and was directed by George D. Baker. Incidently, it was the one hundredth picture upon which that veteran director had wielded the megaphone. The story was adapted for the screen by Charles Whittaker, one of the most noted scenarists in the business.

George Walsh, one of the handsomest leading men on the screen, heads the cast as Raphael Valentin, youthful poet and dreamer. Walsh had a leading role in "Vanity Fair," and is one of those prominently mentioned for the leading role in "Ben Hur" which Goldwyn plans to screen on a tremendous scale.

Bessie Love has the chief feminine role of Pauline in "Slave of Desire." The part offers her splendid emotional opportunities. Carmel Myers has the part of the alluring countess Fedora. She is said to give the finest performance of her career in this picture. Rounding out the cast are Wally Van, veteran funmaker of the films, Edward Connelly, character actor who adds to his brilliant portrayals the antiquarian of the Balzac tale, Eulalie Jensen, who plays Mme. Gaudin, the mother of the heroine, and a dozen other actors known for their ability to put over a character.

The story concerns Raphael, a Parisian poet, who, living in poverty craves wealth, luxury and love. About to end his life, he is halted by an antiquarian who gives him a wonderful skin. This talisman enables Raphael to attain every desire but with every wish, no matter how trivial, the magic skin shrinks. The antiquarian has told Raphael that when the skin disappears entirely, his life will have ebbed away. Death approaches just as Raphael has won the love of his childhood sweetheart. He wishes for her safety, the first unselfish wish he has made, and this frees him from the curse.

AT THE CAPITOL.

BIG SPECIAL FEATURE FOR THANKSGIVING IS AT CAPITOL THEATRE.

As a special attraction for Thanksgiving Day, the Capitol will offer James Oliver Curwood's celebrated romance of the Northland, "Jacqueline, or Blazing Barriers." This is an exceptionally dramatic story of the north adapted from the famous novel of the same name and is alive with thrilling situations, and rapid fire action. Among the big scenes are those depicting the trapper's escape through a forest fire and an exciting trip through the dangerous rapids of a mountain gorge. Faithfully picturized from the book, the many who have read the story will be delighted with the screen version of this great romance. An exceptional cast is headed by Lew Cody, Marguerite Courtot, Sheldon Lewis and Edmund Breeze. The production was made in the heart of the Canadian Rockies which afforded marvellously beautiful settings for the picture. On the same programme will be Will Rogers in his latest comedy, "Our Congressman," a Pathe News and a cartoon. A special added attraction for Thanskgiving day only, matinee and night, will be the Aeolian Trio, offering instrumental selections.

AEOLIAN TRIO IS ADDED ENTERTAINMENT AT CAPITOL ON MONDAY.

The Aeolian Trio, three talented young musicians, Miss Kathleen Wallis and Miss Beatrice Prest, violinists, and Miss Muriel Gladman, pianist, will appear at the Capitol on Monday, matinee and night only, as a special added entertainment for Thanskgiving Day. They will offer a programme of popular selections. All the young ladies are well known in Peterborough. Miss Muriel Gladman is a sister of Miss Florence Gladman, musical director at the Capitol, and has just returned from Paris and London, where she was pursuing her musical studies.

RAMON NOVARRO COMES TO CAPITOL WEDNESDAY.

Ramon Novarro, supported by Enid Bennett and Wallace Beery, will be seen in "The Red Lily" at the Capitol next Wednesday and Thursday.

FAMOUS DOG STAR IS AT CAPITOL NEXT FRI.-SAT.

Rin-Tin-Tin, the famous canine star of the screen, will appear at the Capitol next Friday and Saturday in his latest melodrama, "Find Your Man." Rin-tin-Tin, will be recalled as the star of "Where the North Begins", which was shown at te Capitol last season. His latest picture is a thrilling action-story.

THE SEA HAWK SOON TO COME TO CAPITOL THEATRE.

Sebatini's romance, 'The Sea Hawk' will soon be shown at the Capitol Theatre. This story which ran serially, in the Examiner, is even more thrilling when told on the screen.

Milton Sills has the leading role, supported by Wallace Beery, Enid Bennett and Gareth Hughes. The picture, which cost over $800,000 to produce, is one of the great pictures of the year. It recently completed a run of seven weeks in Toronto.

AT THE REGENT.

Goldwyn has made the screen version of what is probably the most popular work of America's most noted author. Joseph Hergesheimer wrote the story of a disillusioned man carrying most of the intense action of the plot to the wild swamp lands of the Georgia coast, amid the groves of wild oranges that border the seashore.

"Wild Oranges" has been made into a photopaly by King Vidor, the youthful Goldwyn director, whose screen version of "Three Wise Fools" was one of the hits of the year.

To gain realism and follow as closely as possible the scenes described by the author, Vidor took his entire company to Florida, where he filmed the majority of the scenes for the picture amid the swamp lands along the mouth of the St. John's river, near Jacksonville.

The old Harriet Beecher Stowe estate figures prominently as one of the backgrounds of the photo-play.

"Wild Oranges," which comes to the Regent Theatre on Monday for three days, has in its cast Virginia Valli, Frank Mayo, Ford Sterling, Nigel de Brullier and Charles A. Post.

The play starts with a slow tempo, gradually growing faster as one climax piles on top of another, the final climax coming when the yacht putting seaward in a storm barely succeeds in crossing the treacherous sand bar which blocks the entrance to the lagoon at low tide.

CALAMITY

Cheap money (low interest rates on loans) is a "grave danger" claims the economist of a big eastern bank. He fears it will start a flow of funds from central markets into farm land speculation.

Maybe so. But we've an idea the farmer will not view this as dangerous as high loan rates that often drive him to the wall.

NIGHT GOLF

By use of electric light it is now possible to play golf at night ..... Mr. Edison has a lot of crimes to answer for besides the talking machine.

The difference between night golf and day golf is very clear ....In day golf only the players are lit up.

The night golfer will have to have an official song and it might as well be, "By the Light of the Silvery Spoon."

Any night golfer scoring the daylight equivalent of a birdie, eagle or cuckoo shall be credited with an owl.

Night golf opens a prolific field for brand-new alibis, to wit:

"I'd had a three at the seventh if the dern fuse hadnt' blown out.'

"How in the name of Cleopatra's pet asp can you expect a guy to putt with all them owls hooting!"

"Well, if that milkman hadn't yelled 'whoa' just as I started to shoot you'd seen something."

"This is the worst course I ever saw. I'm going to report the electrician to the house committee."

"I'd just as soon have a gun go off back of my ear as an alarm clock. There ought to be a law against caddies carrying them."

Night golf has its drawbacks.... An actor playing a New York course stepped into one of the floodlights and took so many bows the coppers had to be called to straighten out the congestion.

The energetic American golfer works in triple shifts, on a 24-hour basis ....This ought to make the steel riveters and bricklayers of the country feel pretty small.

The well-dressed night golfer will always appear at the first tee in hand-tailored pajamas ....The old-fashion flannel night gown is out.

Night golfers who are three sheets to the wind are advised to remain away from the course .....Some one may mistake them for klansmen.

RABBIT-FOOT

An old medical book, printed in 1668, come to light. It urges carrying a rabbits' foot to ward off rheumatism. That was 256 years ago. Superstition dies hard—if ever.

Another remedy in the old book: "With an iron nail raise and cut the gum away from about the teeth till it bleed and let some of the blood stick upon the nail; then drive it into a wooden beam up to the head; and this is done you shall never have the toothache in all your life."

Many who tried it probably got lockjaw or blood-poisoning.

Sunshine inside the house is quite as essential as sunshine outside.

A capital friend is likely to be one in whom we invest some of our own interest.

Life's deepest thrills and its greatest surprises are found in the path of duty.

JUDGE TO SPEAK HERE.

Mr. Justice Riddell Will Lecture on Social Hygiene.

Mr. Justice Riddell, L.L.D., F.R.S. C. who is to lecture on November 14th, in the G.W.V.A. Hall, Peterboro, on Social Hygiene, as fundamental to all schemes of social reform, is regarded as one of the most attractive and effective platform personalities in Canada. He is not only a maker of memorable phrases, but possesses the faculty of establishing pleasant relationships with his audiences immediately and of placing before them in clear cut form his worth while convictions, touching any subject with which he may be dealing.

Judge Riddell is a man of unusual attainments, has a wide knowledge of the world and is of an essentially scientific turn of mind. He possesses specialized knowledge not only of the law, but of medicine and engineering, and is the author of numerous pamphlets and books.

Justice Riddell has made an enthusiastic effective president of the Canadian Social Hygiene Council because he is strongly persuaded of the prime necessity for racial improvement, if we are to improve society.

"I am glad," said he last December in his presidential address at Ottawa, "to have lived to see the day when it can be truthfully said that governments pay as much attention to the breeding of men as of pigs."

This is an aspect of social health Mr. Justice Riddell always emphasizes but added to it he has to give some very specific recommendations regarding the need, and the means of better education along the lines of dealing with organized recreation as an essential in every community and of the direction of our finest spiritual ideals into practical channels.

Our citizens are looking forward with a great deal of pleasant anticipation to the coming of Mr. Justice Riddell.

ASTHMA

QUESTION: I have had asthma for three years. Can Chiropractic Adjustments afford me relief?

ANSWER: Asthma is a chronic affection of the respiratory apparatus. The size of the lumen of the bronchial tube is decreased so that breathing is difficult and a proper supply of air does not reach the lungs. This condition is brought about because of an improper transmission of mental impulses. "Life currents" from the brain to the bronchial tubes. The interference with transmission is due to a constriction of the nerves supplying these tubes by a segment of the spine being in abnormal alignment. Chiropractic Adjustments do correct malpositions of the vertebrae and release pressure from nerves thus restoring normal transmission of life currents, which results in the affected tissues being restored to normal health.

Chiropractic has proven effective in bringing health to Asthma sufferers. You owe it to yourself to investigate and find out just what can be accomplished in your case.

OBITUARY

DOROTHY HUMPHREY.

The remains of Dorothy Louise Humphrey, only child of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Humphrey, of Viceroy, Saskatchewan, arrived in this city yesterday. The funeral will be held from the home of Mrs. Wm. Yelland, 207 Murray Street, on Sunday, November 9th, at 2 o'clock, and proceed to the Lakefield Cemetery for burial.

MRS. AGNES DOWDING.

The funeral took place yesterday to Little Lake Cemetery of Mrs. Agnes Dowding, 78, who passed away at Millbrook.

The late Mrs. Dowding was well known in Peterborough, being related to W. H. Dunsford, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Mrs. Dowding was a transatlantic traveller of note, having made friends on both sides of the Atlantic during her travels. She was a sister of Harry Wickham, known in naval circles in Toronto, and leaves to mourn her loss three sons, Charles of Toronto, manager of the Boyd estate, John of Chicago, and Arthur of the Southern States.

DALTON BAKER RECITAL

The following press comments from famous papers give some idea of the prestige of Mr. Dalton Baker, who, with his pupil, Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, is giving a Song Recital in the Conservatory Hall on Monday Evening, 17th November:

The inspiration of his reading which makes it one of the most notable of recent times.—Morning Post, London.

He has both vocal charm, strength, and charm of delivery to mark him out as a great artist.—St. James's Gazette, London.

He is a thoroughly finished artist, and the possessor of a remarkably fine baritone voice.—Free Press, Aberdeen.

The even, beautiful quality of his vince, the absence of effort, and the sympathetic, refined style. — Post, Yorkshire.

He has a wonderful voice, which he produces in an absolutely faultless manner.—Times, Lowestoft.

He has a marvellous voice, strong, yet melodious and of exceptional compass, and his singing has the soulfulness that marks the true artist.—North Devon Journal.

His enunciation is as near perfection as human effort can achieve, and his finely rounded voice has the note of sympathy which the part of the Saviour requires. — Enquirer, Cincinnati.

His voice is of fine quality, delightfully pure, his diction refined, and his delivery smooth and dignified.—Enquirer, Cincinnati.

By the lovely quality of his voice and the ease and grace of his singing won a veritable triumph with the festival audiences.—Dayton Journal.

It is doubtful if a finer artist was ever brought to Toledo than Dalton Baker. At home he is regarded as one of the very greatest of baritones and this country has received him with open arms. — Blade, Toledo, Ohio.

No singer has ever been accorded a more cordial and enthusiastic reception on the concert stage in this city. His reception amounted to little less than an ovation.—Commercial Appeal, Memphis.

A liberal education in the vocal art, illustrating by its interpretative versatility what it can do with human emotions when at its best. — Advocate, Stamford.

Aroused the audience to a high pitch of enthusiasm. He has learned what most singers fail to learn—articulaton.—Scimitar, Memphis.

Tickets $1.00, can be obtained from the Conservatory of Music, Kent's Drug Store, and all pupils of Mrs. Park.

Authority can be conferred upon you, but not wisdom. It has to be earned.

CHIROPRACTIC

IS THE ONLY SCIENCE THAT REMOVES THE CAUSE OF DISEASE

A Few Questions for You

1. Is there anything wrong with your eyes, ears, nose or throat? If you have impaired eyesight or defective hearing, have lost voice entirely, don't give up hope, but investigate CHIROPRACTIC.

2. Have you so-called Rheumatism, Pleurisy, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Goitre, Paralysis, Locomotor-Ataxia, Neuritis, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Hemorrhoids, Insanity or Appendicitis? CHIROPRACTIC will adjust the cause and permit Nature to bring about a cure.

3. Have you Stomach, Lung, Heart, Liver, Kidney, Bowel or Bladder trouble?

4. Have you Sciatica, Lumbago, Gallstones or Diabetes? The results are wonderful. Try CHIROPRACTIC.

5. Perhaps during the sharp changes in temperature you are troubled with Colds, LaGrippe, Sore Thoat or Tonsilitis. CHIROPRACTIC will give you relief, by building up your bodily resistance.

6. Perhaps you are troubled with Insomnia (Sleeplessness) or Nervousness. CHIROPRACTIC is what you need.

7. Have you a Constant Headache? This is a warning on the part of Nature that there is some organic or functional disorder elsewhere in the body. CHIROPRACTIC is very effective, and in many cases gives instant relief.

8. NO MATTER WHAT YOUR AILMENT IS, do not think your case is helpless until you have tried CHIROPRACTIC SPINAL ADJUSTMENTS. Do not, through neglect, fail to call at our office and investigate this wonderful health science.

9. 'Phone 2254 or 602 for an appointment without delay, as you cannot afford to be sick. If it's not convenient for you to call for a consultation now, write or 'phone, giving particulars of your ailment, and we will forward Chiropractic literature which will be of interest to you.

10. CHIROPRACTIC removes the cause of disease without the aid of drugs or surgery, promotes health and efficiency, helps the sick to get well and keeps the well fit.
